PETES CE SOIR

Peterborough Petes will be the guests of the Redmen at Exhibition Park tonight in what should be another exciting spot of diamond pastiming. The Reds have won seven of their Central Ontario Baseball League starts and are not the least averse to extending that figure at the expense of the Petes. They should be over the effects of the heat and that barbecued chicken encountered during the safari to Prescott last Saturday, and probably their long-ball hitting eyes have returned to normalcy. Dont know as yet who will get the pitching assignment but it is likely Coach McCabe will send Art. Wright out there for his fifth COBL win. Bill Stewart Petes-mentor will probably start Bill Edger against the Reds since the Garsoneers appear to have "Lefty" Dadson's number, or they have at least on his two performances here. Game at 8.30, weather and mosquitoes permitting.

MINOR CLASSIC

And there's another baseball epic slated for the minor baseball faithful coming up, and it would not be a bad idea for all fans to take in the series. It is the Ontario Baseball Association's elimination series between Paul's Motel and Schwab's nine. The best-of-three series gets under way at the Fair Grounds Thursday (tomorrow night) starting at 6.30 with the second game scheduled for Saturday at 2 p. m. at Alemite Field.

The teams, according to their standing in the seasonal schedule, appear to be evenly matched, both having won five and lost one. Each has defeated the other, and tomorrow night's game will see the chips down with a real baseball battle expected.

Chairman Art Keegan of the peewee baseball division has arranged for special umpires so there'll be no griping in that respect.

As is the custom, an OBA convener will be on hand to overlook the scene of battle and see that association regulations are adhered to, such as certificates, age etc.

Keen rivalry exists between the two squads and the youngsters will be out there striving with all they've got for that all-important first victory. The third game if necessary will be played at a date to be announced next week.

The winners of the series will represent the city in the OBA playdowns, meeting a team from either Peterborough or Kingston in the first round.

It will be a good series and baseball fans of the city should not pass up the opportunity of seeing two top peewee teams in action.

TWO CHAMPS

With July 16th and the start of the Canadian Open Golf Championship coming up fast, the Royal Canadian Golf Association pulled another "first" out of the hat today with the announcement that both the U. S. Open Champion and the P.G.A. of America Champion are expeccted to be on hand to compete for the Seagram Gold Cup and the lion's share of $15,000 in prize money put up by its donors. Julius Boros, newly-crowned U. S. Open champion, and Jim Turnesa, winner of the Professional Golfers Association of America championship, both have indicated that they will be on hand for the Canadian event at Winnipeg's St. Charles Country Club. Their appearance will mark the first time in the history of the Canadian Open that both U. S. open champions have sought the Canadian crown simultaneously.

FAST TRACK MEANS THRILLS!

Dick Burrows comes up with the statement that his Parkland Speedway auto racing track near Shannonville is the fastest of its kind between Montreal and Toronto. And he has something there, at that. Burrows' half-mile oval is definitely the safest both from a spectator as well as drivers' point of view and the track record substantiates his statement about it being the fastest east of Toronto.

Believe it or not, some of these throttle hellions, who pilot the ramshackle heaps, have a world of power under those dilapidated hoods. They hit the 70-mile an hour mark on the straightaway, and therein lies the thrills for lovers of this new sport. The sudden slowing, sloughing, slurring and more than even odds that a spill will occur at the turns, holds thrills for the crowd. And this is not possible on tracks where terrain and other features prevent a fairly high rate of speed.

Burrows is staging a starry meet at the Speedway on Saturday night when the cream of the district drivers will roar into action in search of the points that can win for one of them the Pellar Star of Excellence Trophy and the added fifty bucks. An added attraction for drivers is that the finishing positions at the Saturday night meet will be the starting ones in the midsummer classic coming up in the near future. Should be quite a time down thataway come Sateve.

TIMBER!

They may have to raise the lights above the ring in Memorial Arena Friday night when that towering twosome Lord Athol Layton and Hans Hermann clash in the main bout. Layton rears up at six six and Holman an inch or two shorter. The ringside faithful may have to resort to periscopes unless the stratosphere strutters indulge in a slugfest on the floor. You think 'Is Ludship had a peeve against the Whipper? Just wait until the regal crown that adorns m'lud's ermine and blue robe enters the ring with the Iron-crossed mantle of the Herr. They're as friendly as a couple of bull moose in mating time. Layton's judo chop may cause a flock of guttural "Neins" to issue from Hans jugular region, while the Prussian "Squeeze" should cause several versions of "Dash it, Old Bean, that isn't cricket, y'know" to trickle from the Briton's tonsilar area. Should be quite a beano.

Towering Home-Run Blasts By Robinson, Sauer Does It; Rain Halts Game in Fifth

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — The home run, baseball's most spectacular weapon, exploded yesterday in the faces of the representatives of the league that practicaally invented it.

Two towering blasts from the bats of Jackie Robinson and Hank Sauer gave the National League All-Stars a 3-2 victory over their American League rivals in a five-inning contest shortened by rain. But there were enough thrills packed into the five innings to send the 32,785 fans home happy.

It was the third straight victory for the Nationals and it was made possible by the same type of slugging that American League stalwarts like Babe Ruth, Jimm Foxx, Al Simmons, Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams had unleashed against them in past years.

Rain Hinders Game

While the rain and the muddy field hampered play, it had no effect on the 430-foot clout that Sauer sent over the wall with Stan Musial on base in the fourth inning to decide the game. And Robinson's first-inning blast was still climbing when it hit the left-field stands.

The victory over the Nationals' seventh in 19 tries and the first for Leo Durocher in three assignments as their manager. It was the third loss in a row for Manager Casey Stengel of the American Leaguers.

The treacherous footing in Philadelphia's Shibe Park bothered the infielders, particularly Robinson, whose inability to make a play on a routine double-play grounder gave the Americans their two runs. But it didn't affect the pitchers unduly.

Fireballing Curt Simmons, Philadelphia Phillies' stylish southpaw, set down the losers with a single safety in his three-inning stint, striking out three men and holding the Americans scoreless.

Shantz Superb

Even more spectacular was the performance of little Bobby Shantz, the pint-sized left-hander for Philadelphia Athletics, who struck out three of the National League's top hitters—Whitey Lockman, Musial and Robinson—with a blinding assortment of fast balls and curves in the only inning he pitched.

Neither Simmons nor Shantz showed up in the won-lost records. Big Bob Rush, the Chicago Cub righthander who took over from Simmons in the fourth, gained credit for the victory while Cleveland's Bob Lemon, who yielded Sauer's game-winning blast, was charged with the loss.

The Americans looked weak yesterday without such standbys as Williams and DiMaggio. They managed five safeties but, as a National Leaguer phrased it, were lucky to score at all.

Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman, could not get a firm footing on a treacherous terrain in the fourth and Eddie Robinson's hard-hit grounder went for a single and scored Minnie Minoso from second. The Chicago White Sox outfielder had doubled just before Al Rosen had drawn a base on balls.

DiMaggio Doubles

Bobby Avila followed with a hopper behind second that Robinson knocked down but couldn't hold, and Rosen scored. The other two hits were a double by Dom DiMaggio and an infield single by Hank Sauer.

The Nationals obtained only three hits but all were for extra bases. In addition to the homers by Sauer and Robinson, Enos Slaughter, St. Louis Cardinals' grand old-timer, doubled to the right field corner.

US Track Team Arrives in Helsinki

HELSINKI (AP)—The strongest track and field team the United States ever assembled arrived today, hopeful of maintaining American Olympic supremacy.

Eighty athletes stepped off two planes in dazzling sunshine at 5 a.m.

Both planes had smooth flights over the 5,000 miles from New York. It will take three more flights to complete transport of the contingent, which numbers nearly 400 persons. Two planes are due tomorrow and the last Friday.

WATERLOO (CP)—The Intercounty League baseball game between Kitchener Panthers and Waterloo Tigers was rained out last night in the first inning. Panthers were leading 1-0 when play was halted.

Jack Burke Tops Cash Kings In Pro Golf

CHICAGO (AP)—Professional golf's race for the 1952 money-winning honors is beginning to get hot.

Jack Burke, once well-entrenched as the cash-collecting leader, now heads the 1951 money king, Lloyd Mangrum, by less than $700, and Cary Middlecoff is pushing in the third spot.

Burke has $12,970, Mangrum $12,296 and Middlecoff $11,106, the Professional Golfers Association reported today. Three players, Dave Douglas, Julius Boros and Ted Kroll are bunched in the $9,000 bracket

Kroll has finished among the first 10 in every start during the last five weeks, including a semi-final effort in the P.G.A. championship and a playoff loss to Middlecoff for the Motor City Open title.

Wings, Chiefs Gain on Royals; Leafs Nip Ottawa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings and Syracuse Chiefs, the International League's second- and third-place teams, both gained on the front-running Montreal Royals last night.

Royals, rained out of a double-header in Baltimore, saw their lead cut to 2½ games over the Red Wings as the latter beat Buffalo 5-4 in 12 innings. The Chiefs, who moved to within five games of the leaders, also went into extra innings, downing Springfield Cubs 4-1 in the 11th.

Meanwhile, Toronto Maple Leafs settled matters early in defeating Ottawa 4-2.

Catcher Lou Kahn squeezed home the winning Red Wing tally to give reliefer Freddie Martin the win. Martin hurled six-hit scoreless ball over the last 9 1-3 innings.

A three-run homer by Johnny Welaj with none out in the final frame brought an end to the Syracuse-springfield affair. Arnie Landeck picked up the win that was the Chiefs' third straight.

Toronto also utilized the home-run ball but did so right at the start. Lew Morton connected with none on in the second, and then tagged solo four-baggers back to back Pete Pavlick and Marv Rickert back in the third to give the Leafs a 3-0 margin. Lou Limmer homered in the fourth for Ottawa, but the A's never caught up even though they chased winner Gerry Fahr in the eighth. Ray Shore made his 32nd relief appearance for Toronto.

Scotland's Panton Leads Pack In British Open

LYTHAM, England (Reuters)—Scotland's John Panton led the pack yesterday as 96 of the world's best golfers emerged from 36-hole qualifying tests with the right to take part in the battle for the British Open Golf Championship.

The players qualified by scoring totals of 152 or better for the two rounds played on the Royal Lytham, where four rounds will be played. After the second round tomorrow, a maximum of 50 players will advance to the final 36 holes Friday.

Panton racked up a 68 yesterday to go with his 66 Monday for a total of 134.

Panton was two strokes ahead of Harry Bradshaw, the Republic of Ireland's main hope, who in turn was closely followed by reigning champion Max Faulkner and Harry Weetman, matchplay champion, both with 137.

Reg Horne of Britain and Gene Sarazen of Germantown, Pa., who won the title 20 years ago, totalled 138.

Yankees Making So-Called Experts Ponder Over Pre-Season Selections

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Those pesky New York Yankees are making the so-called baseball experts look bad again.

Not only are the Yankees leading the American League, despite the Associated Press' pre-season poll which clearly showed that the Yankees' proper niche was second place behind Cleveland Indians. The New Yorkers are winning consistently without a star of the Babe Ruth-Joe DiMaggio magnitude.

The records show that the New York American League entry was something less than a menace to first place for the first 20 years of the century.

About that time Babe Ruth came to the Yankees and they won six pennants in eight years from 1921 through 1928. The Babe and his mates were temporarily eclipsed by Philadelphia Athletics for a time but came on again to win it all in 1932. That was Ruth's last winning effort, however, and the once-proud New York team failed to win again until DiMaggio arrived on the scene in 1936.

Sparked by the jolter, the Yanks ripped off four pennants in a row, missed by a whisker in 1940 and then came back for three more in succession. They floundered through the latter part of the war years, won in 1947, missed out in another close finish in 1948 and then came on for three more pennants in 1949-51 as DiMag closed out his career.

Those who place faith in pre-season polls can find some measure of solace in Brooklyn Dodgers, who were awarded first before the season started and are occupying the designated berth at the half-way point.-

Giants, Dodgers Pennant Drive Methods Differ

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees are using different "formulas" in their 1952 pennant drive.

Brooklyn is employing the method used successfully by John McGraw, late manager of New York Giants. The Yanks are following their own tried and true pennant blueprint.

McGraw's pennant philosophy was simple: "Beat the bushers." The fiery Giant immortal brought 10 pennants to the Polo Grounds, many as a result of piling it on the second-division teams while holding the contenders even.

The Yanks' theory is just the opposite. The Bombers say: The Yanks always seem to reach the heights in a crucial series.

Brooklyn's 4½-game lead over New York Giants today was built chiefly on the Dodgers' success against the sixth, seventh and eighth-place teams.

The Dodgers have won 33 games and lost only one to the last three teams in the standings while winning 18 and dropping 20 against the other five.

The Yanks, seeking their fourth straight flag and 19th since 1920, have won 19 and lost 11 to first-division opponents and stand 26-18 over the lower-echelon teams.

Only Boston's fifth-place Red Sox hold an edge over the Yanks. The Red Sox, only a game out of fourth place, have won six of 10 meetings.

Sport in Brief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A formidable threesome from the United States heads a field of 124 golfers entered in the $15,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship July 16-19 at Winnipeg.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association said yesterday that when it closed the books on the entry list the field comprised 27 amateurs and 97 professionals. It includes Jim Ferrier, two-time Canadian champion seeking his third straight win; Julius Boros of Midpines, N.C., United States Open champion and Jim Turnesa, U.S. P.G.A. champion.

The total is far short of the record entry of 199 at the Royal Montreal Club in 1950.

The list includes 25 of the 34 money-winning pros of the 1951 championship at Toronto. But the two top amateurs of 1951—Al Severson of Mt. Clemens, Mich., and Nick Weslock of Windsor—are not entered.

Besides Ferrier, one other former Canadian Open champion is in the race—Lawson Little of Pebble Beach, Calif., who won the 72-hole event with a 271 in 1936. That score stood as the record until Bobby Locke of South Africa shot a 268 in 1947.

First prize money is $3,000, biggest since the event was inaugurated in 1904.

Fifty-four Canadians are entered in the event which no Canadian has won since 1914 when Karl Keffer of Ottawa won with a 300 over the Toronto Golf Club course.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, leading Canadian pro in the Open in the last two years, heads the home-bred forces. He was in a sixth-place tie last year, nine strokes behind Ferrier's winning 273. Other Canadian prize winners of 1951 back for another try are Henry Martell of Edmonton, Murray Tucker of London and Jules Juot of Montreal.

Promoter Jack Berry announced in Edmonton last night that Vern Escoe of Toronto will seek to regain his Canadian heavyweight boxing title from Earl Walls of Windsor, Ont., in an outdoor bout there July 17. Walls won the title by knocking out Escoe June 13.

George Rooks, a 205-pound Negro halfback from Morgan State college, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football league. Rooks, sought by the Argos for the last two season, was a member of the 1950 all-American Negro grid squad.

Seven Fort Erie racetrack fans yesterday won $1,338.40 each when Geneva Lois and Sue's Special combined for the biggest daily double payoff of any Ontario race track this season. Geneva Lois accounted for the major chunk of the payoff, paying $113.50 to win in the first.

Jack Guest, Jr., noted sculler, was operated on in Toronto yesterday in an effort to correct a back condition he has had since birth. Dr. Gordon Murray, "blue baby" specialist who performed the operation, said it was successful but it will be months before a decision can be made as to Guest's sculling future.

Jim Rivera, the much-publicized 31-year-old rookie of the St. Louis Browns, was sued for divorce in St. Louis. His wife, Maxine, 24, charged that he sulked, pouted and swore at her and told her he no longer loved her. They were married in October, 1951, and separated, June 28.

All the athletes at the Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland, are going to be urged to sign a "peace appeal." The movement, Moscow papers said yesterday, has been started by a Finnish athlete who claims to have collected 630 signatures already.

John Mique Malloy, 67, once one of Chicago's top fight promoters, died in Chicago yesterday of cancer. Malloy had been a baseball scout for Chicago Cubs.

Storm Ruins Canada Racing Shells, Olympic Chances Appear Finished

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP) — Canada's chances in Olympic sculling and rowing appeared practically washed out today.

A North Atlantic storm hit the ship bringing racing shells here from Montreal, damaging them "beyond repair," officials were told.

Only by flying replacements from Canada can officials hope to get them here in time for the July 19-Aug. 3 Olympic Games. Meantime, Canada's oarsmen here are using European-style boats lent by the Finns. They're practically useless because of different seating arrangements. Officials have had no luck trying to find suitable shells in Sweden.

Air Freight Costly

But it would cost at least $20,000 to have the shells shipped by air from Canada. A special cargo plane would be needed.

Paddy Cline of Hamilton, coach of the four-oared crew, said yesterday:

"Our four-oared crew has been together for three years with their eyes on the Olympic championship. Right now, at the most critical time, a storm has to blow up in the North Atlantic practically to ruin our chance. It's a heartbreaker to the whole gang."

An ironical feature is that new boats—double sculls, four- and eight-oared shells—are sitting in the Toronto club house of the Argonaut Rowing Club back in Canada. They were built at Kelowna, B.C., by Gordon Jennens expressly for the Canadian Olympic team.

They were shipped by truck and didn't arrive in Eastern Canada in time for the June 17 shipping date from Montreal. Substitutes were shipped.

At Kelowna, Jennens was reported preparing to leave by air today for Helsinki where, it is understood, he will attempt repairs on the storm-damaged shells.

At St. Catharines, Ont., Jack House, president of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, said last night "if the R.C.A.F. would co-operate it would be a wonderful thing."

An Ottawa R.C.A.F. spokesman said there wasn't a hope of the air force flying the shells because of a shortage of aircraft. He said: "We're already strapped for aircraft for training and transport."

Double-Amp Good Golfer

SASKATOON (CP)—Capt. W. W. Jansen of Saskatoon plays golf with one of the largest "handicaps" in the history of the game—the loss of both legs.

But despite his artificial limbs, Capt. Jensen can hold his own with any of his more fortunate "club mates."

At the D.V.A. inter-district golf matches between Saskatoon and Regina recently, he fired an 18-hole 100, including a birdie on one of the holes.

Both Capt. Jansen's legs were amputated above the knees but he walks without aid of cane or crutches and leads a normal and happy life.

His father, Major Vern Jansen, acted as caddy for him during the tournament. Both father and son have served in the Regina Rifles.

An outstanding golfer before the war, Capt. Jansen won the Canadian armed forces golf competition while serving in England.-

Remember When

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The first shutout in the history of the annual All-Star baseball game at St. Louis 12 years ago today was a 4-0 victory for the National League over the American. The National Leaguers yielded three hits. Up to this year however the American League has won 12 of the 18 all-star games played

Bermudans Defeat Ridley College

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP)—Ridley College of St. Catharines, playing their last match of a Bermuda cricket tour, was defeated by 149 runs yesterday by Bermuda Athletic Association.

The college's first defeat in five matches came at the hands of Bermuda's only undefeated team in league competition. Ridley won two, drew one and another was abandoned because of rain.

B.A.A. battled first and scored 191 runs.

Jim Drynan of Hamilton, Ont., took four wickets for 44 and Edmund Burn, cricket coach, four for 60. The collegians could only muster a 42-run reply, led by Jim Chaplin of Galt, Ont., with 16.

Only four others scored.

Kesselring Named To Golf Team

KITCHENER (CP) — George Lang, local representative of the Canadian Golf Association, announced yesterday that Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener Westmount will be a member of a team to play the United States in an international match in August.

Kesselring, Ontario Open champion, has been chosen one of seven Canadian amateurs to meet a U.S. team in Seattle. The other six members of the team are yet to be named.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

Making a slam without three aces is not necessarily unexpected. Numerous combinations make it possible. Such a deal bobbed up in a recent major tournament. The hands were as shown here:

NORTH
♠K 10 6
♥Q J 8 6 5 3
♦A J 7 5
♣None

WEST
♠J 9 8 5
♥None
♣J 10 9 8 7 4 3

EAST
♥A 9 4 2
♦Q 6

SOUTH
♠None
♥K 10 7
♦K 10 9 8 3
♣K Q 6 5 2

At most tables, the bidding did not get beyond five in diamonds or hearts or spades. A few, however, reached a small slam in one of the red suits with south or north as declarer.

Those who did reach six got there by brute force and a doubtful hope. Or with a series of pushes from east and west overcalls in the spade suit. None knew they could make it.

In my opinion, the best set of bids went like this:

East	South	West	North
1 S	1 NT	Pass	3 H
3 S	4 H	4 S	Pass
Pass	5 D	Pass	Pass
5 S	Pass	Pass	6 D
Dbl	Pass	Pass	Pass

Your eyes probably pop out at the first bid by south. Among a best set of bids, imagine me saying to bid no-trump defensively with no stopper in opponent suit. And me a stickler for truth in bids.

Later on in this series you will understand why. You will see that it is a logical convention in our system of bidding. And when you see it if you do not like it you can call me stinky.

Six hearts, which pays more, will also make. But the pair did not know then it was as safe. And if east had not doubled, the west player would have settled for a six spade sacrifice.

With south as declarer, the diamond slam rolls. So, it is the bidding you may not agree with. It will take several days to argue each bid in detail. Bring a blanket and make yourself at home.

New Speed Queen Slides to Pier At Southampton

SOUTHAMPTON (AP)—The new speed Queen of the Atlantic, the liner United States, slid to her pier yesterday in a triumphal five-mile sea parade of flag-bedecked welcoming ships.

Her maiden eastbound crossing ended in one of the biggest, loudest welcomes Britons have given a ship since the Queen Mary's maiden voyage ended here in 1936.

Hundreds of small craft and pleasure steamers from all parts of Britain's south coast paraded the liner along the Solent roadstead from the eastern tip of the Isle of Wight.

The United States will stay here until tomorrow, when she will start her, first west-bound trip for New York. With her she will take the record for an eastbound crossing of the Atlantic of three days, 10 hours and 40 minutes. This cut 10 hours off the record set by the Queen Mary in 1938.

Dim View Taken Of MacArthur's Keynote Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two candidates for the democratic presidential nomination take a dim view of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's keynote speech to the Republican national convention.

Averell Harriman called it "meaningless oratory." Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee said it "offered no hope, no guidance to the people."

Harriman, the mutual security administrator, was in Charleston, W.VA., yesterday meeting Democratic leaders. He told reporters MacArthur "admits we need friends in the world and yet he in fact demands that we go it alone."

Kefauver, campaigning in Duluth, Minn., said MacArthur himself is responsible for some of the Korean situation which he blamed on the Democratic administration.

Meanwhile Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, another Democratic aspirant, appeared to make a hit with Arkansas delegates to the Democratic national convention opening in Chicago July 21.

The 22-vote Arkansas delegation is pledged to "favorite son" Senator J. William Fulbright. Russell asked for second-choice backing.

Kefauver's campaign headquarters claimed that the Tennessee senator will have 403 delegate votes pledged by the time the convention opens. Russell claims about 300 votes. Nomination requires 616 votes.

The latest Associated Press tabulation shows Kefauver with 252 votes, Russell with 117½.and Harriman with 101½.

REVERSES DECISION

BARRIE (CP)—A court ruled yesterday that a driver cannot be convicted of driving with ability impaired by alcohol if the arresting officer is not familiar with the driver's ordinary driving ability. Judge J. G. Harvie reversed the decision of Magistrate G. R. Foster who convicted Harry S. Marks, 42, Barrie town foreman, last February and fined him $50.

Architect Says He Was Not Asked To Contribute

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — John P. Thomson, who designed a 132-bed wing for the East Windsor Hospital for Incurables, yesterday denied a suggestion that he had been asked to make a payment to hospital superintedent Dr. P. J G. Morgan in connection with the awarding of the contract for the wing.

He was testifying before a provincial government commission which is conducting a public inquiry into the affairs of the 350-bed hospital.

Arthur A. Macdonald, chief counsel for the investigating body, suggested to him: "Some discussion took place while you were planning the new wing at the hospital hwereby some benefit was to be given Dr. Morgan or some nominee of his if you got the contract."

Mr. Thomson replied: "Nonsense."

No Payment Made

He said he had never told anyone that such a payment had been made. Dr. Morgan was not indebted to him when the contract was awarded and had not become indebted to him since.

H. N. Philiips, regional group manager for the Sun Life Assurance Company, amplified testimony he gave earlier in connection with an $8,500 hospital-paid life insurance policy provided for the superintendent.

He said the $8,500 policy was instituted to bring Dr. Morgan's insurance coverage into the same relative position as that of other staff members.

Under the Sun Life insurance plan now in effect at the hospital, hospital-paid policies were provided for each employee. Value of these was "approximately" equal to a year's salary—up to a $7,500 maximum—for the employee concerned.

The hospital provided the $8,500 policy in addition to a $7,500 policy instituted under the regular plan because Dr. Morgan's salary was $12,000 annually, he said.

Earlier, Mr. Phillips had stated only that the $8,500 policy was provided to meet offers by other insurance companies.

The inquiry, now in its seventh week, is continuing.

Walter Ruggles Of Picton Sports Long Moustache

SEATTLE (CP)—Nearly 1,000 members of Canada's 25th infantry brigade arrived here yesterday from Korea aboard the U.S. navy transport Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey.

One of the Canadians who attracted attention was Walter Ruggles of Picton, Ont. He sported a 9½-inch moustache—rich and full in the centre and waxed in ferocious spikes on either end.

Fantastic Finish As Glen Roys Down Flyers 4-3

Glen Roy Juniors were the darlings of the softball gods last evening as they snatched a 4-3 decision from RCAF Flyers in 11 innings with one of the wildest finishes seen here since the post war revival of softball.

John Batchelor had the dubious distinction of scoring the winning run because he struck out. As Vic Burtt's 16th strikeout victim, Batchelor in the normal course of events, would have been the second out in the bottom of the 11th, but there was nothing normal about it. The catcher dropped the ball and then, as Batchelor streaked for first, caromed the relay off his hip into short right field.

Batchelor shifted into high and made for second base. He came storming into second with the relay which shot past the pulled-around infield for two more bases. Batchelor romped home free as the ball went into the crowd on the third base line.

It was a fantastic finish to an otherwise exciting, hard - fought game. It was the end of one of the most brilliant pitching duels staged at the Alemite Field in years.

Glen Roy scored the first two runs of the game in the sixth inning. Up to the sixth they had managed to put just 2 men on first bese, one on a walk that was erased in an attempted steal, and the other on a single.

In the sixth DeGray led off with a single. Hunter struck out and DeGray wheeled all the way to third as the catcher's attempted pickoff scooted into centrefield. Goyer popped to short and was safe on an error. He came all the way to third as the throw to the plate to nip DeGray went wide. Barclay struck out and Hull singled to score Goyer. Batchelor was out on a carom shot off the pitcher into the second baseman's hands.

Freeman Hits Homer

The Flyers, held to two hits until the ninth inning, unloaded a four hit assault that netted 3 runs and what looked like the game. Auld beat out an infield single on a roller to deep short. Wood lined out to short and then Gingrass singled. Freeman then blew the game wide open with a home run to centrefield. Burtt's double was of no use as McCartney and Berner were retired to end the inning.

The Glens got the equalizer in the ninth on Batchelor's double with one out, a stolen base, and an error at third that put O'Brien aboard.

Then came the 11th with the most fabulous ending of all.

Big Vic Burtt hurled brilliant ball for the Flyers, walking three, striking out 16, and giving up only five hits in going the route. Loose work in the field was his undoing as all Glen Roy runs were unearned.

Bob Hunter did all the chucking for the Glens, walking none, striking out nine, and giving up seven hits.

Freeman and Burtt each had two hits in five trips for the losers to lead all batters.

Lineups:

RCAF: Wood 2b; Gingrass ss; Freeman cf; Burtt p; McCartney; Berner 1b; Greenough lf; Noel rf; Auld c

Glen Roy: Goyer cf, replaced by Wannamaker in 10th; Barclay lf; Hull ss; Batchelor 2b; P. Green c; Carr 3b; O'Brien rf; DeGray 1b; Hunter p.

Kinsmen Peewees Defeat Booth's 30-12

Pounding out 27 hits off two opposing hurlers, Kinsmen peewee softballers handed the Booth Radio team a 30-12 defeat at Firemen's Park in a peewee league game last night.

R. Pointer went the seven-inning route for the winners and was touched for 20 hits. He struck out three.

Brennan started for Booths giving up 13 clouts and was relieved in the fourth by Moreau who yielded 14 safeties.

McGuire, Kinsmen catcher, bounced out a home run, a double and two singles to pace his club. Rusty Garvin hit a homer for the losers.

Glen Roys meet the Rotary nine in a peewee game on Thursday night.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some 20 miles from Hollywood and Vine lies a little-publicized paradise where the movie industry cares for its needy sick and aged.

The setting is a 60-acre tract of citrus and walnut groves. Its heart is a cluster of modernistic buildings surrounded by lawns, lily ponds and beds of flowers.

For the sick there is a $1,350,000 hospital and a convalescent home.

It employs a resident physician and has specialists on call. Patients are treated without cost for as long as necessary.

Private Cottages

For the aged—minimum age is 60 for men, 65 for women—there is the motion picture country house. Its 30 "guests" occupy private cottages similar to those of luxury resort hotels.

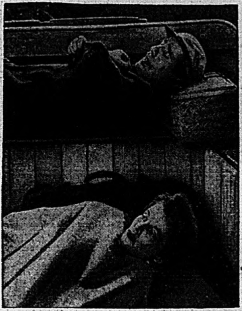
A central building contains a large library, a television-equipped lounge, and a top-notch dining room.

The guests receive room and board, clothing, a weekly allowance, movies twice a week, station wagon service to Hollywood and occasional trips to see touring plays.

Names of the guests are kept confidential, but it is no secret that many well-known personalities of yesteryear have spent their final days in the home.

The house and the hospital are supported by the motion picture relief fund. Hospital revenue comes from salaries in every branch of the industry. Those earning less than $200 weekly contribute ½ of one per cent, those earning more give one per cent.

The relief fund is headed by Jean Hersholt, in his 16th year as president.



AT THE McCARTHY — In John Huston's thrilling Technicolor drama, "The African Queen," now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, through United Artists release, Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn find travel on a little river boat far from relaxing.

HEAT CLOSES PLANT

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An unauthorized walkout by some 20 Chrysler of Canada workers yesterday forced officials to close the plant for a half-shift. Officials blamed the walkout on the 91-degree temperature. Some 3,700 workers were affected by the closing.

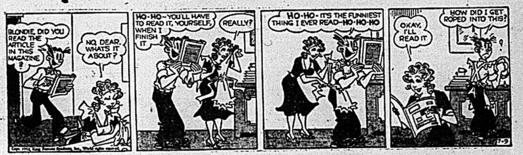
-AND TH' USE O' TH' SET!!-OH,(SOB!) NOW WE'LL NEVAH SAVE UP 'NUFF FO' OUR LI'L STRANGER!!
WHO IS THIS LI'L STRANGER YO' KEEPS TALKIN' 'BOUT? -ANYBODY AH KNOWS?

BLONDIE — By Chic Young



BLONDIE, DID YOU READ THE ARTICLE IN THIS MAGAZINE ?
NO, DEAR. WHAT'S IT ABOUT?
HO-HO-YOU'LL HAVE TO READ IT, YOURSELF, WHEN I FINISH IT REALLY?
HO-HO- IT'S THE FUNNIEST THING I EVER READ-HO-HO-HO
OKAY, I'LL READ IT
HOW DID I GET ROPED INTO THIS?

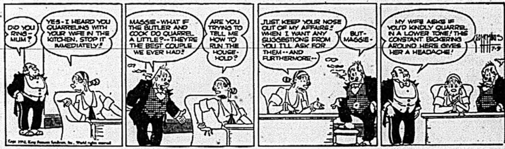
BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus



DID YOU RING-MUM?
YES-I HEARD YOU QUARRELING WITH YOUR WIFE IN THE KITCHEN. STOP IT IMMEDIATELY!
MAGGIE-WHAT IF THE BUTLER AND COOK DO QUARREL A LITTLE?--THEY'RE THE BEST COUPLE WE EVER HAD!
ARE YOU TRYING TO TELL ME HOW TO RUN THE HOUSEHOLD?
JUST KEEP YOUR NOSE OUT OF MY AFFAIRS! WHEN I WANT ANY SUGGESTIONS FROM YOU I'LL ASK FOR THEM--AND FURTHERMORE-- BUT-MAGGIE-
MY WIFE ASKS IF YOU'D KINDLY QUARREL IN A LOWER TONE! THIS CONSTANT BICKERING AROUND HERE GIVES HER A HEADACHE!

EXPECTS SMALLER CROPS

TORONTO (CP)—B. I. Jennett, chairman of the Ontario Wheat Producers' Association, yesterday advised Ontario farmers to store their wheat for gradual sale to avoid price slumps. V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said smaller-than-average winter wheat and coarse grain crops are expected this year in Ontario.

Legion Officials Deny Charges Of Dr. Endicott

CALGARY (CP)—Canadian Legion and city police officials yesterday denied charges by Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress.

Dr. Endicott charged Monday that the Calgary branch of the Canadian Legion threatened to break up any public meeting he might hold here. He also said he had cancelled a scheduled address when told that Calgary police could not guarantee him protection.

Ralph Henderson, president of the No. 1 branch, Canadian Legion, said: "That's a lot of nonsense. He couldn't get our hall, of course. But, at the same time, we wouldn't smash up his meeting."

Chief Constable Larry Partridge denied having said anything to Dr. Endicott or anyone acting on his behalf.

Report Finds No Evidence Of Dishonesty

TORONTO (CP)—Directors of the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday made public a detailed examination of the business methods and organizational setup of the C.N.E.

The report made by the management consultant firm of J. D. Woods and Gordon found "no evidence of fraud or dishonesty encountered, except for defalcations on the part of temporary employees" but suggested a number of improvements.

They were:

1. Installing an effective budget system "as a control over revenues and expenditures;"
2. Transferring to the C.N.E. Association year-round control and maintenance of the C.N.E. buildings, owned by the city;
3. Appointing a purchasing agent to do all C.N.E. buying, instead of having every department do its own, as at present;
4. Cutting down on the number of free passes;
5. Setting up of a concession committee to handle the allotting of space to concessionaires.

CENTRAL MORTGAGE AND HOUSING CORPORATION

TENDER

File No. 120-3-6-T5—No. 3/50

Surfacing of Roads and Driveways, TRENTON, Ontario

Sealed tenders plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 2.00 p.m., E.D.S.T., Tuesday, July 22, 1952, for the performance of the following work Surfacing of Roads and Driveways at Trenton, Ontario.

Plans, specifications and tender documents for this project may be obtained at the address shown below. A deposit of $100.00 in the form of a cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is required for each complete set of plans, specifications and documents. This deposit will be refunded if the documents are returned in good condition within seven (7) days after the award of contract.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the tender total. The security deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful tenderer refuses to enter into the contract on the basis of his tender when called upon to do so. The security deposits of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned. A marked cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation or negotiable Dominion of Canada Bonds will be accepted as security deposit.

Sets of plans and specifications have been made available for the purpose of information to sub-contractors and material suppliers at the Belleville and District Builders' Exchange, and at this office.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

More Layoffs In Rail Industry Are Anticipated

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Additional layoffs in the United States railroad industry loomed today as the result of the strike of 600,000 United Steelworkers (C.I.O.).

Nearly 50,000 railroaders have been furloughed since the strike began June 2. They're part of the 422,405 workers in allied industries off the job because of the steel strike.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which laid off 10,000 men June 5, says it is being forced to furlough "several thousand" more. Many other railroads are moving only passengers, mail, express and perishables as the production of durable goods is curtailed because of the strike.

Plan to Move Ore

Meanwhile, representatives of the iron-ore industry say they plan to ask the Steelworkers if a plan can be worked out to move ore now stockpiled in the upper lakes region. All ore shipments, along with iron-ore mining, have been suspended.

Philip Murray, president of both the C.I.O and the Steelworkers, has asked Attorney-General James McGranery to take "prompt and vigorous" action against six major steel companies he accuses of violating anti-trust laws.

Murray said the six big producers, headed by U.S. Steel, are in "a combination and conspiracy" preventing all other struck steel companies from signing new contracts.

The steelworkers walked out after the U.S. Supreme Court denied President Truman's authority to seize and operate the mills pending settlement of the wage dispute. The companies have rejected a Wage Stabilization giving to men a pay raise totalling giving to men a pay raise totallig 26½ cents an hour, the union shop and other benefits. The union shop —under which only union members would be employed—is the main stumbling block in the negotiations.

RCAF RECRUITING OFF

OTTAWA (CP)—The Air Force said yesterday recruiting was down 20 per cent during the first six months of 1952 compared with the similar period a year ago. However, a spokesman said recruiting showed signs of picking up during June when recruits were 100 per cent higher than for June last year. For security reasons figures are not released.

Lake Ontario At Highest Level In June Since 1860

OTTAWA (CP) — Lake Ontario recorded its highest monthly level for June this year since 1860, the federal hydrographic and map service reported today.

At Kingston, Ont., the level was the highest for June since the federal hydrographic and map service began keeping records in 1860. It was five inches higher than the previous high reached in 1947 and was 29¼ inches higher than average.

Water levels of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River:

Lake Superior at Port Arthur—1¾ inches higher than May; six inches lower than June, 1951; 7¾ inches lower than the highest June since 1860; 29 inches higher than the lowest June since 1860; and 5¼ inches higher than average level of June for the last 92 years.

Lake Huron at Goderich — 1¾ inches higher than May; 15¾ inches higher than June, 1951; 14 inches lower than highest June; 55 inches higher than lowest June; and 18¼ inches higher than average.

Lake Erie at Port Colborne—1¾ inches lower than May; 8½ inches higher than June, 1951; 3 inches lower than highest June; 50¾ inches higher than lowest June, and 18¼ inches higher than average.

Lake Ontario at Kingston—1¼ inches higher than May; seven inches higher than June, 1951; five inches higher than previous highest June 61¼ inches higher than lowest June and 29¼ inches higher than average.

St. Lawrence River in Montreal harbor — 17½ inches lower than May; 23½ inches higher than June, 1951; 68¼ inches lower than highest June; 55 inches igher than lowest June; and 5½ inches lower than average.

LONDON BUSES TO TOUR

MONTREAL (CP)—Three double-decked buses from London arrive here tomorrow to begin a 1,200-mile goodwill tour of Quebec and Ontario. The tour starts from Montreal July 17 and moves to Ottawa, Peterborough, Lindsay, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Stratford, Kitchener, Guelph, Trenton, Kingston and Gananoque.

HE DOESN'T

OTTAWA (CP)—Sweltering in 90-degree heat, officials of the Canadian Travel Bureau opened a letter yesterday from a Silver City, N.C., man who plans to motor to Montreal and Quebec. He wants to know if he needs anti-freeze in his car in Quebec in July.

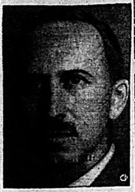
Led Opposition



George C. Marler, 51, led the eight-man Liberal Opposition in the last Quebec Legislature. The Montreal notary, a specialist in government finance matters, was elected to the Legislature for the first time in 1942 by-election in Westmount-St. George and has held the seat since.—(CP Photo.)

Half Hay Crop Is Harvested In Province

TORONTO (CP)—Well over half of Ontario's hay crop, far below average in quantity because of extremely dry weather, has been harvested, the Ontario Agriculture Department said today in its weekly crop report.

Farmers reported rain last week was of great benefit to most crops, especially in southwestern Ontario, but was too late to help hay and strawberries.

In Perth county in western Ontario 75 per cent of the hay crop has been harvested.

Central Ontario farmers said wheat is ripening too rapidly. Dry pastures have reduced the output of milk.

In Northern Ontario, crops on Manitoulin Island appeared to be progressing better than in other sections in the area.

Nipissing farmers said hay is short and uneven.

RICH COAL MINE CLOSED

CADOMIN, Alta. (CP)—Flood damage and the state of the Canadian coal market have forced the closing of the $1,000,000 Cadomin Coal Company mine. Opened 35 years ago, the Cadomin mine has been the sole major industry in the town which now has a population of 800.

Death Toll In Nova Scotia Fire Now Four

BRIDGEWATER, N.S. (CP)—The death toll of a fire at nearby New Germany yesterday rose to four when Mrs. Clinton Conrad, who lost three children in the blaze, died in hospital.

The young mother, frantic in her attempts to lead all her six children to safety, dashed three times into the fiery frame dwelling and collapsed with James 2, in her arms on her final trip. He later died.

In two previous trips she brought out Dale, 7, and Marion, 12. Twelve-year-old Geraldin jumped from a second-storey window.

Mrs. Conrad called for Diane, 9, and Wayne, 8, to follow her but they apparentlty became confused by smoke and flames and were trapped.

Mr. Conrad suffered serious burns. He had been cutting hay in a nearby field and arrived in time to pull his wife and son from the porch.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

DISCOUNT U.S. SILVER

Three Men Show Up As Husbands When Woman Dies

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—A 60-year-old woman died in a hospital Sunday of heart trouble.

Shortly afterwards, Police Inspector Darrell Davis said, three men showed up and each said he was her husband.

The officer said the woman was listed on the hospital's records as Dolly Clingenpeel, and her husband as James Clingenpeel, 63.

After her death, Clingenpeel arrived to claim the body, followed shortly by Thomas Powers, 60, of Stockton and W. H. Grist of Oakland.

Going to Clingenpeel's home to investigate the complications, Davis said he found the man's body. He termed Clingenpeel's death a suicide.

Looking deeper into the tangle, Davis said he found:

1. Born Ethel Hoyt, the woman married one Floyd Settle of New York, in 1908. No record of a divorce.
2. In 1914 she married Powers. No record of a divorce.
3. In 1916 she married Grist. He filed for a divorce in 1923.
4. In 1923 she began living with Clingenpeel. No record of a marriage.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Deke Alvord, city editor of the San Francisco Journal, rang for his society editor, which was me, at about 11 a.m. on Thursday, June 10.

"How'd you like a two-week rest, expenses paid, at Gold Lodge?" he asked in his crisp, booming voice. Before I could stammer a reply, he went on. "Here's a check to cover the trip. The quiet of the woods will do you good."

He never failed to astonish me. "I'll go with pleasure and thanks," I answered quickly.

He grinned and yanked open a top drawer of his desk and drew out a pistol. "Take this. A woman driving on a mountain road at night should be protected. You'll about make the high mountains by dark."

I laughed. "I'll take Susie. She is protection enough." Susie was my Belgian shepherd.

And so about 2:15 that afternoon we left the Bridge Toll Station, but at that moment a motorcycle officer came up beside me and motioned me to the side of the highway. He jotted down my licence number and then said: "Where are you going?"

"Sacramento."

"Your name?"

"Rosemary Curtis."

He looked at me for a long moment. "Let me see your driver's license." I found it in my purse.

He scanned the license I gave him. "You look like a girl named Elsie Martinson. Ever hear of her?"

I shook my head.

"Okay. Have your brakes checked." And with another long look, he got on his motorcycle.

I had my car checked in Sacramento, where I ate dinner. The brakes were in good condition and so I set out for Gold Lake in the high Sierras early in the evening.

Night came as Susie and I entered the pine-clad higher ranges. The road was deserted. Only one car had passed us and that was going in the other direction. I only saw that it was a green coupe, similar to mine, and driven by a woman.

Rounding a curve, I finally saw a feeble light hanging to a pole near a watering trough. Faintly I discerned a gasoline pump and my headlights shone on a sign: Horseshoe Springs.

I drew up and sounded the horn.

A door opened a crack, sending a thin line of light across the dark earth. Someone peered out. "Who's there?" quavered the high pitched voice of an old man.

"I'm a woman alone on my way to Gold Lake and I need some gasoline."

It seemed odd to find it necessary to explain myself. I was thankful for warm, furry Susie, who pressed guardedly against my shoulder.

Apparently reassured, the old man hobbled out, carrying an electric lantern.

He filled my tank. As I paid him he turned the light from the lantern upon me and as he counted change into my hand muttered almost inaudibly, "There's been a woman murdered a piece up the road. Better drive fast and don't stop."

As if in answer to his whispered warning, a rifle cracked and a bullet hit the rear right fender of my car. The old man sped to the shelter of the house. In terror I shot the car ahead into the blacker-than-ever night.

As I drove at a mad speed equal to the pounding of my heart, I tried to analyze what had happened. Obviously the rifle shot was meant for the old man who had whispered his warning to me. He said there had been a murder. How did he know about it?

Was the shot in the dark fired by a demented fiend who roamed the forest with his deadly rifle, shooting at any living thing?

I pressed the accelerator down dangerously as we tore around those mountain curves. My lights showed a black void to my left, evidently a great chasm or deep canyon.

Then Susie leaned forward more than ever, while she continud to snarl and at that moment I thought I heard a faint crashing sound.

A half mile or so around a curve, probably but a short distance across the canyon from where I had heard the crash, the headlights shone on a smallish pine tree that lay across the highway ahead of me.

Enveloped in terror of what roamed the black night, I acted instinctively.

The smaller end of the tree lay on the down slope away from the highway. Its boughs stuck upwards and the small end at the edge of the road was probably six inches thick.

My little car was equipped with oversize tires. Without stopping but slowing perceptibly I went across the small end of the tree, dangerously far over the sloping shoulder of the mountain.

The car swayed down the hill, gave two sickeningly sudden thumps and wrenches as the wheels passed over the trunk and the boughs banged on the fenders and pan. I expected to find myself rolling into canyon or with at least a broken axle but oh, miracle, there was no metallic bumping and instead of sliding downward, the car was headed for the road.

I stepped on the gas once more, but as we bounded away I thought I saw a woman, wearing a long dark coat, standing by the roadside. It was but a flash but I was almost sure that a woman was really standing there by the road. But why?

I drove faster than good sense permitted and reached the closed gates of Gold Lodge at 9:15 o'clock.

I drew up and sounded my horn. A small building stood near the gates and its windows gleamed brightly with light. I found, afterwards, that it was the log cabin home of the gatekeeper and was occupied by an old mountaineer, Jed Downey. He came out of the cabin and opened the squeaking, heavy log gates.

"Goin' up to the Lodge?"

"Yes," I answered. "I have made reservations there."

He stuck his bearded old face into the window of the car, hesitated a brief moment as he said, "Be there trouble up the road apiece?"

"Why—I'm not sure," I replied I didn't like his manner and, somehow, I dreaded to speak of what had happened.

And then as I shifted the car into high I saw a woman standing behind an out-cropping of granite, away from the sight of the gatekeeper. I looked back but she was gone. I wondered if she had slipped through the gate behind my car while the old man was talking and if she could be the same woman who had stood by the felled tree. But that seemed impossible since I was miles from that spot. She was probably a member of his family.

I followed a meadow road and in a few moments I stopped before the door of Gold Lodge.

The proprietors of the resort were a Mr. and Mrs. Rodney James. Mrs. James offered me a late supper.

Mrs. James, wife of the proprietor of Gold Lodge, introduced me to the guests near the fire as I ate sandwiches and drank coffee from a tray. She herself was pleasant, business-like, tall and slender. But her face carried an expression of harrassed weariness.

Her husband was a ruddy, stout man, smiling, but he had a sly, shifty glance. He wheezed slightly when he breathed.

The cook was a middle-aged very stout colored woman named Rhumba Jones. She was shrewd, superstitious and kind.

Among the guests was a Mrs. Ordell, a pretty little woman, somewhat faded. I liked her on sight. I did not meet her husband until the morning after I arrived. But Mrs. Ordell told me he taught geology at the university.

Dr. David Roberts was a surgeon from San Francisco, tall, dark, good-looking, and pleasant.

Miss Hansen, nurse from Fresno, was a Scandinavian girl, large, blonde, broad of mouth, wholesome.

Then there were three boys from the university, working at camp for the summer.

Jeff Edwards was lean, wiry, homely, with a disarming smile.

Dick Bannister was of football build, tall, heavy-shouldered, good looking.

Bob Martin was quiet, small and rather dull. He seemed peevish and irritable and entered the lodge just before I retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Alberts and their two small sons I somehow disliked. She was a bold-mannered woman who talked loudly and seemed undisturbed by her two unruly sons.

Mr. Alberts was gifted unpleasantly with an opinion upon every subject and an annoying habit of finding laughable vulgarity in the most harmless remark.

The lads, themselves, were inanely called Bigga and Little. Susie detested them immediately and she usually adores children.

Pete Dupres wrangled the horses. He lived in a room in the barn loft and came up to the lodge for his meals and to the fire. He was wiry, able, quiet, and he had a wretched habit of sitting quietly staring past us all, with his head cocked to one side, as though he were listening. I learned that he had once be a shepherder and the loneliness had touched his mind somewhat.

Customarily, I was told, the electrci lights were turned off at 10.30, so after I finished my supper I asked to be shown to my tent.

Leading Susie, I followed Mrs. James, who led the way, along a wooded path with an electric torch.

Where the brush and trees were especially thick, Mrs. James turned her light upon a small stream which we stepped across.

My heart nearly stopped when I saw a dark form rise from a nearby log. Mrs. James was apparently annoyed but not frightened.

"Wilmot, what are you doing here?"

"No harm, Ma, no harm," replied a lisping, soft voice that somehow affected me unpleasantly. "I was just waiting for that dead Indian to get here. We are going out to do some scalping."

HOT WOMEN DEFY BY-LAW

QUEBEC (CP)—A slight breeze last night gave Quebecers some respite from a two-day heat-wave. Temperatures reached a maximum of 89 degrees yesterday, but City Hall officials reported a thermometer in the sun shot up to 114 degrees. Many women wore sun-dresses despite a by-law which bans them on the street.

SIX NOVA SCOTIA MINERS KILLED IN BLAST

Foreign Office Clerk Sentenced To Five Years

Convicted of Passing Information to Russia

LONDON (CP)—William Marshall, 24, a Foreign Office radio clerk, today was sentenced to five years in prison for passing confidential information to a Russian agent.

The jury had asked for the "utmost leniency" for the 24-year-old Marshall who could have been sentenced to a maximum of 14 years on each of the four counts.

"We feel he has been led astray," the jury said before Judge Sir Patrick Barry pronounced sentence.

Marshall, who said he was a "misfit" in the British Embassy in Moscow when he was stationed there, declared "I am still innocent."

Sir Patrick xx para 4 di ....

Judge Sir Patrick Barry said the sentence will be pronounced later.

Mother In Tears

Marshall swayed slightly in the prisoner's dock as the verdict was pronounced. He showed no other sign of emotion. He waved to his parents as he left the dock, and his mother shouted to him: "Chin up!" Then she burst into tears, saying "There is no British justice."

The jurors in London's famous Old Bailey—where Klaus Fuchs got 14 years for betraying atomic secrets to Russia—was out 63 minutes.

Marshall had admitted that an 11-month stay in Moscow while working for the British Embassy in 1951 had sold him on the Soviet way of life, but he denied passing any secrets to Kuznetsov. He said their frequent meetings were to discuss cultural affairs and current events.

Judge Barry said he would have been inclined to pass a longer sentence had not the jury recommended leniency.

He said to Marshall: "To you and any others who may think like you it must be made plain that conduct of this sort cannot and will not be tolerated in this country or any other civilized country."

Danger To Country

"You may not and probably did not realize to the full the danger to your country which might be involved in the material recorded in exhibit one in this case.

"I do not know the motives which may have led you to commit these grave offenses, but I am prepared to assume that you did not commit them for the purposes of any gain for yourself. You are entitled to hold your own views but not to hand over your country's secret information for the benefit of some potentially hostile power."

The judge said Marshall still was young, "and I am taking into account that hitherto you have borne an exemplary character both in civilian and military life."

Marshall did a period of service in the British Army after the war.

Sir Patrick told the jury to disregard one of the five charges against Marshall—that of obtaining information. The other four charge him with recording secret information and passing it to Pavel Kuznetsov, second secretary at the Soviet Embassy here.

Marshall pleaded innocent to all charges. Yesterday he claimed he was not the author of a page of notes found in his wallet when he was arrested with Kuznetsov in a London park last month.

What the notes contained has not been made public, but prosecutor Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller said the information came from notices hung in the room where the Foreign Office radio operators worked.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Cool air which invaded southern Ontario Tuesday night and accompanied by showers and thunderstorms has moved over into the western fringe of Quebec province. However its eastward progress has been temporarily retarded, and therefore cloudiness will persist in eastern counties today.

Friday will be sunny with rising temperatures in southern Ontario, but some cloudiness and scattered thundershowers will spread into northern districts during the day.

Fights, Scuffles, Shooting Feature Que. Meetings

MONTREAL (CP)—Cntradictory political meetings—the delight of Quebec voters—yere held in several outlying constituencies following the closing of nominations yesterday for the July 16 provincial elections.

Fist fights, scuffles and the firing of a revolver featured these traditional gatherings where candidates take turns at speaking and rebuttals follow.

At St. Georges de Beauce, in Beauce riding, Georges O. Poulin, Union Nationale, and Dr. Eugene Fortin, Liberal—both with bodyguards—got just as far as one speaking turn apiece.

Cat-calls and boos from the crowd became louder as the meeting progressed and when Mr. Poulin started his rebuttal, a group of men jumped on the stage and fist-fights started.

Priest Restores Order

An unidentified priest took the stage and restored order and both candidates shook hands after the meeting.

Two unnamed strikers from a textile plant were chased by a group of men participating in a nomination session at Three Rivers but were saved possible injury when a union official drew a revolver and fired a shot in the air.

The two men were attending a meeting for Germain Caron, Union Nationale member for Maskinonge riding in the last Quebec legislature.

A group of men chased the two to union headquarters and attempted to force their way in. Raymond Gagnon, business agent for the Louiseville Textile Workers Union, drew a revolver, fired and shot in the air and then pointed it at the group.

Msgr. Donat Baril, parish priest of Louiseville, stepped in and cooled tempers off.

At Ste. Genevieve de Batiscan in Champlain constituency, an outbreak of fist-and-chair-fighting broke out in the midst of a speech following nomination closing.

U.K. Silversmiths Protest Faking Of Hallmarks

LONDON (Reuters)—British silversmiths protested today that United States firms are faking ancient British hallmarks on silver plate.

The National Jewelers' Association said today that protests will be lodged with the government and action sought in Washington.

The elaborate system of hallmarks has been used in Britain for centuries as a guarantee of the quality of the silver used. They are protected by law in Britain.

EISENHOWER WINS GEORGIA, TEXAS OVER TAFT FORCES

Pulls Within Striking Distance of Opposition

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower surged into the lead today in his slam-bang battle with Republican presidential nomina- Senator Robert A. Taft for the tion.

Helped by other presidential aspirants, Eisenhower bowled over Taft in two vital preliminary victories last night in the seating of contested delegations from Georgia and Texas.

By the strength his forces displayed, the general appeared to have pulled within striking distance of the first presidential nomination for a professional military man since Ulysses S. Grant won the prize and the presidency in 1868.

607-To-531 Vote

Taft fought a valiant rear-guard action against the seating of pro-Eisenhower delegations from the two states. But he lost Georgia by a 607-to-531 vote. It was the first time a Republican convention had overruled its credentials committee. That Taft-dominated group had recommended, 29 to 22, the seating of a delegation heavily weighted for the Ohioan.

The Eisenhower allies developed such power that Taft's supporters elected not to oppose the seating of a Texas delegation favoring the general. Previously the committee had approved a pro-Taft group.

This made the new line-up in the Associated Press tabulation of delegates:

Eisenhower 514, Taft 486, others 110, uncommitted 96. (Needed to nominate—604).

This picture could shift quickly on the first nomination ballot, when the uncommitted must join the ranks of those publicly tabbed for one candidate or another.

Showdown Tomorrow

But the convention seemed unlikely to get around to any such showdown until tomorrow. Delegates faced action today on the tedious business of nominating party platform, followed by the candidates.

250 Firefighters Fail to Control Forest Fire

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP)—Clouds of dense smoke drifted over two communities today as 250 firefighters continued their battle to control a racing forest fire which already has burned more than 100 square miles of woodland.

Albert Martin, woods manager for Bowaters pulp and paper mill here, said damage so far is estimated at $50,000. But this does not include loss of time in operations in the woods.

He said too, that the outbreak will cause postponement for about two years of company plans to take out 10,000 cords of pulpwood from the area.

The blaze started Sunday when a group of loggers cooking a meal accidentally set fire to a shack. The flames spread quickly through the tinder-dry wood despite their efforts to control them and soon got out of hand.

Govt. Arrests 203 for Resisting S. Africa's White Supremacy Policy

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (Reuters) — Eighty-eight Africans were arrested today for breaking racial-segregation laws at the Brighton railroad station and post office.

The arrests brought to 203 the number of men and women arrested for their parts in the government's white-supremacy policies.

The campaign—to ignore orders requiring special passes for Africans to move about the country and providing special seats for them at stations, in buses and trains—started June 26.

Meanwhile, in Capetown, judgment was reserved today on an appeal by Sam Kahn, former Communist member of the House of Assembly, against arrest under the Suppression-of-Communism Act.

Kahn was deprived of his parliamentary seat under the act and later told to quit the Capetown city council and not to attend public meetings. He was arrested after attending a council meeting June 26.

Kahn's arguments were that a City Hall meeting was not a public meeting under the meaning of the act.

After delivering what he called his farewell address to a Republican convention, Herbert Hoover, only living ex-president of the U.S., is eagerly sought by newsmen and radio announcers. Hoover's address, advocating a type of isolationism, indicated support of Taft's policies. — Central Press Canadian.

Financial Post Says Loan Of Perhaps Three Billion Will be Made to Britain

TORONTO (CP)—The Financial Post, in a dispatch from Ottawa, says that "A substantial new dollar loan by Canada to Britain — of perhaps $2,500,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 — now is in the cards." The Post story adds:

"Such a move is regarded by top officials who have the whole sterling problem under close and constant study, as the only ultimate solution to the chronic difficulties faced by the sterling area—difficulties of as much concern to Ottawa as to London.

"The loan—if it is made—would be made jointly by Canada and the United States for the sole purpose of enabling Britain, as the sterling area banker, to set sterling free.

"It would not be in the nature of a reconstruction loan to Britain as the U. S. and Canadian loans in 1946 primarily were.

"Several important conditions will have to be met, and a much healthier economic climate within the sterling area will have to be fostered, before such a loan can be made, in the view of Ottawa officials concerned. . . .

"In the meantime, the Canadian government is taking a number of measures designed to help ease the immediate sterling area export problem, insofar as Canada can help. Chief among these:

1. A substantial increase on last year's $45,000,000 defence buying in the U. K. is being worked out. . . .

2. British participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project . . . .

"At the same time, the government is working to counteract growing protectionist sentiment here which undoubtedly will hinder the British export drive if left unchecked."

Warner Brothers Movie Lot Swept by Disastrous Fire, Loss May Reach $6,000,000

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A second disastrous fire in less than two months whooshed across the Warner Brothers movie lot yesterday. Studio spokesmen roughly Vestimated damage at $4,500,000 to $6,000,000.

Spectators who remembered the May 16 blaze had that feeling they got at the movies: This is where we came in.

The fire swept in a giant arc through 25 studio back-lot acres, destroying nine streets of scenery. It razed a storage shed containing a collection of some 2,000 acting props. A shed 1,200 feet long and two stories high containing stores of scenery was razed.

It gutted and collapsed a corrugated iron hangar housing an undetermined number of planes used in movie scenes. Wind-driven embers leaped a street and burned 200 acres of scrub oak and brush on a nearby mountainside.

Broderick Crawford and Claire Trevor were recording a song for their movie when somebody yelled "Fire." "Oh, yeah—quit kidding," growled the actor, thinking it was a gag based on the previous blaze.

Eighteen studio workmen suffered minor burns, cuts or bruises fighting the fire. Two had heart attacks.

Arson investigator Ed Hatcher said there is "every indication" the fire could not have started accidentally, and must have been incendiary.

MAYOR HITS COMMISSION

TORONTO (CP)—Economy starts with little things, Mayor Lamport told Board of Control yesterday. He was annoyed at a 25-cent expenditure by the City Works Commission to send a registered letter from ne office at City Hall to another.

Three Soldiers 25th Brigade Sent to Prison

HANNOVER, Germany (Reuters)—Three soldiers of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade have been sentenced to prison terms by a Canadian court martial on charges of assault and desertion, brigade headquarters announced today.

Pte. Henry J. Dafoe and Pte. James Lediard were each sentenced to two years at hard labor and Pte. Robert Parks to 21 months. All three were dismissed from the service.

A Brigade spokesman said these were the stiffest sentences imposed by a court martial since the brigade arrived in Germany. The sentences are subject to review

The three accused pleaded guilty of assaulting a German taxi driver, but not guilty of desertion.

The spokesman said the soldiers were arrested wearing civilian clothes on the German-Netherlands border. They had train tickets to Hengelo, in The Netherlands.

He said they would serve their sentences in Germany until their normal time for returning to Canada. Remainder of their sentences would be served in a Canadian prison.

Te trial ended yesterday. It was not open to the press generally, but five German reporters were specially invited so they could report what happens to Canadian troops who misbehave in a country they are helping defend, the spokesman said.

MAJOR IN ARMY PLEADS GUILTY TO SIX CHARGES

Cases in Connection With Thefts at Camp

PEMBROKE (CP)—Major Allan Ross Elmer, an officer of the Royal Canadian Regiment, today pleaded guilty to six charges of theft in connection with large-scale stealing of equipment at nearby Petawawa military camp and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

The 35-year-old native of Kingston, was commissioned in the army in 1941.

The third—and most senior—army man to be charged in connection with the Petawawa thefts, Maj. Elmer was arrested in Pembroke a few hours before he appeared in court.

Maj. Elmer was sentenced to two years on each of the six charges. The sentences run concurrently.

He admitted theft of the following amounts of money on various dates since 1949: $1,500.56; $847.92; $50; $1,088.90; and $250. He also admitted theft of a refrigerator.

When he apeared in court today he was not represented by counsel. The case for the Crown was presented by G. B. Cooke of Renfrew, assistant special Crown prosecutor. His arrest followed investigation by R.C.M.P. and Canadian Army officials.

There was no immediate indication oaf the details of the thefts in which Maj. Elmer is alleged to have been involved.

Previously tried and convicted in connection with the Petawawa thefts was Staff Sgt. J. M. Young of Fredericton, who was sentenced to two years in penitentiary. His conviction is being appealed.

Others involved in the thefts will not be tried until fall. They include a third army man, Capt. W. D. Baldock of Brandon, Man

The charges against Maj Elmer were laid under section 359 of the Criminal Code.

Majj. Elmer received his high school education in Toronto and graduated in 1940 from Queen's University as a Bachelor of Science. He was commissioned in the army in 1941, and served for a time during the latter part of the war in northwest Europe.

Radio Reception Threatened By Huge Sun-Spot

LONDON (Reuters)—Greenwich Observatory today reported a huge sun-spot is developing which threatens to upset long-range radio communications.

Officials said it covers an area of more than 1,000,000,000 square miles, equivalent to about 20 times the cross-section area of the earth. They said it will be visible to observers early next week, looking like a pinhead when viewed through dark glasses.

The spot was first noticed on the edge of the sun's disc yesterday and should reach the centre by Tuesday.

Science as yet has no explanation of sunspots, but they are believed to be tremendous eruptions of gases which shoot out far enough from the sun to distort the earth's atmospheric layers which control shortwave radio transmissions.

Explosion Seals Tunnel With Tons Of Rock and Coal

One Brought to Surface With Third-Degree Burns

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Six coal miners working deep under the Atlantic died yesterday when a sudden explosion blasted through the depths of No. 20 colliery here.

Rescue workers toiled dangerously for six hours to rescue the one man who survived at the scene of the blast and bring up the bodies.

Herb Desmond, the survivor, was reported in "poor condition" in hospital today.

The big pit was idle, along with nearby No. 1-B where 1,400 miners stayed away in sympathy. No. 20 will probably remain idle until Monday, after the funerals and a probe by Mines Department inspectors.

The searing blast rocked the 1,200-foot level shortly after the night shift of some 400 men began operations in the mine, owned by the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation and one of Cape Breton's top producers.

Grim Story

"It was hot as hell down there," said veteran miner Michael Chordas, who was working some 1,500 feet away. "I felt a slight bump and the next thing I knew the whole section was engulfed in smoke."

Rescue workers told an equally grim story.

"Everything was blown to pieces, including the timber used to prop up the working area," said one worker. "We found the Desmond brothers together. Billy, on top, was dead and Herby, underneath, was alive. He talked to us as we brought him to the surface.

"We found the driver, Buddy Bonar, near the coal box he was handling. The two horses he had were found dead, blown quite a piece away from the accident. Billy Blake — he was the shot-firer — was found in one room and overman John Harris in another."

Others killed in the blast were John Gould, 26, and Pat Gabriel, 29. All were from Glace Bay.

Don McLelland, 50, a veteran of 33 years in Cape Breton's submarine mines which slope for miles under the ocean, was among the first to reach the scene.

Finds Brothers

Armed only with a can of water and a damp cloth over his face, he found the Desmond brothers in a scorched room, eerily lit by flames from burning timbers.

"I gave Herby a drink of water and wet his brows, then told him to keep calm," he said.

It was Nova Scotia's second mine disaster this year. Nineteen miners were killed in Stellarton's MacGregor mine Jan. 14 while sealing off a gaseous section.

Romans Rowing In Flash Flood

ROME (Reuters) — Citizens took to boats in some of the main streets of Rome today when a sudden rainstorm broke the city's two-week-long heat wave.

Rain and hail flooded parts of the city and swamped some houses.

Temperatures throughout the country are falling gradually and rain was reported today in many parts.

Doctors Stage Dramatic Battle For Lives of Mother, Unborn Child

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The life of an unborn child hangs on the outcome of a dramatic 30-day battle which doctors have launched at Victoria hospital.

The battle centres around a young woman who lies critically ill in a hospital bed and whose life the medical men are trying to extend—for at least one month

The woman, wife of a district farmer, has been unconscious since she underwent a brain operation 10 days ago—and doctors say her recovery is a "touch and go" proposition.

But the woman is seven months pregnant. If she dies now, doctors say there is every chance the baby will also die.

The doctors are trying to save her life and if that is not possible, to keep her alive for one more month. By then they feel they can remove the baby alive by a Caesarian operation.

The woman underwent surgery for a brain tumor after she lapsed into unconsciousness in her home.

Although the tumor was removed her condition has remained critical.

Judge Commits Sloman on Charge Of Murdering Wife

HAMILTON (CP)—Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins today committed Reginald Sloman for trial at the next Supreme Court assizes on a charge of the murder of his wife, Kathleen Sloman, 26, in their home on June 12. Mrs. Sloman, according to medical testimony, died of strangulation.

The Crown presented evidence for nearly two hours on Tuesday and the hearing was continued today. The accused's appearance and the hearing today, however, lasted less than 10 minutes before his worship decided on committal.

Brief testimony was given by Detectives George Mair and Errol Reid, both of whom were on the stand on Tuesday.

Members Ask For Dismissal Of 'Red' Dean

LONDON (AP) — The "red" Dean of Canterbury's findings on germ warfare brought an angry demand in Parliament yesterday for his immediate dismissal.

Nine Conservatives asked the Commons to petition the Queen to dismiss the 78-year-old dean, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, who returned Monday from a tour of Communist China. Dr. Johnson is known as the "Red dean" because of his leftist views.

The dean called a press conference Tuesday to present what he described as irrefutable evidence that the United States had used bacteriological weapons in the Orient — a long scroll written in Chinese and a story of children fighting germs with chopsticks.

Pictures of the dean and his 12-yard scroll were splashed across Britain's newspapers yesterday with indignant demands for his dismissal.

"What used to be Dr. Johnson's comic act has now tagen a sinister turn," the London Star said. "He cannot be allowed to get away with it."

Car Inspector With 30 Years' Service Retires

Wheat at 19 cents a bushel, eggs at four cents a dozen and potatoes 25 cents a bag were the discouraging prices which turned Mr. H. E. Stebbings, 11 North Park Street, from farming to railroading.

Now, after nearly 30 years as a railroader the Belleville man has been retired from his role as car inspector with the Canadian National Railways. He officially retires the last of July, but is now on holidays until that time.

A native of England, Mr. Stebbings came to Canada back in 1908 and homesteaded in the Canadian West, commencing farming in the Dumbolt area of Saskatchewan. A combination of factors, but principally the uncertainty of farming, turned him to railroading, and in 1923 he took a job as helper in the car department.

But during the early depression years he was laid off from the railroad and went back to farming during the low price period cited above. He came to Belleville in 1937 and has lived here since.

With his railroading days completed Mr. Stebbings says he will now pay more attention to his gardening and he and Mrs. Stebbings have a trip planned for the near future. However, Mr. and Mrs. Stebbings will continue to live in the city.

They have a family of three children, one son, Robert Stebbings, a member of the R.C.A.F. band, and two daughters, 2nd Lieut. Stebbings with the Salvation Army at Gananoque, and Mrs. Arthur Fudge, of this city.

Springbrook Will Be Location Of 'Walk' Saturday

The village of Springbrook in Rawdon township will be the meeting place for members of many Hastings county Orange Lodges who will "walk" Saturday to celebrate the 262nd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

There will be no celebration in South Hastings and it is expected most of the lodges in the immediate Belleville district will go to Kingston where a district "walk" is scheduled. Celebrations are also planned for Cobourg and for Perth.

But Springbrook will see a large number of lodges from the northern district, members of which do not care to make the long trip to Kingston and return. A parade of visiting lodges is scheduled as well as addresses by prominent speakers.

TO PENSION WIDOW

TORONTO (CP)—oard of Control yesterday recommended that the city support Mrs. Edmund Tong, widow of the detective shot to death by gunmen last March, for the rest of her life. Provided she does not remarry, Mrs. Tong will receive 2,750 a year until 1962 and 1,700 a year thereafter.

The superficial area of the earth is 196,950,000 square miles.

Ontario-Quebec Amity Strenghthened At Summer Camp, Says Brig. Bibeau

The summer training period at Petawawa Military Camp held during the week of June 28-July 5, and attended by six anti-tank reserve regiments, achieved something more than high efficiency in training. It further cemented the strong bond of amity that exists between French and English speaking units of this branch of the service.

It was Brigadier Julien Bibeau, commandant of No. 2 AGRA, speaking. He was the guest of honor at a reception tendered him by Lieut.-Col. G. W. MacGregor, E.D., commanding officer, and the officers of the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment, (SP) RCA, ALI, at the Bridge Street Armouries officers' mess last night.

Brigadier Bibeau said that three regiments from Ontario, two from Quebec and one from the Maritimes comprised the six units that trained at Petawawa during that period.

Fine Spirit

"The fine spirit of friendship, friendly rivalry and co-operation that existed between these units was a source of pleasure for me", he said. "There were no signs of racial or religious discrimination. Negro soldiers who comprised nearly one-third of the Maritimes regiment personnel were accorded the same fine treatment by their English and French speaking comrades as they gave each other. This fine democratic spirit did much to contribute to the all-round success of the training period."

In a personal interview, Brigadier Bibeau expressed his extreme satisfaction with the result of the period of training of the anti-tank regiments. "It was without doubt the best training period I had seen in a long time. The personnel from the commanding officers to the drummer boys co-operated with headquarters and with themselves with the result that a high status of efficiency was achieved."

But this state did not arise from the summer training alone, the brigadier pointed out. It evidenced the fine quality of training that had been given during the autumn and winter months. Success at Petawawa was merely the climax to good instruction personnel enthusiasm and interest in the unit taken by all regiments present.

He spoke highly of the achievement of the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment of this city, in winning major honors in a 17-pounder shooting competition sponsored by the Artillery Association of Canada.

Pride of Regiment

"This gun detachment was a distinct credit to the camp and a source of extreme pride to its regiment." he said. "But it had to give its best to win as one of the other regiments came within one point of its score. I was proud to see these young artillerymen go through the drill and actual shooting with the ease and confidence of more experienced soldiers. They deserve a lot of credit."

Brigadier Bibeau was accompanied by his staff officer, Captain Rene Sauve. He was met at the armories by the regimental pipe band and "piped" to the mess. Here he met the officers of the regiment and their ladies. He chatted affably with all in an informal manner during the social amenities of the evening.

The brigadier will spend the next week at Pt. Petre, Prince Edward County, where he will watch and supervise the summer camp training period of regiments of the anti-aircraft branch of the Royal Canadian Artillery

Major General Howard Graham, DSO, commandant central command, Oakville, and other high ranking military officers will attend the training period which will be under the jurisdiction of Lieut. Col. J. Fisher, commanding the Royal Canadian Artillery School, located at Picton.

240 Candidates Seek 92 Seats In P.Q. Election

QUEBEC (CP)—Some 240 candidates were nominated yesterday for the July 16 Quebec election.

They took out official papers and paid the required $200 deposit, totalling $48,000, as nominations closed in 88 of the 92 constituencies. The lists closed earlier in four out-of-the-way ridings.

The total included 92 Liberals, 91 Union Nationale, 23 CCF, four Labor Progressives and 30 others running under an assortment of banners which include various independents and one candidate who listed himself as "Liberal Union."

The list of 240 compared with the 312 candidates who contested the last election of 1948 and 337 who ran in 1944. The Union Nationale won both of those elections, knocking the Liberals out of office in 1944 and consolidating their position in 1948 by winning 82 of the 92 seats in the legislature.

Absence of a third major party made the campaign a predominantly two-party fight, with two-cornered contests shaping up in 56 ridings. The former Bloc Populaire party made a bid for power in 1944 and the Union des Electeurs did the same in 1948. Neither is represented this time.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices turned mixed today in steady early afternoon trading after a mild advance.

Activity quickened from the dull pace of recent sessions in early trading but slackened by mid-session. Volume for the three hours was 1,040,000 shares.

Utilities, refining oils and banks retained a majority of fractional advances but steels, foods and retail stores slipped. Papers, constructions, textiles, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues were mixed.

Western oil leaders showed strength but lower-priced issues declined. Centraal Explorers, Central-Leduc, Federated Petroleum and Home Oil edged upward while Britalta, Pan Western and Fargo dipped.

Base metals were firm. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Hudson Bay and United Keno Hill added fractions. Golden Manitou and United Asbestos eased.

Senior golds climbed slightly as Hollinger and Sigma turned upward. Secondary issues were mixed. Holding companies were strong.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials down .21 at 318.46, golds up .53 at 91.67, base metals up .81 at 188.30 and western oils up .48 at 136.47.

336 Reds Killed Or Wounded In Sharp Fight

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations soldiers killed or wounded at least 336 Communists Wednesday and early today in sharp, small-scale actions all along the 155-mile Korean battle front, the United States Eighth Army reported.

Allied casualties were not estimated, but briefing officers said they were low.

Overcast skies dampened the ground fighting and limited the air war to bomb strikes against the Reds' North Korean supply system. Allied light bomber pilots reported they destroyed 21 Communist supply vehicles. B-29 Superforts Wednesday night blased the Huichon rail yards on the main Communist supply route from Manchuria.

An outnumbered Allied patrol came out almost unscratched after engaging about 100 Chinese soldiers south of Pyonggag on the west-central front. A briefing officer estimated 15 Reds were killed and nine wounded.

The officer estimated the Communists lost 92 killed and 123 wounded in forcing U.N. soldiers off a newly-captured hill west of the Pukhan River in a bitter 27-hour central-front battle Tuesday and Wednesday.

Allied soldiers almost encircled an enemy position on the eastern tip of the battlefront. When they pulled back at nightfall yesterday, they left an estimated 42 Communist dead and 55 wounded.

Queen Holds First Party of Reign With Many Canadians in Attendance

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Queen today held the first garden party of her reign. Among the 7,000 guests invited to take tea on the wide lawns of Buckingham Palace was Margaret Truman, daughter of the president of the United States.

A small group of Canadians, many of them young women, also attended.

The party was the first of two scheduled summer teas in the palace gardens. The Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh, Princess Margaret, the Princess Royal, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and the Earl and Countess of Harewood received the guests on the lawns fronting the west wing of the palace.

During the party the Queen moved among the hundreds of guests from many countries, but only those who happened to be in the right place at the right time were lucky enough to be introduced.

HOLIDAY HIGHLIGHT

For three teen-age Ontario girls and their physical instructor, 32-year-old Barbara Jones of Ottawa, the party was the highlight of a two-month holiday. The three—17-year-old Jean Allan of Waterloo and two Toronto friends, Barbara Bell, 19, and Sally Baldwin, 17—will tour Britain and France as an interlude between graduating from Bishop Strachan school in Toronto and starting work in Canada.

The total number of Canadians was not made known, but others known to have attended include Mrs. Percival Nelles, widow of Admiral Nelles of Brantford, Ont., senior Canadian flag officer overseas in 1944; Dr. Martha Law of Toronto; and Senator and Mrs. Salter Hayden of Ottawa.

Union Shuns Auto Strike, Commies Blamed

DAGENHAM, Essex, England (Reuters)—The 9,000 workers at the Briggs automotive body plant here decided today to continue their two-week strike despite yesterday's return of 15,000 at the adjoining Ford plant.

The strikers voted almost unanimously at a mass meeting to stay out until their wage claim of ninepence more an hour had been met.

Both strikes were shunned by the union. Communist agitators have been blamed.

The Ford men agreed to return pending negotiations.

ELDORADO

Eldorado.—Mr. and Mrs. Laveryne Carman have returned home from a honeymoon trip through the United States.

REDUCE PAPER SIZE

Only a short time ago, American newspaper publishers were protesting indignantly about a $10 a ton increase in the cost of Canadian newsprint. The Americans have consumed most of their own pulpwood and are now largely dependent on Canadian paper mills.

Just the other day, a newspaper published in Norfolk, Virginia, came up with a 276-page special edition to mark the opening of a bridge-tunnel link with another city. These huge special editions are extremely common in the United States. They seem especially popular with the publishers of newspapers in the smaller cities. Almost anything, it seems, may be used as the excuse for a special edition, which is often ten or twelve times as large as the normal edition of that particular paper.

In addition to these published in the United States as in Canada chiefly by secondary or tertiary papers, there are those well known weekend or Sunday editions published by many of the major American papers. These Sunday editions are also heavy consumers of newsprint.

All of which adds up to this: It is well known to Canadian publishers, just as it is well known to their American counterparts, that newsprint is now extremely expensive and that the increases in its prices have been relatively greater than the increases in other commodity prices.

But if the Americans really want to do something about reducing newsprint costs, or at least something toward preventing them from increasing further, they can cut down on these huge special editions, or even eliminate them. Their disappearance, in the United States or elsewhere, would constitute no national calamity. They could also reduce the size of their Sunday papers, although this might prove impractical, since both American and Canadian children would scarcely tolerate any action which might curtail the supply of colored comics.

Voluntary reduction in newsprint consumption by the largest consumers — that is, by the big American publishing companies — would be a great deal better solution to the difficulty than attempts on their part to "pressure" the Canadian government into placing ceiling prices on newsprint. Most people in this country, we believe, would favor drastic reduction in governmental interference with business, rather than any further extension of such interference.

WHY THE FILM BOARD?

While playing with the radio the other night, we chanced to tune in on the newscast which the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation presents to its public every night at ten o'clock.

Along with the other enlightenment and culture which we absorbed from this broadcast, we learned that a parliamentary committee has decided that the National Film Board has done or is doing "a good job in interpreting Canada to Canadians."

We do not know, and we are not going to try to learn, who were the members of this parliamentary committee. But whoever these people were, and of whatever political affiliation they might be, we feel that they could surely have been given something more useful to do than preparing reports saying that the National Film Board is covering itself with glory in "interpreting Canada to Canadians."

We wonder whether any of the members of this committee has ever met a Canadian who confessed that he felt a need of having Canada "interpreted" to him. We doubt very much whether any of them has. We have never encountered a Canadian who felt that he needed to have his own country interpreted to him.

The members of this parliamentary committee are members of the House of Commons. Members of the House of Commons are, in the final analysis, the salaried employees of the taxpayers of Canada. If there are even a few of these men who have nothing more important to engage their attention than preparing nonsensical reports about nonsensical subjects, then the time has come when the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, should lay them off. After they have exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits, they can go back to ambulance chasing, or whatever similar activity engrossed their attention before the voters placed them in well-paid positions of prestige and authority.

What we are waiting for, and we hope not waiting in vain, is for one of these parliamentary committees to bring in a report stating that this country does not need any such tax-eating institution as the National Film Board.

The speaker of the British Parliament by ancient law may requisition the carriage of any citizen to get him to Westminster.

CAMP COOK

He lit a fire beside the brook
And for the meal became the cook.
He cleaned the fish and greased the pan;
To set the dishes he began.
The old, enamel coffee pot
He filled with water boiling hot,
And while his comrades fished the stream,
He got the sugar and the cream,
The bread, the butter, just as wives
Who have to do it all their lives.
The summer breezes bore the scent
Of coffee everywhere they went.
The bacon sizzled in the pan—
Sweet music to a hungry man—
Then with enough for one and all
He gave the "Come and get it!" call.
And come they did, and down they sat,
Each one of them declaring that
No feed of kings or millionaires
For satisfaction sweet, compares
With that beside a running brook
A comrade volunteers to cook.

With Canadians in Korea

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—The little Canadian group was cut off in No Man's Land by Chinese who had winkled in behind it. It was low in ammunition.

The six men left were out of communication with their unit —the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

The answer, L.Cpl. J. C. R. Hamilton of Campbellton, N.B., told his men, was obvious.

They would have to charge uphill, fight their way through the enemy and back to the Canadian outpost. There was a platoon at the top, elements of two others on their flanks.

Ambush 'Ambushed'

It looked as though the Canadian ambush had itself been ambushed.

For half an hour the night of June 25 it had lain strung out in the dark on the forward slope on the Canadian front. The 10 men had been under Cpl. Wycliffe L. Presley of Petawawa, Ont., at the outset and were 750 yards ahead of the nearest R.C.R. outpost.

Shortly before midnight Hamilton heard noises uphill behind the patrol and climbed alone to investigate. The Chinese were there all right. While he launched a brief private skirmish, firing his carbine and hurling a few grenades, the patrol began having a thick time, fighting from the already-prepared positions it was using.

By the time Hamilton had worked his way back down Presley had suffered a head wound. Two Bren guns were out of action. A concussion grenade landed in a trench beside Pte. L. Murphy of Charlottetown, blasted him out of the trench, stunned him and wounded him in the ankle. Pte. Alex Hastie of Sydney Mines, N.S., the other Bren gunner, was more severely wounded.

Presley told Hamilton: "I've been hit. You take over."

Chinese Jubilant

The men closed in automatically. The Chinese closed in, too. They were laughing, jubilant at the thought of having the Canadians "in the bag."

One even paused to laugh down at Pte. G.C. McGillivray of Pembroke, Ont, fumbling in the light of the new moon as he tried to change the magazines on the patrol's last Bren.

McGillivray rammed the clip home and with one burst cut the Communist down.

Hamilton killed another so close to him that he crumbled in a heap at the Canadian's feet.

Another concussion grenade landed with a tremendous explosion, stunning Pte. A.E. Howard of Florence, N.S., the signaller.

Charge Up Hill

Surrounded, out of communication, and with three casualties on his hands, Hamilton told the others the only way out was to charge up the hill.

Lined up on either side of the corporal were McGillivray, the still-groggy Howard, and Ptes. Tom Stringer of Toronto, Jim Pender of St. John's Nfld., Bill Rousehorn of Petawawa and L.J. Fournier of New Liskeard, Ont.

Hastie and Presley were told to follow the others' extended line as best they could.

Shower Of Grenades

The climb was steep. About half way—60 yards from the top—they were met by a shower of grenades. Fournier was hit. Presley and Hastie were each wounded a second time. Fournier was hit again. Everyone but Hamilton went to ground.

He got them up again. The charge went on.

As those lower down had done, the Chinese at the top scattered. Some—the number is not known—were killed there.

Ignoring machine-gun fire, the men pressed on to the outpost where Sgt. R.T. Tunstall of Calgary waited at the gate in the wire.

Hamilton told the sergeant three of his men were wounded and still in No Man's Land—Presley, Fournier and Murphy. Tunstall prepared a rescue patrol.

Volunteer For Rescue

The 22-year-old corporal asked for volunteers from his five "effectives" to go out again with him. All five went.

Capt. Doug Caldwell of Ottawa, forward observation officer, called down artillery fire from the 1st Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

The rescue patrol found Presley —who later that day died of his wounds—and Fournier.

They were just about to give Murphy up as lost when he was seen not far from the wire, waiting for them to give him a hand.

Summing up the operation, Lieut. Mike Goldie of Southampton, England, and Petawawa, Hamilton's patrol leader, said:

"The men all figure that if Hamilton hadn't organized that charge, and hadn't had the determination to carry it through, they would all have been killed."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

An American businessman recently in Canada rejoiced in the extra-ordinary name of Lake Erie High. It appears that when he was born, his parents, whose name was High, could not agree on his Christian name and after frequent discussions of the subject, in which no headway was made, the father jumped up and left the room with the indignant remark:

"Aw, you can call him Lake Erie for all I care!"

And the mother, being a woman of humor and spirit, did just that. He was duly christened Lake Erie High. And so unusual a name has been of great value to him all his life. Nobody ever forgets it.

At certain periods in history, there have been outbreaks of imagination in choosing names for children. During the Puritan era in Britain, and Cromwell's revolution, a rash of names broke out, taken not from the Bible but from morality—such as Upright, Commendable, Bounden Duty, Come-All-Ye, Let Pass and Veracity, all men's names. At the same time the Bible was searched from cover to cover for everything from Elijah to Jochebed, and the Pilgrims brought these names to America, whence we derived our grandfathers and great uncles, Josh, Eph, Si, Jake and Eli.

The trend in the past couple of generations has been to give children, particularly the boys, names that will in no way distinguish them from the rest of mankind, the Williams, Georges, Edwards, Charleses and James, the mother's family name sometimes thrown in. But the world is growing into a fairly populous globe. We all look pretty much alike. An odd name like Lake Erie High serves a very useful purpose to anyone rquiring to be remembered amongst all us clothes pegs in the basket.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HIGHWAY OUTLAWS

We are all annoyed by that chap on the highway who, if we happened to go a little too slowly to suit his fancy, or if we take our time getting out of the passing lane, or if we fail by a split second to respond to the green light, gives us the horn, an angry stare as he passes, and sometimes a few well-chosen profanities.

Some people have the idea that their right of way on the road is a right to do anything they want to do. Anyone who interferes with them is a public nuisance worthy only of contempt and abuse. Their anger under these circumstances always appears to have about it the righteous quality of a person who had been deeply and maliciously wronged.

There are people who go through life the same way. To disregard any of their pet policies is equivalent to violating a fundamental moral principle. Right is anything they want to do.

This was Hitler's philosophy. This is communistic dogma. It is bad enough in the councils of nations, it is worse on the highway. It becomes very hard to take in the office, the mill, or the household.

Don't start blaming your neighbor. Ask yourself whether or not this description fits you. It may by chance. And if it does, you're in trouble—with yourself, with your neighbor, and with the Lord.

STILL EXTANT IN NEW ENGLAND

A new England man evidently enjoys the benefit of something which is approaching extinction in other parts of the country, namely, the friendship and advice of a family physician. I hope it will do your heart good, as it does mine to read what he has to say about it:

Dear Dr. Brady:

It is impossible to tell you of the hours of pleasure I have had reading your column—this in addition to the knowledge . . .

Fortunately, I have a family physician who told me, when I asked whether he intended to specialize that he would be a family doctor all his life, just as his father had been, and he said it with reverence.

It was apparent to me then, 18 years ago, that this man had dedicated his life to the relief of human suffering. With him, monetary gain is secondary.

It makes me and my wife, also feel good just to talk with him. We love this man in the true sense of the word. His inspirational guidance has kept us happy because, as he says: "Live a good clean life in all respects and you will be richly rewarded with an abundance of good health." In that, we have found, he is right.

Many more years . . . and don't let the Grumps get you down . . .

Our best regards
(Signed)— — — — —

It was an effort to restrain my self from breaking in upon the New England man at the point where he stated that monetary gain is secondary, to observe that it so with every good doctor. It is the trick specialist or the clinic rackateer who charges exorbitant fees.

Who is to blame for the preponderance of so-called specialists and phony clinics over family physicians today? Not the doctors. The doctors merely try to supply what the public demands. And you, the public, demand a specialist for every little problem or ailment you have. You have to keep up with the Joneses.

The absurdly long schooling students must undergo to obtain the medical degree today might reasonably be required for the training of specialists, but it robs the prospective doctor of four years of active professional life, and that, I contend, is more than a man can afford to pay for the right to practice as a family physician.

Four years of high school, four years of medical school and two years of internship should qualify any earnest student for general practice. I say this not because that was the extent of my own training but because I believe it would tend to restrain the conversion of the practice of medicine into a business.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Calcium and D for Restless Legs

Interested in your suggestion of nitro-glycerin tablets for restless legs. In my case "booping" my daily intake of calcium and D for a few days brings relief. If I forget the calcium and D for a few weeks the trouble recurs. This applies also to cramps in legs. (Mrs. W. A. E.)

Answer—Use of nitroglycerin for restless legs is a matter to submit to your physician. Druggists cannot or will not supply nitroglycerin tablets without physician's prescription. Mrs. W. A. E., nothwithstanding all my cautions, evidently regards calcium and D as medicine. It is food and every one needs it every day. Send stamped self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Adult Tetany and Growing Pains. Leg pains and cramps at night are generally manifestation of calcium and D deficiency.

The Melancholy Days are Come

Do women have such troubles as dizziness, headaches and hot flashes after menstration has stopped? One friend in our office says she had such troubles for five or six years . . . another insists she had no difficulties at all (A.W.)

Answer—Insists does she? Your attitude is ominous. Still, it won't do you any harm to use some elementary knowledge of physicology and hygiene to counteract the morbid ideas of your first friend. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet on The Menopause.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEAVE SOMETHING BEHIND

I am fascinated by every one of Nature's miraculous ways of endurance. Take the flower that has given its beauty to the world, and then is seeded, some of the seeds falling to the ground where it first gave bud and bloom, others carried by many means to distant areas. But some of the seeds are more than a memory left behind, as the following season so well demonstrates.

There isn't a valued friend of mine who has left this earth's activity who didn't leave something precious behind in my mind — even though no more than a brief lesson in good behavior, or an example of generosity and good will. You can't see the influence that people leave behind, but you can feel it, and you are conscious of it sometimes without end.

How often we have a guest in our home whose departure leaves a void that wasn't there before that guest arrived. It's because there are those who leave something of themselves behind, no matter where they visit or make contact Every magnetic personality leaves something of himself behind. I have entertained many friends who left a beautiful note behind. undiscovered until the departure.

How much the world, and each one of us, owe to those who have written great books and left them behind to instruct, entertain, or to inspire the many. The multitude that read books have only small contact with the authors. Nevertheless there is a friendly feeling of any author that cannot be separated from the words in type. They, too, are examples of life — something left behind for a purpose.

In the buying of second - hand books I have often come upon notations, clippings, and comments that a former owner had placed within them. Often I have been amused by some of these "left behinds." I had a copy of the books by the noted Harvard philosopher Santayana, which was once owned by W. H. Hudson, the great naturalist, and he had written in the margin of one of the pages, "This is all nonsense."

Women's M. Society, Ladies' Guild Hold Combined Meeting

The July meeting of the combined W.M.S. and Ladies' Guild of Foxboro Presbyterian Church, was held on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Percy Johnston, with six members present.

Miss Tena Watt prepared the program and presided over the meeting. Mrs. Skinner presided at the piano. Scripture was read by Mrs. Skinner from Matthew 13.

Mrs. Johnston gave a reading on "Four Cents For Friendship", written by Miss Mary Hill, of Ottawa. Miss Hill's brother was the minister for four years and it reminded all of some of his works while stationed in Foxboro. Mrs. Johnston stressed on the friendliness and sympathy that a letter can convey between friends, reminding of the wonderful letters of St. Paul, that he wrote to Philemon, and all his friends especially while a prisoner in Rome.

Master Dobby Johnston sang a lovely solo and Mrs. Bartlett gave a reading "The Altered Picture".

Miss Watt presented the study book giving the chapter on Christian literature, sending forth the word in South America. The story of how a minister in the Presbyterian church in the United States came to use aeroplanes, is fascinatingly told in the moving picture "Wings to the World".

Offering amounted to $2.88. A Bible contest on "Do You Know Your Bible?", was given.

Next meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Watt.

Mrs. Johnston served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Women's Activities

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

The ladies of St. Peter's W.M.S., Madoc, met at the home of Mrs. Field Allan for their July meeting on Thursday afternoon. The devotional period was conducted by the president, Mrs. Allan, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Reg. Mouck, who read the Bible lesson.

Mrs. John Armstrong had charge of the program. She told of the missionary work done under the leadership of Dr. Cropper and the educational and evangelical work through schools and Sunday Schools. A duet "Teach Me Too Pray", was rendered by Mrs. Alvey and Mrs. Lewis.

An interesting account of the Kingston Presbyterial summer rally held in St. Andrew's church in Trenton, was given by Miss Vankleek and Mrs. Allan Johnston.

During the business period several letters were read and the holding of a cooking sale in the very near future was discussed. The president gave a summary of synodical reports for presbyteries. Mrs. C. Woods and Mrs. Sharpe assisted the hostess to serve afternoon tea.

TRINITY UNITED W.M.S.

Trinity United W.M.S. members enjoyed a pleasant outing for their July meeting to the summer home of Mrs. Frank Dafoe, Moira Lake, on Wednesday evening. Twenty-one members were in attendance and spent some time enjoying the beauty of nature on a beautiful evening at the lake before the hour of meeting.

Mrs. Delbert Carmen had charge of the worship service and took for her topic the hymn, "Rock of Ages", and the story of the author, A. M. Toplady, followed up with a Bible story in keeping with the hymn and concluding this part of the service with all singing the hymn.

Miss Holmes conducted the business, reports were given and several items of business discussed, also arrangements made for the summer bazaar which is to be held on July 19.

Mrs. P. H. Naylor, who was in charge of the program, opened with the reading of a hymn, and followed with a summary of several chapters of the book, "Let Go and Let God", steps in victorious living", by Albert E. Cliffe.

Mrs. Naylor then conducted a riddle contest, which along with a social cup of tea, sandwiches, ice cream and cake, concluded a pleasant evening.

WOOLER W. M. S. A. A.

Wooler — The Afternoon Auxiliary of the Wooler Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Lorne Redcliffe on Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. E. McMaster, conducting the worship service and business.

The secretary reported 110 lbs. of clothing had been shipped to Toronto for Korea and the treasurer was authorized to send $11 to Toronto for shipping charges to Korea.

Mrs. A. G. Austin arranged the following program: vocal duet by Mamie and Sandra Shultz; piano solo by Judy Redcliffe; reading by Mrs. Robt. Redcliffe; vocal solo by Ann Redcliffe and a piano solo by Barbara McColl.

In keeping with Canada's 85th birthday, Mrs. Vera Teal gave an interesting talk on Canada's coat-of-arms. She also conducted a contest on places in Canada.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs Robt. Redcliffe, Mrs. Bert McColl and the hostess.

'Sweet Eighteen' Should Be An Age of Allure and Charm

Young beauties wisely choose becoming coiffures, but hair care means other things, too—frequent shampoo, daily brushing.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WE are always hearing about "sweet sixteen". How about "sweet eighteen" and "sweet twenty?" They are even more alluring ages because they mean a gal's had a few more years to learn how to make herself attractive to the eye. It's beauty first with all young girls! Health is just something that tiresome adults talk about. Yet, without it, pulchritude cannot be. Ponder on that for a minute or two.

Girls groom their hair so it will look pretty, not to keep the growth in a healthy condition. They think that matter will take care of itself. Let them wield the hairbrush every night to keep the glorious halo in form.

Complexion Care

Because they have a horror of blackheads or acne, they do wash their faces carefully, but often just in the morning. Sometimes they go to bed with rouge still on their pretty cheeks and the lipsmear radiant. That's bad. Face washing should be done diligently at bedtime so the complexion will have a chance to rest and breathe during slumber. A little cream should be applied after the lathering to keep the skin smooth and soft.

High school and college girls don't talk about weight as much as formerly but physical education instructors report that they seldom pass by the scales, but step on and watch the poundage register with interest. They want curves, but not in the wrong places, the tummy or derriere.

Around the twenty-age period, posture is only fair. The girl who carries herself with splendor stands out among her companions. It gives her an air. It imparts style. She may not know it, but it is a sort of insurance against the addition of adipose tissue, because her muscles are working harmoniously, are strong and resilient. Fat cells are seeking soft lazy fibres on which to build their adipose tenements.

Women's Institute

WALLBRIDGE W.I.

Wallbridge Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting at Mrs. Frank Phillips' with an attendance of ten members and eight visitors.

In the absence of the president through illness, Mrs. Reid, 1st vice-president, took charge of the meeting and opened it in the usual manner.

Attends Convention

Mrs. J. Sine, who attended the convention at Guelph, May 1-2, gave the highlight of the convention and thanked the Institute for making it possible for her to attend, which proved helpful and educational, she said.

She also explained the "Extension Service". Wallbridge and Uniondale to combine their meetings as usual. Subject chosen "The Service of Cultural Activities in the Home and Community".

A piano solo by Anna Corrine Gray.

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Phillips for a remembrance while ill.

The club girls of the "Milky Way" and leader, Mrs. Vera Lough, gave two demonstrations of ways to use milk in the diet. Much credit is due to their efficient leader.

A banquet is being planned for in the near future inviting friends and parents of the club girls. A motion was put through that the Institute furnished the meat for the banquet.

A vote of thanks was tendered the leader and Institute for making the club the success it has been.

Mrs. H. Ketcheson read a letter from the department concerning the holiday at Guelph and Kemptville to be held in July. The invitation was cancelled on account of being too busy with home ties to attend.

Mrs. Cecil Smith gave Current Events on "The High School Area", followed with discussions on same.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess for her kind hospitality. The lunch conveners for the month served refreshments.

UNIONDALE W.I.

The July meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Alton Sine, 6th concession of Sidney, with 16 members present.

A letter of thanks was read from Cathy Donald for a subscription to the "Child Life Magazine".

A committee consisting of Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Grills, Mrs. Loney was appointed to do the buying for Field Day at O.S.D. on July 23 at the Front Road.

Mrs. F. Farmer gave a suggestion that, when boys of the Uniondale members were married, that a gift be presented to them just as well as the girls leaving for another community. The boys' wives were really the new Institute members and thus a gift was really in good form. This was carried and thought a real suggestion.

The trip for Uniondale members was laid over for a month. The next meeting will be held on July 31st instead of August, at Mrs. George Brown's, 5th concession of Sidney. This is to enable the members to make plans for Belleville Fair, August 14. This is a health program and it is hoped to have Miss Lorena Sine, nurse of the Belleville General Hospital, as the guest speaker. Roll Call is to be "Health hints for Winter".

The topic of the July meeting was "Dominion Day". This was taken by Mrs. George Striker, who gave an interesting paper on "History of Federation" and this (1952) is the 85th birthday of Canada.

Oral Sketch

Mrs. M. Sine gave an oral sketch on her trip to Ottawa. This was taken by bus, along with several others and was educational, visiting the mint, the parliament buildings and many other places of interest.

A reading, "My Canada", was read by Mrs. G. Herrington, and also the current events which were prepared by Mrs. B. Bush.

Mrs. J. Scott read a "Patriotic Poem", which had been written by Donnel MacDonald.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Halsall, Mrs. J. Morris, Mrs. H. Morrow and Mrs. E. Sine.

Sunday School Picnics

Madoc Anglican Church

Madoc — The scholars and parents of the Anglican Churches, St. John's Madoc, Bannockburn and Millbridge numbering over 200 held an enjoyable outing at Tipperary House, Crowe Lake.

Two chartered buses and many cars were used to convey the scholars to and from the lake. The afternoon was spent in bathing, games and races with prizes for all. Those in charge were: — Messrs. J. Miles, J. Kemp, C. Edwards and Miss Lou Phillips.

Treats of watermelon and oranges were given the children during the afternoon, while a bounteous supper was served later to all by the ladies of the church. The trip was a decided success and it was an excited, happy and enthusiastic crowd who returned to their homes in the evening.

Teachers present were: Mrs T. H. Good, Mrs. J. Wilson, Fred Cook, Mrs. Norman, Misses Carol Bailey and Joan Martel.

Food for Thought

By Mary Moore

Stage That Party in The Garden

Doris wanted to entertain the twenty-five members of a board of directors in their garden while the delphiniums and roses were still in bloom. So—her two loving standbys took over the reins in the kitchen and prepared two menus. One inexpensive and for a cool day. The other costing more but worth it if the day turned out to be a blazer.

It was 95 deg. Fahr.

Peady and I were grease spots by seven o'clock, but by that time dessert had been served. As one we dashed for the bathroom. (Two women our age look awfully silly in a cold shower at the same time!)

GARDEN PARTY SUPPER NO. 1

(which we did not make but had all supplies and plans for.)

Ice Cold Lemonade
Home Baked Beans and Bacon
Cloverleaf Buns
Tossed Green Salad
Quartered Tomatoes Dill Pickles
Corn Relish
Chilled Fruit Cup
Fruit Drop Cookies Coffee

(which we used because of the heat.)

Ice Cold Lemonade
Sliced Ready-to-Eat Ham
Potato Salad
Tossed Green Salad
Buttered Thin Rye Bread
Dill Pickles Ripe Olives
Raspberries on Ice Cream
Fruit Drop Cookies Iced Coffee

DIRECTIONS:

Plainly you can see why, with the thermometer reaching for the 100 mark we switched from home baked beans and bacon and hot rolls to ready-to-eat ham and rye bread.

HOMEMADE LEMON SYRUP

(enough for approximately 25 glasses.)

Mix together 2 cups sugar and 2 cups water. Add the grated rink of 6 lemons and boil gently together for 5 or 10 minutes. Squeeze the juice from the 6 derinded lemons and from 6 more lemons. Squeezing is facilitated if lemons are warm and have been rolled under your palm. When syrup is cool add lemon juice. Fill glasses 1-4 full of this syrup and fill with ice water or add 2 or 2 1-2 quarts ice water to syrup and 2 or 3 trays of ice cubes, and serve when ice is about half melted.

I happened to do some work with the meat packers who helped perfect the smoking technique of ready-to-eat hams.

The process that these hams go through briefly is brining, similar to a regular smoked ham. Then bone is removed and ham is shaped in a "visking" casing (like "tenderized" ham). Finally it is smoked at 152 deg. Fahr. for 14 or 16 hours in which time the heat penetrates to centre of boneless ham, sufficiently to pasteurize and cook it. It is chilled and ready for sale. You merely slice and eat it. It is a careful and exact process which results in a moist and delicious product. The price of it has dropped one-third in the past year.

POTATO SALAD FOR 25

Sixteen cups washed, boiled in jackets, chilled and diced potatoes, 3 cups diced celery, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 pint French dressing, 1-2 cup chopped parsley, 2 cups mayonnaise, stuffed olives chopped in salad and for garnish, 2 or 4 hard-cooked eggs in and on salad, 1-4 to 1-2 cup chopped chives. Mix all, when potatoes are diced and cold, but mayonnaise and olives and hard-cooked egges held out for garnish. Chill. Add mayonnaise just before serving. Garnish.

Stew With Vegetables Cuts Expensive Meat Costs

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

One way to stretch expensive meats is to spread the flavor liberally among vegetables and gravy in a stew.

The Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association says a little left-over meat goes a long way in this fashion. For instance, they offer a recipe for veal pot-pie which serves four.

Ingredients: One pound diced roast veal; four small onions; two stalks celery; four quartered carrots; three quartered potatoes; three sprigs parsley; one clove minced garlic; two whole cloves; one crushed bay leaf; two teaspoons salt; six cups gravy and water; two bouillon cubes; pastry or biscuit crust.

Peel onions, cut celery into pieces. Chop parsley. Combine all ingredients and bake in a covered casserole for one hour at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove from oven and cover with pastry or biscuit crust Bake in a hot oven until crust is lightly browned.

Tasty Stew

Another "meat-stretcher" suggested by the association—stew. Ingredients: one pound lamb, beef, or veal cut in one-inch cubes; two tablespoons bacon fat; two tablespoons chopped onion; one teaspoon salt; dash pepper; one bay leaf; one-quarter teaspoon celery seed; pinch of thyme or marjoram; three tablespoons catsup; four medium potatoes; eight carrots; eight small onions.

Coat meat with flour. Brown in bacon fat. Add onion and cook until golden brown. Add seasonings. Cover with water and cook, covered tightly, over low heat until meat is tender.

Peel potatoes, carrots and onions. Halve or quarter the vegetables and add to stew 35 to 45 minutes before serving time. Add more water if necessary. Thicken stock for gravy.

Warm Weather Tea

The tea bureau comes up with this recipe for tea cocktail: one tea bag, one cup boiling water, one cup grapefruit juice, two teaspoons lemon juice, cracked ice.

Add boiling water to tea bag and brew for five minutes. Remove the bag and allow the brew to drop to room temperature. Put into a cocktail-shaker or jar with tight-fitting cover, add fruit juices and cracked ice. Cover tightly and shake vigorously until the ice is practically dissolved. Serves 4-6.

Williamsburg fruit punch is another new approach to tea. Ingredients: two quarts strong tea; two cups lemon juice (strained); four cups orange juice (strained); two cups sugar; 1½ quarts cranberry or grape juice; two quarts water; one quart ginger ale.

Mix tea, fruit juices, water and sugar and chill. Just before serving add gingerale and pour over a large piece of ice in punch-bowl. Iced tea sometimes clouds because tannin, which gives tea its astringency and body, is more soluble in hot liquid than in cold. As the tea cools the tannin precipitates and the tea clouds. However, clouding has no affect on the taste of tea.

WALLBRIDGE

Wallbridge — The recent rain was a great benefit to the farmers and gardens.

Thurlow-Tyendinaga Council Christian Education Convenes

The annual Sunday School convention for the Thurlow-Tyendinaga Council of Christian Education was held in Cannifton United Church.

The president, Mr. Seldon Homan, presided, and opened the afternoon session. Mrs. Gerald Brenton extended greetings and gave a warm welcome to Cannifton church. She spoke of the great work of the Sunday Schools, although small in number, were doing in the bringing in of Christ's Kingdom on earth.

Miss Blakely and Miss Walkom of Kingston Road Sunday School had charge of a short worship service consisting of a Bible reading and prayer.

Minutes of the last annual meeting and treasurer's report were given by Mrs. Bertrand, secretary.

The guest speaker for the convention was Rev. W. G. Fletcher, of Wooler. The subject of his address was the "Bible in Christian Education". He said "around the world there is a growing need for the Bible. The Bible is the best seller of any book but the most neglected. Each generation seems to be reading the Bible less. Many Christians say they have not time to read the Bible. Perhaps we have too many magazines and such like around and of course these cannot be neglected. A great many other countries are taking the Bible much more seriously than we are. The Bible should be the Christian text book. Study it, for it is only through the Bible that we come to know our Lord Jesus and it is the only way in which we can help our boys and girls to know and love Jesus. The symbol of the United Church is the open Bible."

Following his address Mr. Fletcher led in a discussion on the Bible in the Sunday School. There should be plenty of Bibles in the church, but every boy or girl should have a Bible of their own and they should be encouraged to bring them to Sunday School and use them rather than the lesson leaflets. Have the children learn memory work and give small rewards. What is learned when one is young is not apt to be forgotten. Have the different classes take the worship service or read the scripture lesson.

Mrs. Bertrand conducted a Bible quiz which really tested the knowledge of the Bible.

Following the quiz, Mr. Fletcher told about the new revised standard version of the Bible. He thought this a very fine version. It has much larger print and would be in a brighter color.

The afternoon session adjourned and all went to the basement to partake of a delicious supper served by the Cannifton ladies.

Evening Session

At 7:30 the evening session opened with a hymn. Encouraging reports were given by each of the departmental secretaries.

Holloway Sunday School had charge of the evening worship service. The theme of this lovely service was "Laboring Together With God". "'Abide in Me and I in you as the branch cannot bear fruit of itself except it abide in the vine. No more can ye except ye abide in Me.' Christ expects each of us to do our part." Mrs. Rose sang a beautiful solo, "Precious Hand of Calvary".

A choral Bible reading, directed by Mrs. Rielly was given by two Sunday School girls.

Officers Elected

Report of the nominating committee and election of the following officers was next on the program. President, Mr. Fred Prindle, Plainfield; 1st vice, Mr. Earle Badgley, Melrose; 2nd vice, Mr. B. Wadsworth, Belleville, R.R. 8; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. O. Bertrand, Corbyville; Children's work, Miss Beatrice McFarlane, Melrose; girls' work, Miss Lois Bradshaw, R.R. 4, Belleville; boys' work, Mr. Glenn Ross, Corbyville; Young People's, Miss Ruth McMullen, Holloway; home, Mrs. R. G. Ferguson, R.R. 8, Belleville; adult, Mrs. G. Priest, Foxboro; missionary, Mrs. J. Williams, Cannifton; temperance, Mrs. F. Yorke, Corbyville; teacher training, Rev. O. E. Wagar, 44 Ritchie Avenue, Belleville; religious training in public schools, Rev. H. Giffin, Foxboro.

Mr. Merrick took charge of an impressive installation service. Mrs. Bill Rombough, of Foxboro, favored with a solo "That Pearly White City".

Mr. Fletcher spoke briefly in the evening on the Bible in the public school. Moral education without Christian education is of little value. There are many children who go to public school who never get to S.S. so Christian education is the way to help them. It should be taught from the Bible and the home. Sunday School and church should co-operate. Jesus said, "I came that ye might have life and that ye might have it more abundantly."

Mr. Merrick moved a vote of thanks to the past president for his splendid service, and pronounced the benediction.

New Liner Breaks Another Record

British sailors are shown in the foreground, cheering enthusiastically, as the liner United States tied up at a Le Havre dock, breaking a second Atlantic speed record and catching most of the 1,600 passengers napping. The new liner had already become Queen of the Seas when she passed Bishop's Rock, off the British coast, in the new record time of 3 days, 10 hours and 40 minutes. Her time from New York to Le Havre was 3 days, 17 hours and 43 minutes, also a record. The crossing to Bishop's Rock, which officially completed the Atlantic run, shaved ten hours and two minutes off the previous record set by Britain's Queen Mary in 1938. — Central Press Canadian.

Mother, Grandma Win Air Race

A mother and a grandmother, pilot and co-pilot of a small plane, are congratulated after being the first to land at Teterboro, New Jersey, airport in the sixth annual "Powder Puff Air Derby" from Santa Ana, Calif. They made the 2,700-mile trip in seventeen end one-half hours. Here, Constance Hahn shakes hands with Mrs. Isabelle McCrae, a grandmother, of Lemon, Calif., while John Pero congratulates the co-pilot, Mrs. Betty McNeil, a mother, of La Mesa, Calif. — Central Press Canadian.

Soldier Given Death Sentence Has Been Released

OTTAWA (CP)—Pte. Glen Ronald Blank, 28, of Carman, Man., once sentenced to be hanged for the death of a Korean soldier, has been released from prison and restored to his previous status in the army, Defence Headquarters said yesterday.

His release from life imprisonment came after the court martial appeal board in a review of his case ruled that he be given a new trial or freed. He previously was convicted by court martial in Korea.

An army spokesman said a new trial is not considered feasible.

Can Leave Army

Blank was released Tuesday in Winnipeg and now is free to decide whether he wants to leave the army—he joined on the 18-month Special Force basis — or apply to join the regular force.

A court martial in Korea found him guilty of murder in the death of a South Korean soldier named Ee Chong Sung on the night of March 16, 1951. The sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Brig. John M. Rockingham, then commanding the 25th brigade.

An army spokesman said Defence Headquarters considers a new trial unfeasible because it would be almost impossible to round up all the South Koreans and Canadians who testified at the original trial and concentrate them in some Canadian city.

Blank is the second to be released of three men charged as a result of the fatal incident. The other is Pte. Roy Davis of Vancouver, sentenced to 18 months for attempted rape and conduct to the prejudice of military discipline.

Army headquarters erased the rape charge on a review of the evidence and cut the sentence to four months which Davis had already served.

Third Man Appeals

The third man, Pte. Donald Michael Gibson of Ottawa, is appealing his 18-month sentence on charges of attempted murder and attempted rape.

Evidence at the courts martial indicated that the Korean soldier was killed in intervening when Canadian soldiers sought to enter a south Korean hut. A hand grenade was tossed into the hut during the incident.

River Valley W.I. Hears Paper On 'The School Builds a Nation'

The July meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held on Thursday at the home of the secretary, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe. Despite the heat, almost 40 ladies were in attendance and there were also several children. The president, Mrs. Ed Heasman, opened the meeting.

Mrs. J. L. Donohoe gave a full financial statement and there was a substantial bank balance.

It was decided that one cent per member be paid to the Memorial Fund so that a memorial cairn with bird bath suitably inscribed be placed in the FWIC plot in the International Peace Garden in memory of Mrs. Alfred Watt, a Canadian woman, the first president of the ACWW and the person responsible for the formation of institutes in England and Wales.

This garden is three and one half miles long on either side of the international boundary line between Manitoba and South Dakota. Six small lakes were dredged for swimming and boating. Seven tourist cabins are used by the travelling public. The Canadian government annually gives $15,000 for upkeep and the United States government $70,000. Each provincial area W.I. contributes $20 per year. The FWIC plot is near the entrance where all can view it, and this is planted with shrubbery, perennials and annuals.

The members will also purchase hostess pins at a cost of 35 cents each in honor of the Country Women of the World, as this group convenes at the Royal York Hotel in August of next year.

On "Canada Day" institute members from all over Ontario will travel to Toronto to join with the delegates for one full day of entertainment. It is hoped that River Valley branch will have a good delegation in attendance that day.

Area Convention

The area convention for Hastings, Prince Edward, and Northumberland convenes in Belleville October 16 and 17, under the leadership of Mrs. Carl Clancy.

Mrs. Roy Bush spoke briefly on some special plans for that meeting.

Sickness was reported in the community and this included, Mrs. Ralph Utman (the pianist). A letter from the Blue Cross was read and no new members will be allowed to enroll in the Institute group.

Messrs. Ernest Rosebush and Jack Bush have installed the cupboards in the River Valley School and a couple of bees will be held to refinish them. Probably at a later date there will be a shower of tea towels and necessary dishes. The directors will canvass soon for funds. Each Institute member is asked to contribute $1 and non-members what they choose.

It was decided to have a lawn social in August and the executive will meet next week and make its plans.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 7th., at River Valley School house, with Mrs. Reg. Coombes and Mrs. Jack Bush as conveners. The program will be for the children and roll call will be a 15 cent prize for a child.

Programs

The program based on "Citizenship and Education was arranged by Mrs. W. Ashby and Mrs. Alex Bush, with the latter presiding. Miss Eleanor Bush was in charge of the piano and Mrs. George Heasman led in the sing song which included "O Canada."

The "Home and Country" magazines were passed around by Mrs. J. Sager and commencing with this issue the Institute's publication takes on "That New Look." The new set-up, under the leadership of Miss Ethel Chapman, made this issue most interesting. Reference was made to an item in the magazine re R. V. Men's Night.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen contributed a humorous reading entitled "Ezra on the Jury"; Miss Joanne Heasman sang with her mother as accompanist "Over the Sea and Sky."

Roll call was well answered with names of many educational leaders, which included school, teachers, inspectors, professors and ministers of education.

Mrs. A. Bush, convener in charge, read from the Institute hand book, the full content of what this department stands for and it surely covers a wide scope and could well be divided into two meetings.

Mrs. Ernest Carr prepared a most interesting paper on the subject "The School Builds a Nation." In her absence it was read by Mrs. Ashby.

The paper said in part: Without ideals and moral standards, the world would soon become a sorry place in which to live. A full and satisfying life involves the pursuit of more than just material gain. The school shares with parents and with religious leaders the task of awakening youngsters to the importance of all that is highest and finest in life.

Teaching Spiritual Values

Children are under the care of schools and teachers throughout most of their waking hours. The teacher has a large share of the task of teaching spiritual values. No higher duty exists for Canada's schools and teachers than to help translate these principles into real living habits and practices, for each one of our three million or so school pupils.

"We are not born responsible citizens, we are not even born with the ability to get along with our brothers and sisters. We have to learn these things.

"Before we reach school age our ability to learn anything, not obviously connected with our immediate need, is severely limited.

After we leave school it is often too late to change habits already formed. While we are at school, we have both the opportunity and a growing amount of ability to get on with other people and learn how to take an active part in community, provincial and national life."

Good Citizenship

"The foundation of good citizenship is good human relations. The school teaches tomorrow's citizens to get along with one another.

"Our youth must go at the end of their school days, into a world that will be far more complex than it was in our grandparents' time or even now. The school must therefore teach more than just reading, writing and arithmetic. These three are necessary, but they are not sufficient. The school prepares youth in every possible way for a full and satisfying life, develops a sense of values, a spirit of team play, acceptable personal habits adequate general knowledge, intelligent choice of occupation, ability to do useful and satisfying things, intelligent use of leisure time, and above all, the ability to think clearly and to make one's own decisions.

"The school promotes national health by emphasizing that the individual pupil must take a personal interest in health thus benefiting both his own family and his community.

The most fundamental principle in a youngster's upbringing is that mother, father and the school teacher should all be consistent in their teaching. If the child acquires an unreal picture of the world, he cannot adjust himself to adult life.

"Education is co-operative endeavor. Teachers, parents and public must work together, as one cannot function without the other.

School Conditions

"The conditions in our schools should be as good as in the best homes of our community. The teacher should be adequately trained to guide our children for six hours a day. We need teachers qualified by educational background, personality and experience. A life of service like teaching must have prestige and community recognition and so attract high calibre people to this big task in modern Canada.

"Two per cent of the national income is spent on education. Canada has boundless natural resources but they must be used wisely by our people.

"Teachers Colleges"

Honorable W. J. Dunlop, Minister of Education has announced his plans for a re-organization of the system of preparing teachers for the elementary schools of Ontario effective September 1953. The academic requirement will be raised from five to eight papers in grades XIII and this will include one English paper. There will also be a two-year course established and when this new course begins the name Normal School will be changed to "Teachers College".

In order to make more teachers available this year a pre-teachers college summer course will be offered this summer to graduates from Grade XII. Those successful will be given temporary teaching certificates for one year.

"Going to school can be compared to piano study, not to master any special selection but to be able to play and enjoy any number.

"Canada is just beginning to be developed and there is vast opportunity for a higher education. Canadian industry needs specialized workmen and Canada's farming industry also needs educated young specialists. We must answer the knock of opportunity and meet the challenge of today and in so doing, plan for tomorrow. To do this, we must have students and graduates fitted to understand our expanding Dominion."

Miss Adeline Bush gave an item on citizenship and quoted that a spirit of kindness, genuine sympathy, ability to control the tongue from ridicule, willingness to do the spade work, were all very necessary in a good citizen Happiness should be developed early in life and enjoyed throughout life.

Miss Grace Heasman gave a pianoforte selection from memory; Mrs. Harvey Couch read an article entitled "Education for Responsible Citizenship."

A Good Citizen

A good citizen should be aware of all that is needed, time, talents, energy, ability to co-operate with others, a willingness to work. Children should be taught when young to take pride in their community and not to scatter candy-wrappers and other waste along the street or country side. A good citizen cannot do what he pleases, he must limit his rights and distinguish what is his, and also where his neighbors rights begin. The world would be much happier for all if each individual worked willingly for society and helped to promote democracy. A world of freedom will have, tolerance, happiness and well-being for all individuals.

Mrs. Roy Bush brought some splendid thoughts on 'Inspirations for Citizenship." She stressed that "every mother is a woman and it is the young mothers who are our citizenship leaders today. All Institute members should be interested in provincial and Dominion governments as the whole world is looking to Canada, a nation that has been growing ever since Confederation.

"Democracy gives us freedom and responsibility and we must have discipline in our homes, our Institutes and our community. We must put some effort into our citizenship. Religion and faith is also needed."

The ladies then briefly discussed some special points, one being: "How can we create better citizens in the Community?"

The conveners thanked all who had assisted with this program of special interest to all.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Don Donohoe, Mrs. Claude Tucker, Mrs. Jennie Donohoe, Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, Mrs. Percy Utman, Miss Flossie Rosebush and the hostess.

Mrs. George Heasman tendered thanks for hospitality.

R.A.F. Plane Hits British Town

With two houses demolished, firemen are shown fighting to save the 10 other houses that were set afire when an RAF twin-engined bomber crashed into a group of prefabricated houses at Wiltshire. The pilot and a ministry of supply official were killed, and the nine other persons aboard were injured. Note a part of the plane's engine under the firemen's ladder. — Central Press Canadian.

EISENHOWER

Governor John S. Fine of Pennsylvania cut down the uncommitted list sharply by a belated announcement that he is supporting Eisenhower. The 52-to-18 poll of his delegation in favor of seating the Georgia Eisenhower group seemed to reflect similar support there for the general in the nomination battle.

Although Taft's strategists conceded he had suffered a setback, they promised grimly to continue the fight. Taft reiterated he expects to be nominated "on an early ballot."

Sleeps Through Vote

Eisenhower, who slept through the convention's midnight vote on the Georgia test, earlier had declared he would win the nomination.

In the Georgia contest, the convention's action seated a delegation listed as 14 for Eisenhower, two for Taft and one undecided. The credentials committee-approved group would have given Taft all 17 votes.

Eisenhower's Texas victory gave him 33 votes, Taft five. The credentials committee had voted for 22 Taft and 16 Eisenhower delegates.

In the Georgia contest, Taft showed he has rock-bottom support of about 531 delegates toward the 604 votes needed for the nomination.

Eisenhower's strength was more difficult to pinpoint. Although his side polled 607 votes on Georgia, these included 101 committed to Governor Earl Warren of California and former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Sees Second Ballot Win

Eisehower's backers were wary of predicting any first-ballot victory. Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado told a reporter he thinks the general will get the prize on the second ballot.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, Eisenhower's campaign director, called the Georgia vote "an unmistakable indication that Eisenhower will be nominated on an early ballot."

But Thomas E. Coleman of Wisconsin, Taft's floor manager, told reporters he thinks the "grass-roots" states will swing the nomination for Taft

"The Dewey control over the New York delegation alone prevented a Taft victory," Coleman declared. "Before the balloting is over the delegates from the grass-roots states will turn the fortunes of the party to new hands."

"They will not give the next campaign to the same man that lost the last two"

Healing Restored to Christianity

Through the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the lost element of spiritual healing is restored for all mankind. The study of the Bible in the new, spiritual light of this book has lifted countless thousands from sickness to health, and from failure to success. Such experience is equally available for all.

In eighteen chapters this great book gives the complete explanation of Christian Science.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1952

Republicans Accuse Truman Administration of Corruption And of Shielding 'Traitors'

Back on the Job as Egypt's Premier

Back at his old job is Egyptian Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha, 60, pictured in Cairo as he was named to succeed Premier Hilaly Pasha, who resigned in June. Hussein Sirry was head of the government from 1940 to 1942 and again from 1949 to 1950. — Central Press Canadian.

CHICAGO (AP)—Republicans today accused the present Democratic administration of corruption and of shielding "traitors to the nation in high places."

This blistering attack came in the long-awaited campaign platform handed to the Republican National Convention for expected approval during the day.

Attacks on the administration's "sordid record of corruption" overshadowed hard-fought compromises on the foreign-policy, national-defence and civil-rights planks.

One Issue Controversial

Only the civil-rights plank—dealing with the touchy issues of racial discrimination—caused some fears of a possible floor fight.

In general, the related foreign-policy and defence planks had been approved in advance by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the two top contenders for the Presidential nomination.

These planks belabored the Democrats on foreign policy, saying "they swing erratically from timid appeasement to reckless blunder."

The document promised that Republicans will seek "an honorable, just peace" that would even bring hope to those now imprisoned under Communist domination.

Stress Air Power

On national defence, the Republican platform promised a quick build-up to "completely adequate air power," something Taft has stressed.

It balanced this, probably at suggestions from the Eisenhower camp, with a pledge for "simultaneous readiness of co-ordinated air, land and sea lanes, with all the necessary installations, bases, supplies and munitions, including atomic-energy weapons."

All through the 6,000-word platform, the Republicans promised to clean house in government, cut costs and reduce waste, overlapping and bureaucracy.

But the really bristling words came in the section titled "corruption."

"The present administration's sordid record of corruption has shocked and sickened the American people," it began. "Its leaders have forfeited any right to public faith by the way they transact the government's business."

Charges Fraug, Graft

The platform said Republicans have exposed instances of "fraud, bribery, graft, favoritism and influence-peddling."

"There have been disclosures of close alliances between the present government and underworld characters," it said.

"Political favorites including even some gangsters and crooks" were treated leniently, the draft said, while honest taxpayers were harrassed over minor discrepancies.

Another special plank on Communism said the Democrats had "permitted Communists and their fellow-travellers to serve in many key agencies and to infiltrate our American life."

"There are no Communists in the Republican party," the platform stated.

The platform hit hard at "federal compulsory health insurance," as often urged by President Truman, saying it involved "crushing cost, wasteful inefficiency, bureaucratic deadweight and debased standards of medical care."

Destroyer Given Warm Reception On Return Home

ESQUIMALT, B.C. (CP)—The Canadian destroyer Athabaskan was given a warm reception yesterday by the weatherman and nearly 1,000 relatives and friends when it put in at its home port here from Korea.

She logged 68,445 sea miles during her second tour of duty in Korean waters.

A passenger was Lieut. Peter Perry, on special leave to marry a Canadian girl he met in England. He will be married in Longbridge, Ont.

Work Starts On New Yacht For Elizabeth

LONDON (Reuters)—Work has started on the Queen's new yacht being built to replace the old Victoria and Albert.

The first sections of the new vessel have been laid in the yard of John Brown, Clydebank shipbuilders. She will be a 4,700-ton vessel built for fast conversion in wartime to a hospital ship.

Construction is expected to take two years at a cost of about 1,000,000 pounds.

TO DISCOUNT U.S. $

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa merchants, most of whom have been accepting the United States dollar at par, decided yesterday to start discounting it. Board of Trade members agreed they will charge the discount as long as the Canadian dollar is three cents or more above the U.S. dollar.

Daring Rescue

Three members of a rescue party pause for a rest on the steep, snow-covered mountain as they bring injured Ken Northcote of Mission, B.C. on a stretcher to a waiting United States Coast Guard helicopter. 75 Per Cent of Uranium Ore In Hands of United Nations; Costs About $1,176,000 Ton

LONDON (Reuters)—If the world hasn't already blown itself up with the atom bomb, it is a sure bet that scientists will still be finding new deposits of uranium ore 100 years from now.

There is a popular fallacy that uranium is rarer even than gold. It isn't. It is costly—about $1,176,000 a ton for the concentrated U-235 used in the bomb—but that is due mostly to world conditions and difficulties of extraction.

It has been estimated that the known deposits, found in most regions of the world, contain only one-five billionth of the estimated uranium ore in the earth's crust.

About 75 per cent of this rich crust is in the hands of the United Nations.

Come A Long Way

Scientists have come a long way since Pierre and Marie Curie aroused the first public interest in the metal in 1898 when they extracted it from pitchblende found in Czechoslovakia.

Joachimstal in Czechoslovakia still is the centre of big uranium fields—among the biggest in the Soviet bloc. There has been renewed activity in these rich fields since 1946.

Since Hiroshima, other fields discovered long ago have been reopened and prospectors have found vast new deposits the world over.

Russia allows little information about her resources but the Great Soviet Encyclopedia pin-points big deposits at Tuya Muyun and Taboshar in central Asia.

In east Europe, new deposits of low-grade ore also have been reported in Hungary, about 25 miles southwest of Budapest.

Communist China has been boasting deposits in Sinkiang province. One Communist report says the missing British atom scientist, Prof. Bruno Pontecorvo, is working on these fields.

Firmest Grip

But it is Britain and the United States, with the British Commonwealth, that have the firmest grip on the world's resources of the potentially destructive or constructive ore—depending on how you use it.

By agreement, Britain and the U.S. are believed to share 50-50 in the exports of uranium from one of the world's biggest fields—the Belgian Congo.

The Congo had a monopooly in uranium until Canada broke into it 1930 with discovery of the Great Bear Lake deposits in the Northwest Territories.

Vast New Field

As recently as June, 1951, prospectors found a vast new field at Beaver Lake Lodge. Canada aims eventually to produce 500 tons daily from this deposit, believed to be five times as large as Great Bear Lake.

The aptly-named Radium Hill is the site of one of Australia's biggest fields. Britain, Australia and the U.S. are combining to make this desolate spot another of the world's biggest producers.

Another vast resource is in British-administered Nigeria, West Africa. But Britain cannot afford to get the low-grade ore out of the ground.

Those are the main sources of the world's uranium. Where else can it be found? In Madagascar, in Colorado and Utah, in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, India, Portugal, Mexico, Norway, the Philippines, Poland, South Africa and Sweden. That seems to show it is not scarce.

Italian Kills Five of Family Then Himself

MASSA MARITTIMA, Italy (reuters)—Ubaldo Rossetti killed five relatives of the woman who rejected his love and took his own life last night.

Rossetti, 56-year-old war cripple, that he loved her. She rejected him.

Brandishing a shotgun in one hand, a revolver in the other, the thwarted lover broke into the Niccolini apartment.

He found three women and a three-year-old in one room. He cut them down.

Ilio Niccolini, 29-year-old carpenter, came dashing from an adjoining room. He, too, fell under a hall of bullets.

Rossetti then crawled under a bed and blew his brains out.

Only two members of the Niccolini family escaped. They were not at home.

One was Ilia.

Officers, Men 25th Brigade Hold Service

TOKYO (AP)—Officers and men of the First Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment paused briefly today in a Korean valley to honor their fallen comrades.

A church service commemorated Pachino Day, landing of the battalion in Sicily July 10, 1943, and honored five men who have died in action in Korea.

Capt. Guy Piuzo of Ottawa, conducted the Roman Catholic service and Capt. John F. Moorhead of Fredericton, N.B., the Protestant Maj. Joseph Cardy, senior Protestant chaplain of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, spoke.

Troops stood in silence as the names of the five men killed in Korea were read. They were Cpl. Peter John Nolan, Cpl. Wycliffe Brooks, Pte. Lewis Jseph Gosselin and Pte. W.A. Luxton.

Nude Bathing Reported In Etobicoke River

TORNTO (CP)—Reports of nude bathing in the Etobicoke River and wild teen-age drinking parties were heard last night by the suburban Long Branch council.

Richard Scott told of seeing boys and girls swimming nude in the river recently and of one 17-year-old girl who "passed out" nude in the gutter near the scene. He said the girl was picked up by three boys and carried off into a field.

House of Commons Approves Pay Raise for Queen Elizabeth Although Opposed by Labor

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons last night approved a pay raise for the Queen, giving her 475,000 pounds a year to run the royal household.

The decision increasing the royal budget by 65,000 pounds over that of the late King George came despite outraged demands by a score of Labor members of Parliament for a cut to 250,000 pounds.

After the Conservative government's majority defeated Labor amendments to trim the budget, the House approved it without a vote. Acceptance by the House of Commons of a bill covering the new budget is only a formality.

Attack Pomp, Pageantry

In a lively debate, Socialist members attacked the whole pomp and pageantry of the monarchy and said it was time for a change. Left-winger Emrys Hughes even suggested, amid shocked cries from Conservative benches, that Buckingham Palace be turned into an apartment house.

R.A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, retorted that the idea would be opposed by a majority of Britons. Arguing for the budget increase, Butler said simplification of the Queen's official functions would be welcomed. But, he added, "we feel this must be left to the discretion of the sovereign"

Among other items, Labor members fought usuccessfully against a yearly increase of 9,000 pounds for Princess Margaret when and if she marries. Young Labor member Ernest Fernyhough called the marriage allowance "insulting."

"If I was going to be the husband of a princess," he shouted, "I would be ashamed if I couldn't keep her."

The budget also gives the Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, 40,000 pounds a year for life instead of his present allowance of 10,000 pounds, and sets aside one-ninth of the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall—about 150,000 pounds a year—for three-year-old Prince Charles, the Duke of Cornwall.

Elected Without the Customary Bullets

Wellington on the Lake

There's a thing we love to think of when the summer days are long,
And the summer winds are blowing and the summer sun is strong,
Something sings it all the day,
Canada, fair Canada.
And the pride thrills through and through us,
'Tis our birthplace Canada.
—Jean Blewett.

Am writing this on Dominion Day in celebration of Canada's 85th birthday. As I write in the backyard the July sun is flooding the earth and a wren is singing in the tree above. Summer is spreading a glamor over this north land of which we are so proud—a progressive land that is really making history.

Centennial Celebration

The centennial celebration of St. Andrew's Anglican church here during the past week has been of much interest with impressive services and a grand banquet on Friday night. Much credit is due Col. Davern and committee and Rev. C. P. Heaven, R.D., for the success of the celebration.

Some 200 people enjoyed the banquet, including many clergy from surrounding parts.

Guest Speaker

Following the delicious supper. Mr. Gair, chairman, announced the program and Mr. Colliver, Picton, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Alex. Edmison Q.C., of Kingston University, who gave a delightful address on "The Good Old Days".

Artists from Toronto furnished vocal and piano selections and violin music. The happy evening closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, the lusty voices seeming to indicate the presence of many a Scot.

Mr. R. D. Leavitt, former bank manager here, and Mrs. Leavitt, were welcome guests.

Passed Away

After a brief illness in Picton hospital, Mrs. Lydia Haight passed away on Thursday, June 26. The deceased was a daughter of the late Robert Grant and his wife, Elizabeth Jones. Her husband, Allen Haight, died some years ago, and an only son, Grant Haight, paid the supreme sacrifice in the First World War.

The funeral was held in the Ainsworth Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon with Rev. C. P. Heaven in charge. Burial was made in Wellington cemetery. Sympathy is extended to the surviving sister, Mrs. Annie Alexander, Consecon, and other relatives.

Mrs. Leona Whyte spent Sunday in Wellington, en route to her home in Trenton.

A pleasant time was spent in the school at Bowerman's on Thursday when the teacher, Mrs. Collier, entertained the public at a hobby fair. The work done by the pupils was interesting. Mrs. Collier will spend some weeks in Toronto taking a finishing course.

Sincere thanks to my Bonarlaw correspondent for a pretty card and words of appreciation of the poem "The Old Cherry Tree", and to Mrs. McCoy of the Prince Edward-Belleville Club, for a beautiful card and words of appreciation. Also to S. E. Collins, for poems on England, which I enjoyed very much. Hope to write personal replies at my earliest convenience.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley and Mr. George Ferguson left on Wednesday to enjoy a few days with friends in Buffalo and Rochester.

Miss Mary Lumb is spending holidays with her niece, Mrs. Wiley and Mr. Wiley, Springfield, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wallbridge, Huff's Island, were in Wellington, on Sunday and called on Mrs. W. H. Anderson.

Mr. Alex. Tait returned to Toronto on Monday after spending two weeks' holidays at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton, Consecon Street, spent Sunday in Peterborough with Mr. and Mrs. John Cochrane.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Arthur and family, Welland, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Platt, Maple Avenue, for some days.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Beazer, Carrying Place, who attended the centennial banquet on Friday night, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McFaul.

Miss Gladys Lumb, Wellington, with Miss Wiley, Springfield, Ontario, sailed from New York this week, for England, where they will spend the summer with friends.

Miss Catherine Tait, teacher at St. David's, is home for the holidays.

Miss Gena Benson, Windsor, is spending the summer in Wellington, at her summer cottage, Lilac Lodge.

MARMORA

Teacher Presented With Luggage Bags

Marmora — A pleasant event was held in Deloro Hall last Monday evening when the pupils and their parents and friends of Miss Cecelia Towns gathered to bid her farewell before her departure from Deloro.

Miss Towns has been the Separate School teacher at Deloro for the past four years and has made many friends. She has accepted an appointment in one of the city schools in St. Catharines and takes up her new duties in September.

Monday evening was spent in dancing and happy discourse between friends and neighbors and was culminated with an address and presentation to Miss Towns.

Mr. J. A. Paquet read the address after which two of her small pupils presented Miss Towns with a set of travelling bags, compact and other appropriate gifts. In addition a beautiful bouquet of mixed flowers, a gift from Mrs. Ben Sandham, was also presented to Miss Towns. Miss Towns thanked her friends and invited all to visit her when she became established in St. Catharines.

All sang, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow", after which refreshments were served by the ladies in charge.

FRANKFORD

Massed Bands Provide Rare Musical Treat

Frankford— Frankford and the surrounding district enjoyed a rare musical treat in Sunday's Massed Band concert in the Memorial Park. Manager H. W. Rose of the Frankford Band made all the local arrangements, erecting the platform, and arranging for chairs, and the many other preparations which had to be made, to bring the Stirling, Warkworth and Trenton Lions Bands to Frankford, to join with the Citizens Band in a program of varied and enjoyable music

Bandmasters Morris Bell, of Stirling, and Charles Butcher, of Frankford, shared in the direction of the Massed Band throughout the concert.

Band Selections

The concert opened with "O Canada" and Chairman H. W. Rose introduced Bandmaster Charles Butcher, who led the band in the playing of "Imperial Echoes." Mr. Butcher then introduced Bandmaster Bell who led in the playing of "Little Grey Church." Additional selections included: "Invercargill", "Mighty lac' a Rose", a saxophone solo by Mrs. Mary Baker, "Southland Medley", "Church In the Wildwood," "The Holy City", "Colonel Bogey", "Lightning Fingers" a clarinet solo by Edward Thompson, "The Bondman", "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," with trombone solo by Ben Thompson, "National Emblem", "Charmaine," a saxophone trio by Mrs. Nellie Buttars, Mrs. Hazel Jolliffe, and Mrs. Lulu Knight, "Joy to the World", "W.M.S.", "Abide With Me," a trumpet solo by William Hermiston, "God Save the Queen."

By arrangement, these four bands are presenting band concerts in each of the four respective towns, Warkworth, Stirling, Frankford and Trenton. They have received a tumultuous ovation in all of the places thus far visited, and with a concert of Sunday's quality, Frankford will certainly be looking for a return engagement as soon as possible.

Mr. Rose announced that the offering taken had amounted to over $70. and thanked everyone for their generosity.

Mrs. William Davidson of Deloro visited friends in Frankford over the weekend.

Mrs. Jack Hughes and daughter, of Nova Scotia, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers.

Birthdays Honored

A birthday party was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohnes, in honor of their daughter, Darlene's first birthday, and in honor of Darlene's great grandmother, Mrs. Faith Buck, of Trenton, on the occasion of her 80th birthday. Two large birthday cakes adorned the table Guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Clayton and Vernon Smith, Mr. Gene Lohnes and Miss Helen Rose.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rose, Earl Rose, Everett Rose and Miss Gwen Ayres visited Miss Edna Rose at Presqu'Ile on Sunday.

Douses Fire

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrow had a close call Sunday morning Mr. Morrow arose as usual shortly before 7:00, and started the fire in the kitchen stove, prior to his chores in the barn. Mrs. Morrow thought she smelled smoke, and made her way down the back stairs toward the kitchen. As she reached the door to the kitchen, she saw flames licking up the wall, and around the frame of the door. She promptly seized a pail of water and doused it over the flames, extinguishing them quickly. The floor covering was badly burned, and the wall behind the stove. Smoke damage was caused to the ceiling and parts of the walls. It is believed that the fire started in a small woodbox under the stove.

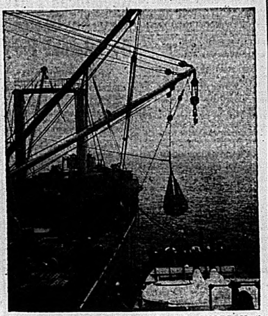
More Ammunition for the Fight



A series of bombardments carried out by H.M.C.S. Nootka during her sweep along the northeast coast of Korea cut heavily into the ship's stores of ammunition. To replenish her supply, the Canadian destroyer made a rendezvous with a United Nations supply ship in the operational area. Then with her lockers re-filled, she returned to the job of pounding enemy positions. This photo shows ammunition being derricked to the Nootka from the supply ship.—Central Press Canadian.

Captain Hyman George Rickover, left, designer of the world's first atomic-powered submarine, with a model of the sub, shows the arrangement of the atomic power plant, which is being inspected by Navy Secretary Dan Kimball. Navy experts disclosed that one pound of the sub's nuclear fuel will generate as much power as 2,500,000 pounds of coal or 360,000 gallons of gasoline in conventional submarines. Showing of the model coincided with presentation to Capt. Rickover of a second Legion of Merit for his work on the a-sub. — Central Press Canadian.

New Aircraft Carrier Designed Now Being Built

OTTAWA (CP)—A new aircraft arrier designed to fit into the jet-viation age is being built for the oyal Canadian Navy in a Belfast, orthern Ireland, shipyard.

She will cost more than $20,000,-00 and is scheduled to replace the ,000-ton Magnificent in the next wo or three years. Her construc-on actually was started a few ears ago for Britain and never ompleted.

The newcomer, yet unamed, will e thoroughly modern and capable f handling jet aircraft with an mportant new British device nick-amed the "steam slingshot" which urls them into action.

ill Own Ship

One big difference will be that anada will own her outright while she has had the Magnificent on a loan basis from Britain for several years. The Maggie was launched late in the war and commissioned in 1948.

Canada is buying the new carrier so she can incorporate in her certain American and Canadian developments which the R.C.N. would like to have for its small, four-squadron air arm. She will be heavy with radar and submarine-detecting gear. Canadian officers will go to Belfast to help supervise construction.

The new ship will be a so-called light carrier of about the same tonnage as the Magnificent. She will become the queen of the 100-ship navy Canada plans to have by 1954, a fleet consisting of two cruisers, 25 destroyers and escort vessels and other smaller craft

Arrangements have been made to take the carrier over, thus closing one of the bigger arguments to rage in the higher ranks of the forces since the war. For a long time there was controversy over whether the navy should have a carrier at all since the Magnificent absorbed about 20 per cent of the whole navy budget.

Then there were charges that the Maggie was out-of-date, that she should go and not be replaced, that the air side of naval warfare should be left to the Air Force and to Canada's allies.

Carrier Advocates Win

There were strong counter-attacks which said that ship losses in the last war showed conclusively that it was the aircraft carriers which turned the tide against the German submarines and that the carriers will be the kingpins in any new Battle of the Atlantic.

The carrier advocates won.

PRAIRIE CROP GOOD

OTTAWA (CP)—Crop prospects throughout the prairie provinces are good to excellent, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. Crops are well in advance of conditions for a similar period during the last two years. Damage from insects and other causes has been generally light.

Republican Party May be Beaten By Internal Fury

By DON WHITEHEAD

CHICAGO (AP)—Out of the Taft-Eisenhower presidential battle stalked the spec tre today of a Republican party torn by its own internal fury—and possibly an easy prey for the Democrats in November.

This is the ghost that haunts this 25th Republican National Convention.

Harmony was a fiction in the mouths of the platform speakers who talked of unity and of closed ranks.

Fight To Finish

This was a no-compromise fight to the finish between Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—the front-running Presidential nomination candidates.

Can either side forget the harsh words and the gall of defeat to throw eager support to the winner This is a question with which the peace makers must struggle in the months before the November election.

The activities on the convention floor have been merely window dressing. The real struggle has been going on downtown in the convention Credentials Committee over contested delegates and in hotel-room meetings of the strategists who pull the strings.

In reality, it began last fall when Senator Taft opened his drive to line up delegate strength. It boiled over when Taft forces took the lion's share of disputed delegate seats by vote of the Republican National Committee—controlled by Taft supporters.

Out of these pre-convention manoeuvres, the Eisenhower people built up an issue: They charge Taft was trying to steamroller the convention with ruthless, bulldozing methods.

Laack Solid Base

And they have hammered relentlessly on this theme. Actually, without this issue there are many observers who believe the Eisenhower forces would have been left without any solid base from which to fight Taft.

There are no signs of any real peace-making. The fighting goes right on down toward the finish line in a furious struggle not only to name a nominee—but for control of the Republican party.

The Republican party has a tremendous job ahead in patching up wounds and healing the 'sores opened by their fight among themselves.

General Ridgway Now in London For Conference

LONDON (Reuters)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arrived here yesterday with the usual Communist "Ridgway-go-home" welcome and went into conference with the British chiefs of staff.

Police quickly squelched a small band of Communists who broke away from the welcoming crowd. Cheered by the bystanders, burly bobbies subdued the Communists. Some resisted but were quickly floored.

Later there was a mutual exchange of views between Ridgway and the three British chiefs of staff at a one-hour meeting.

Ridgway gave his initial views on the operation of the Atlantic Pact headquarters and his impressions during his recent tour of the capitals of West European Atlantic Pact countries, sources said.

Ridgway will have a private meeting here today with Defence Minister Alexander.

The General and Mrs. Ridgway later will be received in audience by the Queen at Buckingham Palace. They will dine with Prime Minister Churchill tonight.

Three women today were fined one pound each for chalking "Scram Ridgway" on a wall of an American bank and on the pavement outside the American Embassy.

DEAF TO SEE PLAY

TORONTO (CP)—A full-length play will be presented here tonigt but it will be seen and not heard by the audience. The play is being presented at the 30th biennial convention of the Ontario Association for the Deaf. Golf, bingo, business and social sessions will be included in the agenda of the 500 delegates.

Complete Longest Mass Jet Flight

A squadron of 20 U.S. Thunderjet fighter bombers landed at Honolulu, Hawaii, completing the longest non-stop air-refuelling flight ever attempted — 2,400 miles from Travis Air Force base, California. They made the over-water hop in five hours and twenty-seven minutes, averaging 438 miles an hour. The rest of the fighter-escort wing will "island hop" the remaining part of the Pacific to Japan. At top, a Thunderjet is refuelled from a B-29 bomber. Centre, Col. David C. Schilling (right), commander of the wing, points out the course of the flight of the jets to his deputy, Col. William D. Dunham. At bottom, security guards stand watch over the jets before take-off from Travis Air Force base. — Central Press Canadian.

Warren E. Jones Opens New Gasoline Service Station At Corner of College, N. Front

A new gasoline service station in the North Front Street area will see its official opening tomorrow. It is the Superior Service Station at the corner of North Front and College streets which is being operated in conjunction with the Superior Cleaners.

Warren E. Jones, former member of Dobbs Plumbing and Heating Ltd., is the proprietor and manager of the new service station. He is no longer asosciated with the plumbing firm but will devote full time to the service station and his dry cleaning establishment.

The new service station is modern in every respect with the service station building occupying part of a new addition across the front of the Superior Cleaners property. White Rose Gasoline and other Canadian Oil Company products will be handled along with a full line of Goodyear tires and tubes and batteries. Full lubrication service is offered.

At the Superior Cleaners new equipment has been installed enabling the firm to offer fast and efficient service on all dry cleaning orders whether large or small.

A new addition to the Superior Cleaners is the cash and carry office opened at the plant. This service insures customers more prompt service than would otherwise be available.

The Lady Wins

Snipping the tie off the neck of a policeman, Acting Mayor Mary B. Beck of Detroit, Mich., smiles the smile of victory. She and Police Commissioner G. F. Boos were in disagreement on the subject of ties on the city police force. He wanted them worn at all times; she said they should be discarded in hot weather. This picture tells the rest of the story: she won the argument. — Central Press Canadian.

BOY KILLED BY CAR

TILLSONBURG (CP)—Murray Williamson, 9, of nearby Brownsville, was killed yesterday when knocked from his bicycle and thrown 45 feet in the air by an automobile. Owen Forger, 40, of Toronto, was charged with dangerous driving.

Food Poisoning Kills One Rare King Penguin

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eleven sick king penguins, brought from the Falkland Islands in the antarctic last week, today were housed in a refrigerator at Stanley Park zoo.

Food poisoning took the life of one of the rare birds Tuesday night, another is not expected to live and the other 10 are "very sick."

Zoo Director Alan Best blamed tainted frozen smelt food for the poisoning.

Another factor is the present heat wave, he said. The mercury was nearing the 80 mark when it was decided to move the birds into a big, walk-in refrigerator where the temperature is maintained at 34 degrees.

They are the only penguins in Canada.

CRASH KILLS WOMAN

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Mrs. Gordon Hardy, 52, of Bowmanville, was killed yesterday when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck four miles south of here. Her son Richard, 21, is in hospital with head lacerations. The car collided with a transport truck driven by Toby Voth, 21, of St. Catharines. Voth was not injured.

'HEAT' CLOSES PLANT

OSHAWA (CP)—Skinner's Limited temporarily shut down yesterday after 350 workers walked out. Malcolm Smith, official of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), said the walkout occurred because of "heat" and unsatisfactory working conditions. he company manufactures automobile bumpers.

EXPLOSION SEALS

The pithead is not far from the business section of this Eastern Canada mining capital, populated by some 25,000 persons. But word of the tragedy was kept secret for three hours until mine officials learned more about the blast.

Thousands At Pit Head

The whistles—time-honored signal of disaster—were silent. Then, as word leaked out, highways became clogged with cars. People came running from every direction. Some 3,000 persons, standing in unbelieving silence, crowded about the mine.

Below the surface, the first squad of draegermen, professional rescue workers equipped with gas masks and oxygen tanks, toiled for six hours before finding the first body.

First reports, in the confusion at the pit head, said about 50 men were trapped but these were soon discounted as miners hurriedly were brought to the surface.

Anxious workers read the story in the pegs where miners hang their lamps as they come from the pit. A vacant peg meant a man unaccounted for. The number dwindled and wives and mothers rushed happily into the arms of survivors.

Reporters Manhandled

Tight-lipped Dosco and union officials prevented newspaper men from gaining an immediate account of the situation. Reporters were manhandled and police seized a photographer's camera—with the only picture of the rescue activity.

All but rescue workers and doctors were barred from the pit as Harold Gordon, chief of Dosco's local operations, led his squads through the smoky tunnels.

Doctors later said that even if the men had been brought to the surface alive, their chances of survival were slim. "We had only a few pints of blood and plasma—hardly enough for one man."

Among the company and union officials at the pit head was Clary Gillis, C.C.F. member of parliament for Cape Breton South, who, in 1939, headed an extensive safety program for Cape Breton's mines.

Peterborough Hands Redmen Second Defeat Of Season With 8-1 Victory

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

CAN'T WIN 'EM ALL

The Redmen infield resorted to the strong-arm stuff last night and as a result tossed the ball willy-nilly all over the lot on six different occasions and the win-hungry Petes taking full advantage scored their second straight victory. The Liftlockers came up with their best display of the season here, fielding flawlessly, coming through with eleven clouts, and taking full advantage of the Reds pitch-and-toss pastime. At that the McCabemen outhit the Stewarteers 14-11 but they failed dismally in the clutches. Anahoo, the defeat didn't hurt them any and the Petes win was not only good for the league but proved that the Liftlock squad is a force to contend with. They defeated the Kingston Monarchs 6-1 in their last outing and it looks like Bill Stewart has injected some of the old team spirit into the club.

SOFTBALL PLAYOFF DATES

Postponed and rained-out games of the Belleville District Softball League will be played next week. following the completion of the regular schedule on Saturday, July 12th.

Playoff statistics released today by BDSL officials reveal that Northern Electrics, current leaders in the "AA" section has relinquished its sixth-place spot in the playoffs for the city championship due to the plant taking its annual two-weeks vacation starting Friday. The runners-up in the "AA" standing will take over the playoff berth.

Meanwhile the third and fourth teams in the "AA" section will meet in a best-of-three series the winner to meet the second-placers in a similar series. The winner of this will take on the Northern Electric with the stipulation that the pitchers of the series winner have time for sufficient rest.

Representatives of the city in intermediate, junior, juvenile and midget softball playdowns must be ready by the last Saturday in August. Bantams and Peewees playdown date is August 2nd. Failure to meet these dates means elimination from the playdowns.

NEW STAR IS BORN

The cracker-barrel corners in the general stores in the hinterland and the lounges in sports clubs, hotels and other metropolitan spots where sportsmen gather have often resounded to the age-old arguments of "Can the champions of modern times compare with or better those of the good old days".

They grow wearisome at times. The Louis-Dempsey topic has provided verbal fuel for many a long-winded lung duel. Could Dempsey beat John L. Sullivan. What chance would Frank Gotch have again Lou Thesz? And so on into the night. There is no answer to the questions, but they do provide good topics when none other is available.

But now the boys who love this type of lung tonic may have something on which they can work.

There's a boy wonder in the United States, an Olympic decathlon winner in .48, who the experts are ballyhooing as Mr. Athlete of all time. He is Bob Mathias, who knocked off the Olympic title four years ago, and won the United States crown a few, days ago, "hands down".

He's being hailed as the "Infant Prodigy", "La Enfant Terrible," "The Boy Wonder" etc, and sports writers across the line are scratching their noggins and sitting up nights digging up other "wonder titles" for him.

Now the lads who love the old champion versus the modern brand are sitting up and taking notice. Here is one to their liking. Already they've dug out yellowing records of the fabulous Jim Thorpe and proving by the written word that the famous Sac and Fox Indian was almost a beginner when it came to track and field, in comparison to the Titan of Tulare.

Says one:—"The Infant Prodigy of the 1948 Olympics has finally become a man, the most remarkable all-round performer to be seen yet. Just the other day he broke the world record once again while winning his fourth straight national AAU decathlon title. Soon he will be a repeat winner in the Olympics decathlon history. He's just so good it seems impossible for him to fail."

Mathias has something, at that. He flits over the high hurdles in 14.2; scales the discus 165 feet; high jumps, 6 feet two-inches; pole vaults 13 feet and so on. In the recent AAU decathlon championships held at his home town of Tulare, Mathias defeated the all-round world record nine events. He had one to go. In the 1948 Olympics his victories became so monotonous that by the time the 1,500 meter run was reached the crowd had long since departed, and only his parents watched the wonder boy jog weariedly around the track to clinch his Olympic title.

In addition Mathias is the full-back football star at Stanford University. He hasn't tried out as yet for the basketball team although he averaged 18 points per game as a high school player. They predict he'll quit track after Helsinki and try out for major league baseball, emulating his famous predecessor Jim Thorpe.

But he'll have to be good to be as good or nearly as good as the wily, efficient Carlisle University star. Jim Thorpe was a football-baseball star of the first water, reaching that state of efficiency sheerly through marvellous athletic ability. Whether Mathias can do likewise remains to be seen. But he'll have to be awful good to erase the memory of the famous red man; in fact he'll never be that good.

Six Red Infield Tossaways Help Petes to 2nd Straight; Visitors Sparkle Defensively

Taking full advantage of the Redmen infield errors the Peterborough Petes won their second straight game here last night defeating the Belleville league leaders 8-1 in a Central Ontario Baseball League fixture.

It was the first victory of the season for the Petes over the Redmen and the latter's second loss in COBL competition.

The Redmen outhit the Petes 14-11 but failed to come through in the clutches while they tossed the ball around six times for errors while the Petes were in scoring position.

On the other hand the Petes came up with a flawless fielding exhibition, executing two smart killings when Red rallies threatened.

Outhit Petes

"Lefty" Bill Dadson allowed the Reds but one run but was touched freely over the route giving up 14 hits, one a double by Vern Goyer, striking out three and walking one.

Johnny Mowat started on the mound for the Reds giving up eight hits for five runs before he was relieved in the eighth by Bobby Bunton. The latter was touched for three clouts in the ninth but was the victim of two errors that paved the way for three runs. Mowat was tabbed with the loss.

"Poosh-'em-up" Tony Pettitt was again the star of the Reds' hit parade coming up with three clouts. Vern Goyer got himself a double and single and Huck Reeves was good for a trio of loners. Gilmour got a pair.

Edger paced the Petes' pack with three singles with Lowrey hitting a double and single. Al Menzies blasted two, with Garvey, Stewart, Young and Padgett good for one each.

One In First

The Reds got their lone run in the first inning after Gilmour and Fitzpatrick went out. Tony Pettitt hit a centre field single and galloped home on Goyer's ringing double to the same spot. Wardhaugh grounded out.

The Petes went one up in the third when Dadson was safe on Reeves' error. Lowrey who doubled in the first came up with a single sending Dadson to third and taking second on a stolen base. Both runners scored on Wardhaugh's juggle of Edger's infield hit.

Two singles by Young and Edger after Stewart was hit by a Mowat pitch were good for one in the sixth. Two hits and two more Redmen bobbles in the seventh sent two more Petes across the plate.

Errors again paved the way for a trio of Petes markers in the ninth when Bunton and Reeves made bad throws aided and abetted by three singles two of them scratch bunts.

The Reds left two men stranded on bases on four different occasions but could not come through with the clutch hits. They had runners on first and third with none out in the ninth but Dadson bore down and retired the next three batters in order.

Quinte Netters Defeat Trenton

The Quinte Tennis Club intermediates defeated the Trenton club five matches to nothing in a scheduled league fixture on the Quinte courts last night.

In the men's doubles, Barry Kells and Jack Houston defeated Ron Gittelman and Bob Burns, Trenton 6-4.

Mary Jane McNally and Les Digby were too good for Betty Mueller and Ron Baker, Trenton, in the mixed doubles, winning 6-2.

In the second men's doubles, Ron Fox and Larry Black won over Bob Jeffery and Bill Robertson, Trenton 6-0.

In the second mixed doubles, Willo Wilkes and Bob Brearley defeated Pat Spear and Warren Whitley 6-1.

Patsy Brearley and Leah Fox won the ladies doubles by default.

Following are the dates for postponed games: July 15th Quinte and RCAF; July 16th Pt. Anne and St. Andrew's-Holloway; Aug. 1st Point Anne and Batawa, and Point Anne meets Trenton tomorrow in a game moved forward from July 13th.

Teen-Age Golfers Tee Off Friday

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A field of 74 of the finest teen-age golfers in the province tee off at Highland Golf Club tomorrow in the annual Ontario junior golf championships. The tournament will be 36 holes of medal play.

Defending champion Gerry Knechtel of Kitchener, who qualified at London with a 73, heads the field as he shoots for his second straight title, hoping to duplicate the feat of another "Gerry" from Kitchener—Kesselring—a few years ago.

An added goal for the youngsters this year will be to shoot for a place on a picked Ontario junior team which will play a selected team for the United States at Toronto Mississauga July 29. Two players from each of four age groups will make up this team and they will be selected on the basis of their performance at the championships here.

Grand-Slammer Gives Guelph Win Over Brantford

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eddy Boehmer's grand-slam four inning homer thrilled Guelph fans last night as he led the first-place Maple Leafs to a 10-6 win over Brantford Red Sox and opened up a four-game gap between the Leafs and second-place Kitchener Panthers in the Intercounty Baseball League.

The runner-up Panthers bowed 4-2 before London Majors at home, the win holding London a full game behind fifth-place Waterloo Tigers who edged Galt Terriers 7-6.

The Leafs clouted southpaw Alf Gavey and right-hander Frank Parker for a total of 12 hits while Lew Fauth gained his sixth victory of the season on the Guelph mound.

Give Five Hits

Leaf shortstop Marv Rich was the leading hitter of the night, banging out three safeties in as many trips to the plate. He also scored four runs.

In Galt, plate umpire Frank Slota had his troubles with both players and fans. He was forced to seek police protection in leaving the park after the game.

Two close decisions at home plate and a disputed home run turned the Galt crowd against him. The climax came in the seventh when he tossed out Mike Turowski for protesting a third strike.

Both Galt and Waterloo used a pair of hurlers last night. Whit Graves replaced Don Oberholtzer in the second for the Tigers and walked off with the win. He piled up 11 strikeouts.

Jim Bell opened for Galt, but gave way to Hal Rockburn in the fourth. Neither was capable of holding the heavy-hitting visitors.

Mel Duncan was the loser for Kitchener at home although he pitched only 2 2-3 innings. He went to the mound when starter Chuck Fedoris was struck on the leg by a line drive off the bat of London catcher Bill Dixon.

Right-hander Bob Brake went the route for London, allowing only five hits in all.

No games are scheduled tonight, but Galt moves into St. Thomas tomorrow night while Guelph plays at home against London and Kitchener entertains Waterloo.

Russia's Olympic Athletes Pick Best of Everything from Red Pals

By VERNON MORGAN

HELSINKI (Reuters)—Russians participating in the Olympic Games which open here July 19 have picked for themselves the best of everything in the camp they share with athletes from satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain.

And the best seems to be better than anything in the western Olympic Camp at Kapyla.

This reporter drew those conclusions after touring the almost-completed Russian camp at Otaniemi, which will be used by the Russians, Czechs, Poles, Romanians, Hungarians and Bulgarians.

The camp is situated seven miles from the city on the edge of a forest-bordered lake.

Ignore Sign

Visiting newspaper men ignored a big sign reading "Entrance Prohibited" at the front gate. No one protested. A short, bald-headed Finish colonel showed them around the residential and training quarters.

The Russians have the biggest dining hall. All other eastern European teams—except Hungary—will share the same canteen.

They have moved into the most spacious red brick house, which is also better furnished than the other eight in the village and whose windows afford the most pleasant view of the surrounding countryside.

The Russians' camp tops the western one at Kapyla in three ways:

1. It is better situated. Athletes will be able to have a restful, secluded place to relax and train. The western camp is closer to the city.

2. Bedrooms are more comfortably furnished and there are fewer persons to a room.

3. There are more recreation rooms.

The Russians will also have the use of the only indoor track and field stadium in Finland for training.

Red-Hot St. Louis Cardinals Riding 9-Game Win Streak Will Find Tough Trail Ahead

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next two weeks should decide the fate of Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals.

Beginning tonight, the red-hot Redbirds take on Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York in succession before closing out their home stay with Boston in an 11-game stand against the eastern clubs.

By then, the sizzling Cards may either have blown a fuse or have established themselves as a solid pennant threat on an even footing with the Dodgers and Giants.

Win 18 of 22

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cards are riding a nine-game winning streak, with 18 triumphs in their last 22 games. Wallowing in the second division a month ago, they have pushed into third place, 9½ games behind Brooklyn.

Stanky, though well aware of the Dodgers' healthy 13-game edge on the decisive defeat side of the standings, refuses to concede a thing to Brooklyn and New York.

"We've still got an outside chance for the pennant," the scrappy little infielder said. "We're going good right now. There is no reason why we shouldn't continue. . . This race isn't over by a long shot."

Stanky's optimism is based on the fact that his team has shown it can beat the Dodgers. The Cards hold a -5 margin over the league-leaders.

A.L. Scrambled

While the Cards are threatening to make a three-team affair of the National League race, the American continues to resemble a fox hunt with Cleveland, Washington, Boston and Chicago chasing New York's Yankees. The White Sox last week moved into the runner-up spot, three games behind the Yankees. The Indians, Senators and Red Sox are not far behind.

The Yankees face an opportunity to increase their first-place margin, launching a 14-game home stand tonight with St. Louis Browns as the first of four western opponents.

All major league teams were idle yesterday, the usual open date after the All-Star game.

'Irish' Daly Takes Over Lead In British Open

LYTHAM, England (Reuters)—Fred Daly, a cheerful Irishman from Belfast, yesterday took over the lead in the British Open golf championship with a first-round 67.

Daly, out for his second Open title—he won in 1947—said playing conditions were easy.

In second place was Peter Thomson, the young Australian, with 68, followed by South Africa's Bobby Locke, with 69.

Bill Coggin of Montclair, N.J., led the American contingent with a 71. Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., took a 73 and 50-year-old Gene Sarazen, Britain Open winner 20 years ago, a 74. Sarazen was tied with Daly with 32 after nine holes, but slowed up on the home nine, taking a seven on the 17th hole.

Youthful Jim Bentley of Toronto mastered Henri Rochon's famed drop-shot to win in the third round men's single play of the Eastern Canada Tennis championships 6-3, 6-8, 6-4 at Quebec yesterday.

Bentley, 20, took 1½ hours to whip the Canadian Davis Cupper from Montreal in the biggest upset of the tournament.

Rochon was seeded third while Bentley was not seeded.

With the victory, Bentley advanced to the quarter-finals against Jack Spencer of Montreal, who upset Don Fontana of Toronto, seeded sixth, 7-5, 6-2. Fontana played off form, hampered by an eye injury received in morning doubles play.

Lorne Main of Vancouver, seeded second, advanced to the quarter-finals by easily defeating Peter Stewart of Toronto 6-3, 6-3.

Top-seeded Harold Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., breezed through two sets against J. Yves Laurin of Quebec 6-2, 6-3.

Bentley, fresh from his upset over Rochon, teamed with Dorothy Hurst of Toronto in the first round of mixed doubles to whip Austin McPherson, Toronto, and Lois Jones of oMntreal, 6-3, 6-2.

Rochon came back to the court with Burrows to dispose of Quebecers Guy Brennan and Giles Cote 6-1, 6-0 in the second round of men's doubles.

Dr. Stanton, the veteran pacer owned by Lindy Fraser of Forest, will be honored at Toronto's Thorncliffe Raceway during the current meeting when a race will be named for him July 30. Dr. Stanton has won one division of the Canadian Cup Pace—Canada's richest harness race—in each of the last two season and is the world's leading money-winning pace gelding.

Argyle Grattan, Dunc Campbell's great pacing gelding from Ailsa Craig, is still taking on all comers and winning around Western Ontario's harness racing circuit. He went with the free-for-all horses at the annual Exeter races yesterday, won both heats and paced the fastest time of the day, a 2.09 3-5 mile on a slow track. A record crowd of close to 4,000 fans saw the program.

Because of a bad start, the fifth race at the Fort Erie track here was declared cancelled yesterday and all money was refunded. Starters were unable to use the gate because of mud and water left by a rainstorm. Several horses did not get away and were pulled up. The crowd shouted and booed until the race ended with Beech Hill in front.

Ontario's annual horseshoe pitching championships will be held Saturday at Dieppe Park in East York, Toronto suburb. The present Canadian champion, Walter Woodward, will vie with two top competitors for national honors, Oshawa's Dean McLaughlin and Listowel's Stan Fritz.

Inspector Doug Darby of the Provincial Police detachment at Dundas won the grand aggregate prize of the Ontario Police Association revolver shoot at Hamilton yesterday He scored 276 points of a possible 300. Ninety policemen from Toronto, Guelph, Kitchener, London, St. Catharines, Kingston, Brantford and Hamilton took part. A Toronto team won the team aggregate championship with a total of 672 points.

Southpaw Irv Medlinger, who came to Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League from St. Louis Browns of the American League last year, has been sold to San Antonio Missions of the Texas League, it is reported.

Super Chief, 6-to-5 favorite driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., earned a half-length victory over Gates Hanover in the featured Sea Cliff Pace at Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N.Y., last night. Time for the mile was 2:08 4-5 over a muddy track. Super Chief returned 4.80 to win.

Timbermen Trim Owen Sound 13-8

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Peterborough Timbermen trimmed Owen Sound 13-8 before nearly 1,200 fans here last night to take a tighter grip on second place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association standing. They overcame a 2-1 Owen Sound edge in the first period to lead 9-5 at the half and 10-7 to the end the third.

Top sniper for the winners was Ike Hildebrand with three, Curly Mason and Harry Wipper getting two each, and Dootch Vitarelli, Bob Thorpe, Lou Nicke, Ross Powless, Don Ashbee and Grant Burns one apiece. Two each for the losers were tallied by Don Campbell, Tony Capulo and Johnny Lumley. Norm Shortridge and Jack Hauart each scored once.

Finn President Will Appeal For 'Peaceful' Games

By TED SMITS

HELSINKI (AP)—Finland, neutral host to the biggest and potentially the most controversial of modern Olympic Games, spread diplomatic oil on troubled waters today to bring about sports amity between East and West.

The Russians, after starting off with the usual cold isolation of the party line, have become unexpectedly friendly—probably on orders from high places.

Now Baron Erik von Frenckell, president of the Finnish Olympic Organizing Committee, has called an "important" press conference for this afternoon. There were indications he will make an appeal for peaceful, tranquil Games.

This would be in the tradition of the Olympic Games of ancient times. In those days heralds went out through Greece to proclaim the Games every four years, and called on the city states—many of which were usually in a state of war—to permit the free passage of athletes to the site of the Games.

Premier Asks Neutrality

Premier Urho Kekkonen of Finland has written a magazine article calling on the country to maintain a neutral and friendly attitude despite past frictions with Russia.

This is the first time Soviet Russia has competed. And it marks the return to the world sports arena of Germany and Japan as well.

The United States and Russia have the two biggest teams in the Games—approximately 400 athletes each. There are 69 countries competing with about 6,500 individual entries.

At the outset, the Russians hid behind the usual iron or red-tape curtain. Unexpectedly it fell yesterday. Reporters were permitted to tour the splendid modern village at Otaniemi where the Iron Curtain athletes are housed.

Senior Tennis League Results

Point Anne netters defeated the St. Andrew's-Holloway St. club in a Bay of Quinte senior tennis league match last night taking four of the five events played.

Ladies doubles: Hilda Finlan and Maureen Bowler defeated Joyce Woodley and Agnes Orser 6-2,6-0.

1st mixed. Gwyneth Bennett and Thorold Horwood defeated Helen Brisbin and Stan Price 6-1, 6-4.

2nd mixed: Iona MacDonald and Joe Deforge defeated Diana Lewis and Albert Lennox 6-0, 6-1.

1st men's: Maurice Vollick and Jack MacDonald lost to Terry Joyce and Ken Woodley 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

2nd men's: Jack Hart and Phil Bennett defeated Bill Spencer and Clive Joyce 6-4, 6-1.

Soccer Star Gets Big Offer

LONDON (CP)—Tom Finney, one of England's all-time soccer greats, has been offered a 10,000 pound bonus, a fabulous boost in salary, plus a seaside villa and a car for signing a two-year contract with the Palermo club of the Italian Professional League.

But Finney, who has starred for 13 years as outside right for Preston North-End of the English First Division, has rejected the tempting offer.

It was a tough decision for the tricky little speed demon whose playing contract with Preston expired at the end of June. When he placed the proposition before the directors of his club, and the question of his outright release was raised, he was told "nothing doing."

Acquired by Preston in 1939 for the nominal 10 pound signing-on fee, Finney, in recent years, has been sought by practically every major league club, but the price has scared them off. The bedrock fee for his transfer is reported to be a record 50,000 pounds.

Finney re-signed with Preston for salary of approximately 900 pounds a season.

LORD LAYTON

HANS HERMANN

According to Lord Athol Layton, he will throw the greatest barrage of judo chops that he has ever rained on an opponent in his life when he collides with Hans Hermann, the arrogant German grappler, in the headline wrestling bout in the Memorial Arena on Friday night.

Layton says he is hep to Hermann's roughness and choking Prussian Squeeze and will take no chances of being trapped first by Hermann. Besides, Layton feels certain his own judo chop, which has laid low many opponents and hospitalized Whipper Watson, is a much more damaging offensive than Hermann's much-vaunted specialty hold and rough tactics.

Soviet Union Throws Full Force Into Olympic Track, Field Events

By MILTON MARMOR

HELSINKI (AP)—The Soviet Union is throwing its full force into the men's track and field events, the entry list released by the Olympic Committee disclosed today.

The Russians have entered every event, and put up the maximum quota of three entries in all but three events. They entered only two in the high hurdles, shot put and hop-step and jump.

Every noted Soviet athlete is on the entry list—with but one exception: Heino Lipp, holder of the European shot put record and supposedly best of the decathlon men. This could mean he is getting too old and not up to present standards.

The entry list yields many interesting facts, but the most unusual is that Emil Zatopek, fabulous Czech distance runner, has elected to try for three gold medals.

May Win All

Zatopek, a major in the Czech army, is entered in the 5,000-metre run, the 10,000-metre run and the 26-mile, 385-yard marathon. Many believe he may win all three.

Zatopek won the 10,000 in the 1948 games and placed second in the 5,000 to Gaston Reiff of Belgium. Since then he has bettered his 10,000-metre mark by almost a minute to set an almost unbelievable world record of 29:02.6.

Among the Russians listed to compete against Zatopek is Alecksander Anoufriev in the 5,000. Anoufriev ran second behind the Russian Vladimir Kazantsev when both defeated Zatopek in Kiev a few weeks ago in the 5,000.

Surprisingly, Kazantsev is entered only in the 3,000-metre steeplechase in which he holds the world mark. Nikifor Popov, Russian distance man, is competing in both the 5,000 and the 10,000 as is Anoufriev.

Feodossij Vanine, veteran distance runner from the Soviet Union, leads the marathon entries.

Best In Metric Mile

The great race of the Olympics shapes up in the 1,500 or metric mile.

Entered are such names as: Riefe, who also will run the 5,000; Willi Slijkhuis of The Netherlands, one of the world's great runners Roger Bannister and Bill Nankeville of Britain; John Ross, Canadian entry from Oakville, Ont.; Audun Boysen of Norway; Patrick el Mabrouk of France; Sture Landqvist, Ingvar Ericsson and Olow Aberg of Sweden Guenter Dohrow, Rolf Lamers and Werner Lueg of Germany—Lueg tied the world mark of 3:43 recently—Denis Johansson of Finland and Sandor Iharos of Hungary.

Says $100,000 Purses Bad for Sport, But Big Money Draws Horses, Fans

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—In the spring of 1949 the National Association of State Racing Commissioners met here and one of the speakers was George D. Widener, president of Belmont Park and now chairman of the Jockey Club.

"I think this competition for high stakes, such as these big 100,000 races, is bad for the sport," Widener said.

"Personally, I think no Stakes race is worth more than 50,000. Purses for other races should be increased."

Many race track owners and of-officials agree today with Widener. But the fact remains that big money attracts big-name horses; and people like to see the stars of the turf in action.

To Lure 'Names'

Florida tracks are finding that out, while the Fairgrounds at New Orleans also is out to cut down on the annual winter pilgrimage of the big stables to California.

New York, often termed racing's "Big Apple," now has only one race carrying $100,000 in added money—the Belmont Stakes. That's the money added by the track to nomination and starting fees.

In contrast, Chicago has four Stakes with $100,000-added. They are the Arlington Classic July 19, the Arlington Handicap July 26, the American Derby Aug. 9 and the Washington Park Handicap Sept. 1.

Fall Stake races have yet to be announced at most tracks, but so far this year 10 races with $100,000 tags have been scheduled.

Blue Man, current leader among the three-year-olds, is heading for Chicago to tackle the Arlington Handicap. Spartan Valor, top handicap horse of the season, has been there all summer waiting for the heavy sugar. Calumet is there with half its powerful stable—the other half is in California raking in the dough. The Calumets go where the grass is greener, and the stable is the biggest money-winner of the year to date, with earnings of more than $600,000.

Swedish Builder May Replace Canadian Shells

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—A Swedish boat builder may be the salvation of Canada's Olympic rowers.

A three-man delegation was scheduled to fly to Stockholm today to negotiate with the builder for racing shells to replace those damaged during a stormy Atlantic crossing last week.

Flying from here are Paddy Cline of Hamilton, coach of the four-oared crew, Harry Kaysmith, coach of the Toronto Argonaut eight-oared crew, and Fred Carter of Toronto, manager of Canada's Olympic oarsmen.

If the negotiations are successful, three racing shells will be purchased and shipped from Stockholm and will arrive in Helsinki Friday night.

Meanwhile in Toronto Olympic rowing officials were awaiting word to fly 3 rowing shells to this Finnish capital as replacements. A Royal Dutch Airlines cargo plane is scheduled to leave New York July 14 for Finland and can be rerouted through oMntreal to pick up the boats. The shells would arrive in Helsinki the following day.

The replacement shells are at the Argonaut Rowing Club's headquarters in Toronto, and were originally intended to be used in the Olympics. Built at Kelowna, B.C. they failed to arrive in time for the June 17 shipping date from Montreal. Substitute shells were sent. These were the ones damaged in the Atlantic storm.

But the cost of shipping the shells by air is a barrier that up to now seems insurmountable. It would cost thousands of dollars to transport the new boats for the doubles, four and eight-oared crews. The rowers hope that some generous persons in Canada will remove this barrier.

On the same plane as the delegation today will be Jack Burney of Vancouver. He is returning to his United States Army unit in Germany after a fruitless trip to Olympic squad. The 23-year-ld athlete, whose times for the 400-metre hurdles have been faster than the Olympic standard set by the Canadian Olympic Association, arrived here last week on the understanding that he was eligible for the team.

But on his arrival he was told that he could not join the Canadian track and field squad because he hadn't competed in the Olympic trials at Hamilton recently.

Meanwhile the Canadian team has settled down to a vigorous pre-Olympic training program. The track squad is holding twice-daily workouts. The oarsmen, using unfamiliar shells, are getting into shape. Ferd Hayward, 41, of St. John's, Nfld., plans serious workouts today prior to the 10,000-metre and 50-kilometre events. Yesterday Paul Collins of Wolfville, N.S., did 16 miles of the marathon course.

Tom Fool, 1951 juvenile champ, is heading out for the Arlington Classic.

Four 100,000 Races

However, the interesting development will be the scrap for big-name gallopers next winter. Santa Anita has been getting most of them, and in addition to its trio of hundred granders, will boost the San Juan Capistrano Handicap to $100,000.

Florida, once the winter racing capital, is out to recoup. Gulfstream Park announced recently its Florida Derby would be increased from $20,000 to $100,000. The Gulfstream Handicap was raised from $25,000 to $50,000.

Not to be outdone, the Fair Grounds has jumped the New Orleans Handicap 5 per cent, to $50,000, while the Louisiana Derby is going from $20,000 to $40,000.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

LONDON (CP)—A national insurance medical board said in a report that a man was suffering from a "bilateral hallux valgus." The man's baffled and worried wife asked what it meant. "In plain language, a two-sided bunion," was the reply.

Belleville Pair Win Tourney At Peterborough

Gerald Hyde and Gordon Edwards, making every post a winning one, captured the W. J. Kennedy Memorial trophy at the doubles tournament held in Peterborough on Wednesday. There were 96 doubles teams entered in this tourney, one of the largest to be staged in the district and their victory over such a high class field is a distinct honor for the local bowling club.

Davey Davison and Gordon Vince also made the money ranks by winning three games and finishing in fifth place. Other rinks from the local club included Cliff Argue and Jack Lee and Gordon Watkin and Jack Smith.

In their climb to the top, Hyde and Edwards defeated Armstrong of Toronto, 18-10, Black of Peterborough 19-9 and McNeil of Toronto, 18-3. The tourney was interrupted nearly an hour in the morning draw due to rain and the second and third games were cut from 15 to 12 ends but the maximum was left the same. The Bowlers report the greens were in excellent condition and the hospitality of the host club everything to be desired.

Chadwick Wants Same Trainer For Second Try

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Channel swimmer Florence Chadwick will have the same "team" with her when she tries again to conquer the distance between Catalina Island and the mainland in September.

Overriding an announcement last night from San Diego by her mother, Mrs. Mary Chadwick, that there will be a new trainer, Miss Chadwick said Bert Rovere, Los Angeles cafeman and a former channel swimmer, will again be her trainer.

Florence said she appreciated her mother's advice but that she will win or lose on her own decisions.

Mrs. Chadwick said her daughter's July 4 swim was mishandled in that the time of year was unsuitable, there were improper training conditions before the swim, and Rovere failed to understand her temperament.

Plan Speed-Up British Soccer

LONDON (CP)—Plans for speeding up and improving the general standard of old country professional soccer have been recommended to the governing authorities of the game by Arthur Ellis, who refereed the Cup final between Arsenal and Newcastle at Wembley in May.

Ellis has suggested that four balls, changed at quarterly intervals, should be used in every Football League match next season. The purpose would be to keep the weight of the ball as constant as possible for the entire game, particularly when ground conditions are heavy.

He has also proposed that a light, non-absorbent white ball should be used in all official fixtures from November to March.

Movie Column

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Where else but Hollywood would it be news when the boss' assistant takes over when the boss gets sick

Paramount recently promoted an assistant director to director in such an instance. The news is looked upon as revolutionary in the trade, where such a jump can be compared only with the spot promotion of an army sergeant to commanding general.

The practice was common enough in the silent movies: such eop men as Leo McCarey and John Ford started as assistant directors. But in recent years, most new directors came from but three sources—Broadway stage, writers and nephews of studio executives.

Alvin Alger

A fellow by the name of Alvin Ganzer is the current Horatio Alger hero of the assistant directors. Until a few days ago, he was the guy who yelled, "Quiet, everybody, we're rolling," on the picture "Pleasure Island." The director was playwright F. Hugh Herbert.

Herbert, also was writing a new play, readying a novel, and overseeing the production of "The Moon is Blue," collapsed from overwork.

Production boss Don Hartman and Herbert both felt that Ganzer was the man to complete the job and supervise the important editing and cutting.

Should the picture be a hit, it could mean that Ganzer is on his way toward the big money.

Northerns Down CNR 'AA' 25-9 In Weird Game

By Jack Brett

A wild and woolly game played at the Recreation field last night saw Northern Electric trounce the CNR "AA" team 25-9 in eight of the roughest innings of the season.

In the first three innings, Northern pushed 12 runs across the plate. A single by Mulvihill and a home run off Hatfield counted the first two runs in the first inning. In the second, two bases on errors, two walks, singles by Day and Barrett and a double off the bat of Doug Bone were good for seven runs. Doubles by Hatfield and Bone and a single by Pete Jones made the score 12-0 for Northern at the end of the third.

Taylor walked and Bertram tripled to tally the first two runs for CNR in the fourth. They added another in the fifth to make the score 12-3.

Singles by Little, Barrett and Pete Jones in the fifth, a double by Mulvihill and a home run by Hatfield added five more runs for Northern to make the score 17-3 at the end of five innigs of play.

Nolan and D. Rodgers doubled in the sixth for CNR, Bertram and Lockyer singled, a home run by G. Rodgers and an error were good for six more runs.

Errors gained Northern three more runs in the sixth as they made it 20-9. In the seventh, Hatfield strolled, Pete Jones tripled to make it 22-9. York and Mulvihill singled in the eighth for the final run of the game.

Day went the route for Northern walking eight, striking out 7 and giving up 11 hits for nine runs. For the losers, D. Rodgers started on the mound to give seven bases on walks and strike out three. He gave 15 hits for 17 runs. Nichol went to the mound in the sixth for C.N.R. to walk four, strike out one and give up six hits for eight runs.

Best at the plate was Doug Bone who batted five for five.

Umpire Don Dolan caught one of Graydon Roger's fast balls in the solar plexus in the second inning. Dolan was flat on his back for five minutes. He later finished his stint of umpiring as base ump. Herb Pointer took over home plate.

Lineups:

CNR AA—Nolan 3b; Tracy 2b; Lockyer 1b; G. Rodgers p; B Nichol p; Moon c; Taylor lf; Bertram ss; Boyle cf; D. Rodgers rf.

Northern — Mulvihill ss; Hatfield 3b; P. Jones 1b; Derushie lf; Little lf; Young 2b; Barrett rf; Piperni rf; D. Jones cf; York cf; Bone c; Day p.

Rochester Routs Buffalo 9-1; Others Idle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looks as though rookie Ray Jablonski of Rochester Red Wings is determined to give Ottawa's veteran Lou Limmer a battle for the home-run crown in the International League.

Jablonski hit his 13th last night as the Wings routed the Buffalo Bisons 9-1 in the circuit's only game. It was a three-run clout that knocked Bison starter Al Yalian from the box in the third inning and made it easy going for winner Ellis Deal. Jablonski and Limmer now are tied for the loop four-bagger leadership.

Limmer, who moved into the lead with a homer against Toronto Tuesday night, did not get a chance last night since Ottawa and Toronto were not scheduled. Wet grounds postponed the Montreal-Baltimore and Springfield-Syracuse clashes.

Ed Stevens is right behind the co-leaders with 12 homers. Roy Weatherly, Baltimore, and Frank Carswell, Buffalo, have 11 each. Johnny Blatnik, Syracuse, and Lew Morton, Toronto, both have hit 10.

Jablonski also had a double to drive in a total of four runs as the Wings moved to within two games of the league-leading Montreal Royals. The Wings hold a two-game edge in the win column but trail by six on the debit side.

Glen Roys Whip Point Anne 7-5 For 15th Win

Glen Roy Juniors, with a five run outburst in the fifth inning, last evening handed Point Anne a 7-5 setback in a Belleville and District League game at Point Anne.

The reverse was Point Anne's fifth in 15 starts and crushed any chances of their moving up in the league standings before the end of the season. The Juniors continued to roll along in first place with 15 wins in 16 starts.

The Glens picked up their first run in the second inning with Wannamaker walking with two out and scoring on singles by DeGray and Bob Green. They added five more in the fifth.

With one out Barclay got a life on an error at short. Hull singled to left and Barclay was thrown out at third trying to take an extra base. Batchelor singled and Green walked. Singles by Gerry Goyer, Lyle Wannamaker and Ted DeGray powered in the runs. DeGray was the third out. Mallory threw him out at second trying to steal.

The Glens took a 7-0 lead in the first of the sixth on a three base error in left field and a passed ball.

Elliott Homers

Point Anne, blanked through 5 innings on one hit, put together singles by Wood and Mallory for their first run in the sixth inning. They scored three more tallies in the seventh. With two out, Genereaux singled, Horwood walked, and then Jack Elliott smashed a home run to centrefield to plate the runs.

Point Anne finished their scoring in the eighth on a walk, a fielder's choice, a passed ball, and a three base error in left field.

In the ninth Point Anne put the tying runs on base but failed to score. With one out, Elliott reached third on a two base error in centrefield and a stolen base. Wood walked and Hunter was called in to pitch for the Glens. Wood tried to steal second and Elliott tried to work a double steal by coming home but was trapped and run down by the catcher and third baseman. Strahan grounded out second to first to end the game.

Bob Green went eight and one third innings, walking seven, striking out seven, and giving up five hits for all the runs. Hunter pitched to the last man.

Pat Maracle was charged with the Point Anne defeat. He walked three, struck out five, and gave up nine hits for all the runs.

Hull, Batchelor, and DeGray each had two safeties for the winners. Genereaux, Horwood, Elliott, Wood, and Mallory had the Point Anne hits.

Lineups:

Glen Roy: Carr 3b; Barclay lf. Hull ss, replaced by Lally in 6th; Batchelor 2b; P. Green c; Goyer rf; Wannamaker cf; DeGray 1b; Bob Green p, replaced by Hunter in 9th.

AT THE McCARTHY — Katharine Hepburn and Humphrey Bogart enjoy a few moments of quiet during their fantastic journey downriver in John Huston's Technicolor drama, "The African Queen," filmed on location in Africa. This United Artists release is now playing at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

Boxer, Wrestler Clash in Cafe

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — What happens when lightweight boxing champion Lauro Salas, weight 130, tangles with wrestler Carlos Guzman, weight 230?

Nothing much, said witnesses to an impromptu clash between the two at a cafe run by ex-fighter Baby Arizmendi.

Salas, who has had two previous well-publicized cafe fights in a year, fractured nothing but the air with his punches.

Guzman came out with a bloody lip. He bit it somehow.

"The Great Caruso"

Enrico Caruso (as portrayed by Mario Lanza), born in Italy, gives up singing for the flour business to win the hand of the daughter of a wealthy flour manufacturer. However, he cannot stamp out his love for music, and the engagement is broken. Bitter, he embarks on his sensational career with a smash hit in London, following which he travels to New York to sing with the Metropolitan Opera. Here Caruso encounters the disapproval of Carl Benton Reid, an influential sponsor, and is coldly received in his first appearance at the Met. But Reid's daughter, Ann Blyth, encourages him, and in his next appearance Caruso is wildly cheered. Later he and Ann are married and their happiness continues until he collapses and dies in the wings of the Met after contracting a cold.

Putting Idle Energy to Work

In Greisham, Germany, city fathers have capitalized on the desire of every boy to be a fireman. The boys are given real fire-fighting equipment, handle hoses and do everything but drive the fire truck, and when a real fire breaks out, they assist the regular smokeaters. This group of boys is giving a demonstration of teamwork in putting out a blazing pile of wood. — Central Press Canadian.

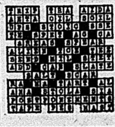
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle:



Briefs From Britain

EDINBURGH (CP)—The College of Domestic Science here was bequeathed 1,000 pounds for an annual cookery prize. The will requested that the prize be awarded wherever possible for the making of haggis.

HERTFORD, England (CP)—In a move to reduce traffic accidents, police tested 1,600 children's bicycles in this area throughout the year. They found more than 1,000 defective.

HASTINGS, England (CP)—One of the largest fish ever caught off the shores of Britain was landed at this Sussex seaside resort—an electric ray weighing more than 80 pounds.

LONDON (CP)—The working-class district of Peckham has it own solution for high cost of tobacco. A nearby common was turned into a tobacco plantation and residents grow tobacco in their back gardens and allotments.

HASTINGS, England (CP)—The ocean had an unfamiliar sweetness for week-end bathers at this sussex resort. The British steamship Baron Douglas had grounded after a collision, and sugar from the cargo trickled into the sea.

GREAT BROMLEY, England (CP)—"The winning cakes were eaten by William," said the sign on an empty plate at a local festival. William is a black mongrel who did the judging for himself.

LONDON (CP)—Nursing is the way to a man's heart, said Sir Denys Lowson, former Lord Mayor of London, speaking at a prize-giving ceremony at Charing Cross Hospital. He said the percentage of nurses who marry is second only to that of airline hostesses.

TENDER

File No. 120-3-6-T5—No. 3/50

Surfacing of Roads and Driveways, TRENTON, Ontario

Sealed tenders plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 2.00 p.m., E.D.S.T., Tuesday, July 22, 1952, for the performance of the following work Surfacing of Roads and Driveways at Trenton, Ontario.

Plans, specifications and tender documents for this project may be obtained at the address shown below. A deposit of $100.00 in the form of a cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is required for each complete set of plans, specifications and documents. This deposit will be refunded if the documents are returned in good condition within seven (7) days after the award of contract.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the tender total. The security deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful tenderer refuses to enter into the contract on the basis of his tender when called upon to do so. The security deposits of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned. A marked cheque made payable to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation or negotiable Dominion of Canada Bonds will be accepted as security deposit.

Sets of plans and specifications have been made available for the purpose of information to sub-contractors and material suppliers at the Belleville and District Builders' Exchange, and at this office.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Rev. R. W. T. Middleton Inducted at Centenary

An impressive service was held in Centenary United Church on the Bayside pastoral charge, on Friday evening, July 4, when the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton was duly inducted in the presence of a large congregation, representing the three churches, viz, Centenary, White's and Wesley.

The Rev. J. Wesley Neelands presided and conducted the devotional exercises. The choir, with Miss Elinor Roblin at the piano, led in the service of song and rendered an appropriate anthem. Mr. Neelands then inducted the new minister, giving him the right hand of fellowship. The Rev. A. C. McCallum in giving the charge to the new pastor, congratulated him upon his acceptance of the appointment and wished him every success in his work.

The Rev. G. A. Puttenham, chairman of Belleville Presbytery, welcomed Mr. Middleton as a new member of presbytery and called upon the congregation to assist their minister in every way by their prayers and co-operation. The newly inducted minister then took his place in the pulpit and conducted the closing exercises.

Following the service, a pleasant social hour was enjoyed, when many of the congregation had an opportunity of meeting the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Middleton and family.

Mr. R. Edmondson, Mr. Edgar Ray and Mrs. Harold Gooding extended greetings and good wishes on behalf of the congregation, as did Rev. Roy McEcheran, Frankford, on behalf of South Hastings Ministerial Association.

A pleasant evening concluded by singing the National Anthem.

During the Middle Ages playing cards possessed names like "The Two of Cups," the "Cavillo of Coins," and "The Hanging Man."

Last of Prison Rioters Surrender Their Weapons

Prisoners who had joined in the rioting at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, Ont., are searched by police and guards before being taken to their cell blocks. Many fainted in the hot compound where a few hours before they had cursed and demonstrated at guards with stones, clubs and knives. The ringleaders of the revolt were taken from the main body of rioters. — Central Press Canadian.

Russians Demand $21,420 Ransom For Show's Trucks

Berlin (AP)—The Russian zone of Germany today demanded a 90,000-mark ransom ($21,420) for a convoy of trucks carrying the possessions of a U.S. roller skating show which played to full houses for two weeks in West Berlin.

The East Germans confiscated seven of the eight trucks and permitted only one to go through to West Germany.

They said the trucks were loaded with watches, china and other items purchased in the Soviet sector of Berlin. All this material has been seized and will not be returned, they said. The remainder of the cargo was assessed by the east for customs purposes at 90,000 west marks.

The 78 Americans in the show were not stopped.

Stomach Out of Order Long Time . . Felt Tired, Rundown

Nerves on Edge, Couldn't Sleep. "Often Afraid to Eat." Tells How Syntona Overcame Trouble. "Best Medicine I Ever Used."

"My stomach was in bad shape for over a year. I was often afraid to eat and my entire system became rundown," said Mr. William E. Martin, 279½ Hyman Street, London, Ontario, in a recent report telling how he finally got relief by taking Syntona Herbal Compound.

Describes His Condition

"Indigestion, dyspepsia, and a full heavy feeling in my stomach followed almost every meal. Many nights the pressure in my stomach and chest was so bad it caused a smothering feeling and heart fluttering so bad I would have to sit up in bed. I would have aches and pains in my limbs and back and because of loss of sleep and not eating as I should I felt tired all the time, my nerves were on edge and I was subject to dizzy spells.

Aunt Advised Syntona

"I just couldn't seem to get anything to help me until my aunt advised me to try Syntona, and I want to say that since I've been using this medicine my digestion has so improved that I eat all my meals without distress afterwards and my nerves are quieted down allowing me to get my proper sleep. I am also free of the aches and pains and those dizzy feelings so I have gained more energy and do not feel all tired out as I did before."

HOW IT ACTS

This Famous Herbal Compound will help anyone suffering from stomach disorders — acts within 10 minutes to stop gas, indigestion, heartburn and sour acidity. At the same time Syntona (when taken for a time) helps tone up entire system. Rheumatic pains and overtired, nervous symptoms disappear. Sleep becomes more sound and restful.

The experience of thousands of other sufferers in getting results such as this may be YOUR GUIDE in taking SYNTONA for better health.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

"Wilmot, go back to your tent or I shall call your father. Now, mind me, go at once to your tent and stay there!" She turned her light upon him and I saw the pitiful and subnormal face of a lad of perhaps 18 years. He was tall and well built but his eyes shone with the eager unformed expression of a little boy.

Obediently he turned and walked off into the darkness.

"Your son?" I asked.

"Yes," replied Mrs. James with a sigh. "Poor boy, he realizes his deficiency yet is very sweet-tempered. He is entirely childlike and harmless and says very little, ordinarily, but today, as it happened, the men were digging, to place some new water pipes, and found an Indian grave. Dick Bannister, the tallest college boy, said the old Indian was probably caught on a scalping party. Poor Wilmot has thought of that all day. I am sorry if he frightened you."

"Oh, not at all," I lied politely. "I am sorry you have such a worry. Surely in time your son may improve."

"I am afraid not," Mrs. James answered hopelessly. "Now, here is your tent." She entered and turned on the electric light.

Accommodations were simple but comfortable. The tent was floored, the bed was painted white, there was a rug. A bureau, chairs, and pegs for my clothes completed the simple furnishings.

Mrs. James very kindly tucked a hot rock into the foot of my bed and as I unpacked she lingered to talk. She told of the guests, the many delightful lakes one could find nearby, of the horses available for riding, of the trout and the bass fishing.

Laughingly I promised Mrs. James some fish and then, because I was not trembling any more, I told her of the old man at Horseshoe Springs, how he peeked from the door, of his whispered story of a murdered woman, of his warning to drive fast and stop for nothing, of the rifle shot and bullet hitting my rear fender. I told her of the fallen tree and of my impression of a woman standing nearby.

She stared at me. "I was afraid of it!" she whispered. With that she raised the tent flap and vanished into the night.

When I awoke there were shadows of leaves on the tent. The sun was up, a phoebe bird said plaintively, "Poor Phoe-be."

I dressed and unleashed Susie. She stretched and trotted at once to something on the floor by the canvas edge of the tent. She would have eaten it had I not caught her quickly.

It was a slice of rather fresh raw meat folded over, envelope fashion. A white powder filled the centre. My first thought was of strychnine.

Yet, how absurd. Who would poison Susie or be so silly as to place poison in plain sight?

All of my anxiety of last night returned to me. Finding of the meat in my tent made me realize that, though the shot may have been intended for the old man and the pine tree may have accidentally fallen across the road, surely the meat was intended for Susie.

My anger was aroused and I was furious to think that anyone could be so contemptible as to poison my dog.

Dressed at last, I hastily packed my belongings for departure and leading Sue, I stepped from my tent into the glory of the mountain day.

Rebellious and angry at the thought of leaving, I refused to let the surrounding beauty get at me as I tramped to the lodge. On the trail I met Dupres. He touched his hat, civilly enough, yet I imagined that he stared at me oddly.

Dr. James Roberts was in the main room of the lodge. His smile of recognition was direct and friendly.

Susie was sniffing in my top coat pocket.

On impulse, I walked directly to Dr. Roberts and held out the meat to him. "Do you know strychnine when you see it, Doctor?" I asked.

The room became as silent as stone. The other guests stood about awaiting the breakfast bell and utter silence followed my remark.

The doctor looked at me and said slowly. "What do you mean?

"This white-powdered meat was placed in my tent for Susie last night." Not realizing the theatrical ring to my next remark, I turned to Mr. and Mrs. James, who stood together near the office enclosure and I said, "I love my dog! Is she welcome here at Gold Lake? If not, she and I will leave this morning for Tahoe."

I have said that Mr. James was a ruddy-faced man. His face grew a dreadful purple-red. Whether he was angry or frightened, I could not tell.

"That can't be poison, Miss Curtis. There must be some explanation. I can't believe that it is poison but if you are right, maybe it was coyote bait."

"This is freshly-sliced meat," I said shortly. "It wasn't there when I went to bed last night. Besides, you know that coyotes aren't in high mountains at this time of year."

He made no answer. Mrs. James stared at me and then at her husband.

After a breakfast eaten in strained silence, I stood on the lodge porch and heard a sudden rolling boom of thunder and saw the whip-crack of lightning over old Baldy across the slate gray lake. Fine snow began to fall and soon turned into a heavy downpour of rain.

Mrs. Ordell, the pleasant little woman whom I had met by the fire the previous evening, approached me with a tall, slender man I supposed to be her husband. He was the intellectual type, horn-rimmed glasses, blue eyes, straight nose, impersonal smile.

Mrs. Ordell presented the professor and he patted Sue and said he was sorry that I felt I must leave but, under the circumstances, he could not blame me. After a few remarks about the storm he excused himself.

Mrs. Ordell stroked Susie. "She is so beautiful. I've wanted to own such a dog," she said. Her blue eyes were sincere and friendly. "Are you really certain the meat contained poison?"

"No, but most suspicious."

She looked at me searchingly and in a very low voice she said, "I know who you are, Elsie. You are right to leave unless you have great enough courage to stay."

"I don't understand you," I said aghast. "My name is not Elsie. I am Rosemary Curtis."

"Yes, I understand. When I introduced my husband I said your name was Miss Curtis. But I know that it is Elsie—and he knows, too, but is saying nothing about it," she continued. "Be very careful not to go out alone. With that astonishing remark she moved away to a chair and a book by the fireplace.

Now the storm began in earnest. The crash of thunder and the quick lightning flashes seemed to be within the Lodge itself. The lights in the reading lamps went out.

I had an intuitive warning of danger. Turning from the door, I glanced around the room. No one was talking. Everyone, with the exception of Mrs. Ordell, who appeared to be absorbed in her book—everyone was watching me. Mr. Alberts stared at me in such insolent fashion that my face burned hot.

I wanted to go home, to go to Tahoe—any place, but go I must.

Why had Mrs. Ordell warned me not to go about alone? Why had she called me Elsie? Like a flash it came to me. That motorcycle officer at Carquinez Bridge asked me if I had ever heard of a girl named Elsie Martinson.

Suddenly from the kitchen came a high-pitched scream, the coarse yelling of the cook. She came dashing across the court from the kitchen and into the lodge door.

"A devil jist peeked in my kitchen winda. He was white as a dough man and was sho nuf ghostie."

Someone laughed and Rhumba turned like an animal at bay. "Shut your mouth from laughin'!"

James went off to make a search of the kitchen and ground nearby. Nothing was to be seen. Questioning Rhumba was futile.

Mrs. James ordered her back to the kitchen and sent Jeff with her as bodyguard. Muttering to herself and cowering behind Jeff she went back to her domain.

Professor and Mrs. Ordell were leaving the lodge by the door at the far end and were going out together into the pouring rain.

I seated myself before the comforting fire and searched my mind for the tactful opening that would assure this small world that I was really Rosemary Curtis and not the mysterious and unwelcome Elsie.

I opened my lips to speak but I was interrupted almost rudely by Dr. Roberts.

With a sharp and compelling glance he said, "have you read this magazine? There is a splendid article on dog-training that may interest you."

"Thank you," I answered rather stiffly, but I accepted the magazine. I moved nearer to the window where the light was better and turned to the article marked by a slip of paper. In faint yet legible pencil was written below the title, "Get out of here the minute you can. If you are afraid to drive your car I'll drive it for you. Burn this as soon as you have read it."

I sat staring at the blurring page. When I looked up, it was to meet the steady look in his brown eyes.

I was about to speak when Professor Ordell stamped in at the far end STAOIN MFWLU I the far door and removed his wet topcoat. I was glad that he was again in the circle and decided to wait until Mrs. Ordell, too, returned before attempting to establish my identity with these people.

At that moment the door blew open with such violence that a pane of its glass crashed to bits.

Then, like the wall of a tortured ghost, we heard a long, shrill cry, of terror.

Susie jerked her leash from my grasp and sped out into the rain.

We all caught up coats and started running in the direction of that awful sound.

I saw Sue's tracks. Perhaps she had caught the scent. I went faster to try to follow them before they melted into the water-soaked earth. I slipped in the mud and would have fallen had not Dr. Roberts caught my arm. "Steady," was all he said.

We all hurried as fast as we could towards the Ordell's tent.

Jeff and Susie found her first. She lay across her bed under the soggy wet canvas of her tent. She had been stabbed in the back but the knife was not there. A telltale blur of deep red stained the back of her sweater.

From Flood to Drought in 100 Days

This spring brought floods that gave residents of Missouri more water than they had any use for. Now Southwestern Missouri is in the throes of a super-heated drought. Farmers are hard put to keep the cattle fed and many of them have to haul water for long distances. This cow on the form of O. D. Putnam is staring disconsolately at the baked mud at the bottom of what once was a water hole on the farm. Farmers say the drought is the worst in their memory. — Central Press Canadian.

Wreck Kills Russian General, 160 Troops

Train Derailed At High Speed Beyond Oder River

Carrying Occupation Forces In Germany on Leave

BERLIN (Reuters)—The West German news agency D.P.A. reported today that a Russian general and more than 160 soldiers were killed in a rail crash just beyond the Oder River in Polish-occupied territory last Wednesday.

The agency quoted eyewitnesses for the report.

The agency said the train, carrying Soviet occupation forces in Germany on leave to the Soviet Union, was derailed at high speed and crashed down a steep embankment into a lake.

The scene of the crash was said to have been between Reppen and Bottschow, just east of the Oder-Neisse line near Frankfurt on Oder.

D.P.A. said unanimous reports of the disaster came from independent eyewitnesses interviewed in Berlin.

They said local authorities imposed a strict news blackout on the crash. The locomotive engineer and other train crew members as well as Polish rail men responsible for that part of the track, had been arrested on suspicion of sabotage.

Liner Picking Up Speed After Making Channel

ABOARD THE S. S. UNITED STATES AT SEA (AP)—The superliner United States loafed through the English Channel today, then started picking up speed for a possible attempt to smash the westward Atlantic crossing record to New York.

The sleek ocean greyhound, which won the blue ribbon with an eastbound crossing of three days 10 hours and 40 minutes, knifed through calm waters in perfect weather with 1,650 passengers aboard.

Britain's Queen Mary holds the Europe-to-New York record of three days 21 hours and 48 minutes, set in 1938.

Love-Sick Flyer Kills Nurse, Two Guards, Self

HOUSTON, Tex. —(AP) —A love-sick flyer killed a pretty student nurse and two hospital guards who came to her aid last night, then sent a bullet into his own brain.

The outburst of gunfire at the Memorial hospital nurses' home took the lives of Carroll Cooper, 24; Robert Peterson, 64, a guard; J. C. Fair, 69, also a guard, and Capt. Renard Haywood, 34.

The shooting started when Haywood appeared on the second floor of the nurses' home. Men visitors are not allowed there. He made his way in by threatening a hostess downstairs with a pistol, witnesses said.

Nurses told reporters that Miss Cooper refused several months ago to see Haywood any more.

Russ Deny Charge Of Kidnapping Vienna Secretary

VIENNA (AP) — The Russians today angrily denied charges that they had kidnapped the beautiful secretary of a wartime Austrian resistance leader.

The Soviet information service announced that an investigation disclosed that "no Soviet organs" were involved in the July 7 abduction of Mrs. Maria Schindler. Reports that she had been taken by Russian agents were termed "slanderous provocations."

Mrs. Schindler, secretary and housekeeper to former resistance leader Gustav Grimm, was pulled into an automobile in a park in the international sector of the city. Eyewitnesses said she was pushed into a nearby Soviet officers' club as a startled crowd watched.

Grimm was arrested recently by the Russians.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Skies are cloudy over Northern Ontario this Friday morning, and there have been isolated night time thunderstorms at the Soo and over Manitoulin Island. Some cloudiness with a few isolated showers or thunderstorms will spread into Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions tonight and into the lower lakes regions by Saturday evening.

Fire Destroys 100 Carloads Of Crude Rubber

CLARKESBURG, W. Va. (AP) —A multi-million-dollar warehouse fire that destroyed 100 carloads of crude rubber was burning itself out today.

Damages were estimated by the assistant state fire marshal, Harry Morrison Jr., at $10,000,000. He said they might go much higher, and that some of the vital stockpile belonged to the government.

Two injuries were reported. One firefighter was overcome by smoke and another suffered a smashed nose.

The blaze broke out yesterday afternono at the huge plant of the General Storage Co. Morrison said it apparently was caused by sparks from welders working in the building.

Orangemen Across Canada Prepare To Celebrate Anniversary of Boyne

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eighty thousand Canadian Orangemen are completing arrangements to celebrate tomorrow the 262nd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne which established William III and Protestantism on the throne of England.

A Canadian Press survey shows that, from Manitoba to New Brunswick, in many cities and towns, men and women will parade through the streets to the music of their fife and drum bands, led by a costumed parade marshal on a white stallion. Most of the marchers will be dressed in blue and white uiforms crossed with orange and blue ribbons and many will carry colorful standards depicting the victory of the "Glorious 12th" and other incidents in Orange history.

After the parades, most centres have planned an afternoon of speech making, field sports, picnic lunches and general visiting. The weatherman has promised good weather. Many Protestant clergymen have volunteered their services as speakers.

Large Celebrations

At Toronto and Kingston, two of the largest celebrations are planned. Special trains and buses will run from Ottawa, where no special event is arranged except the parade to the train, and officials in Kingston expect some 25,000, persons from the capital and other parts of eastern Ontario to attend. Toronto Orangemen have planned a parade of 6,000 marchers. Another large gathering is scheduled for Perth, 60 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Other Ontario centres where programs have been arranged include Wingham, Collingwood, Durham, Fort William, Huntsville, Beachburg, Kinch, Huntley, Iroquois Falls, McKellar, Niagara Falls, Shelburne, Stratford Cobourg, Kingston, Perth and Springbrook.

Manitoba celebrants have scheduled a cenotaph service in Winnipeg for Saturday and a church parade for Sunday, but the greatest activity is expected to take place at a sports program at Winnipeg beach on Lake Winnipeg. In New Brunswick, lodge members will gather at the national park on the bay of Fundy. Elsewhere in the province, the day will be observed in Lorneville and St. Martin's.

In Quebec festivities will be on a smaller scale. A children's field day and picnic will be held north of Montreal at an orphanage in Rosemere. In the Eastern Townships about 2,500 Orangemen are expected to gather for a parade and six-band concert at Kinnear's Mills.

CHATHAM, England (Reuters) —The 8,000-ton cruiser Quebec, Canada's largest and most modern training ship, docks here this afternoon for a 10-day visit.

Most of her company of 700 are between 18 and 20 years old and making their first trip abroad. She will later visit other European ports.

Most Devastating Strike Made By 650 Allied Planes

Red Headquarters, Plants And Troop Centres Hit

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—At least 650 planes from five Allied countries today wrecked the North Korean capital and smashed two other North Korean industrial centres in one of the most devastating raids of the Korean War.

The United States Air Force said in mid-afternoon that the continuing raid "was well on the way to being the biggest air strike of the war."

United Nations pilots reported they destroyed or damaged the Communists' army communications headquarters, three munitions factories and numerous other factories and supply and troop centres in Pyongyang, the capital.

Capital In Flames

The Red capital was left in flames and rubble, said AP correspondet Stan Carter after a flight over the target area.

British, U.S., Australian, South African and South Korean planes from land and carrier bases also smashed Hwangju and Sariwon in western Korea, 25 and 35 miles south of Pyongyang. They are important centres on the rail line between Pyongyang and the battle front.

For weeks, Allied pilots had been dropping leaflets warning civilians of the impending raids, a United States Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

Bombs were dropped within a mile of a Red camp for U.N. war prisoners near Pyongyang, but pilots were instructed to be especially careful near this camp and four others.

The strike at least equalled the size of last month's bombings of North Korean hydro-electric plants.

Four hundred U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter bombers swarmed from land bases and from the U.S. aircraft carriers Princeton and Bon Homme Richard in a morning strike on Pyongyang. They were joined by planes from the British carrier H.M.S. Ocean.

Jets Protect Raiders

More than 100 U.S. and Australian jet fighters patrolled the area from Pyongyang north to the Manchurian border to protect the raiders from Red fighters. A few Russian-built MIGS from Manchurian bases exchanged fire with the Sabres. One MIG was reported damaged. Allied losses, if any, are reported once a week.

The strikes were doubtless a continuation of the Allied effort to use airpower to prod reluctant Communist armistice negotiators at Panmunjom into a more pliable attitude.

On the ground, U.N. infantrymen and tanks stormed over four western Korean hills Thursday, then withdrew to their own lines.

The Allied raiders occupied three of the hills northwest of Chorwon without a fight. They killed 79 Communists and wounded 29 in a bitter, one-hour battle for the fourth, the U.S. Eighth Army reported.

SEVENTH MINER DIES AFTER BLAST IN N.S. MINE

Govt. and Company Officials Open Probe

GLACE BAY N.S. (CP)—A seventh miner died last night as government and company officials began an investigation into the second worst disaster to hit this coal-mining town in 49 years.

Even as Herbert Desmond, 49, lay dying in hospital here, two other Nova Scotia miners were killed in common accidents that making mining man's most hazardous occupation.

Desmond was the only man who could have told exactly what happened Wednesday when his six companions were killed in an explosion in no. 20 colliery here.

Greatest Threat

Deadly "fire damp," the miner's greatest fear, is believed to have blasted the chamber some three miles under the Atlantic.

Company and union officials declined to say what caused the explosion but rescue workers indicated that a defective lamp carried by one of the victims ignited an accumulation of the gas.

Number 20 was closed 14 years ago for a 13-month safety program.

Donald MacLellan brought Desmond to safety shortly after the blast. He was working nearby and groped his way into the explosion area with a moistened cloth over his face.

Forced Back By Gas

Several times the gas forced him back before he located the moaning man in the flickering light of burning pit props. Desmond was removed to hospital where he died of third-degree burns and shock.

The other victims were Charles (Massey) Harris, 47 William (Billy) Blake, 60; John Gould, 30; Pat Gabr'el, 27; Buddy Bonar, 23, and Herb's brother, Bill, 45.

The mine, employing some 1,200 men, was idle yesterday and will probably remain so until Monday. A formal inquiry into the accident will officially begin in a few days.

Here is a reconstruction of events leading up to the explosion, as seen by rescue workers: Blake, suspecting gas in the area, sent for Harris to investigate. Harris carried a "Glanny" or safety lamp whose light goes out when gas is present. It was found near the scene of the explosion, "blasted to smithereens."

Mourning pervades the town of 28,000 and surrounding areas.

There will be a funeral instead of a wedding at the Blake home tomorrow. His daughter Elsie arrived from Toronto shortly before the tragedy. He was to have given her in marriage.

AMEND RENTAL RULES

TORONTO (CP)—An Ontario landlord now may take possession of a rented house for himself or immediate relatives after six months' notice, regardless of the length of time he has owned the property. Previously the landlord had to own the dwelling prior to April 1, 1952. The change was made yesterday by the Cabinet.

Minnesota Throws 19 Stassen Votes To Put Him Over

Other States Voting Taft Soon Jump on Bandwagon

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today won the Republican presidential nomination.

In a dramatic climax to a ding-dong fight with Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower crashed through to the Republican accolade on the first ballot

On the roll call, Eisehower first received 595 votes to 502 for Taft. But before the vote could be announced, Minnesota threw to the general 19 votes it had first given to former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

That put Eisenhower across with 614 votes. It took 604 to nominate.

Landslide At End

Texas and other states which had split their votes then began jumping. It was a landslide in the end. And this feuding, wrangling, band this feuding, wrangling, 25th Republican national convention pulled itself together into a vociferous show of unity behind the general with a roaring demonstration around and around the big convention hall hard by the stockyards.

Representative B. Carroll Reece, southern campaign manager for Taft, said:

"Of course I'm going to support the nominee but I feel Eisenhower's manager should apologize to senator Taft for their conspiracy to stigmatize him."

The convention floor was in an uproar at that point as state after state rushed to toss its votes on the Eisenhower bandwagon.

Eisenhower himself was not in the hall. As custom dictates, he had waited at his hotel while the convention's rank and file decided who should lead their effort this year to break 20 years of Democratic national rule.

The balloting capped a week of manoeuvre in which Eisenhower's strategists won the opening skirmishes and exploited them to take the grand prize.

The turning point had its beginnings in the pre-convention preliminaries of last week

Ugly Arguments

The long, ugly arguments over delegate contests—in which the words "steal," "thief," and even stronger were commonplace—had their effect on many delegates, if not on the Republican national committee.

This was made evident at the opening day of the convention—last Monday.

Taft came to Chicago confident and riding high. Through months of long, hard campaigning—mile after mile up and down and across the country—he was far out in front of Eisenhower in pledged delegates.

But on the opening day, the Eisenhower forces—with support from backers of candidates Governor Earl Warren of California and Stassen—whipped the Taft men 658 to 548 in a test vote on a rule regarding voting by contested Taft delegates from the south.

MISSING POLICE CHIEF OF ARTHUR AMNESIA VICTIM

Now Being Treated In Windsor Hospital

WINDSOR (CP)—Police Chief Allan Armitage of Arthur, Ont., missing since last week, was found today in a Windsor hospital, police said.

He was being treated for amnesia brought on by war wounds to the spine, they said.

The missing man was traced through the licence number of his automobile. He left it for repairs at a Windsor service station and an attendant called police when he did not return. A check disclosed he was admitted to Metropolitan hospital.

He was appointed police chief at Arthur, about 25 miles northwest of Guelph, last March. Several weeks ago he was attacked by two thugs and later taken to hospital in Guelph for treatment. The thugs have not yet been found.

Mrs. Armitage said today she last heard from her husband Tuesday when he phoned from Windsor and said he was leaving immediately for home.

Yesterday she called Windsor police to report he had not returned.

The father of a small daughter, Chief Armitage succeeded William Tyndall who died from a heart attack suffered after he broke up a street fight in Arthur.

Ridgway Against All-Out Emphasis On U.S. Air Power

LONDON (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said yesterday he is against proposals for all-out emphasis on United States air power.

The Supreme Commander of Allied Powers in Europe told a press conference that priority for any one of the armed services—air, sea and land — at the expense of the others is "basically and essentially unsound."

Ridgway did not mention names. But he left no doubt he disagreed with Herbert Hoover, former U. S. President, and others who have called for priority in building a huge U. S. air force and the withdrawal of American land forces from abroad as soon as practical.

C.I.O. Director Proposes Diversion Of Ore from U.S. Plants to Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Diversion of Canadian ore shipments from strike-bound United States plants to steel mills in Canada was proposed today by C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

He said in a letter to K. S. Harris, director of steel division in the Defence Department, the union is concerned about Mr. Harris' recent announcement that iron ore stockpiles in Canada are being depleted and that steel production next winter may be affected.

Toward the end of the Great Lakes shipping season, also, competition between iron ore and wheat for shipping space would become severe.

"We are producing thousands of tons of iron ore at Steep Rock," Mr. Millard said. "As you know, an American selling company takes all this production; the ore is shipped to American ports to stockpiled for the use of American steel companies. 'The Steep Rock operation is not affected by the strike in the U.S. Our members at this mine and at other Canadian iron ore mines are still working.

"We ask you, therefore, to order the diversion of iron ore mined in Canada from American plants (now idle) to Canadian plants. The Canadian public spent many millions of dollars to make the Steep Rock operation possible. Its production should now be used to maintain employment in Canada."

FIREMEN EXTINGUISH FARM GRASS FIRE

City firemen were called Thursday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire on the farm of J. Fred Wilson, six miles west of Belleville, which burned over part of a field and destroyed close to a load of hay in the field. Part of the hay was in coils and the remainder still in the swath.

Mr. Wilson, who has rented his farm for the summer, said there was no danger to any buildings as the fire was in a field some distance from the barn.

Given Suspened Sentences on Two Charges of Theft

Pleading guilty to different charges of theft before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county magistrate's court on Thursday, two members of the RCAF at Trenton were given one year's suspended sentence and ordered to pay court costs and make restitution.

Kenneth A. McMahon was assessed $122.50 costs and restitution, $90 of which will be turned over to the owner of an old model car which was taken by McMahon and wrecked.

The other air force member charged with theft was Ernest E. Ison who was assessed $28 costs and given a year's suspended sentence. Ison was also charged with taking an old model car.

Yankee Anglers Get Good Bag

The fishing is good in these parts, despite some reports to the contrary.

Take the 10 American fishermen who came over here for a few days angling outing.

When their haul was checked by a conservation officer, it was discovered they had five large sacks of fish all within the legal limit.

The full quota of 60 pickerel was included, but most of the catch was panfish—perch, sunfish and rock bass.

(Montreal)

MONTREAL (CP) — C. S. C. Hulme, 83, retired banker, died early today in hospital.

He was a native of Belleville, where he entered the service of the Bank of Montreal in 1887. In 1912 he was transferred to the head office here and the following year was attached to the Ontario credit department. In 1924, he was transferred to the inspection department, where he remained until he retired in 1932, marking a banking career of 45 years.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, Gordon and Claude, both of Montreal, and two daughters, Mrs. Clement K. Clarke of Jamaica, B.W.I., and Miss Isobel Hulme of Montreal.

Worst Rainstorm In Forty Years Kills 49 Persons

TOKYO (AP) — The worst rainstorms in 40 years killed 49 persons and injured 67 last night and today in the densely-populated Osaka area, provincial police reported today.

Twenty-two others were missing.

The region is the industrial heart of Japan. It takes in Osaka, Kyoto, Nara and Kobe. The more southerly cities of Kure and Hiroshima were also hit.

Property losses were placed at 305 houses destroyed and 75,105 flooded. Most deaths and injuries were caused by landslides and drownings.

Osaka, the country's second-largest city, reported 13 of the deaths, 40 injuries and eight missing. Hiroshima had 12 killed amid the wreckage of flimsy new housing. At least 109 landslides were reported.

Britain May Demand Recall Of Red Diplomat

LONDON (AP) — Britain may demand the recall of a Soviet diplomat who got official government secrets from a young Foreign Office radio operator.

A Foreign Office spokesman told a press conference that the case of Paval Kuznetsov, second secretary in the Soviet Embassy, is "being considered"

William Marshall, 24, a radio technician in the Foreign Office, was sentenced yesterday to five years for turning over secret information to Kuznetsov.

Kuznetsov was arrested with Marshall in a suburban park June 13, but went free after claiming diplomatic immunity. Moscow has lodged a formal protest over Kuznetsov's arrest, which Britain hasn't answered yet.

200 Descendants of Capt. Grass Enjoy Reunion at Oshawa

The shades of Captain Michael Grass, founder of the city of Kingston and colorful United Empire Loyalist of the 18th Century walked again several weeks ago as more than 200 descendants gathered in Geneva Park outside of Oshawa to hold a picnic in his honor. Purpose was to obtain donations to go toward the erection of a monument at Cataraqui cemetery, Kingston, where the Captain is buried.

Captain Grass was born in Germany sometime in the 17 hundreds. He emigrated to Britain and obtained the favor of George III. Prior to the American revolution, he served for the British and was captured by the French and for some time held prisoner at Cataraqui. Escaping from the enemy, he fled to what was then the British Province of New York. During the American revolution, Captain Grass served with the British forces. In 1783 when the United Empire Loyalists made their remarkable move north, he was among them.

Captain Grass, finally appointed head of the loyalists, and under a convoy of a British man-of-war, made their way from New York to Sorel. Eventually arriving in the Collins Bay area, where, as story goes, he hurled his sword into the soil and finding it rocky, said: "I have come too far to settle on a rock." Discovering land that suited him, he called it King Stone, in honor of the King and the rock in the area, hence Kingston.

Outstanding Success

The picnic on June 28th was an outstanding success, so much so, the more than 200 descendants have decided to make it an annual affair. The invitations to the picnic requested members of the family to come attired in the dress of the century Captain Grass lived in. Captain Grass's sword, given him by George III, is in the possession of Arthur Everett Grass, great grandson of the famous man. The handle of the weapon is solid silver and treasured highly by the descendants.

The only other great grandchild surviving today is Mrs. Shelley Anderson of this city. Extremely proud of her heritage, the 76-year-old woman was the daughter of the late Charles Grass, 1840-1934 Henry Grass, Mrs. Anderson's grandfather and son of Captain Grass, lived at the old family homestead at 181 Charles Street.

Five generations were represented at the reunion. Captain Grass's great, great, great grandson played the bagpipes for the descendants.

Michael Grass died in 1813, having lived to see a flourishing city arise on the ruins of what was once his place of captivity. Awareness of the work he had accomplished is evidenced by the following extract written by him two years before his death.

"Seven and twenty years have rolled away since my eyes for the second time beheld the shores of Cataraqui. In that space of time how many changes have taken place. How many of the seats of my associates are now vacant. Yes, seven and twenty years ago scarce vestige of human habitation could be found in the whole extent of the Bay of Quinte. Not a settler had dared penetrate the vastness of its forests. Even on the spot now covered by stately edifices were to be seen, only the bark thatched wigwam of the savage or the newly-erected tent of the hardy Loyalists. That when the ear heard me it blessed me for being strong in my attachment to my sovereign and high in the confidence of my fellow subjects. I led the loyal band. I pointed to them the site of their future metropolis and gained for persecuted principals, a sanctuary, for myself and followers. . . a home."

If Captain Grass could only see the Bay of Quinte of 1952, if he could only see the homes, the progress and the people. Yes, Captain Grass, there are stately edifices now, and they are made of stone, brick and mortar and they tower higher than some of the great trees of the virgin forests you penetrated. If you could have walked among your descendants a few weeks ago, you would have marvelled at growth. The Grass family has grown with the country and they have not forgotten their distinguished ancestor, as history never shall.

Cost of Living In Five Major Cities Going Up

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost of living in five of the nine major cities in Canada increased during May, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

The index at St. John's, Nfld., declined two-fifths of a point to 102.7, Saskatoon dropped one-tenth of a point to 180.9 and Edmonton decreased three-tenths to 177.5. Vancouver was unchanged at 190.6.

Indexes for cities showing increased with April figures in brackets: Halifax 179.2 (177.4) Saint John, N.B., 185.6 (184.2); Montreal 19.25 (191.0); Toronto 184.4 (18.29), Winnipeg 18.06 (180.5).

The index for St. John's is based on June, 1951, equalling 100, and the others on August, 1939.

The index for all-Canada during May, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, rose three-fifths of a point to 187.3 to 186.7.

The Bureau said the indexes for the cities show changes in retail prices and services but do not indicate whether it costs more to live in one city than another.

SALMON A-PLENTY

SAINT JOHN, N. B. — (CP) — Peter Campbell, a Scot who wrote the first travel descriptive of this area following a visit in 1791, show that New Brunswick was considered a fisherman's paradise then. "So numerous are salmon that 3,000 were caught in a day," he wrote.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Old dobbie just doesn't seem to care about dunking his nose in the water trough any more. City Engineer W. D. Hurst reports seven of the old sidewalk refreshment booths are unused.

Governor Dewey Appears Power Behind Scenes

CHICAGO (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York emerges today as the real behind-the-scenes strong man of the stormy 25th Republican National Convention.

He was the pivot man in the power plays that stopped the smooth machine of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio on the first day of the convention.

He was the man who held the 96-man New York delegation almost solid for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower uder terrific pressures.

Aided Ike's Fight

It was his former lieutenants who gave a fine professional polish and precision to the Eisenhower convention fight which had been stumbling along with amateurish awkwardness.

It looked after two defeats as the Republican Presidential nominee in 194 and 1948 that Dewey might be through as a power in U.S. politics.

Many persons in his own party blamed him for the Republican defeat in 1948.

This old bitterness flared in the convention hall Wednesday night when Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois pointed a finger at Dewey and said with scorn: "We followed you twice down the road to defeat."

Dewey flicked ashes from the cigaret he held in a black holder. He smiled his imperturbable smile.

Then he delivered 92 of New York's 96 votes to Eisenhower in the Georgia delegate contest. That was his answer to Dirksen.

Prestige Regained

It appeared clear from that moment of victory for the Eisenhower backers that there was a shifting of power within the Republican party. New hands were being laid on the party machinery. The old guard was fighting a hard battle—but their hold was weakening.

At the same moment, Dewey's prestige and influence within the party climbed again.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Price movements split today in early afternoon stock market dealings. Industrials drifted steadily lower while golds led base metals and oils upward.

Foods and constructions led industrials' retreat while papers, utilities, steels and liquors also slipped. Banks, textiles and manufacturing companies showed strength and refining oils and retail stores turned upward.

Spotty activity produced features in golds, metals and oils. East Malartic, a gold prospect, was a standout as it jumped about 25 cents in a turnover of 75,000 shares. Industrial trading remained in selected leading issues. Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,208,000 shares.

Western oils posted a slim majority of moderate gains. Calvan Consolidated, Canada Southern, Del Rio, Dome Explorations and Pacific Petroleum traded higher.

Base Metals were firm as Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Coldstream Copper, United Keno Hill and Estella traded higher. Barvue and Eastern Metals eased.

Indian Envoy Seeks Solution To Truce Deadlock

LONDON (Reuters)—India's ambassador today discussed with the British government the chances of a solution to the prisoner-exchange deadlock in Korea, well-informed quarters said.

Informal contacts with the Peiping government through India are reliably understood to have been in progress for some weeks, though Britain has denied receiving any formal Indian offer of mediation.

Ambassador V.K. Krishna Menon today gave Selwyn Lloyd, British deputy foreign secretary, his impression of the latest Chinese standpoint in the truce talks, sources said.

Menon, who returned from a flying visit to New Delhi last Wednesday, is believed to have received a report on the latest Chinese views from the retiring Sardar Pannikar.

Pannikar is believed here to have sounded out the Chinese on new proposals for overcoming the prisoner-exchange hurdle, sole bar to a Korean armistice.

Morgan Charges Administrator Is Incompetent

WINDSOR (CP)—Dr. P. J. G. Morgan, medical superintendent of East Windsor hospital for incurables, charged yesterday that the hospital's business administrator is an incompetent man who assumed too much authority.

He told a provincial government commission investigating the 350-bed institution that James Lockie used more authority than necessary and had no experience in purchasing.

Mr. Lockie's powers had been set forth in minutes of a hospital board meeting last Jan. 8 but the motion appointing him made no mention of his authority. Dr. Morgan said the business administrator had acted as though he possessed the powers noted in the minutes—handling hospital funds and bank accounts, supervising purchases and bonding employees.

Tried To Co-operate

Dr. Morgan said he had tried unsuccessfully "for two or three weeks" to co-operate with Mr. Lockie, who allegedly would not sign orders sent him for his signature.

"If the chef asked for some food, he was told (by Mr. Lockie) he didn't need it," Dr. Morgan asserted.

The superintendent commented on testimony given earlier by a commission witness.

Gordon Friesen, a hospital consultant, had said that the institution's harcotics reports had been mutilated. Dr. Morgan said only one such report had been so treated. A supervisor had made an error and Mrs. Madeline Campbell, nursing supervisor, had pasted a sheet of paper over the error to keep the record straight.

Two graduate nurses whose mother is a patient in the hospital said they rated the institution highly.

Mrs. Evangeline Denis of Detroit said that the care, cleanliness and meals at the hospital are "wonderful."

Her sister, Mrs. Irene O'Brien of Cleveland, O., said the hospital is "clean, dusted and the patients are well kept." Hospital food "was well-served and looked appetizing."

The inquiry, now in its seventh week, is continuing.

Shipping Clerk Skipping Wife Slips Up

LIVERPOOL (CP) — Alan Kingsley Swain, 35-year-old shipping clerk, yesterday was fined 50 pounds or three months in jail for trying to emigrate to Canada with a woman he falsely represented as his wife.

The prosecution said Swain submitted photographs of Monica Ross when he applied for a joint passport to go to Canada. His real wife was left behind with a four-year-old daughter and expecting another child.

Swain and Miss Ross were stopped as they boarded the liner Empress of Canada here last week.

Big Bobby Locke Wins British Open For Third Time

ST. ANNE'S ON SEA, England (AP)—Big Bobby Locke of South Africa burst from behind in the final round today to win his third British Open Golf championship.

Locke, who had been see-sawing within range of the lead throughout the last two days of play, turned in a trim 73 in the payoff round of 18 holes. This gave him an aggregate score of 287 for the crucial 72 holes, two strokes better than Irishman Fred Daly's total.

Then, when everyone had conceded second money to Daly, Peter Thomson, 22, an Australian pro, roared in with an even 70 for an aggregate of 288 to beat Daly out of the runner-up honors.

Bobby, who won the open crown in 1949 and 1950, overcame Daly after the first nine in the afternoon round as the field of 46 played in rain and wind.

Daly, winner of the 1947 title, got a poor 77 before lunch, while the favored Locke was closing in with a 74 to trim the pace-setters lead to one stroke.

As the four remaining Americans were far behind, Daly led with a 213 after 18 holes this morning. But he notched a 76 on the afternoon tour, and finished with a 289.

Pickerel Biting At Crow Lake, Big Ones Caught

Trenton — (Special) — The fishing at Crow Lake is exceptionally good right now. Sportsmen are having themselves a time pulling out the big pickerel — and by big it is meant that most of them average five lbs. and better.

The biggest caught to date by any tourist staying at Jim McGrath's Tipperary House was pulled from the water last night by Henry Stem of Cleveland, Ohio. The yellow bellied fighter tipped the scales at seven pounds 10 ounces and was as fat as the proverbial woodchuck. Stem was trolling with a red and white pikie minnow.

The Cleveland angler had further proof that Crow Lake is the spot where the fish are biting these days. In the freezer in the hotel packed away in ice were five other good sized pickerel. Which means that Mr. Stem now has the limit he can carry back with him into the U.S.

And an envious feeling came over those watching the other fishermen lug long strings of fish away from their boats on the beach in the dimming light of a glowing summer sunset.

Firemen Called Twice

Trenton firemen batted 1000 yesterday. They were called twice and prevented damage both times.

In the morning they successfully extinguished a chimney fire at Layton Long's house on Quinte street. In the afternoon they quickly controlled a grass fire on Pelham street.

Cart Broken

Four-year-old Glen Geeza has not a cart to play with any more. Last night some of his playmates left it behind Alex Chivas' parked car at the side of Jones' Grocery on Dufferin avenue. The result was that when the driver backed up the wagon was crushed and put out of commission. Young Geeza is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Geeza, Dufferin avenue.

Native of Picton Given High Post With Railway

TORONTO, July 11 — The appointment of H. F. Walker as assistant general superintendent transportation, central region, Canadian National Railways, with headquarters at Toronto, was today announced by E. H. Locke, general superintendent transportation. Formerly personnel assistant for the National System at Montreal, Mr. Walker in his new position will have direction over all matters pertaining to L. C. L. operation, station services and weighing, loss and damage prevention (L.C.L. and carload) and car loadings.

Born at Picton, Ont., Harry Frederick Walker entered railway work here, in 1912, as clerk in the transportation department of the Grand Trunk Railway. He enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1915 and, on discharge in 1919, returned to the transportation department at Toronto. In 1926, he became chief clerk and, four years later, was transferred to Ottawa as freight agent for the C.N.R., moving to Montreal in a similar capacity in 1938. Mr. Walker was named manager of National Terminals of Canada, Ltd., in 1948, shortly afterwards adding the managership of the Montreal Fruit and Produce Terminal Company and the Montreal Stock Yards Company to his responsibilities. In 1949, he was promoted to superintendent, personnel and, two years later, was named personnel assistant of the system.

Three Convicts Almost Suffocate Trying to Escape

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Three convicts almost suffocated yesterday when they sealed themselves in soap barrels in a desperate attempt to escape from the Oklahoma state penitentiary.

The trio stayed in the barrels nearly two hours while a trucker jostled them around the prison grounds picking up canned goods for a shipment.

Finally, one cut a hole in the side of his barrel to get some air. A guard noticed his hair showing through and discovered the escape attempt.

LEARN TO SWIM

Columnist Jack Scott, whose articles appear on this page, went to a good deal of trouble the other day to emphasize to parents the importance of seeing that their offspring learn to swim and to exercise good judgment while swimming or engaging in other aquatic sports.

Mr. Scott's article was timely, because this is the bathing beach season and there are unquestionably too many deaths by drowning. But Mr. Scott's advise is probably more especially applicable to the Vancouver area, where he lives, and where geography and climate combine to make swimming, boating and so on more popular than in most parts of this country.

Parents who live in Old Ontario, especially those who live in the urban centres or near any of the main highways, we believe, would be well advised to concentrate on teaching their young how to jump both high and far, to exercise great care in crossing the speedways we used to call highways, and to remember always that the automobile is more dangerous than the Red army.

It is literally impossible these days to read a newspaper or to listen to a newscast without encountering at least several accounts of fatalities involving motor vehicles. It is true that, at this season, there are accounts of drownings also, but there are not nearly so many of them.

The most unpleasant feature of this situation is that the number of accidents, fatal and otherwise, increases far faster than the number of cars on the roads, and that the mechanical improvements that have been made in motor cars in recent years seem to have been accompanied by a deterioration in the caution and care of those who operate them.

We confess that we do not know what should be done to stop this gradually-lengthening procession of slaughter and mayhem. Legislation seems to have little effect, nor does exhortation by newspaper editors. Perhaps all we can do is just hope and pray for an improvement.

STILL TRYING SINCE 1668

The British House of Lords committee on privileges is engaged in considering whether a Scot named Henry James Scrymgeour-Wedderburn has a right to call himself Viscount Dudhope and Lord Scrymgeour.

It's about time, too, because Scrymgeour-Wedderburn and his ancestors have been laying claim to and trying to get possession of those two titles since 1668,- or for nearly three centuries, during which the titles have lain dormant.

The trouble started, it seems, with the dispute about who was the rightful heir to the two titles when a Viscount Dudhope died in 1668. Since that time, members of the Scrymgeour-Wedderburn family have been collecting evidence to show that the titles are rightfully theirs, and periodically presenting their claim to them. Just recently, the Scrymgeour-Wedderburns have satisfied themselves that their case is complete, and their lawyer, one Hector McKechnie, has laid his arguments before the House of Lords committee.

Long ago, the Scrymgeour-Wedderburns established that they and the original holders of the two titles had a common ancestry. But the onus seems to be on the claimants to convince the House of Lords that there are no other individuals knocking around who are more closely related to the original holders of the titles than themselves.

Here's hoping that the Scrymgeour-Wedderburns succeed in their enterprise. Any family which collects evidence and continues a legal action throughout three centuries deserves some special recognition. Even if they do fail on this occasion, the Scrymgeour-Wedderburns can console themselves with the knowledge that time is on their side and that they have added something to the reputation of the Scottish people for determination.

But the House of Lords committee which is considering the case might just as well surrender, because it should be apparent by this time that the Scrymgeour-Wedderburns are not easily or quickly discouraged. The Scrymgeour-Wedderburns may be delayed, but they cannot be deflected from their purpose.

Mr. Abel H. Finkle spent Sunday in Madoc.

Mr. H. J. Luscombe has left for Brantford where he has accepted a position.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

"Shall I sacrifice to put my child through college? Parents often ask this question. "Shall I sacrifice to work my way through college?" Children often ask this question of themselves and of their mentors.

The answer in both cases should be, Yes. This does not mean that everybody is suited to a liberal arts education. In fact college may not be indicated at all, but some form of definite training after high school certainly is indicated for everybody.

And for anyone who maintains an average or better than average academic standing, some sort of college training is desirable. Twenty years ago only about three per cent of the business executives were college graduates. Today more than 60 per cent are college graduates. The time has come when a person can hardly expect pre-eminence either in business or government unless he has a college education. There are exceptions but they prove the rule.

Therefore, sacrifice both on the part of parents and children to this end is well worth while. But when you are getting an education, be sure that you get an education and not merely a lop-sided training.

Quebec Election Next Wednesday Will be Hot One

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec government of Premier Duplessis, in office since 1944, places its case for re-election in the hands of 2,250,000 voters next Wednesday.

The 62-year-old Premier's highly-organized Union Nationale party seeks a third consecutive term on the ground its leadership of French-Canada has brought greater prosperity and industrial growth than ever before.

A reorganized Liberal party, badly defeated in 1948 elections and now led by 45-year-old Georges Lapalme, says the government is expensive and corrupt and needs to be changed.

91 U.N. Candidates

The Premier's party has put up 91 candidates for the 92 provincial Legislature seats of which it won 82 four years ago. It offers no opposition to Rene Chaloult, spokesman in the Legislature for Quebec Nationalist groups, concerned with French-Canada's rights under Confederation.

The Liberals have candidates in every seat.

Publicity in all forms with the exception of television, not yet organized, has been poured at voters and the quiet of summer nights is rent by campaign oratory.

The bachelor premier celebrating a quarter-century as a Legislature member, is one of the star campaigners. At the start, his party announced he would make about a dozen speeches. The number has been doubled.

His personal campaign for re-election in his home-town of Three Rivers is the main centre of attraction.

The Liberal candidate is J.A. Mongrain, 43-year-old mayor, who crossed political swords with the Premier over collapse of the $3,000,000 government-built Three Rivers bridge in 1950.

Campaign Hot

Campaigning also is hot in rural Joliette, 40 miles northeast of Montreal, where Liberal leader Lapalme has tackled Labor Minister Antonio Barrette, often mentioned when the question of Premier Duplessis' eventual successor as Union Nationale chief is discussed.

There are 57 candidates other than Union Nationale and Liberal party men. Twenty-three represent the C.C.F. party which has socialist aims, and four Communist-line candidates are running under the "Labor-Progressive" title. Thirty candidates have various independent affiliations.

The C.C.F. and labor-Progressive groups have concentrated their campaign largely on 16 Montreal district ridings whose population of 1,725,000 is about one-third of all that of Quebec province.

Burst Water Main Wrecks Houses, Floods Streets

LONDON (Reuters)—A huge water main burst under a London street early today, sending up a gushing tower of water that wrecked three houses and flooded one-half mile of streets. One of the houses settled into a 20-foot crater hollowed out by the water.

An elderly woman occupant of one of the houses was rushed to hospital in serious condition.

Hundreds of houses in the neighborhood were soaked on the ground floor. Families were evacuated, many still in pajamas.

The torrent sweeping down the street was so powerful that escaping residents had to cling to fences and walls to make their way out. Rescuing firemen linked arms to form human chains.

Water works men finally got the water turned off and firemen began pumping out flooded areas.

38 British M.P.s Sign Petition To Oust Red Dean

LONDON (AP) — A suggestion that the Church of England's "Red" Dean be tried for treason came today as more angry British lawmakers demanded his ouster for accusing the United States of waging germ warfare in China.

Irene Ward, Conservative member of Parliament, charged the 78-year-old Dean of Canterbury—Dr. Hewlett Johnson—is "spreading enemy propaganda." She called on the government to "consider" prosecuting him.

As Miss Ward put her motion before the House of Commons, other members lined up behind less-drastic suggestions that means be found to remove the Dean from his church office.

Thirty-eight M.P.s have signed a petition demanding the Dean's dismissal. Lord Ammon, a Socialist, says he will ask the government Monday in the House of Lords whether legal action can be taken against the Dean.

Dr. Johnson, appointed in 1931, cannot be dismissed except for a civil or ecclesiastical offence.

COMPETITION FOR WILL

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (AP)—This birthplace of William Shakespeare soon will have a modern vaudeville theatre to compete with the town's famed all-Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. "A lot of people are rather tired of living with Shakespeare's spirit day and night," one councilman explained.

SKILLED CRAFTSMAN

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—It took J. R. Ligheart 10 years to build a mosaic tea-wagon from 12,000 pieces of wood sent him from various parts of the world. The wagon was put on exhibit at a handicraft fair here.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

To indicate that she is a lady and not the maid, an elderly neighbor of mine always wears a pretty hat when she is hanging out the wash in her back yard. She could say that it is to protect her from the sun, were it not for the fact that she still wears the hat on dull days. The dress she wears is the ordinary old house dress a woman would wear around the kitchen or in the laundry. The hat is neat straw with conspicuous flowers on it, and is doubtless not her good hat. It is exactly the hat a lady would have hanging in a kitchen cupboard to be worn whilst doing menial tasks out of doors as a declaration of her status.

She need not worry. But being elderly, she probably clings to the traditions, prejudices and pretensions of a time that is gone. Hardly anybody has a maid any more; and if there is one in the house, it is not on the old skivvy basis that elderly ladies might recalls. Maids are people of importance. They draw weekly wages, not monthly doles. In most homes, they are called housekeepers, not maids, and the social problem involved in their eating apart from the family yearly grows more acute. They have as many evenings off as modern time-saving domestic equipment offers the excuse for, and even quite crabby old ladies are not allowed to adopt the tone and manners of 1920 towards them. Ninety per cent or more of the houses I can see from my garden chair are being run without the aid of hired help. Housewives who drive deluxe model cars and play bridge and send their children to private schools are entirely content to run their homes unaided except for a cleaning woman once a week.

As for maids, it will soon be they who will be wearing the pretty flowered hats while hanging out the wash to declare their status.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

JUST LIKE A NEW PIPE

It seems as though it happens every time I begin to think about doing something for service headache—the incessant headache this personal health service is to me. I don't blame you for filing complaints when I fail to serve you promptly or at all, and I believe I could wheedle my way back into the good will of most such dissatisfied customers if the job were just a local one. But if you will multiply the task by the number of newspapers using my service throughout the United States and Canada you will have a better conception of the size of this occupational headache of mine.

Incidentally, sarcastic cracks about the bowling green do not heighten my interest in your problem. If some readers derive benefits from this column nowadays it is mainly because I get great solace and refreshment, not "relaxation" from my pipe and my bowls, my seven inch straight stem pipe and five-inch biased bowls, that is.

What happens to keep the service going, is a letter like this:

Dear Dr. Brady:

I am expecting my seventh baby . . . I have raised my six children the Brady way and every one of them is a specimen of health and vitality. Thank you for your down to earth advice and articles.

Yours truly,
(Signed) — — — — — —

On occasions readers who have been able to tolerate my sarcasm and name-calling propensities have sent me such testimonials as a pipe, a package of their favorite tobacco, an autographed book or song, or a hand made necktie. It is indeed reassuring to know there are people like that when the quacks, the nostrum mongers, the food manipulators or other powerful interests gang up and try to silence me.

But somehow this mother's letter impresses me as the finest testimonial I have received since I hit the beach at Tristan da Cunha.

Six children raised the Brady way! And another in the offing. The leter goes into my scrapbook and a complimentary set of the complete works—A Lot of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health—is on the way to the mother. I hope she will find the lessons helpful in building and maintaining the vite of her family.

And so, back to the mail. Why not? We're only 6,000 letters behind today. By the last of July, no doubt, we shall have caught up with the latest delivery.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Fat and Diabetes

Diabetic's doctor says the grease (shortening) in friedcakes pastry, etc., counteracts sugar, thereby rendering it harmless. . . (H.A.L.)

Answer—Probably the diabetic misunderstood what the doctor said. Sugar is not harmful, but one with diabetes can take only a limited quantity of sugar or starch in any form. Many physicians now believe diabetic persons do better on a high fat diet.

Bunions Can't be Dissolved

Disappointed when I received your booklet on care of the feet because you give no recipe for dissolving bunion. You said in your paper that bunion can be dissolved. (T.J.)

Answer—I did not say so intentionally. On P. 10 of the booklet Care of the Feet (for which said 25 cents and stamped self-addressed envelope) I tell about the only cure I know—operation. You see, bunion is not a growth. It is primarily a partial dislocation of the great toe joint, with enlargement of the head of dislocated bone, a portion of which must be removed in order to reduce the dislocation and restore the function of the foot.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CHANCE GAINS

The thing that makes life so interesting—and it can be made interesting for anyone, wishing it to be—is that there are always chance happenings. Unexpected meetings, or revelations of interest to us. The meeting of a stranger, the publishing of a new book, whose subject you are interested in, or the arrival of something pleasing in the mail that wasn't expected.

These are all chance gains. Each year has brought to me personally at least one or more persons whose friendship has been a definite gain to me, and no year ever leaves me without the introduction of some new book to my library shelves, enriching them for my own enrichment.

On vacations, in trains on long trips, or on boats at sea, we experience chance gains more than at any other time, and it's always a thrilling experience. When you are off parade, and your human self, you are far more receptive than at any other time. It's then that the chance gains get in their happiest work.

There is something unusually stimulating about the unexpected anyway. It gives us a little shake and makes us more awake. It is not good for any of us to stay in one place too long. We ought to move around, see new places, meet new people, and replenish our mind with thoughts that are freshened by change. If we get far enough from our regular routine, and dismiss as much of ourself as is possible, chance gains, mentally, physically, and spiritually, are as sure as the night that follows day.

We need to keep alert and learn to scent an opportunity, and then grab its coat-tails! What a multitude of chances we just let pass by us without a protest, or without moving to make some of them, at least, profitable to us. There is more truth than poetry to the expression: "The chance of a lifetime." Many a chance actually proves to be one in a lifetime. There are plenty each day, however, that need cultivating!

Christ Church Bible School Attended by 118

Five days of the Beginners' Bible School of Christ Church, were brought to an end on Tuesday with an enrollment of 118 children, ranging in ages from four to nine years.

Each morning at 9:30 they met in the parish hall, later proceeding to the church for a devotional period of 20 minutes and under the direction of the Rev. Everett Smith. Two children were chosen each day, to bear the banner with its lettering, "Christ Church Beginners' Bible School".

On each consecutive morning, the Scripture was read by the following children in turn, Marina Bongard, Lynne Fuzzen, Ted Blaker, Linda Lennox and Jean Portlock.

Following the devotional period, the children then returned to the parish hall where handicraft and games occupied the project time, with stories of the meaning of the church altar and chancel being demonstrated by means of the flannelgraph. Historical facts regarding the community were also given.

After the completion of the handiwork, cookies were enjoyed, and on the last morning, an additional treat of ice cream and gifts brought to a conclusion the five days of Bible School for the young.

Those assisting in this great work of bringing the word of God to the little ones included: Mrs. Arthur Bongard, Mrs. Lionel Blaker, Mrs. C. Fuzzen, Miss Ann Briens, Mrs. R. Clarke, Mrs. W. M. McCormick, Mrs. C. F. Port-Briens, Mrs. A. Clarke, Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. R. Davis, Mrs. J. Cooke, Mrs. G. Scott, Mrs. T. Sherry, Misses Heather Musclow, Betty Murclow, Pat McLaughlin and Judy Rose.

Mrs. John Hibbard supplied the music each of the five days.

Special appreciative thanks are tendered to all those who donated the cookies and also to all who contributed in any way to make this Beginners' Bible School a success.

Lady Alexander Accuses Canucks of Tending to Bend Knee 'To The Very Wealthy'

LONDON (Reuters) — Lady Alexander, wife of Canada's former Governor-General, said in an interview published yesterday that Canadians aren't as democratic as they say they are. She accused Canadians of tending to bend the knee "to the very wealthy."

She made the statement to Martha Blount, London News Chronicle women's page writer, who did a feature about the Alexanders' family life here and in Canada.

Asked how Canadians reacted to "great names," the wife of Britain's Defence Minister replied:

"Well, you know all the talk about democracy over there — how 'we are all as good as each other?'—I think the very repetition of it defeats its own ends.

"There is democracy over titles and names, but not over dollars.

"There, most definitely, I noticed a bending of the knee towards the very wealthy."

Lady Alexander went on to say that she liked much of Canadian life—"except for those comics."

"I'm afraid both boys— Shane, 17, and Brian, 13—read nothing else in Canada. They are a complete menace to any kind of serious reading over there."

She said her eldest child, 19-year-old Rose, likes the independent life she now is leading in Canada. At present she is working in a summer hotel at Jasper National Park. In the fall she'll likely return to her studies at McGill University.

She praised the opportunities Canada offers teen-agers.

"We ought to do more for teenage boys and girls overe here," she said. "Canada helps them towards independence much better."

Lady Alexander said Shane plans to make a career for himself in the RAF after he graduates from Harrow, one of Britain's best public schools. Brian also is at Harrow but found it hard adjusting himself after his Canadian education.

MELROSE W.M.S.

The ladies of the Melrose W.M.S. entertained the Baby Band and the mothers at the July meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. G. McLaren with an attendance of 24 ladies and 16 children.

A short worship service was held and a few items of business were discussed. The collection amounted to $6.00.

Due to the absence of Mrs. J. English, the Baby Band superintendent, Miss Beatrice McFarlane, took charge of the program, and the little Misses Shirley and Linda Pascoe favored with a duet.

Mrs. Harry Davis read a short missionary story for the little folks. Miss M. Bailey read a poem "The Sick Child". Mrs. E. Pascoe led in prayer.

Several of the Baby Band members handed in their mite boxes and three new members were enrolled.

After the close of the meeting, refreshments were served on the lawn and a social time was enjoyed.

Three Belleville Girls To Attend Buckingham Palace Garden Party

The garden parties at Buckingham Palace this month will not be without representation from Belleville and district. Three former collegiate girls, two of them graduates from Belleville General Hospital, at present residing at the Canadian Air Force Station, North Luffenham, will be there.

These include Esther Moncrieff, wife of Wing Commander Arthur Spructon, who will be wearing a blue silk mesh afternoon dress with black feather hat and black accessories.

Marjorie Sharpe, Reg.N., wife of Squadron Leader H. James Hemsley, will be dressed in a black broderie anglaise taffeta redingote with lemon accessories and black Milan straw hat.

Elsie Lazariuk, Reg.,N., wife of Flight Lieutenant P. A. Townley, will wear a caramel embroidered organza redingote with white accessories and a summer felt hat also in caramel shade.

Mrs. J.E. Cooper Regina, Only Woman Member

REGINA —(CP) —The only woman member of the 52-seat Saskatchewan Legislature — and the only woman ever to represent Regina in the assembly — is Mrs. J. E. Cooper.

Mrs. Cooper married to a Regina school teacher, says she first became interested in politics during her school-teaching days.

"You couldn't teach school during the depression and see what it did to children without feeling that something had to be done," she says.

As a consequence, Mrs. Cooper hopes to concentrate her efforts in the Legislature on education and welfare.

She is well known for her community work in Regina. For three years she was president of the Regina Council of Women and before that she was president of the board of directors of the YWCA for several years.

Mrs. Cooper, a middle - aged woman, insists that she isn't a typical politician. She enjoyed the campaign leading up to the June 11 Saskatchewan general election but found it tiring.

A CCF candidate, she was elected in Regina along with Labor Minister C. C. Williams and Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines.

In her spare time, Mrs. Cooper does a great deal of reading. She also plays the piano "a little" and likes cooking. She is an active worker in Knox-Metropolitan United Church where her pet project is marionette shows.

The last woman member of the Saskatchewan Legislature was Mrs. Beatrice Trew, who represented Qu'Appelle-Wolseley constituency for the CCF from 1944 to 1948.

Fashion Flashes

NO MATTER what the fashion fad of the moment may be, the shirtwaist cut is always good in dresses. A favorite wherever it is seen is the dress with a shirtwaist bodice and an all-round pleated skirt. We've seen it in cotton, in silk, and even in lace, and it always looks right for daytime.

A SUIT is a suit again, or so it would seem after a sampling of advance designs. The tailored look is strong, so is the slim skirt and slightly longer, fitted jacket, the shoulders a little broader than we have seen for some time, with a long line look from shoulder to hipline. No mistaking these new suits for two-piece dresses, as one designer pointed out.

AT THE END of Summer, when the indoors starts to beckon, the shops will be showing pretty at-home clothes. After many years, there's plenty of black satin, especially in one group. Pedal-pushers of black satin have poncho pockets; the tapered legs are rhinestone-fastened. With it a matching scoop-neck blouse that laces in back.

A NICE topping for a dressy outfit is a little hat of white chiffon, all-over studded with pearls and rhinestones. The little cap curves down around the temples, and up again at the side back, where little tabs give an extended, winglike look, making for the greater breadth demanded after a long season of tiny caps or shell hats.

PAIRING OFF of various materials, to give contrast, is an upcoming trend that is well typified by a new dance dress. Navy blue silk georgette makes a dress with a brief, strapless bodice and a softly full skirt that lengthens slightly in back. A curved spencer in light gray satin offers color and fabric contrast, and discloses the molded, wrapped midsection of the dress.

DRY OFF at the beach with a terry cloth lounger. The top has navy revers and there is navy-knitted ribbing at the waist and at the border of the shorts.

Food for Thought

By Mary Moore

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION:

This is the first time I have written to a newspaper—you may take that as a compliment. . . we moved to a farm three years ago and have so much fruit I want to do down as much as I can. . . I believe you said to process rhubarb in hot water. . .I have a cold pack canner. Is this what you use and how much water and for how long? Also, can you can strawberries, cherries, raspberries in this way?

A year ago we had wild blue grapes. I thought they would make lovely jelly. . .the first lot turned out like syrup. . . I tried (liquid pectin) the next time. . . it was better but all through the jelly were crystal-like slivers. What would this be and is there any fool-proof method making wild grape jelly.—May M. H.

ANSWER:

Yes, use your cold pack canner for rhubarb, strawberries, cherries and raspberries. Be sure to fill pars to 1-2-in. of top with boiling hot syup, then seal to within 1-8 turn of tight. Immerse in hot water, then bring to boiling point. Count your time from when water starts to boil. Canner should be covered. Never loosen seal.

Rhubarb — Syrup: Medium — 1 cup sugar to each 1 cup water. Time: 10 minutes at boiling for pint jars; 15 minutes for quarts.

Strawberries — Syrup: Moderately thin—1 cup sugar to 1 1-2 or 2 cups water. Time: Pints 15; quarts 20. Strawberries sometimes shrink as much as 1-4 way down in jar. Never be tempted to tamper with the seal though.

Cherries — Syrup for Sweet: Thin 1 cup sugar to 2 cups water. Time: 25 minutes. Syrup for Sour —1 cup sugar to each 1 1-2 or 2 cups water. Time: 25 minutes.

Raspberries—Syrup: Moderately thin—1 cup sugar to 1 1-2 to 2 cups water. Time: Pints 15 minutes; quarts 20.

WILD GRAPE JELLY

The "slivers" in wild grape jelly are crystals of tartaric acid peculiar to grape products.

In grape juice bottling or canning plants the extracted juice is allowed to stand in vats for periods of time at cool temperature to permit the tartaric acid crystals to form and settle—after which the juice is siphoned off. This is not practicable at home, but you could allow your juice to stand 3 or 4 days in cool cellar until some precipitate forms—then carefully tip off clear juice.

A mixture of crabapple and wild grape juice makes fine jelly.

WILD GRAPE JELLY METHOD

To each 4 cups slightly underripe wild grapes add 1 cup water (after stemming and washing grapes). Simmer until seeds float. Strain through jelly bag. Measure. To each 2 cups extracted juice add 1 cup crabapple juice. Extract juice from washed, stemmed and quartered crabapples by adding 1 pint water to each 1 1-2 lbs. cut up crabapples, and simmer until fruit is very tender. Strain through jelly bag. Add 1-3 crabapple juice to each 2-3 wild grape juice. Bring to boil and add 7-8 cup sugar to each 1 cup mixed juice. Boil until 2 drops will fall from edge of spoon when "sheeted off". Pour into sterile jars and seal with doublecoating of paraffin.

(Or if you wish to, use commercial pectin. Use proportions as you did last summer. The usual proportions are 4 1-2 cups juice to 8 cups sugar and 1-2 cup liquid pectin. This way you can omit the crabapple juice.)

QUESTION:

Read your column with interest. Some time ago there was a recipe for mayonnaise. . . I think it was part cooked. In the old country (Denmark) I made gallons of it but seem to have lost the touch, we like the real stuff with very little sugar.—Mrs. L. M. of Brooks.

ANSWER:

I gave the readers a part cooked mayonnaise last week. I hope you saw it. Here is genuine

MAYONNAISE

Chill 2 1-2 cups salad oil. In a cold bowl beat 2 egg yolks until thick with 1 tablespoon each mustard (dry), salt and sugar (if desired reduce sugar to 1 teaspoon). Beat until very thick. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice—teaspoon at a time alternately with the 2 1-2 cups cold oil, 1 teaspoon at a time—until a thick emulsion is formed; then add oil 1 tablespoon at a time—continually scraping down sides of bowl with rubber scraper. After half of the oil is added you can safely add 2 tablespoons oil at a time. Beat constantly during all additions. Also add alternately 2 tablespoons vinegar (or replace this with additional lemon juice if you prefer it). Keep mayonnaise covered and cool.

Sunday School Lesson:

Those Who Light The Torches

By ROY L. SMITH

The Hebrews had been pretty hard hit. Coming into the Promised Land from the desert, untrained in war, with no stable government, and no military leadership, they became an easy prey to the threat of a determined enemy.

For years they purchased something resembling peace by paying a huge tribute to the Canaanite kings. They were imposed upon, bullied, robbed, and harassed. Then God raised up a woman.

Deborah, The Judge

Up in the far north of the land there was a woman who had developed a very considerable local following. Because of her strong personality, and her devotion as well as her astuteness, she acted in something of the capacity of a local magistrate.

To her woman's soul there was something intolerable in the supine way in which the Hebrews accepted the indignities that were laid upon them by the Canaanites. Her own sense of honor was outraged, and woman though she was, she proposed to do something about it.

She became a flame that lighted the torches of the nation.

Barak Was a Soldier

Living at some little distance was a good, plodding, uninspired man named Barak. He knew the art of war, and he knew how an army ought to be organized, but he was without the personality or the force of character to put one in the field.

It was there that Deborah lighted her first torch. She undertook to kindle the soul of Barak. If she could ever rouse him to action, inspire in him something like courage and determination, he might be the one who could save the people. He was not a great hope, but he was something to begin on, and Deborah began.

There is something even in the most stolid which will respond to the blazing courage of an inspired woman, and Barak's soul caught fire.

Ten Thousand Men Gathered

By dint of much persuading, many speeches, a few threats, and the promise of the help of Jehovah—something of which Deborah had convinced Barak—the old soldier finally got an army of 10,000 into the field.

Against him there ranged a host which included 900 war chariots (Josephus says there were 3,000) and tens of thousands of foot soldiers. It looked like such an impossible task; they were so unevenly matched.

And Deborah!

Against the mighty host of Canaan the Hebrews drove their little army of ten thousand men—and Deborah! Don't count the prophetess out! She was worth as much as any ten thousand.

Of Winston Churchill during the war it was said that at any one moment he was worth as much as 50 divisions in the field. His amazing courage, his indomitable will, his unwavering faith in Britain and the cause seemed to solidify the very earth for all the English speaking world.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for July 13: "Deborah, a Woman of Courage," Judges 4—4.

The sight of Deborah, marching alongside of Barak with the arrows falling all about her, her face radiant with the confidence in her people and their God, had an effect that was little less than miraculous.

Josephus says that the Canaanites were defeated because of a hail storm. Perhaps that was the endorsement God gave to the woman's faith and courage.

And it was that day as it has always been. To those who light the torches go the victories!

Mr. Ray Sharp is taking a six weeks' summer course in teaching at Toronto.

Edinburgh City Grows Faster Than Scotland

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—The city of Edinburgh has grown faster than Scotland as a whole during the last 20 years, says a report, issued recently, on the 15th census of Scotland made in 1951.

During the same two decades, Edinburgh has not yet reached the 500,000 mark but the average age of citizens is 35.9 years compared to 33 years as deduced from the findings of the last census made in 1931.

The same period has also seen a move from the centre of the city to the suburbs. The outer fringe population has increased by 80,000 while there has been a drop of 53,000 in the central districts.

'Surplus Females'

The report notes that there are 39,063 "surplus" females and a remarkable number of widows. One woman has the distinction of special, anonymous mention because she is the only citizen who speaks Gaelic only.

Since 1801 Edinburgh's population has increased more than seven times compared with an increase for Scotland during the same period of three times. The birth rate was lower and the death rate higher than in other parts of Scotland.

It was estimated that on the balance of migration movements, Scotland had lost about 220,000 of its population in the 20 years to 1951 but more people had come to live in Edinburgh than had left the city.

IKE COULD WIN

It was evident that Warren and Stassen believe Taft's chances for the nomination are not good, but that he could provide the main strength now for a deadlock from which they could benefit.

Eisenhower's leaders were confident that if the first wave faltered, it would have smashed enough opposition to put him over on the second or third ballot

Both Confident

Both major candidates were outwardly confident of victory as the voting neared.

Eisenhower left his victory statements to his campaign managers. Said Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Eisenhower's floor manager:

"It's Ike on the first ballot—as easy as that."

Taft said simply: "I will win the nomination."

Idaho's Governor Len Jordan, a Taft rooter, said it isn't beyond the bounds of possibility that Taft might support some other candidate besides Eisenhower if the Ohioan finds he can't win himself.

This was an obvious reference to talk that Gen. Douglas MacArthur might jump into the race if Taft fades. MacArthur's name was the last one placed in nomination early this morning.

To Attack Dewey

The last-hour strategy of the Taft camp was to attack the Eisenhower forces on the flank by setting up Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York as a sort of Machiavelli for the General and attacking him.

Dewey announced that New York would cast 92 votes for Eisenhower on the first ballot, and four for Taft.

The bitterness that has torn the party slackened not one bit as the final hour came for closing ranks behind a party leader. Taft headquarters distributed throwaways proclaiming: "End Dewey's control of our party—eight years of Deweyism and defeat."

The sheets described the New York Governor, the Party's 1944 and 1948 Presidential nominee, as "the most cold-blooded, ruthless, selfish political boss in the United States today."

With Michigan's votes finally laid on the line, the Associated Press scoreboard showed these standings before the balloting began:

Ike Leads

Eisenhower 554 Taft 495; Others 110; uncommitted 47. A total of 604 is needed to nominate.

Eisenhower picked up four votes in the 38-vote New Jersey delegation as Taft lost one there. A new poll showed Taft with six votes in Arkansas, Eisenhower four and MacArthur one on the first ballot.

Governor Theodore McKeldin of Maryland predicted all of Maryland's 24 votes would go for Eisenhower. Previously the delegation had been 15 for Eisenhower, nine for Taft.

In nominating Eisenhower, McKeldin told the convention the General is a man with "a genius for victory" who can "sweep the stench and stigma from the Augean stables of the Washington administration."

Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois presented Taft as a "defender of the Republican faith, a leader seasoned and ripened, a man of courage, a fighter, a great American."

"I can name no man less beset by fear, who would with confidence and determination face up to Stalin or any other dark prince of evil in the world," Dirksen declared.

Discuss Vice-Presidency

While the delegates were shouting themselves hoarse, leaders began paying some attention for the first time to the selection of a vice-Presidential candidate. That nomination will come after the Presidential candidate has been chosen.

Top leaders for both Eisenhower and Taft continued to deny that they had made any decision. It was obvious, however, that the big 70-vote California delegation behind Warren was the object of the affections of all the other candidates.

Schwab's 'Giants' Trounce Motels In First Playoff

Exploding for five runs in the second innings, Schwab's "Little Giants" defeated Paul's Motels 8-2 at Exhibition Grounds last night in the first game of their best-of-three series for the right to enter the OBA Peewee playdowns. The second game of the series will be played at Exhibition Grounds on Monday night starting 6:30.

The Giants' five-run outburst tucked the game away early as the Motel batters could do little or nothing with the slants of Johnny Elliott, Giants' hurler, Elliott went all the way scattering four hits, striking out five, and walking two. He banged out a hit to help his own cause.

Vaughan started for the Motels and was given a one-run lead in the first. The Giants bats got to him for five consecutive hits, one a double in the second, good for five runs. The first batter up in the third hit safely and Ryan went to the mound.

The southpaw yielded three hits for as many runs in the five innings he worked, whiffed five and walked four.

The Giants scored two runs in the fifth and their last in the sixth. Motel's second run came in the fourth.

Schwab hit a triple and single for the winners with Downes getting a double. Pennylegion, Chick, Ryan and Cathers were the hitters for the Motels.

Aussie Gals Stage 'Mutiny'

LONDON (AP)—Australia's nine women Olympic stars staged a "mutiny" yesterday before they went to Buckingham Palace to meet the Queen.

They refused to wear the official white leather hats issued them.

"They made us look like porky 12-year-olds on a school treat," complained one of the athletes. "We crumbled up the hats, trampled on them and threw them in a waste basket."

The team arrived at the palace wearing trim white felt berets.

Arthur King Defeats Llanes

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Arthur King, 129, Toronto, won every round of a 10-round main bout with Armando Llanes, 136, of Colombia, last night.

There were no knockdowns. Referee Lou Bogash scored it 39 to 21 in favor of King.

Gus Robinson, 136, Stamford, and Benny Uhl, 134, St. Catharines, Ont., fought a four-round draw.

Attendance was estimated at 800.

EYEING COMMON LAND

LONDON (CP)—With an eye to Britain's difficulties in obtaining cheap imported food, government departments are studying the future use of more than 1,500,000 acres of common land. It is hoped legislation may be ready for agricultural organization before the year ends.

Flyers Defeat Crawfords 7-2 At Air Station

RCAF Flyers scored four runs in the first inning and then went on to edge Crawford Metals 7-2 in a Belleville and District Softball League game at the RCAF Recreation Field last evening.

With one out in the bottom of the first inning, Gingrass singled and took second on a passed ball, and came all the way round on Freeman's home run to right field. Burtt singled and McCartney filed to centrefield. Noel singled and Berner singled to score Burtt and Noel.

The Flyers took a five run lead in the fourth on singles by Noel and Greenough.

Crawford scored two runs in the fifth frame. With two out Bennett singled, Upper walked, and Watson smashed a double to left field to score the two runs.

Flyers recovered those two runs in the sixth inning off Bob Huffman who came on in the fifth to relieve Bennett. A single by Noel, a walk to Berner, and a single by Auld chased Huffman to the showers with two out and Dowsett came on to pitch for Crawfords. He got the side out without further damage. Dowsett finished up the game on the hill for Crawfords, walking one, striking out none, and giving up two hits for no runs.

Burtt Whiffs Nine

Big Vic Burtt toiled the first seven frames for the Flyers walking four, striking out nine, and giving up four hits for two runs. Pat Guzzo took over in the 8th. He walked one, struck out three and gave up one hit for no runs.

Bennett pitched the first four innings for Crawfords walking none, striking out two, and giving up seven hits for five runs. Huffman worked one and two thirds innings walking one, striking out none, and giving up two hits for two runs.

Noel led the Flyers at the plate with three singles in three official trips.

Lineup:

Crawfords: Upper 1b, c, in 5th; Watson lf; Duesberry rf; Lewis ss; Jeffery 3b; Galbraith 2b; Temple c, replaced by Huffman p, in 5th, Huffman relieved by Dowsett in 6th; Taylor cf; Bennett p, 1b in 5th. Donovan batted for Bennett in 9th.

Northern Hurler Has Perfect Game

SOUTH PORCUPINE (CP)—A 19-year-old left-hander from Chatham last night hurled what was believed to be the first perfect game in the Timiskaming Baseball League.

Bob Provost tossed the perfect no-hit, no-run game as Porcupine Combines defeated South Porcupine Quills 3-0 Not a man reached first base.

Vince Caron, another Chatham boy, provided the winning run with a homer in the fourth inning. The Combines scored 2 more runs in the fifth inning.

Provost didn't walk a man and struck out 13 as his teammates played errorlessly.

Reiser Given Sick Leave

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Outfielder Pete Reiser, former National League batting champion, has been given an indefinite leave from Cleveland Indians to recuperate from a shoulder injury and stomach ailment, Tribe manager Al Lopez said last night.

Reiser, 31, has been at his home in St. Louis since the beginning of the week and may be placed on the retired list.

Five-Run Splurge Gives Diesels Win Over Motors

By JACK BRETT

Trailing 3-1 at the end of the fourth, the C. N. R. Diesels exploded for five runs in the fifth and went on to defeat the Belleville Motor Car 11-6 in a softball league game played at the Alemite Field last night.

The five-run rally came with two men out. Rowbotham walked, Sword advanced him to second with a single. Goyer singled advancing the runners and loading the bases. L. Goyer's single scored two with Vern stopping on third. Young doubled to push the other two across the plate. Corbett's double brought Young in for the fifth run to make it 6-3.

The first home run of the game came in the eighth when Bill Corbett hit to centre field. There were no men on at the time. This made the score 7-3. Don Adams hit a hard drive to centre field for a home run, scoring two ahead of him. Sword singled and scored on a fielder's choice for the final run.

Motor Car attempted a rally in their half. Two runs scored as runners who singled came home on errors. Reid singled, went to second on an error, stole third and came home with the third run on another hit to make it 11-6.

Al Adams hurled for the Diesels, walking three, striking out four and giving up eight hits. Reid was on the mound for the Motor Car. He walked three, struck out one and gave 13 hits.

Lineups:

Tom Gard's Note Book

During recent weeks two striking examples of rebuilding and renovation came to light. In one case it was an interesting tea pot, and the second was a comfortable chair.

TIN AND TEA

Who would ever think of making a tea pot from an old tin can, the kind we buy as a container for fruit juice, cocoa, baking powder and many others on the grocery list. A new citizen from Central Europe found that articles bought over the counter could serve a useful purpose. In speaking to him I asked what his first reaction was to life in Canada, and his reply amazed me, "You people waste too much and throw away what might be saved". Then he showed me his tea pot. Taking his tin can, a spout and handle from an old metal tea pot he contrived to solder them together and with a good polish presented a very useful household article. Then he said, "See what I mean?" I confess I did, and profited by this man's industry. Why not try it?

KNIFE BOX

The First Lady of the Land is often found in the kitchen or out on the back verandah peeling vegetables for dinner. In this homely occupation I have observed on many occasions that a cut finger may be the result of picking a sharp knife out of a drawer too quickly. A young farmer I know solved the problem with a simple contrivance, as illustrated — just a block of pine, two strips along the sides, and end and bottom of the same material. It was interesting to note that the sharp points were concealed, the handles exposed. The slits for the blades were made with the saw passing through twice for a sufficiently wide opening. Corners were rounded by sawing off the corner, then sanding to a suitable finish. The sides were scored with the saw to give an added touch of pattern.

BOOK MARKS

How many times have we picked up books to find the corners turned down by the thoughtless person! Many times when securing books from the library I have found pieces of paper, matches, and other articles that had been used as markers. A bright young school teacher had the answer, making book marks from felt hats, scraps of leather and pieces of silk. Some were lettered, others just plain, but they all served the same purpose.

CONVERTED CAR SEATS

As we travel through the province one thing is often evident, the graveyard for used cars so conspicuous at the edge of town. In many of these cars the seats are still intact. On one occasion I noted a strong chair made from one of these seats, with legs of water piping, the seat and back covered with colourful chintz the same as the drapes. The maker was on the watch for a double seat, stating he would then introduce another pair of legs in the centre for the necessary support. The legs were painted to match the woodwork of the room.

REDS AT KINGSTON

The Redmen trek to Kingston tonight where they take on Stan Scrutton's Monarchs in a scheduled tilt. The Redmen-Monarchs staged a real thriller down thataway on the last occasion of their meeting when Pat Gilmour saved the day with a sensational shoe-top catch in right field. The Reds aren't feeling too happy over their showing against the Petes Wednesday night and they're out to avenge the setback in Roddenville tonight. The Brockville White Sox will be here tomorrow night.

HOT RODDIES

With the midsummer auto stock car classic just over the hill when positions hinge on the result of Saturday night's meet, the Speedway Parkland get-together tomorrow night should be productive of thrilling driving. The standing of the drivers who are competing for the Star of Excellence Trophy is Andre, Napanee, 148; Handley, Cherry Valley, 127; Lindsay, Kingston, 119; Murray, Picton, 99; Duffy, Belleville, 70; Bruce, Bloomfield, 61; Foster, Kingston, 54; McCrory, Belleville, 49; Johnson, Belleville, 47 and Sandford, Belleville, 24.

FIREWORKS TONIGHT-

Some one of his own size and ruggedness will be in the ring against Hans Hermann, the arrogant German grappler, at the Memorial Arena tonight, when Lord Athol Layton will be his opponent in the main wrestling bout. Judging by Hermann's well-known tactics, it appears that it will take a wrestler as big and punishing as himself to stack up against him successfully.

That's why Layton looks to be the one to give Hermann a battle for victory. Hermann is six feet, five inches in height; Layton is six feet, six inches. Hermann's 278 pounds in weight has given him a major advantage over most of the rivals he has met to date; Layton's 256 pounds makes him a particularly big heavyweight and greatly reduces the weight margin Hermann has usually enjoyed.

THIS, YOU SHOULD SEE

After viewing the peewee baseball playoff between the Schwab's and Paul's Motel teams at the Exhibition Grounds last night we came to the conclusion that the senior teams of this city need have no fear of lack of topflight players for teams of the future.

For these half-pint editions, (some of 'em approach the quart size) came up with as nifty an exhibition of baseball as one would wish to see. In Johnny Elliott, Joe Ryan, and Vaughan there gleams the pitching stars of the future. Elliott looked exceptionally good in his four-hit 8-2 victory over the Motels, but Ryan, a rangy young southpaw who relieved Vaughan after the damage was done is another fine hurler as is his right - handed mate. All three kids have been well-coached and show fine possibilities.

The rest of the squads played their positions well. There were double plays, close "outs" on attempted steals of second, fine catches of line drives and flies and some timely clouting. It was good to see and the men behind this minor baseball must have had a glow of pride, and should have a few well-deserved pats on the back.

The teams clash again Monday night at Exhibition Grounds starting at 6.30 in the second of their best-of-three series for the right to represent the city in the OBA peewee playdowns. If Motels win, a third game will be necessary. It is good baseball and fans of this city should not miss seeing these smart youngsters in diamond action.

"POMES ARE MADE . . ."

Daniel Parker, erudite sports writer o' the N'Yawk Mirror publishes the following parody entitled "Maglie".

(To be sung by the Giants' fans to the tune of "When you and I were young, Margarita.")

When you wander today to the hill, Maglie
And on the mound plant your toe,
You just don't deliver the pill, Maglie,
As you used to do, long ago.
The magic is gone from the pill, Maglie,
That once zipped by or almost hung,
That old winning well has gone dry, Maglie,
In days since the flag race was young,
It can't be a question of age, Maglie,
A soupbone grown creaky, tired and thin.
Ah, no, look at old Satchel Paige, Maglie,
And call back your magic again-
The Dodgers are pulling away, Maglie,
They'll soon have the pennant portal sprung
Unless you recover the form, Maglie,
You showed when the season was young.

They echo back from Coogan's mountain sides
The summer's goin'—the soupbone needs keel-haw-awlin'
But I'll still set back your Flatbush Prides.

And when the shadows fall on outfields mel-ellow
With the Series wrapped up in a tie,
Just remember, we've that Thomson fe-ellow
One mighty swing — and Brooklyn hopes will die.

Staley Registers 12th Victory As Brooklyn, Giants Lose; Yankees Drub Brownies 10-2

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rival St. Louis clubs under new managers, are going in opposite directions.

The Cardinals, led by firebrand Eddie Stanky, are riding on the crest of a 10-game winning streak and are making rapid strides in their effort to overtake the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

The Browns, skippered by mild-mannered Marty Marion, their second manager of the campaign, are in the throes of a nine-game losing string that threatens to drop them into the American League cellar.

Twelve For Staley

Gerry Staley became the first National Leaguer to register a dozen victories when he pitched the Cardinals to a 10-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies last ight. Third baseman Billy Johnson drove in four runs with a triple, double and single as the Cards drove All-Star hero Curt Simmons from the mound with a four-run first inning.

The victory, coupled with Chicago's 7-6 win over Brooklyn and Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory over New York, moved the Cards within eight games of the Dodgers and 3½ behind the second-place Giants. Cincinnati rounded out National League activities with a 5-3 win over Boston.

Chicago's hustling White Sox swept a twi-night doubleheader from the Senators in Washington, 2-0 and 4-2, to cut New York Yankees' first-place margin in the American League to 2½ games.

The Yankees drubbed the Brownies 10-2. Philadelphia Athletics thrashed Cleveland 11-1 as lefty Alex Kellner checked the Indians with four hits. Detroit and the Red Sox were rained out in Boston.

Long First Inning

Bob Rush of Chicago, the All-Star game winner, and no-hit Clar Erskine of Brooklyn were knocked out of the box in a 45-minute first inning as the Cubs came from behind to nip the Dodgers. Gene Hermanski, ex-Dodger, collected three hits and drove in what proved to be the deciding run in a three-run fourth. Catcher Toby Atwell, sold by Brooklyn to Chicago last winter, cut down potential Dodger base stealers in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings.

In his last start against the Cubs, Erskine held them without a hit or a run in nine innings.

Billy Pierce racked up his 10th win and Saul Rogovin his eighth as the White Sox won their sixth and seventh games in as many starts in Washington this season. Pierce allowed only two hits and Rogovin six.

Elmer Valo had a perfect day against loser Early Wynn and Sam Jones. The Philadelphia utfielder hit a triple and two singles and walked twice in five times at bat. He drove in four runs and scored thrice.

Thirty-Four Enter Pro Golf Tourney

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's top professional golfers tee off at Niakwa Country Club here today in the annual hunt for the Canadian Professional Golf Association pot of gold.

Some 34 entries will shoot for a $600 top prize and the Ross Cup.

Some 33 are trying to accomplish something else—loosen Stan Leonard's grip on the silver trophy

It may take some doing. The jaunty pro from Vancouver may have been only half trying yesterday as he shook out the kinks in a practice tour around Niakwa—but he bettered par by two strokes—a 69.

Leonard, a four-time winner of the C.P.G.A., is shooting for his third straight.

Edmonton's Henry Martell, who won the Canadian amateur in 1946, took a par 71.

Speculation on the winning score has abounded for two days around the Niakwa clubhouse, located about 2½ miles from downtown Winnipeg.

Some pundits claim the winning score will be near 207 with Leonard in the field.

Harold Eidsvig, Niakwa's pro and recent winner of the Manitoba Open, thinks 212 will take the cup.

"If they get two 68s among the whole bunch it will be good shooting," he said.

Leafs Nip Chiefs In 11 Innings; Wings Move Up

(By The Associated Press)

Johnny Hetki is proving that St. Louis Browns made a mistake when they sold him back to Toonto Maple Leafs shortly after the 1952 season opened.

Hetki was the International League's top winner in 1951 with 19 victories. This earned him a promotion to St. Louis but after a few appearances he was shipped back to the Leafs. Once again he threatens, despite his late start, to lead the loop in wins.

The veteran right-hander turned in his 10th victory of the season against one defeat last night, shading Syracuse Chiefs 3-2 in 11 innings before the largest crowd of the season in the league, 20,218.

Hetki won his own ball game, blasting a home run with none out in the 11th off Bob Keegan, a 12-game winner. Fenton Mole accounted for both Syracuse runs with a homer in the eighth. The win moved Leafs to within one-half game of the third-place Chiefs.

Wings Move Up

Rochester Red Wings trounced Buffalo Bisons 9-3 to edge within 1 1-2 games of the pace-setting Montreal Royals. Montreal and Springbrook were rained out.

Preacher Jack Faszholz, despite four errors, went all the way to post his ninth victory. Steve Bilko and Larry Caiffone hit a homer apiece and drove in six runs to spark Rochester's 13-hit attack.

Baltimore Orioles shaded Ottawa Athletics 6-5. Jim Atkins won but needed help from Kent Peterson, who retired the side in order in the last two innings, including the side on strikes in the ninth. Gerry Scala drove in the deciding run in the seventh on a long fly.

Rhabe Leads In Intercounty Batting Race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nick Rhabe of St. Thomas Elgins has taken over the lead in the Intercounty batting race with an average of .368. Temmate Joe Atkins is second with .366.

Bob Schnurr of Waterloo Tigers, who led last week, has dropped to fourth spot with Lester Lockett of Kitchener holding down third ranking.

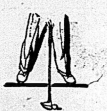
Rhabe, former International Leagier, has 32 hits in 87 trips to the plate. Pete Karpuk of Kitchener has the most runs, 27.

Guelph and Kitchener pitchers share mound honors. John Adie of Guelph leads in percentage with six wins and no losses. Chuck Fedoras, Kitchener, has the most wins with seven against two defeats and Mel Duncan, Kitchener, the most strikeouts with 39. Fedoras is next on the fanning list with 38 followed by Jim Bell of Galt and Don Summers of St. Thomas with 36 each.

Other league leaders in the with seven, Kimball with six and Atkins four. Turowski stole more bases than any other player by a good margin. He took 13 while Karpuk is second with nine.

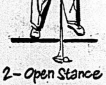
"COOL CONTROL"

THE STANCE



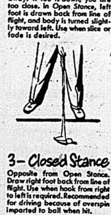
1-Square Stance

Balance and control are 'musts.' There are three basic stances — first, the Square Stance, as above. This stance requires both feet to be placed square to the intended line of flight.



2-Open Stance

All stances require the club to be soled directly back of the ball so that the bottom of the club sits evenly on the turf. If toe of club sticks up, you are too far away. If toe is down, you are too close. In Open Stance, left foot is drawn back from line of flight, and body is turned slightly toward left. Use when slice or fade is desired.



3-Closed Stance

Opposite from Open Stance. Draw right foot back from line of flight. Use when hook from right to left is required. Recommended for driving because of overspin imparted to ball when hit.

It's control that counts, in golf as in every sport — control which brings the balance, the comfort and the extra quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Shareholders of the Ontario Jockey Club yesterday unanimously approved plans to expand the club's horse racing operations by the construction of a large, modern race course probably between Hamilton and Toronto.

The meeting at Toronto was called to revise the club's financial by-laws to increase authorized capital. The club's expansion plans, which include the recent purchase of Fort Erie and Stamford tracks, depend on successful financing.

The two tracks in the Niagara district were purchased primarily for their charters which will give the O.J.C. another 28 days' racing each season for a total of 56 days.

Managing Director George C. Hendrie reported no new developments in the expansion plans since the original announcement June 30.

Construction of the new track depends on the sale of Woodbine Park to the city of Toronto for a housing development and purchase of a new site.

Negotiations for the purchase by the O.J.C. of the Hamilton Jockey Club track have not changed in the last two weeks. Directors of the Hamilton club have agreed in principle to move into the O.J.C. orbit with the question of financing still to be decided.

Three new directors were appointed at the O.J.C. meeting: Charles F. W Burns, Toronto, Harry J. Carmichael, St. Catharines, and Frank S. Sherman, Hamilton.

Competitors from many parts of the world will meet in Toronto next month in water skiing championships. Ethusiasts from France, Belgium, Mexico, the United States and Canada will compete in the Canadian Open and North American championships Aug. 28-30. The Canadian closed title meet will be held Aug. 25-26.

Defending their senior Canadian titles will be Mrs. Norman Gordon of Bobcaygeon and Charles Blackwell of Owen Sound. Junior champions are Bruce Pool, Peterborough, and Carol Ann Duthie, Toronto.

Dr. Jack Leddy of Saskatoon yesterday was elected president of the Saskatchewan Amateur Golf Association. The election was held at the annual meeting in Prince Albert in conjunction with the provincial amateur tournament and Willingdon Cup trials.

Geoffrey Duke, king of Britain's motorcycle speedways and holder of several world's records, has been awarded the Seagrave trophy for upholding the prestige of his country before the world, it was announced in London. The trophy, first awarded in 1930, was instituted in memory of Sir Henry Seagrave, one of Britain's pioneers of racing.

At Salisbury, England, yesterday Gordon Richards, Britain's champion jockey, rode his 100th winner of the season—and the 4,494th of his career. Richards, 48, has been top jockey since 1925.

Nine planes will transport from London to Helsinki a shipment of 450 specially-designed clocks to time events at the Olympic Games. The most complex item in the valuable collection is an electronic timepiece on which Swiss and British experts have worked more than five years. It is controlled by the vibrations of a quartz crystal and holds a built-in camera to take a photo-finish. It also records speeds to within 1-100th of a second.

The Russian Olympic team has blacked out the windows and it's not a security measure—it's designed to keep the midnight sun out of the eyes of snoring athletes. At this time of the year the sun shines about 21 hours a day.

Bold, victor in the 1951 Preakness and a big money winner among three-year-olds last year, was struck by lightning and killed Wednesday at the Brookmeade Stables at Upperville, Va. The horse, owned by Mrs. Isabelle Dodge Sloane, was let out to pasture as usual when a storm came up.

Dawes Will Resign As Olympic Head, Business Pressure Given As Reason

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP) — A. Sidney Dawes of Montreal will resign as president of the Canadian Olympic Association because of the pressure of business after the Olympic Games starting here July 19, it is learned authoritatively.

It is known he has offered to quit at least twice this year but his resignation was not accepted.

The persons most mentioned as his successor are Jack Davies of Montreal, a director of the C.O.A., Ken Farmer of Ottawa, C.O.A. secretary, and Jim Worrall of Toronto, C.O.A. vice-president and president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

Stays On Committee

Dawes, who has been criticized over the selection of this year's team, will remain Canada's representative on the International Olympic Committee.

Dawes has been criticized often in the past for his handling of Canada's Olympic matters. The criticism reached a high point after the track and field trials at Hamilton nearly two weeks ago when two girls who had beaten Olympic standards set by the C.O.A. were left off the team.

It swelled up again this week after Jack Burney of Vancouver, a 400-metre hurdler stationed with the United States army in Germany, came to Helsinki at his own expense and learned that he was not on the track squad, as he had been led to believe.

Burney left yesterday by plane for Copenhagen and said he hopes to catch a ride on another plane for the remainder of the journey back to Frankfurt since he is almost out of funds.

Team Angry

Various Canadian team members still are angry about the treatment given him, saying the officials could have relaxed the regulations because he is in the army.

Canada's track and field team yesterday continued its workouts and four members of the squad were reported out with injuries. However, they are not serious enough to cause any worries.

In addition, Fred Hayward, 41-year-old long distance walker from St. John's, Nfld., was unable to practice properly because of the heat that has been in the 80s.

"I'm not used to this weather," he said.

Jim Lavery of Calgary complained of sore muscles in his right leg. The 400-metres runner took a Finnish bath.

Tiny O'Halloran of Toronto, Shirley Eckel of Toronto and Dawn Josephs of Victoria also passed up the practice session to favor sore leg muscles.

Three Canadian Olympic officials took off for Stockholm by air yesterday in an effort to rent racing shells to replace those damaged on a ship in a North Atlantic storm.

Meanwhile Canadian doubles, fours and eight-oared crews went out for rugged workouts in boats rented from a Finnish club. The Finns use a different seating arrangement, which handicapped the Canadians.

Jaunty Irishman Four Holes Up In British Open

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England (AP)—Fred Daly, jaunty Irishman from Belfast, appears headed for his second British Open golf title with a 36-hole score of 136 after the first two rounds of the 1952 championship.

By carding 69 to follow his record 67 of Wednesday over the 6,647-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course, Daly yesterday put himself four strokes ahead of his nearest rival, South Africa's Bobby Locke. Barring a surprise blowup over today's 36-hole test, Daly should carry off the championship he last won in 1947.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting: Elmer Valo, Athletics—had a perfect night at bat, with a triple, two singles and two walks. He drove in four runs and scored three as the Athletics thrashed the Indians 11-1.

Pitching: Billy Pierce, White Sox—limited the Senators to two hits as he pitched the White Sox to a 2-0 victory in the opener of a double-header for his 10th victory. The Sox also won the second game, 4-2.

Bedard Meets Burrows In Quebec Tennis

QUEBEC (CP)—Semi-finals of the Eastern Canada tennis championships start today with Robert Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., playing Harold Burrows, top-seeded player from Charlottesville, Va., and Jack Spencer, Montreal, playing Lorne Main, former Vancouverite now living in Montreal.

Twenty-year-old Bedard enters play fresh from his marathon victory yesterday over fourth-seeded Jacques Giguere, Quebec, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 after 4¼ hours of play.

Bedard handled everything the older Giguere could throw at him and at the end of the session, Giguere was so tired that doctors forbade him to play in mixed doubles in the evening.

Burrows quickly polished off Marc Lortie, Quebec, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

Spencer defeated young Jim Bentley of Toronto, who Wednesday provided the tournament's biggest upset by defeating veteran Davis Cupper Henri Rochon of Montreal.

Main, playing his best game this season, swept over Don Platt, Toronto, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Mrs. Hanna Sladek, Montreal, kept up her blistering pace, whipping Shirley Moore, another Montrealer, in quarter-final women's singles 6-0, 6-1, and teaming up with Burrows to beat Ann Kennedy, Montreal, and Ted Zariphes, Boston, 6-0, 6-1 in mixed doubles.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

An epidemic of opening three bids broke out among bridge nuts a few years back; weak three bids, strong three bids, two-way three bids. Wherever you went, somebody shot a three bid at you.

Chronic three bidders are notorious result players. By the time a deal is over, partner of such is a wreck: "Why didja" if he bids and then goes down; "why dintcha" if he passes and game can be made.

The standard rule for an opening of three in a major advocates strength; a long strong trump suit with some outside strength. But, it is a lazy bid; opportunities for using it are far between.

So, an expert pair will put it to work more often by tapering downward its strength requirements. But the wiser ones will use it thus only when lacking some quality for a true opening of one.

Even an expert has no business using a tapered three bid with an inexperienced partner; or an experienced partner who is not in agreement with his responses; or a partner he has just met.

Why? Because their replies are always surprising; sometimes with strength, sometimes with weakness. Whereas almost anybody knows the usual answers to an opening bid of one.

You are dealer in east with a spread like this:

NORTH
♠K 10 6
♥Q J 8 6 5 3
♦A J 7 5
♣None

WEST
♠J 9 8 5

SOUTH
♠None
♥K 10 7
♦K 10 9 8 3
♣K Q 6 5 2

Your hand lacks a trick of being an opening of two spades. It lacks the strength of the standard strong three bid. It has all the needs for an opening bid of one spade.

True, it has several additional values. Will this prompt you to open with a bid of three spades? If so you are using it wrong. You are denying some quality that an opening of one spade shows.

Want my opinion of three bids? Average players should stick to the strength shower. Experts should taper it downward slightly. Weak three bidders belong in a straight-jacket.

Olympic Notes

HELSINKI (AP)—Finland yesterday proclaimed an Olympic truce in the style of ancient Greece in the hope the biggest athletic festival will go off smoothly.

Erik von Frenckell, president of the Finnish Olympic organizing committee, speaking to the committee in the president's box of the sun-drenched Olympic Stadium, said:

"For the time that the Games last, the rganizers proclaim Ekekheiria, the Olympic truce."

In ancient days heralds sounded the truce and athletes were permitted to travel unmolested to the Games no matter what wars went n in Greece.

Emil Zatopek, the Czech distance ace, has tonsilitis and his compatriots are worried about how he will fare in the Games.

This was learned during a visit to Otaniemi, training camp for Communist countries in the forest outside Helsinki.

It was ascertained that Zatopek is far below form. That explains, apparently, why he ran third to two Russians at Kiev two weeks ago in a 5,000-metre race.

The United States' Olympic strong men, the weightlifters, arrived yesterday and promptly hurled a direct challenge at the Russians.

If there is any place where the Russians and the Americans will meet man-to-man in the Olympic Games, it probably is in weightlifting.

The Russians are considered the only challengers to the defending world and Olympic champion Americans.

"Sure, we're going to beat the Russians," declared U.S. coach Bob Hoffman of York, Pa.

"But we're not going to try just to beat them, we want to beat them so bad they'll know they're beaten."

Rotary Peewees Hand Glens First Defeat

The Rotary peewee softballers had a double triumph at Firemen's Park last night. The kids not only won their first game of the season, but handed the league leading Glen Roys their first defeat. The score was 18-3.

Howard was the hero of the piece for the Rotarian youngsters He limited the Glens to six hits, struck out seven and walked two. He smashed out two triples and three singles for a perfect day at the plate. Green hit a homer for the winners.

Reid and Keller hurled for the Glens giving up 22 hits between them. Rotary erred three times while the Glens had 10 miscues.

In another scheduled peewee softball game, Booth's Radio meets Boyce's Garage at 10 a.m. Saturday at Firemen's Park.

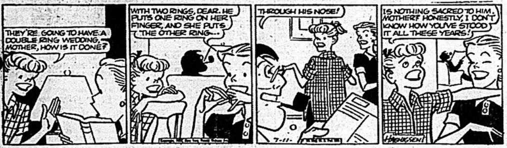
PENNY — By Harry Haenigsen



THEY'RE GOING TO HAVE A DOUBLE RING WEDDING, MOTHER. HOW IS IT DONE?
WITH TWO RINGS, DEAR. HE PUTS ONE RING ON HER FINGER, AND SHE PUTS THE OTHER RING...
THROUGH HIS NOSE!
IS NOTHING SACRED TO HIM, MOTHER? HONESTLY, I DON'T KNOW HOW YOU'VE STOOD IT ALL THESE YEARS!

HAENIGSEN

Always Remember...

... that you should not pick the Trillium, our provincial floral emblem. Since its three leaves are near the top of the stem, they usually get picked with the blossom. And as the leaves feed the root, the whole plant dies of starvation. Protect the Trillium ... it is part of your outdoor enjoyment.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Dr. Roberts took Mrs. Ordell's pulse, looked at the wound, at her poor eyes, while Miss Hansen hovered near him, and with an awful finality he shook his head.

Professor Ordell broke into tragic sobs. I turned away, ill and shaken.

Susie sniffed about the floor of the tent and strained at her leash whimpering to go into the forest.

Mr. James suddenly took command of the situation. "Nothing here must be touched. The law says a body must be as it is found. I'll phone the coroner right away."

Everyone interrupted him, talking, weeping, offering theories. But, he stood there, hat in hand out of respect to the dead, wheezing rhythmically and saying "Go back to the lodge. She's gone and no help for it. I'll phone for the law."

But Mr. James was stubborn and dominant and we all obeyed him. All, that is, except the Doctor. He wanted to leave a guard for Mrs. Ordell's body but James said, "No need, what's done is done."

We reached the lodge, wet, frightened and sad, and we huddled around the fire in mute misery.

James tried to telephone to Blue Valley for the police. But the lightning had done its work; the wire was dead.

Then quickly, out of the stricken silence by the fireside, Dr. Roberts faced the crowd.

"James," he said shortly and in no gentle tone, "where were you when this thing happened?"

Mr. James hesitated just the fraction of a second. "I was in the pantry back of the kitchen opening a bag of sugar for the cook. And," he added as an angry afterthought, "what the devil do you mean by asking me?"

"I'll temporarily represent the law," Dr. Roberts replied evenly. "Jeff was out too, and reached Mrs. Ordell before the rest of us. Where were you?" he curtly asked the boy.

Jeff looked terribly serious but answered fast enough. "I was in my tent putting my suitcase under the bed in case the tent leaked. I heard a scream and ran in the direction it came from. I heard a sound in the Ordell tent and I went in—I guess — just as she died."

Roberts considered Jeff Downey's reply for a moment. "When did you reach the tent—I mean, how long before we reached it?"

"Why," said Jeff rather desperately, "probably two or three minutes."

"Then she died as you reached her, presumably. How far is your tent from the Ordells' tent?"

Jeff stared at him. "I didn't do it!" His voice rose to a sharp, high staccato of protest.

The silence seemed a terrible accusation. Jeff was deathly pale and, more than ever, I pitied him. These people were very glib about suspecting others of murder. I felt smothered in horror and fear.

"Professor Ordell," Dr. Roberts' voice broke the silence, "what was your wife doing when you left her?"

The professor raised a piteous face. "She was packing some things in her suitcase to protect them from the rain. But Dr. Roberts, what right have you to question us?"

"I have," he replied, "the right invested in me by my citizenship. Now to continue. Why did you not wait to walk back to the lodge with your wife?"

The professor swallowed, blew his nose and then said "She asked me to come back."

"Why? Had any word transpired that might help to explain this tragedy?"

"None whatever," repeated Ordell and as he spoke he turned and looked searchingly at Jeff. Then he once more bowed his head into his hands.

The doctor suddenly drew a gun from his pocket and held it so that it covered the group.

"I'm sorry," Robert said steadily, "every hand up or I'll shoot and I don't mean anything but just that. Miss Curtis, will you kindly remove the weapons that you will find on everyone?"

My knees were shaking like the leaves of the storm-beaten, quaking aspen trees that grew near the lodge windows, but, somehow, I forced myself to follow the Doctor's command. He seemed at least, capable and, I prayed, honest.

Professor Ordell astonished me by tossing a revolver onto the table.

To my complete horror and amazement, I found that everyone present, save one and myself carried a gun or knife.

Miss Hansen carried a pair of sharp shears in a sheath of handkerchiefs. Mr. Alberts carried an automatic in his hip pockets. His wife carried a small revolver in her dress. Mr. James had a pistol in his left breast coat pocket. Mrs. James drew a small revolver from the bosom of her dress. Two of the college boys carried knives. Rhumba carried a razor.

Jeff, alone, had no weapon.

EATON'S "LATEX FOAM" REVERSIBLE MATTRESS

a "best seller" because:

You literally 'sleep on air'; every square inch has hundreds of tiny inter-connected air cells whipped right into "Liquid latex" then moulded. This construction, plus air tubes top and bottom, make it literally true; you're sleeping on air!

- You have comfortable support; cushions the body firmly and gently .. depresses easily yet springs back quickly to an even, smooth surface.
- It's dust free; there's no filler in a Latex Foam Rubber Mattress to give off dust or attract moths.
- Air Conditioned; breathes with ever turn you make — air will actually pass right through it.
- Light-as-a-feather; easy to move, lift or reverse.
- Reversible; construction is the same on both sides — even the handsome covering is the same.

Latex Foam Rubber Mattresses are covered with imported cotton damask in a panel pattern. Edges are diamond stitched. Available in all standard sizes.

'Get-Tough' Raids Smash Pyongyang, Other Targets

Around-the-Clock Bombing Reduces Capital to Rubble

By JIM BECKER

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—B-29 superfortresses took over at dusk Friday to make an around-the-clock bombing of Communist installations in the North Korean capital the greatest Allies air blow of the war.

Sixty-five Superforts followed waves of fast United Nations fighter-bombers which left Pyongyang, the capital, and its environs in flames. More than 1,400 tons of bombs were loosed on the rubbled area in a record 1,254 sorties (individual flights).

A record 1,330 sorties against Pyongyang and other targets Friday is part of a new "get-tough" policy which began with the annihilation of key North Korean power installations last month.

War's Biggest Raid

The United States Air Force called the Pyongyang strike "the largest 24-hour effort of the Korean conflict by Far East air forces on one target area."

It came as Gen. J. Lawton Collins, US. Army chief of staff, arrived in Tokyo for conferences with Gen. Mark Clark, U.N. Far East commander, and Gen. Otto P. Weyland, Far East air force commander, who ordered the air action against the Reds.

Even before the devastating night raid, a Tass (Russia) dispatch from Pyongyang, broadcast by Moscow radio and heard in London, termed the 500-plane day attacks "barbaric on a peaceful town which has no military objectives."

Air force spokesmen said, however, the targets were depots, factories and troop installations, some of them spotted months ago on intelligence films and permitted to "ripen."

Lost One Plane

The air force said it lost only one plane—an F-84 Thunderjet—over the target. U.S. and Australian pilots flying on the raid said they probably shot down one Red Mig-15 jet and damaged two others.

Aside from yesterday's raid, five other Allied planes were lost during the week the air force said—two to ground fire and three to causes unknown. The air force said U.N pilots probably bagged one Red Mig and damaged two, all yesterday.

The U.S. Eighth Army reported ground action extremely light.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Hamilton — (CP) — Michael Yaffe, 35, was fatally injured yesterday when his car was hit by a train at an east Hamilton crossing. Police said Yaffe stopped for the train, then changed his mind and started across. The car apparently stalled on the tracks.

Livestock Trade Within Canada Nearly Normal

OTTAWA (CP) — As signs indicate that foot-and-mouth disease has been whipped, trade in livestock within Canada is moving back to normal.

The last of the blanket barriers against interprovincial livestock movements has been ordered down. Nothing now remains except a quarantine around Saskatchewan's small disease area and a permit-entry system in Quebec.

But there is still no answer to the big question: When will the United States again open its border to the $130,000,000-a-year meat and livestock business that was cut off Feb. 25?

Ontario and British Columbia are the latest provinces where restrictions on the entry of prairie livestock or cattle have been removed.

In Ontario, all embargoes against western cattle are being lifted Monday night. British Columbia restrictions — which included some on prairie-killed meat — have been taken off.

Quebec, which originally banned western livestock and fresh-killed carcasses, now is allowing these to enter under a permit system. The step is described as a gradual removal of barriers.

Expectations are that — if current indications of eradication of the disease holdup — the general quarantine in the area around Regina may be lifted late this month.

Brazilian Plane With 31 Aboard Crashes Into Sea

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (Reuters)—Dead bodies were seen floating near the wreckage while survivors swam for shore after a Brazilian military DC-3 with 31 persons aboard crashed into the sea yesterday about 37 miles southwest of Salvador.

Officials said today they believed casualties were heavy. Women and children were among the 28 passengers. The plane crashed soon after reporting engine trouble. A V plane flying over the scene reported seeing what appeared to be floating bodies and survivors swimming for the shore.

Made Big Mistake

ATLANTA (AP)—Alberta Favors [illegible] said a strange man entered her apartment last night, plunged a knife into her side, looked surprised and said:

"Excuse me, I thought you was my wife."

He then fled and she went to a hospital for treatment of the wound not expected to be fatal.

The bewildered victim told police she never had seen the man before, didn't know where he had gone and had no idea why he thought his wife was in her apartment.

14 NEW STATIONS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal communications commission yesterday actually launched its long-promised expansion of television into fresh territory by authorizing 14 new stations.

THE WEATHER

Toronto — (CP) — Synopsis: Cool air will hold maximum temperatures in Northern Ontario on Sunday down to seventy five to eighty degrees. While over the remaining portions of the province afternoon readings will reach 90 or higher. The cooler air has lost most of its push, and southern Ontario has another hot weekend in prospect.

Presence of War Hero, Cattle Breeder Flavors Stampede With Lots of Color

CALGARY (CP)—Wailing bagpipes and swishing kilts accompanied Lord Lovat, British war hero and Scottish cattle breeder, to this week's Calgary Stampede. His presence has flavored the annual western show with a bit of the Bonnie Highlands.

Former Commando leader and now chief of Clan Fraser, Lord Lovat is No. 1 guest and head livestock judge at the celebrated cowboy spectacle.

He could have passed for a Scottish version of Errol Flynn as he strode down the airplane gangplank last Sunday night—tall, slim and debonair.

The war leader's Scottish reserve soon fell prey to the infectious gaiety of the Stampede. He strutted through the sawdust and shavings of the exhibition grounds, chatting with Indians and sun-tanned cowpokes.

No 'Hoot Mon'

Exclamations of "howdy pardner!" with a Scottish accent echoed through the midway as he took time out to savor the roasted peanuts, sizzling hamburgers and other New World delicacies.

It was a relief to come to Calgary, he said, where there is so much color. The home country was "drab and dreary and full of red tape," especially since the war.

While far from running down his own land of the heather, he had to admit that Scots back home don't know how to "let down their hair and go to town."

It was bare legs instead of bow legs for the peer as he sported a Highland kilt. But old sol won over his Scottish pride, and after three days of sweltering heat he had to give up the folds of heavy plaid for a cool grey summer suit.

Rides Coach

To open the Stampede, Lord Lovat lumbered down the main street of Calgary at the head of the parade in an old stage coach—the one that used to run from Truro to Pictou in Nova Scotia a century ago.

Lord Lovat has seen rodeos and cowboy exhibitions from South America to Sydney, Australia, but he agreed "the Calgary Stampede rightly takes its place as the greatest wild west show in the world."

SEVEN SURVIVORS FOUND BY RESCUE PARACHUTE UNIT

Not Know Number Aboard U.S. Bomber

EDMONTON (CP)—A rescue team was reported today to have parachuted to the scene of a wrecked United States B-17 bomber in the Yukon and to have found seven survivors, including three injured with second and third degree burns.

It was not known definitely where the seven comprised all who were aboard the bomber.

The plane was forced down 30 miles northeast of Snag on the Yukon-Alaska border. It is believed the B-17 was sighted by an R.C.A.F. aircraft ordered to search the area when the bomber was overdue at Whitehorse, Y.T., 1,000 miles north of Edmonton.

The rescue team, members of the U.S.A.F. rescue unit at Northway, about 65 miles from where the plane crashed, parachuted at 11:02 p.m. Yukon time (4:02 EDT). An R.C.A.F. helicopter from Whitehorse was due at the wreck scene at 7 a.m. Yukon time (12 noon EDT).

The B-17—part of the U.S.A.F. 10th rescue unit at Elmendorf Field, Alaska—was engaged in the search for an R.C.A.F. Mitchell bomber that has been missing for 12 days with four men aboard on a flight from Mayo, Y.T., to Whitehorse.

Eight Killed When Gas Truck And Car Crash

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)— Two automobiles and a gasoline truck rammed together in a ball of fire and tangled wreckage yesterday, killing eight persons, six of them from one family.

Five of the victims were children of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson, of nearby Selah, who had just taken them swimming in the Naches River. Mrs. Johnson, 38, the truck driver and the second automobile driver were the other victims.

Johnson and another of his children are in critical condition from burns and injuries.

The Johnson automobile, a car 24 years old, apparently pulled onto the highway into the path of the truck. The truck rammed it in the rear and was in turn struik by an automobile just behind it.

MAN KILLED IN FALL

CLINTON — (CP) — Bedford R. Stevens, 64, Kitchener carpenter, died last night of injuries suffered when he fell into an open trench at the RCAF station near here. Employed by contractors for a mess hall at the station, Stevens was moving a ladder when he fell into a five-foot deep trench, striking his head on a pipe.

Economic Crisis Threatens British Columbia Result Of Disputes in Major Industries

VANCOUVER (CP)—A major economic crisis threatens British Columbia, the result of labor disputes in major industries.

Forty thousand workers are idle, including 32,000 men in the forest industry. Tradesmen are on strike or locked out of their jobs on major construction projects and thousands of other employees threaten to quit.

The woodworkers' strike started 28 days ago. Three thousand carpenters in Vancouver and Vancouver Island cities have been idle since June 9. They seek higher wages.

Painters On Strike

The strike of carpenters has made 5,000 allied workers jbless. Painters, too, are on strike in Vancouver and Victoria, 900 of them seeking higher pay.

Merchants are alarmed. All report decreased sales as the workers' cash savings dwindle. Sales in some centres have dropped 30 per cent in every-day commodities, and there has been an almost complete halt in the buying of luxuries.

Government intervention was demanded yesterday by Vancouver merchants. Premier Byron Johnson has refused to intervene, calling the woodworkers' strike illegal because the men walked out before taking a government-supervised strike vote.

Proposals for settlement made by the B.C. Labor Relations Board have been rejected, the first one by labor, and a second by management.

The deadlock in the forest industry dispute came when the 162 major operators refused demands of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) for a 35-cents-an-hour pay increase. The basic wage, based on 1951 contract, is $1.29½ hourly.

With dwindling world markets for B.C. lumber, the operators called for a "hold-the-line" policy with no change in wages. A majority report of a conciliation board, accepted by the operators, recommended no change in pay rates.

COST HEAVY

It has been estimated the strike already has cost woodworkers and operators $28,000,000. The workers have been losing $500,000 a day in wages and the operators another $500,000.

Loss to allied industries and merchants, mounting day by day, will run into other millions. Hundreds of tugboat crews which tow log booms have been left idle.

Six thousand fishermen seeking higher salmon prices have set a strike deadline for July 19. Aother 4,00 shore workers in fish packing plants have asked for a upservised strike vote.

Other labor-wagezs disputes involve 7,212 workers now seeking conciliation boards or strike votes. They include marine engineers, oil workers, bakers, glassblowers, stationers, clothing workers, bargemen, film workers and watchmakers.

European Newspapers Heave Sighs of Relief When Ike Wins Republican Nomination

LONDON (AP)—Most west European newspapers heaved sighs of relief today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—the American they know best—won the Republican presidential nomination. The Communists, as usual, dissented.

In government and diplomatic offices, however, there was a discreet, tactful silence. Officials declined comment for fear of being accused of meddling in United States domestic affairs.

A British Foreign Office spokesman limited his remarks to the statement "Eisenhower is very much admired and respected over here."

Continue U.S. Aid

Most newspapers happily assumed the Republicans' choice meant that, regardless of the outcome of the November presidential election, Europe would be assured of continued U.S. economic and military aid in the fight against Communism

They reasoned that the former North Atlantic Treaty commander knows European needs and will be friendly towards them if elected. If the Democrats win the newspapers fifure, they would continue President Truman's foreign policies.

Some typical European comments:

England—London's independent Times says Eisenhower's victory means that "once more the Republican party has refused to commit itself to a campaign of isolation. It is now certain that the broad stream of American leadership in the world will not be diverted or dry up."

The Liberal Manchester Gardian: "We all like Eisenhower. . . .but we are as ignorant as his countrymen of what precisely he stands for and what kind of men he would get around him if he is elected."

Sweden — Stockholm's Liberal Dagens Nyheter, hitting Sen. Robert A. Taft for "isolatiolism", says Eisenhower's nomination "must be received with pleasure all over the free world."

Approve Foreign Poolicy

The Netherlands—Rotterdam's independent Algemeen Dagblad: "The nomination of Eisenhower proves the Republicans in general approve of the foreign policy so far conducted by the White House. . ."

Germany—Berlin's independent Der Tagesspiegel: "Eisenhower's victory must undoubtedly be considered a victory for those who, in spite of doubts and discontentment still have confidence in Europe."

Italy — Rome's independent Il Tempo predicts Eisenhower will become president and will not forget Europe.

France—Rouen's independent Paris Normandie: "Eisenhower's nomination eliminated from the scene Taft and the anti-European policy of Gen. Douglas MacArthur which Taft supported."

The only sour note came from Communist and extreme left-wing papers. Moscow radio broadcast the fact that Eisenhower won the nomination but made no comment.

Contract Talks Reach Stalemate After Four Days

MONTREAL (CP)—Contract talks between the railroads and 17 unions representing 125,000 non-operating railway employees have reached a stalemate after only four days of negotiations.

In a joint statement, the two sides announced yesterday they have been unable to agree on union demands for a 45-cent-an-hour wage boost beginning Sept. 1 next and have asked for a federal conciliation officer.

The federal Labor Department at Ottawa responded immediately with the promise of a quick appointment.

It is expected the officer will be a member of the staff of the department's industrial relations branch.

Unions' Demands

Along with the 45-cent raise, the employees—those not engaged in the actual operation of trains—seek a union shop, compulsory check-off of union dues by the companies and a cost-of-living bonus of one cent an hour for every one-percent increase in the official cost-of-living index.

They also asked for removal of a so-called emergency clause which requires employees to work hours above the 40-hour week at standard rates of pay in the event of a national emergency.

Railway officials have estimated that the 45-cent increase would boost the payrolls of the two principal companies—Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways—by $150,000,000 a year. This would go up to $167,000,000 if non-union groups were included, as in the past.

SOCIAL CREDIT PARTY WINS B.C. ELECTION

One Seat Not Decided But Likely To Go S.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The alternative voting system, used for the first time in British Columbia in the general election 31 days ago, evidently put Social Credit into office and kept the C.C.F. out.

One seat remained to be decided today and with it the outcome of the June 12 election. But Social Credit is considered a cinch to win the crucial seat.

When the count of second choices began in Vancouver-Point Grey's third seat today, Mrs. Tillie Rolston, Social Credit, held a lead of more than 7,000 votes over her nearest opponent.

The score in seats was tied at 18-18 between Social Credit and the C.C.F., with the Liberals elected to six, Progressive Conservatives to four and Labor to one.

Vote Transfers

The C.C.F. candidate in Point Grey's third seat was the first to be eliminated as the second count began. Analysis of vote transfers in the other two Point Grey seats showed that the C.C.F. had cast their second choices to Social Credit. Mrs. Rolston could be elected on the second count without a third being necessary.

Results in the 47 seats decided showed that alternative voting upset the final outcome in seven seats from what it would have been under the simple "X" system. tris way — the two vital seats in this way—the tw vital seats in Vancouver-Burrard and Fort George, Similkameen and Yale. Though Social Credit trailed on the first count, alternative choices put them ahead on the final tabulation. They snatched three seats from the C.C.F. in this manner and two from the Liberals.

The C.C.F. took Premier Byron Johnson's New Westminster seat on new counts and the Progressive Conservatives won Nanaimo from the C.C.F.

Would Have Won B.C.

If the "X" system had been used, the C.C.F. would have formed the new government with 21 seats and Social Credit the official opposition with 14.

As it is, Social Credit will in all likelihood form a minority government—it will not be able to command the 25 seats in the 48-member house necessary for a working majority—with the C.C.F. the official opposition.

Re-counts will be held in at least three seats — Simillkamen, where the C.C.F. won over the Liberals by 168 votes, and Vancouver-Burrard ballot B, where Social Credit beat out the C.C.F. by 246 votes.

Visitors from Canada, States Spent 22,500,000 Pounds in Britain in '51

By JACK GOLDING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Visitors from Canada and the United States spent an estimated 22,250,000 pounds in Britain during 1951, not including fares, says the 24th annual report of the British Travel and Holidays Association.

Tourist traffic again represented one of the country's chief sources of earning Canadian and American dollars. One-third of Britain's total tourist receipts came from the United States or Canada.

Some 36,000 Canadians visited Britain in 1951, an increase of 5.7 per cent over the previous year. The report notes, however, that there was a tendency for them to spend more time on the continent than previously. Canadians entering the United Kingdom in 1951 spent 5,950,000 pounds, including fares.

U. S. visitors spent 26,400,000 pounds including fare payments, a sum greater than any of Britain's visible exports to the United States and equivalent to 20 per cent of all Britain's physical exports there.

In order of impcrtance in earning U.S. dollars for Britain are: tourists, whisky, woollen yarns and manufactured products, vehicles, other textile manufactures (excluding silk), machinery, pottery, glass, cotton yarns and manufactures.

Britain expects to make 120,000,000 pounds from the tourist business during 1952 largely in Canadian and U.S. dollars.

California Senator Running Mate For General Ike

Convention Leaves Number Party Wounds to Be Healed

By CLYDE R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO (CP)—United States Republicans—"The Grand Old Party"—have chosen a political greenhorn to lead them back from 20 years on the outside.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won an overwhelming victory yesterday over the seasoned and determined Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who in the last three conventions has seen his hopes of succeeding his father in the White House go for nothing. He will not try again.

A few hours after the convention selected Eisenhower on the first ballot and went on to make it unanimous, he had chosen 39-year-old Senator Richard Nixon of California as his running mate and the convention quickly completed the slate.

Nixon is a war veteran, a former member of the House of Representatives and a leading figure in the congressional anti-Communist activities. He figured in the conviction of Alger Hiss former State Department employee, on perjury charges.

United On Surface

Outcome of the boisterous, and acrimonious convention left the party united on the surface but undoubtedly with a lot of wounds that will be hard to heal.

Eisenhower, 62, stood out as the most fortunate candidate, perhaps, that could be chosen. He only came into the active picture last month and had no previous political connections.

His victory was looked upon as due to his great popular appeal as one man who can be expected to beat the Democrats next November—a job the G.O.P. hasn't been able to do since 1928

He also won political advantage when eager and over-enthusiastic Taft followers were accused of using machine methods to prevent Eisenhower delegates from being seated from some of the southern states, including Texas and Georgia.

Eisenhower forces used the plain word "steal" and that was something the people could understand. The Taft forces chose to battle the charges on the floor of the convention—Eisenhower forces would have made the same demand in any event—and they were beaten. From then on it was all Eisenhower.

He won the Republican nomination on the first ballot—as many followers confidently predicted—and the party made it unanimous a little later.

Unhappy Figure

The unhappy figure of this week's boisterous and weird doings in Chicago was Senator Robert Alphonse Taft, son of a president, who saw his great hopes dashed in a humiliating fashion. He has said he will never try again.

But Taft was not publicly sorrowful. A few minutes after the news was flashed downtown from the stockyards amphitheatre, he was visited in his hotel quarters by the victorious Eisenhower.

Eisenhower Calls On Senator Taft After Election

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called on Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio shortly after his triumph today over the senator for the Republican presidential nomination.

The general came across the street from his Blackstone hotel quarters to Taft's suite in the Conrad Hilton hotel.

When Eisenhower and Taft came out of their conferece they chatted amiably, both smiling broadly and posed together before television cameras.

"You'll win the election," Taft told the general at one point

Finally a measure of quiet was restored and Taft said:

"I want to congratulate Gen. Eisehower on his nomination and assure him I will do everything possible for him in his campaign and after he wins the election." Eisenhower, who had taken the initiative in this dramatic bid to heal party wounds, said he had come across the street "to pay a call of friendship on a very great American."

Prime Minister Denies Charge In Advertisements

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que., — (CP)—Prime Minster St. Laurent last night termed "absolutely false" paid Union Nationale newspaper advertisements saying that the federal Liberal party is footing the bill for the Quebec Liberals in the July 16 election.

The advertisements, said Georges Lapalme, Quebec Liberal leader, is "drawing money from an Ottawa electoral fund for his publicity, his salary and his campaign."

Mr. St. Laurent told newspapermen:

"I prefer not to say what I think of such false statements."

Heavy Agenda For Town Council Is Transacted

CAMPBELLFORD, July 12 — The Campbellford town council met this week with all present and Mayor W. A. Kingston in the chair.

A letter was received from W. A. Anderson, division engineer of the Department of Highways, in which Mr. Anderson said the department would accept no share of the cost of establishing a blinker light on Bridge St. E., on a bad curve on the outskirts of town. The curve has been the scene of one or two bad accidents and numerous minor crashes have occurred at the spot.

Council asked to have a blinker light installed at the curve or to have a 15 mile per hour speed limit set for that particular stretch of highway. The curve is not a true engineering curve, but was referred to as a 'kink' by the department. Council decided to take no action regarding the blinker light, but felt the 15 mile per hour speed limit should be laid down. Proper signs and a reflector will be erected.

P. G. O'Sullivan, local insurance agent, asked about the liability insurance the town carried. He said it was too low and the present policy had 11 restrictions and exclusions. He outlined a new and broader policy the town could buy at an additional premium of $130 a year, and after much discussion, council decided to take out the new policy at premium of $369. The new policy covers the community arena, town employees and councillors and anything the town might be held liable for by law.

Many Opinions Given.

Discussion regarding the enforcing of by-laws relative to traffic regulations brought forth many varied opinions. Councillor Maybee and Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason complained that they are being blamed for having the parking by-laws enforced and were very upset over the criticism being levelled at them, when they have nothing to do with it. Councillor Maybee said he did not think the parking problem was serious enough to necessitate both policemen patrolling Front St., while cars sped across the bridge on Bridge Street on open nights at 50 and 60 miles an hour." He felt the police would do more good checking speeders than they would chalking tires.

Councillor A. F. Collette, chairman of the police committee, said that if any member is blamed for enforcing the by-laws to send the person making the complaint to see him, as he was enforcing the traffic by-laws and would continue to do so with the support of council.

Councillor Isobel Tatham said she did not see why anyone had to make apologies for enforcing the laws, and said to Deputy Reeve Mason and councillor Maybee that for every person who criticized the efforts of council, there were a hundred more who congratulated them. She said that traffic conditions in the town were better now than they had been in many months and she wanted to see the police continue to enforce the traffic regulations.

Need for Another Man

Councillor Collette said that it was impossible to work the two policemen eight hours a day each and still give the town 24 hour hour police protection. He said there was a need for another man on the force.

Councillor Tatham said that if the two councillors were to take the attitude that they did not want the laws enforced that they might just as well tear up their by-laws and let motorists do as they like. Deputy Reeve Mason said he wanted to see the laws enforced, but did not want to accept the whole blame for enforcing them. Councillor Collette said he would have a notice published in the local press saying he was responsible for enforcing the by-laws and this will be done next week.

Councillor Free reported for the legal committee, and read a report from the town solicitor, N. Alex MacColl, stating the town was not liable if a pedestrian was struck while crossing the street within one of the painted crosswalks. Councillor Maybee asked for the report as he claimed the town would be responsible if a pedestrian were struck, due to the fact council had painted the crosswalks on the roadway for the protection of the public. The present by-law will be amended to include the two recently painted crosswalks, one on Front Street north and one near the post office, and this will be submitted to the department of highways for approval.

Reports on Progress

Councillor Free also reported on the progress made in drawing up the restricted industrial areas of the town. He said a bare minimum estimate of the cost of zoning the town would be about $250 according to the town solicitor, and asked council whether or not they wanted to go ahead with the plan this year.

Councillor A. F. Collette was in favor of shelving the plan until council found out more about it, but as the plan of fact finding is part of the ground work of the project council decided to go ahead with the groundwork and to eventually draw up and pass the by-law restricting certain classes of building in various sections.

J. C. Birmingham, tax collector, reported he had collected $63,848.46 in 1952 taxes as well as $5,096.98 of arrears which he considered better than last year at the same time. This represents over half the taxes.

Permission was granted to the Campbellford Rotary Club to use Bridge Street East, for their street carnival on the three nights of July 10-11-12.

A civic reception committee consisting of Mayor W. A. Kingston, Reeve R. J. Locke and Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason and Councillor Isobel Tatham was named to look after the entertainment and welcoming of three double deck buses from London, England, which will be in town on a goodwill tour on Wednesday, July 30. Councillor Tatham said she would prepare tea for the visitors and Mayor Kingston said that all members of council should be present to meet the buses on the outskirts of the town, and accept a ride on them.

A grant of $500 which had previously been approved and budgeted for was made to the Campbellford Hospital and was added to the pay sheet on a motion by Reeve R. J. Locke.

Reeve Locke said he believed the town should have a smoke by-law and as this had been discussed in the past with the town solicitor, the legal committee was instructed to prepare a by-law for presentation at the next meeting.

Council adjourned after passing the pay sheet.

'You Are Not a Glory Hopper' Winston Churchill Once Said Of New Republican Nominee

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister Winston Churchill once turned to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and said in his own version of mid-west U. S. slang: "What I like about you, Ike, is you ain't no glory hopper."

Churchill meant by this remark that he liked the way Eisenhower had been content to let others get credit for the glories of victory which the Allied forces were winning in the Second World War.

Since then, a great many Americans have come to like Ike. Some of them like him so well that members of the Republican party nominated him today as their candidate for next president of the U.S.

The first faint indication of Eisenhower's political appeal came more than eight years ago with a single tub-thump in New York City. It came from the American Legion's Tank Corps Post No. 715 which went on record boosting Ike as a presidential candidate.

That was in September, 1943, after the Allied conquest of North Africa and Sicily and during the invasion of Italy, when Ike's popularity was running high in the U.S.

Few paid much attention to it and when word reached Ike he was quoted as saying: "Baloney."

But somewhere along the line he changed his mind and the soldier from the plains of Kansas is candidate Eisenhower as well as General Eisenhower.

Ike was born Oct. 14, 1890, in Denison, Tex. Later his family moved to Abilene, Kas., where Ike was raised.

Father Eisenhower worked in a creamery to support his five sons, Ike and brothers Arthur, Edgar, Earl and Milton who now is president of Pennsylvania State College.

After high school, Ike was appointed to the U. S. Military Academy in the class of 1915. He was 25 and a second lieutenant when he left West Point

He gradually climbed up the ladder of military rank, earning a reputation as a good executive officer and also as a tank expert. From 1935 to 1940 he was chief of staff to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then planning the defences for the Philippines.

Spectacular Rise

In 1941 Ike attracted the attention of Gen. George Marshall, then U. S. Army chief of staff, for his handling of troop manoeuvres in Louisiana. After that his rise was spectacular.

In 1942 he was sent to Britain to command U. S. troops in the European theatre of operations.

When he was named Supreme Allied Commander he was promoted to general of the army, the highest rank awarded in the U.S. Army.

After the war he returned to Washington to become army chief of staff. He resigned that post in 1948 to become president of Columbia University.

Two years later he was back in uniform as military chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Orgahization.

Then last year the political boom for Eisenhower as a presidential candidate began.

Complaining that a transport driver had assaulted him without provocation. Ralph McMurter, R. R. 5 Belleville, told police that he had been knocked off his motorcycle when struck by the fist of the driver.

McMurter told police the transport driver called to him as he passed and said he wanted to see him. McMurter pulled off Front street onto McAnnany Street and said the transport driver approached him and struck him with his fist.

32-Foot Yacht Strikes Sunken Pier, Sinks

CAMPBELLFORD — A 32-foot yacht, the "Lady Minta," owned by E. N. Nourse of Toronto, is resting on the bottom of Bradley Bay following a mishap Wednesday in the waters of the Trent, about six miles south of Campbellford. The vessel is believed to have strayed from the channel and struck a submerged cement pier, causing it to take water.

The boat was once owned by the late James Kerr of Campbellford and former owner of the Gilbert House in Trenton. It was purchased some time ago by E. N. Nourse of Toronto. Aboard the boat were Mr. and Mrs. Nourse and another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stamford Warrington also of Toronto. The craft is a modern pleasure yacht equipped with many conveniences and the fact that a two-way radio is installed in the boat proved its worth on Wednesday.

After striking the submerged object, Mr. Nourse immediately started the emergency pumps but they were not able to handle the water and the engine room was soon flooded, allowing the boat to drift helplessly. The four occupants began bailing as the boat drifted into more shallow water. Mr. Nourse spotted an R.C.A.F. plane from the Trenton air base and succeeded in contacting the pilot by radio. The plane flew low over the craft and immediately began making signals at a couple of other smaller motor boats whose occupants were fishing some distance away. The pilot succeeded in directing Frank Fort and William Jacobson both of Cleveland, Ohio, to the stranded yacht, which was rapidly sinking. The yacht went down in a weed bed near the shore of Bradley Bay one mile east of Hendrick's summer resort. Fort and Jacobson took the yacht's dinghy and its crew back to the Hendrick's resort where they made plans to salvage it.

All efforts to raise the ship on Thursday proved to no avail, and Mr. Nourse has returned to Toronto.

DRUNK? DON'T SAIL

TORONTO (CP) — Laws covering drunken drivers have been extended to cover operators of motorboats or sailing craft on Toronto harbor. The Toronto Harbor Commission said yesterday that under a new bylaw drunk-driving charges can be laid against an offender.

HOUSING No. 11

"HOUSE GROUPING"

House Grouping is essentially a problem that arises in the building up of a new area although it has a very important application in the building up of the remaining lots available in an otherwise built up area.

I am not at the moment considering Project Building. People only live in Projects when forced to by circumstance. These remarks are confined to dwellings and apartments specially built to meet a demand for homes and apartments that will have an appeal through design and grouping as well as cost.

Apartments can be built in good residential areas without disturbing the character of the area if properly designed and the number and sizes of suites carefully balanced in keeping with the neighborhood. For instance a ranch style one-storey house could be built with say two wings that could contain 4 to 6 families: 2 larger families and 2 or 4 couples. It should do credit to the appearance of the neighborhood and not create a crowd of children. On the other hand, an apartment block type building in a similar area could be very objectionable if it crowded in 6 large families.

Many varieties and styles of semi-detached dwellings and particularly duplexes can be built in residential restricted areas without harming the area in any way if well designed.

The answer to Grouping is more attention to Design which in turn puts the onus on the builder. The builder must be coached by the Municipality if he is not alert to his responsibility. More co-operation is required if we as a Municipality desire to improve our standard of housing. Indifference generally leads to indifference by the builder.

Study groups should be encouraged by the City and information made available to builders to encourage them in the knowledge and technique required in the choice of suitable plans for homes and apartments. Advice, teaching and knowledge will encourage good building efforts, whereas it is possible to restrict builders out of business and our land be used up wastefully.

Definitely a study of the pros and cons of Row Housing should be made. Recently we have the facts pictured before us whereas in Toronto, Row Houses that had deegnerated into slums were being purchased and torn down at public expense and replaced with apartment blocks.

Stained-Glass Windows of Old Now Duplicated

(By STUART SAYERS)

LONDON (Reuters) — Now that they know how to duplicate the "imperfections" that made the stained-glass windows of the Middle Ages so beautiful, Britain's modern-day stained-glass artists claim they can equal the best that the ancient artists produced.

In one of Britain's stained-glass studios, in the North London suburb of St. John's Wood, skilled artists patiently piece together a jig-saw of thousands of bits of glass to create modern masterpieces.

H. Pawle, a partner in the firm, estimates the number of craftsmen employed throughout Britain making stained glass windows is only "a few hundred." There are about 70 recognized stained-glass artists, the key men of the craft who design the windows.

Must Know Bible

The designer must not only be a skilled artist but must also have a knowledge of heraldry, costume, history, church architecture and the Bible. He must make sure that his window fits in surroundings in theme and period.

The secret of the old windows of the Middle Ages, lies, according to experts, in the fact that the glass was hand-made and "imperfect." It was full of bubbles and streaks and graduations of color which gave the light passing through it a quality that later missed.

The Victorians used colored sheet glass for their early windows but it was realized by the 1860s that this was too "perfect."

After years of experiment, the fine "antique" glass of today was evolved. All the imperfections of the ancient hand-made glass were deliberately reproduced, and with them came the glorious colors.

All by Hand

The making of a stained-glass window is a long, painstaking process. Even the electric kiln in which the glass is fired is regulated, not by thermometer, but according to the expert judgment of the craftsman who tends it.

The artist's scale design of the window is worked up by other artists into a full-size drawing. The cutter uses the drawing as guide to cut the odd, jig-saw pieces from glass sheets.

From the cutting-room the glass goes to the painters who trace the outline of the design, assemble the whole panel and cover it with a wash of pigment. The painter then etches off the highlights and passes the glass on for firing.

The last process is the glazing, when each piece is fixed by hand into its place in the leads.

Buenos Aires, South America's Colorful Capital

By BETTY DROIT
(Reprinted from the Christian Science Monitor.)

The hardest thing to get used to in living in Buenos Aires, I have found, is that the dinner hour is late. You can't get dinner anywhere before eight, and in some places it's 8:30. Even that to these people is early, and they think nothing of eating dinner at 9 and 10. As a result, they have developed the custom of having tea late in the afternoon—another habit I've gotten used to. Then again dinner is a full-course meal. So you can see I'm not starving!

Another interesting sidelight on food is that in shopping for food everything is very specialized. You buy fruit in a "fruiteria", bread in a "panaderia", cake in a "confiteria", milk in a "lecheria", etc. There are some nice little stores near where I live for all these things.

There are many darling children here, and people keep them beautifully; and fuss over them a great deal. Small children invariably wear white, and always have crisp, clean white suits or dresses on. Girls have their ears pierced when they're very young —even a few weeks old—and wear tiny gold earrings.

The people here have a more leisurely attitude toward life than we do, and perhaps their most noticeable characteristic is that they love to talk. They'll go on talking even though you don't understand a word of what they're saying. They're usually very helpful, though, if you attempt to make yourself understood in Spanish.

You're exposed to such necessity for speaking the language in everyday life that you can't help but asborb a certain amount. So far I've learned nice little phrases to ask for things or for information, but then can't understand what they say in reply! Some of the stores have signs in the windows, "English Spoken" and "On parle Francais." Sometimes if they see that you don't speak Spanish they'll ask, "Parlez-vous Francais?" and I can usually at least make myself somewhat understood in French. Then again you'll struggle for ten minutes to make yourself understood in Spanish, only to have the person suddenly say, "Do you speak English?"

There are shops here of every imaginable nature on many of the side streets, as well as on Florida. There are two large department stores on Florida—Cath & Chaves, and Harrod's. Although these are English stores, there is not much English spoken.

At the other end of Florida is the Plaza San Martin. I think this probably the prettiest part of Buenos Aires. Incidentally there are lots of cats that run wild in the park there. Two of the best hotels, the Plaza San Martin, and also nice shops and apartment buildings. The river is just a few blocks from the Plaza.

Avenida Santa Fe joins Florida at the Plaza San Martin, and this is a nice broad avenue with more shops, somewhat comparable, I guess, to New York's Fifth Avenue. Corrientes, a street running parallel a few blocks away, is the 'Great White Way" of Argentina. A few blocks of it are lined with movies. They have many American movies now, with Spanish titles.

The Embassy is on a street called Presidente Roque Saenz Pena (or more familiarly Diagonal Norte), which is more of a business section. At the end of this street is another plaza and a monument called the Obelisk which looks just like the Washington Monument.

I forgot to mention that flowers here are abundant and beautiful. They even have flower stalls on the streets—reminiscent of San Francisco!

There are probably lots of things I've overlooked, but it's time I bring this rambling travelogue to a close! I'm going to take a guided tour of the city one of these days, and then I can write you more. Meantime, I hope this gives you a better idea of what Buenos Aires is like.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

Angel Voices Ever Singing

Angel voices, ever singing
Round Thy throne of light,
Angel harps forever ringing,
Rest not, day nor night!
Thousands only live to bless Thee,
And confess Thee
Lord of might.

Thou who art beyond the farthest
Mortal eye can scan,
Can it be that Thou regardest
Songs of sinful man?
Can we feel that Thou art near us,
And wilt hear us?
Yes, we can.

Here, great God, today we offer
Of Thine own to Thee;
And for Thine acceptance proffer
All unworthily,
Hearts and minds, and hands and voices,
In our choicest
Melody.

Honor, glory, might and merit,
Thine shall ever be;
Father, Son, and Holy Spirit,
Blessed Trinity;
Of the best that Thou has given
Earth and Heaven
Render Thee.

The Rev. Francis Pott, author of "Angel Voices" was serving as curate of Ardingly, Berkshire, England, when one day in 1861, a delegation from a nearby parish in Lancashire called upon him.

"We're planning a service to dedicate our new church organ," the visitors announced. "Will you write a special hymn for the occasion?"

The young curate who had graduated from Oxford University only a few years earlier had already written some hymns which were beginning to win him fame throughout England. He accepted the invitation of the Lancashire Christians and turned out the verses reproduced above in time for the organ festival.

Sir Arthur Sullivan, famous composer of music for "The Mikado," "Pirates of Penzance," "Pinafore" and other popular operettas, and for Dr. Sabine Baring-Gould's hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," wrote the tune to which Pott's dedicatory hymn is sung today.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

NEIGHBORS

Although birds of the same species will not tolerate each other, those of different kinds are quite willing to share a territory. Naturally, much depends upon how much variety there is in any special area, and its suitability for nesting sites, but the number of pairs occupying a small space is sometimes surprising. Many a summer cottage on a 2½ acre plot beside a little lake offers homes for shore birds, semi-domestic, lovers of partly cleared land, and forest dwellers. More than 40 species and several hundred birds may live within our own boundary.

A quiet bay brings stately great blue herons, small spotted sandpipers, and American mergansers. Should a sand bank be handy, rattling kingfishers are apt to dig themselves a cosy bedroom at the end of a long tunnel. Marshy ground entices the gregarious red-winged blackbirds; moist woods are ideal breeding spots for shy veerys.

There are chummy birds too, attracted by our presence. Our home soon becomes the home of barnswallows also. A bird house with an entrance cut to fit tree swallows may be a cause of conflict. The pugilistic house wrens usually win out, stuffing the doorway to suit their own dimensions.

Birds Take Over

Neglect our country house at nesting season, and swifts may take possession of our chimney, compelling us to do without a fire for fear of smoking out a young family. Catbirds often build their untidy nests in small trees or bushes close to our verandahs, yet are easily frightened away, as are the handsome rose-breasted grosbeaks.

Robins that make such a fuss at our comings and goings usually persist in claiming a corner on some beam; and unless a squirrel or a feathered enemy interferes, chipping and song sparrows, myrtle and chestnut-sided warblers, redstarts, and purple finches nest a stone's throw from our front steps.

Supplied with a flower garden, hummingbirds make their inconspicuous headquarters on a nearby limb, while the red-eyed vireo sings his eternal song not many yards distant. And when we imagine that all the nestlings will soon be grown enough to fly, along comes a pair of gay goldfinches, or slick cedar waxwings, who are only just beginning to think of housekeeping. Meanwhile a kingbird, policeman of Birdland, guards his own, and incidentally his neighbours' homes.

With the forest encroaching on our back door, woodpeckers, nuthatches, chickadees, and creepers visit us. Sweet voiced hermit thrushes and loud oven-birds are heard, and at night we find that whip-poor-wills share our territory.

NO OPEN SEASON FOR POLICE

Quebec, it is generally conceded, is the most tolerant of the ten Canadian provinces. But in one respect the Quebec authorities are a good deal less tolerant than those elsewhere, and we are glad of it. In Quebec, a policeman is not allowed to batter people for no reason at all.

In Montreal recently, Mr. Justice Elphege Marier ordered the city of Montreal to pay damages of $280 to one Frank Loicano, a storekeeper who was set upon and beaten by a Montreal policeman. Constable Leo Carol.

Loicano told the judge that he had stepped out of his store to investigate a disturbance nearby. He said he was then attacked by Constable Carol, who, after beating Loicano with his blackjack, loaded him into a police cruiser and took him to jail. Later, Loicano was charged with resisting an officer. The recorder (police magistrate) dismissed this charge when Constable Carol failed to appear as a witness.

Constable Carol's version of the assault was that he was engaged in breaking up a Communist demonstration or gathering at the time Loicano was beaten. Although Carol did not specifically say so, the inference of his remarks was that Loicano looked like a Communist and therefore deserved a good beating, just on general principles.

Mr. Justice Marier's decision indicates that he does not believe that people, even those who look like Communists or who operate businesses near where Communists stage demonstrations, should be either beaten or arrested until after they have committed some specific offence.

Mr. Justice Marier's attitude is deserving of the warmest commendation. Furthermore, we have no hesitation in holding him up as a shining example to Ontario judges, magistrates and police commissions. There have been in recent years a good many cases in which citizens, including citizens with no criminal record, have complained about being beaten by policemen and have got exactly nowhere with their complaints. These occurrences are more common in Toronto than elsewhere.

PRIME MINISTER OR PREMIER

What is the difference between a premier and a prime minister? Most Canadian newspapers, if not all of them, use the expression "prime minister" to describe the head of the federal government only, and refer to the head of each of the provincial governments as "premier."

But newspaper style is not necessarily correct. The Canadian Almanac identifies Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, along with his other titles, as "prime minister." But the same publication calls Hon. Leslie Frost "prime minister" too, although it refers to each of the other provincial government heads as "premier."

While the Canadian Almanac calls Hon. Maurice Duplessis "premier," advertisements in various Quebec newspapers, published in connection with the current provincial election campaign, refer to Mr. Duplessis as "prime minister of Quebec," and not as "premier."

Perhaps either expression is correct in any instance. Or maybe only the chief of the federal government and the chiefs of the two largest provinces are deemed important enough to be called "prime minister."

NEW WEAPONS

Strange weapons are being used by the Communists in Korea. The Canadians have been under fire from high explosives. They are not sure just what is being thrown at them, but they do appreciate that whatever it is, it is powerful stuff.

There is nothing strange about Canadians being under fire from new forms of warfare. The first gas attack in history was unleashed against the Canadians at Ypres in 1915.

What could be happening in Korea is a repeat of what happened in Spain. During the civil strife in Spain both Hitler and Mussolini tried out new methods of assault. Dive bombers and tanks were combined in terror attacks. It was a rehearsal for the day when Hitler would launch his war against the West, and when Mussolini would come in like the jackal.

The Russians could be trying out new weapons and munitions in Korea. It would give an opportunity to test these under actual battle conditions. That always gives a better realization of performance.

Before long the Canadians in Korea will be finding out more about the new business. They may have to organize large raids to get their hands on the surprise weapons. But, the men from this Dominion have a way of finding out. — (Windsor Star.)

Much of Canada's mineral production comes from the pre-Cambrian shield in which ores were stored millions of years ago.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Coyprighi, 1952, Edgar A. Guest)

THE CARELESS MAN

He dropped his hat upon a chair;
He left his paper on the floor,
And she would sigh to see them there.
Now they'll be missed forever more.

It often bothered her to see
His bedroom sadly disarrayed.
With just a little thought, and he
Would save the extra care he made.

But now, no more with muddy feet
He comes the floor she sweeps to track,
And all about the home is neat.
She'd like to have his footprints back.

The days and nights seem long, for he
No more can cause her needless care,
But she would smile with joy to see
His hat upon the hallway chair.

Not Too Old, Says Barkley

Vice-president Alben W. Barkley tells Washington reporters that he does not consider his age — 74 — a handicap to his chances to win the Democratic presidential nomination which, he announced, he was contesting. He declared that no Democrat should be nominated who "repudiates the New Deal and the Fair Deal." Barkley said he would not make any speeches prior to the convention nor would he seek out any delegations. — Central Press Canadian.

Churchill Old Man in Point Of Years But There is No Sign Of Senility in His Performance

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Winston Churchill is an old man in point of years, but there's still no sign of senility in his performance as Prime Minister or in Parliament.

At an extraordinarily buoyant 77—he'll be 78 in November—Churchill is as cocky and commanding as ever.

Recently there have been reports that Churchill, with five decades of active politics behind him, is tired and ailing, a shadow of his former self, that some of his followers would like to see him give way to a younger man. There appears to be little substance in such stories.

From all the external evidence, the Prime Minister seems to be fighting fit. People who have watched him in the House of Commons, day after day, resort to words like fantastic and amazing in describing his performance.

'Old Man' Never Better

His physical condition is a private matter between himself and his personal physician, Lord Moran. Reports from other sources may be little better than hearsay, though several Conservatives say their impression is the "old man" was never better.

His one concession to the years is a hearing aid, which he wears when the occasion warrants. He started wearing it after a heavy cold, followed by a bout of catarrh—one of his few recent ailments.

As for reports of party dissension over Churchill continuing as boss man, there are few Conservatives who will admit that any such feeling, if it exists at all, goes further than an occasional lament at the Premier's insistence on trying to do too much himself.

Most conservative back-benchers affirm Churchill was never better loved or more dominantly in power than he is today.

—Sonorous Words—

He still revels in parliamentary rough and tumble. The Churchillian tongue dwells with all its old delight on sonorous words and such aphorisms as his recent:

"A prisoner of war is a man who tries to kill you and fails, and then asks you not to kill him."

A back-bench Conservative member, who asked not to be quoted by name, said that reports about discontent with Churchill's leadership started with Communist and left-wing papers. This informant said he has attended nearly all the meetings of the 1922 committee of the Conservative party, and has never heard any criticism of Churchill.

Two weeks ago the Tories gave a private luncheon for Churchill. It was felt that if any criticisms were to be made they would be heard then. But none was forthcoming, and the Premier made plain that as long as his good health continued he would remain in the saddle.

The "old man" still works punishing hours. When he went back to Downing Street last October the secretaries went on a three-shift basis.

Loves Full Life

His eating and drinking are legendary—and probably exaggerated. Although he undoubtedly loves a full life and the things that go with it, insiders say he is reasonably moderate. He favors champagne, Brandy and scotch and soda, but nurses a glass of scotch so tenderly it may last several hours. The cigar which is his trademark is often unlighted, put there "because people expect it."

So in this, the eighth decade of his life, Churchill still is a remarkable man, defying age with exuberance, convinced the country has need of him, regarding—in the words of a recent article in the Times—"national politics as the war in which, for him, there is no discharge.-

Harriman, Kefauver, Blast G.O.P. In Democratic Campaign Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic aspirants to the presidency have begun their attacks on the 1952 Republican platform.

Averell Harriman, the Mutual Security Administrator, called it "one of the most unconvincing documents of all time." Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee said it gave "wastebasket treatment" to labor's proposals and made the American worker "the forgotten man."

Harriman, campaigning in Michigan, told reporters yesterday he got a laugh out of the Republican platform assertion that Russia is waiting for the United States to go broke.

"What Stalin wants," he said, "are Republican reactionaries in power."

Harriman has a date with labor leaders in Detroit today. Kefauver flew to Boston yesterday to meet delegates to the Democratic national convention opening in Chicago July 21. Then he flew back to Illinois.

He predicted he will be nominated on the fifth or sixth ballot and said Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia is likely to be his "most formidable opponent."

In another development, Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D Roosevelt, predicted that the Democrats will nominate Harriman or Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. He said, however, that he will be "one of the millions of Democrats" voting for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in November if the general gets the Republican nomination.

Strength for the Day

WORD OF LIFE

Some weeks ago reference was made in this column to the power of the Bible in the life of the nation. This is a good subject always to keep in mind; so I venture again to offer the opinion of some who have indeed discovered in the Bible words of eternal life.

Said Washington, "It is impossible rightly to govern the world without God and the Bible."

Woodrow Wilson in a public address said: "I ask every man and woman in this audience that from this day on they will realize that part of the destiny of America lies in their daily perusal of this great book."

General Eisenhower remarks: "To read the Bible is to take a trip to a far land where the spirit is strengthened and faith renewed."

J. Edgar Hoover's comment is: "The Bible is the unfailing guide which points the way for men to the perfect life."

Gen. Douglas McArthur has written this: "Believe me, sir, never a night goes by, be I ever so tired, but I read the Word of God before I go to bed."

Robert A. Vogeler, the American businessman imprisoned by the Communist government in Hungary wrote, "I treated my Bible as one treats a priceless possession . . . it gave me strength and assurance for what to my knowledge at that time were the interminable years ahead."

Letter to the Editor

The Editor:

I would appreciate the opportunity of commenting upon your editorial, "English Changes, Too,"

I feel that your ultimate paragraph contains within itself the seeds of its own destruction and. hence, that of the implied criticism contained in the complete editorial.

Writers and speakers of slipshod English, or of any other language for that matter, may conceivably be able to think clearly; it is hardy likely that they will be able to express their ideas clearly and accurately without a sound knowledge of grammar and syntax.

Are you not, in fact, condoning a form of apathy, a fault which permits your type-setter to spell "syntax" incorrectly, twice in one article?

Our university graduates are the scientific, educational, industrial, and commercial leaders of the future; ought they not to be able to express themselves in good, wholesome, English, untainted by the language of the comic strip?

The world changes, we change, and English changes, too, but let it not be said, Sir, that you "ain't got no discrimination".

R. J. A. Turner,
Belleville.

MAGNESIA NOT GOOD FOR CHILDREN

Is it advisable to put milk of magnesia in every bottle the baby gets every day? Four mothers I know do so. One says her five months old baby has taken four large bottles of milk of magnesia. Some of these mothers read your column . . . (Mrs. A. M. C.)

The best way to deprive the body of calcium is to give magnesium (milk of magnesia, Epsom salts), according to one authority (Meltzer), and other authorities (Mendel, Benedict) have shown that magnesium forces calcium from the system.

Heaven knows most of us suffer from calcium deficiency anyway.

Bastedo, another recognized authority, says:

"It would seem that there must be danger in the repeated administration of magnesia, at least to children or to those with fractured bones or bad teeth."

The conductor of this health service, who is no authority about anything, would add to Bastedo's statement—

. . . "or to those with chronic rheumatiz, adult tetany (as manifested by painful nocturnal leg cramps) or C V D."

It was the routine practice in the nineteenth century to use lime water in the "formula' 'for making up the baby's food, usually a fluid ounce of it to the mixture for the day. This, as some eminent specialist opined, prevented the formation of large curds in the digestive tract — and curdling of milk (which is actually a normal part of the digestive process) obviously accounted for "intestinal indigestion," "colic", "constipation" and other infantile complaints which were more likely due to wrong feeding and/or unnatural interference — with enemas, castor oil etc.

Milk of magnesia is a mixture or suspension of magnesium hydroxide in water. Lime water is a solution of calcium hydroxide in water. Magnesium hydroxide (hydrate) is a stronger alkali or antacid than calcium hydroxide and it has laxative or cathartic action which lime water has not.

Infants subjected to regular doses of milk of magnesia are out of luck.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Lucky Kids

We are happy to report that since we adopted your suggestion, to let children wear or leave off whatever they prefer in any weather or circumstance, our children have enjoyed better health than ever before . . . (R. A. H.)

Answer — May I congratulate the children on the good sense of their parents?

Dread of Atrocity

I have hemorrhoids but am afraid of operation because friends who have been through it say they suffered more in the days and nights after the operation than ever before . . . (M. G.)

Answer — Send self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on Piles. There will be no such suffering if the modern ambulent, office, injection treatment is applicable.

Painful Leg Ulcer

I shall always be grateful for your advice — I kept chamomile tea dressings on my ulcer for a week, with complete relief of pain and, after about a month, complete healing . . . (Mrs. K. C.)

Answer — It is a simple home treatment. Steep dried chamomile flowers (called Roman, English, German or whatnot) as you would tea, and keep gauze dressings constantly wet with the tea.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

We casual gardeners, as distinguished from the amateur gardeners who love it and know something about it, should recollect that it is not the earth but what is in the earth that makes things grow. The chemicals, the organic matter are what plants search for in the earth. Earth itself is the mere container of the food of plants.

I heard of a man who bought one of these new NHA houses and tried to develope a lawn in front and a garden behind. Since the land the house was built on had been eight feet below the surface for about a million years, until a bulldozer came along and levelled it off, there was not a vestige of organic matter in it, and few if any chemicals of interest to plants. A farmer friend of his told him to plant potatoes on his front lawn and backyard, after treating the earth with commercial fertilizer; and then plow the potatoes under in the fall.

He did so. With generous doses of fertilizer, he grew a lush crop of potatoes, interspersed with luxuriant weeds. These he had all plowed under in the autumn. This made a foundation of organic matter on which he placed sods. And this summer he has a good lawn. His garden flourishes. The farmer told him that clover and some other plants would have enriched the soil just as well as potatoes; but he said that the use of potatoes was unusual enough to remind the houseowner for the rest of his life that you have got to put something into the earth in order to take something out of it, whether grass, flowers or anything else.

Amateur gardeners never waste an ounce of the organic matter they trim off their gardends — weeds, stalks, grass cuttings, faded flowers, all go into a large box, one board deep, sunk in the shady corner of the garden.. To this they add all the potato peelings and other vegetable refuse they can pinch from the kitchen. They treat it now and then with chemicals to excite its decomposition. In autumn, they spread this lovingly on the beds and borders, a ghastly stew. But it is giving back the earth the things that were extracted from it in the bright blooming summer.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

I got to thinking of my many blessings last night — and fell asleep naming them over! That's the way it is — we have so many blessings we forget all about expressing our thanks for them, and they come from all directions. God, however, is the greatest giver of them.

Most of us have reasonable health, many friends, a love of freedom such as few peoples ever have had, opportunities almost endless — if we grasp them as they appear, and the privilege to think as we please, worship as we please, and with the power to protest to the highest authorities without the risk of being shot for such privilege!

Not until we are deprived of many of our blessings do we come to realize their worth to us. When we are ill we think of the great blessing of health, and not until we have nothing do we learn what it means to have nothing!

THESE BLESSINGS OF OURS

Most of our blessings come to us "without money and without price." So many of them are the free ones in nature. The air, the sunshine, the beauty of the countryside, our rivers, lakes, the ocean. I am filled with wonder at so many varieties of flowers, birds, animals, and their purpose in the world. How easy it is to put ourselves akin to all in nature. Though endless books have been written about the glories and beauty of all things in the out-of-doors, no one has been wise enough to explain the reason for the endless creations.

If you get discouraged, look into starry night when all is clear. Speculate upon all that is behind the heavens and the meaning of every star. If there wasn't a meaning the star would not be there! If you look long enough, and reverently enough, you'll note God's footprints across the great expanse, and silent poetry will be composed within your soul!

CLAIMS FASTING RECORD

TRIESTE (Reuters)—The Trieste "fakir" Reikan yesterday claimed a world starvation record of 67 days, 16 hours, six minutes, 10 hours, six minutes better than the record chalked up by Trieste's woman hunger artist, Nadia Gola, in Milan May 4. Citizens pay to see the "fakirs" fast.

NUDISTS CROWN QUEEN

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia girls apparently make beautiful nudists. Ray Connett, head of the Van Tan Club here, said 22 persons from B.C. attended the recent sunbathing conference in Philomath, Ore., where a titian-haired B.C. beauty was crowned queen. A Vancouver girl placed second.

Women's Activities

WALLBRIDGE W.A.

Wallbridge — July meeting of the Wallbridge W. A. was held in the church after their potluck dinner with a good attendance. Mrs. James Sine, president, opened the meeting. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Effie Chisholm. Mrs. J. Sine gave an interesting talk and the theme was based on questions "Why?" Devotional part was closed with prayer.

Business part opened with the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Lorne Badgley and his committee; Mr. Miller Parks, and all who faithfully gave their time and worked to make both the dining hall and kitchen improved places ot hold their meetings and suppers.

It was also decided to continue their potluck dinners for the rest of the year and committee for the next dinner includes: Mrs. Ray Shorey, Mrs. Morley Phillips and Mrs. Neita Ketcheson. Plans were also made to hold their pie, cake and ice cream social on July 16th. and after the supper a splendid program is to be held in the church.

SISTERS ALL

Some time ago, we read about personalized cheques. Today we received one from the new tenant of our own home "Tanglewood." Now it comes as a bit of a shock to get the rent money "personalized" with the name of your own place right there in colored print - - - the place you expect to go back to and live out the years. But the cheque did look attractive. If you haven't seen this kind, have a look at them in the stationery department.

Sheet Plastic

There are so many beautiful wallpapers these days in floral and bird designs it is difficult to choose one. If you are going in for paper in your kitchen or bathroom for a change from plain walls, you can take a chance on an expensive print now, even for use around the sink and basin.

One house we visited recently was wallpapered throughout. The woman who owned the place said she was sick of painted walls. Her idea for protecting the wallpaper from splashes or hard wear, was to staple a sheet of transparent plastic over these sections. She is pleased with the results. You can buy these crisp plastic sheets and cut them to size. They look well.

Prison News

Every month, the inmates of Kingston Penitentiary publish a magazine of their own called the K.P. Telescope. It is written by the men and women there and printed in their own shops. Guest editorial this week is by Joseph McCulley, deputy commissioner (incidentally soon to leave his post to become Warden of Hart House at University of Toronto.

Mr. McCulley quotes from Elbert Hubbard, "There is no defeat except in no longer trying. There is no defeat save from within, no really insurmountable barrier, save our own inherent weakness of purpose."

Speaking to those still with time to serve, Mr. McCulley points out that Canadian penitentiary authorities have "a sincere desire to make our penitentiaries humane, wholesome and constructive places of re-education. Prison life cannot help but be unnatural; there will always be tensions and frustrations; but even within prison walls, a man can improve himself."

One news item reports that Dorchester Penitentiary's male chorus won the Maritime Music Festival award for the best choral singing.

Variety Shows

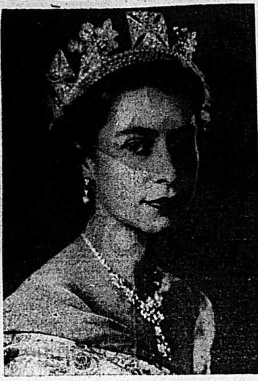
Another, tells of the summer series of half hour variety show broadcasts from Kingston Pen to the outside world via CKWS, Kingston.

The Red Cross Blood Donor mobile clinic rolls into the Pen regularly and never fails to get its full quota of blood voluntarily from the inmates. A fine article on a suggested "pre-release program" is contributed by Sam Carr. About 2,000 men and women leave Canadian penitentiaries every year.

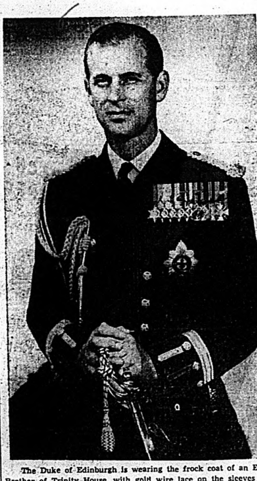
There is a sports department giving news of penitentiary softball teams. There is a Woman's Page headed "Feminine Features" which contains chatter and some poetry.

One line in large type at the bottom of page one is something Uncle Frontenac might say, "Do not serve time; make time serve you."

Latest Portrait of Queen, Duke



Queen Elizabeth II is shown in the first formal portrait studies to be taken since her accession to the throne. She is wearing a gown of ivory brocade woven with gold and turquoise thread and with turquoise velvet neckline. The necklace was given the Queen as a wedding present by the Nizam of Hyderabad, the circlet of diamonds and pearls, arranged in a pattern of cross pattee and the shamrock, rose and thistle, has been worn by the queens of England since Queen Victoria. This is a royal command portrait by Dorothy Wilding. — (Copyright Dorothy Wilding, from Central Press Canadian and Miller Services.)



The Duke of Edinburgh is wearing the frock coat of an Elder Brother of Trinity House, with gold wire lace on the sleeves and buttons mounted with the crest of Trinity House. His aiguillette, with shoulder straps, denote his position as a personal AD.C. to the late King. The Duke's medals are, left to right: 1939-45 Star, Atlantic Star, Africa Star, Burma Star (with Pacific rosette), Italy Star, War Medal and Palm Leaf; Coronation Medal, Greek Order of the Phoenix, and French Croix de Guerre with Palm Leaf. He is also wearing the Garter ribbon and star. This royal command portrait is by Baron. — (Copyright Baron, from Central Press Canadian and Miller Services.)

Alliance Tabernacle Closes Two Successful Weeks of D.V.B.

"And now abideth faith, hope, charity; but the greatest of these is charity." This was the theme around which the Daily Vacation Bible School, under the faithful guidance of Miss Eleanor Baragar, student of the Western Canadian Bible Institute, has been working at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle for the past two weeks, and which was brought to a successful close last evening in the presence of a well-filled auditorium of parents, teachers, friends and little children.

Three Salutes

A most impressive introduction to the evening's program was the salute to the Canadian flag, to the Christian flag, and to the Holy Bible. This was preceded by the march down the aisle of three children, Paul Brown, bearing the unfurled Canadian ensign, Beverley Rump, the holy, open, Bible, and Billie Irwin, the Christian flag with its white field, its square of blue and its superimposed blood red cross typifying the shed blood of Calvary.

Arriving at the altar, the pledge to each was taken; "to the flag of Canada and to the Dominion for which it stands; one country, with liberty and justice for all;" "to the Christian flag; and to the Saviour for whose kingdom it stands; one brotherhood uniting all Christians in service and love", and "to the Bible, God's Holy Word, I will make it a lamp unto my feet, a light to my path, and will hide its words in my heart that I may not sin against God." As each child make his pledge, the flag was placed in the holder and the Bible between them.

The pastor, the Rev. Robert Gray spoke briefly, extending a cordial welcome to all, and stated that there had been an average attendance of 87, the highest 98, and an enrollment of 130. He then introduced Miss Eleanor Baragar, who gave an explanation of the main project and hand work, which consisted of a fully developed village, called "The Village of Love", complete with streets and little homes, the whole centred by a church backed up by an open Bible. Each street bore the names of some characteristic of 'love' such as patience, humility, grace, inexhaustible ave, kindliness and others; while the homes represented Bible characters who lived therein, Paul, Peter, John, the Baptist and others.

"Village of Love"

Catherine Millard read the synopsis of the "Village of Love", after which a little child described his or her home in the village and for what it stood, ending with the greatest illustration of love, the Lord Jesus Himself, who gave His life a ransom for many.

Two highlights of the evening were the sweet rendition of "Jesus Loves Me", by one of the little members of the Bible School, wee Eleanor Millard, and the offertory solo by little Lenore Dixon.

At the close of the evening, the distribution of certificates for faithful attendance; for bringing the most little ones to the Bible School for the memorization of Scripture; and for various projects during the school days, were awarded. The outstanding result of the teaching of the Word was the day of decision in which 14 little ones decided to walk hand in hand with the Saviour. Only eternity will reveal the results of these two weeks of laboring to sow the seeds in the hearts of the children.

Certificates and Awards

Twenty-six children received certificates for perfect and near perfect attendance, while awards were awarded to Linda Kirkham, Lois Bailey, Carol Wood, Lois Wright, Catherine Millard, Joan Dickie, Mary Howie, Sandra Wylie and Paul Brown for memorization of selected Scriptures; also to those who memorized the whole of 1 Corinthians 13: Lois Wright, Catherine Millard, Paul Masse and Mary Howie.

Awards were also presented to those bringing the most children to Bible School: Ferne Millard, 9; Carolyn Kirkpatrick, 6; Georgina Winter, 5; and Linda Eaton, 4; while several others brought three each.

Those teaching and those who assisted in teaching were, Mrs. K. Dixon, Mrs. G. Millard, Mrs. R. Perkins, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. P. Reddicopp, Mrs. H. Whittaker, Miss Marion Sills, Mrs. A. Embury, Mrs. E. Masse, Mrs. R. Gray, Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. A. Kent.

Appreciation was tendered Miss Eleanor Baragar for her fine leadership and unfailing guidance in the school; to all the various teachers who labored so faithfully with her, and to those who shared in this great work of love.

Special treats were also distributed to the Bible School scholars at the close.

The thimble, originally worn on the thumb and called thumb-bell, was invented in Holland about the year 1100.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Over-possessiveness drives boys away

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm going with a boy of 20 and I am 19. We have nice times together, but sometimes when we go to dances or parties he likes to stop off and be with other girls part of the time. I don't think it's right if he's my boy friend. I don't mind him talking with girls sometimes, but I don't think he should spend more time with them than he does with me. When I talk to other boys, he gets angry and flirts with girls right in front of me and makes me feel awful, although sometimes I act as if I don't even see it and never mention it.

Why do you think he does this, and what should I do about it?—W.

Dear W.:

It's perfectly natural for a young man and a young woman who are close friends to be a little jealous when either one or the other seems to show too much interest in someone else. At the same time, it's a poor idea to let such jealousy be obvious.

You must remember too, that it's very unwise to be over-possessive about anyone, because such an attitude usually antagonizes the other person; eventually drives him away. Anyone resents having someone else act as if she or he owned him or her. Perhaps one reason this young man likes to go off with other girls is because you may have had such an attitude toward him and he doesn't like it. Think this over and see if it might not be true.

You don't want to do it, I'm sure, but the really sensible thing would be to give this chap all the freedom he wants, and never argue or quarrel with him about what he does. He's far more likely to want to be with you if you don't make him feel that you think it's his duty.

Two teen-agers with parent trouble

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are two teen-age girls, 17 and 18 years old, who have the same problem concerning our boy friends and our parents.

One of the boys is in the army, and only gets home for an occasional weekend; the other lives just a little distance away. While our parents seem to think a lot of these boys, they still won't trust us to go out with them and so the boys have been dating other girls. We were supposed to be going steady with them, but they are both mad at us because we can't go out.

Both of us have sisters about a year and a half older than we are, and they are allowed to go out whenever they like. Do you think our parents are fair to us not to let us go out when our sisters can do as they please, and what would you advise us to do?—T. D. R.

Dear T. D. R.:

If the reason your parents do not permit you to go out with these boys is because they think you are too young, then I cannot agree with them. Certainly girls of 17 and 18 are plenty old enough to be trusted to go out on dates and behave properly.

Have your boy friends ever tried approaching your parents themselves and asking their permission to take you out? Sometimes I think that many parents who object to their daughters having dates with boys could be win over if the boys were smart enough to go to them personally in a courteous, manly way. It really is the right thing for boys to do anyway, and if your friends would call your mothers on the phone the next time they would like to take you out, say exactly where they want to take you and promise to have you home at whatever time your mothers specify, somehow I feel permission would be granted.

Why not suggest this to the boys and see if it doesn't work out?

Women's Activities

CORDOVA W.A.

On Friday evening, July 4, the Cordova W.A., held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Bird, North Marmora. The meeting opened in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. Harry Bowen, presiding. Eleven members and two visitors were present.

Mrs. Charles Chard gave a reading, "Days Will Speak". Carol Caverly gave a reading, "Power of Prayer", and Ruth Bird also gave a reading, "Kreisler's Violin". The Scripture was read by Mrs. Harry Bowen.

Business followed with the report of a successful bake-sale held at Steenburgh's store, and that paint had been purchased to do the church.

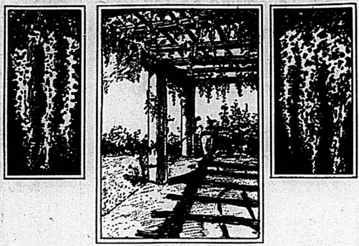
A contest, "Things a Carpenter Uses", was won by Mrs. Arthur Caverly.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Arthur Caverly, and a social half hour was spent.

Wisterias

THE QUEEN OF VINES

"I SEE THEM ON MY TRELLISES AND WALLS
AND STRAIGHTWAY DREAM OF DISTANT WATERFALLS;
BUT WHEN TO DISTANT WATERFALLS I ROAM
I DREAM OF MY WISTERIAS AT HOME."
- CHARLES DALMON



A RUSTIC ARBOR USING OLD BARN TIMBERS

NOTES

WISTERIAS ARE ONE OF THE SHOWIEST HARDY FLOWERING VINES. THE BEST KNOWN ARE THE BLUE AND WHITE FORMS OF THE CHINESE WISTERIA WHICH CLIMBS VIGOROUSLY BY MEANS OF TWINING STEMS.

TREE WISTERIAS ARE ALSO A THING OF SHEER BEAUTY. ON THE LAWN THEY DEVELOP INTO BEAUTIFUL SPECIMENS WHICH LAST FOR GENERATIONS INCREASING IN BEAUTY EACH YEAR. WISTERIAS IN ALL THEIR PENDANT FORMS ARE AMONG THE GARDEN'S GLORY. RACEMES OF BLOOM SOMETIMES EXCEED FOUR FEET IN LENGTH.

COLORS ARE: PURPLE, VIOLET, PINK, LAVENDER BLUE AND WHITE.

CULTURE

CONSULT YOUR NURSERYMAN AS TO BEST AVAILABLE VARIETIES. GRAFTED STOCK GROWN IN A SPECIAL MANNER TO INDUCE EARLY BLOOM SHOULD BE USED. FOR LARGEST FLOWERS FERTILIZE WISTERIAS IN THE FALL AFTER LEAVES HAVE FALLEN NEVER DURING SPRING OR SUMMER AS THIS INDUCES TOO MUCH GROWTH AND NO FLOWERS. IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT THEY BE PLANTED IN FULL SUN. THEY NEED LITTLE CARE EXCEPT PRUNING TO KEEP THEM WITHIN BOUNDS. THE BEST TIME TO PRUNE IS IN MIDSUMMER. ROOT PRUNING WITH A SHARP SPADE IS ADVISED TO INDUCE MORE NUMEROUS FLOWERS.

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION:

Would you please print that recipe for super tea biscuits or "De Luxe Tea Biscuits" . . . they had cream of tartar in them.—H. T. C.

ANSWER:

BISCUITS SUPREME

Two cups stirred but not sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1-2 cup butter or shortening at room temperature, 2-3 cup milk. Sift dry ingredients together, and cut shortening into them with pastry blender. Add milk all at once. Quickly stir. Pat out on lightly floured board to 1-2-inch thickness. Cut out with 1 1-2 inch cutter to be very dainty. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. about 10 minutes.

QUESTION:

I was wondering if you could tell me where I could buy a cake tin the shape of a lamb. I had a cake given me made like a lamb and I have tried to get one but can't.—Mrs. L. C.

ANSWER:

Yes I know where you can purchase a cake tin in a shape of a lamb but do not know whether you will go to the trouble. Lewis & Congers in New York City is the largest hardware store I have ever been in. They have them. They will mail or express one to you. Write to them telling them the size you want, ask price; when they reply saying whether they have one in stock, if they have buy a U.S. Money Order for the amount they specify plus shipping charges and mail it to them with your order and address. Customs duty will be low.

QUESTION:

I have used your recipe for one-egg cake quite often and find it very good, also at Christmas cooked half turkey after your advice. I have two lady boarders and living is high. . . they think $12.00 is high. . . I gave them a large variety of food.—Newfie.

ANSWER:

At $12.00 per week I think it is all work and no pay. Evaluate your work and be sure you are paid 90 cents per hour—minimum for skilled labor, which cooking certainly is.

QUESTION:

Your letter from the correspondent with the child allergic to wheat, eggs, milk, spinach and flour brings my reply. My sister has 28 allergies. . . I was feeling sorry for her restricted diet until she said "Well I can still eat a good beefsteak and as long as I can have that I'll get along!" To replace the wheat though here is real news for allergy sufferers . . . a dietitian has invented a flour from oatmeal and has made muffins from them. . . my sister carries these muffins with her wherever she goes (they are available in many U.S. stores). Meantime here is a cake the child might have as it contains no butter, eggs or milk.

MYSTERY CAKE (no butter, eggs, or milk)

1 cup sugar; beat until soft and blend in 2 tablespoons shortening, sift in 2 cups bread flour (Mrs. Moore can you substitute here for the rye or soya flour?) Resift the flour with 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg, 1 teaspoon soda. Stir the sifted ingredients in about 3 parts to the sugar mixture, alternately with thirds of a 10 1-2 ounce can tomato soup. Beat until smooth. Fold in 1 cup each nutmeats and raisins. Bake in greased 9-inch tube pan in moderate oven 45 minutes. Spread the cake (when baked) with the following icing:

WHITE ICING

Sufficiently for top of an 8 or 9-inch cake. Sift 1 cup confectioners' sugar. Beat till soft 1 1-2 tablespoons butter or 1 egg yolk, or 1 1-2 tablespoons hot cream or 1 1-2 tablespoons heated canned milk or 1 1-2 tablespoons coffee or orange juice (for this one pick your allergies, chum!!!).

ECONOMY SPICE CAKE

This uses cake flour too but is good for the egg, milk and butter sufferers (could you substitute soya or rye or rice flour?). Boil for 3 minutes 1 cup water, 2 cups seeded raisins, 1 cup brown sugar, 1-3 cup shortening, 1-2 teaspoon each cinnamon, allspice, salt, nutmeg. Cool. Sift 2 cups cake flour. Resift with 1 teaspoon each baking powder and soda. Stir flour gradually into other ingredients, beat till smooth. Add 1 cup chopped nuts. Bake in greased 9-inch tube pan at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour or more. Non-allergy victims will like this cake if made with white icing. I will try to find out about obtaining the oatmeal flour.—J. C. M.

ANSWER:

You are wonderful! Thanks for such a careful and unselfish letter. I have good news for you. I got some of the oatmeal and am making bread with yeast from it at the moment I am writing. I will soon have news for the mother of the allergic child. Ever since I have been home I have been experimenting with wheatless bread for her and soon will print my findings. Let me know any more news you have for allergy sufferers. Thanks for the cosmetic tips—I'll save them—I printed the one for facial you gave me earlier.

GOOD MANNERS

Lady. . .don't be a "slow-poke"!

There will probably always be jokes about "keeping him waiting". . .but even so, it just isn't kind or considerate for a girl to keep her date waiting while she finishes dressing or finishes telephoning or finishes some chore she can postpone. If Bill is to arrive at eight o'clock, you should be ready to greet him at eight o'clock. That's fair!

What color for decorations for 60th wedding anniversary?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been asked to take charge of the decorations for a 60th wedding anniversary—the diamond anniversary. Would you please tell me what colors I should use?—G. B.

The diamond-symbol for this anniversary is so extremely important and significant that you may use only white decorations and accessories. White flowers for table-decoration and for room-decoration. . . .white flowers carnations or asters or gardenias or rose-buds for example for corsage and boutonnieres. For the table, a white cloth, of damask or satin or sateen or shining-finished cotton, or the radiant white (or really colorless) cellophane. A dramatic anniversary cake, all-white, crowned with "a diamond ring" encircling a large white 60. And, flanking this, white candles in white crystal or glass candlesticks.

The alternative is to use color accents with the diamond-white. There is no regulation about which color. You might use the couple's favorite color as the artistic accent. . .or their favorite flowers as decoration, taking the color of these flowers as the color-accent. . . or you might use a pastel-blue for a "blue-diamond" theme, and/or a pastel yellow for a "yellow diamond" . . . or you might use the color of the jewel-symbol or of the flower-of-the-month in which the couple were married.

Loving way for bride to send invitations to groom's parents

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When wedding invitations are sent out, should the parents of the man-to-be-married receive one?—J. E.

A formal invitation to the wedding is not sent "officially" to the prospective groom's parents. . . because of course they would have been informed by the bride and her parents all about the wedding plans and their part in them. Usually, however, the gracious and thoughtful bride-to-be, when she receives the engraved invitations, immediately encloses several in their envelopes and sends them in a large envelope to the groom's parents, with a warm-hearted note of devotion and "loving anticipation of seeing you on The Day"!

BEAUTY

By Helen Jameson

Sallow Complexions

Pretty girls and plain ones give thanks to cosmetic chemists and those early beauty pioneers who gave the laugh to the old-fashioned notion that rouge and lipstick made a woman look like sin. Each face, of course, is an individual problem, and artifice must be applied skilfully and with discretion. But the poor dear with a sallow skin, trying one item after another, decides that her chances of displaying the snow-and-roses complexion are nil.

Special attention to make-up is necessary.

Hers is an outside job. Something wrong is going on internally to give the skin that greenish yellow cast. The best beauty specialists can do is to suggest keen attention to health laws. The diet may be at fault; too much fat has an unfavorable effect upon the liver, so butter and cream are cut down to the limit and pasteries are taboo. Most individuals consume more fats than they need.

The day should begin with tomato or orange juice for the vitamin C content. There should be one vegetable and a green salad for luncheon, potatoes and another vegetable for dinner.

Substituting buttermilk for tea or coffee has been known to make the sallow skin clearer, more normal of coloring. Five or six glasses of water a day are helpful, because they stimulate the various avenues of elimination—the kidneys, the skin and the intestinal tract. It is possible that the dingy skin is due to the fact that body wastes are not disposed of as they should be.

Special attention to make-up is necessary. Since the skin is yellow, one should never choose rouge or lipstick that has rose tones verging on the purple; those of orange-red cast are better. Only the smallest amount should be used, as too much will call attention to a skin coloring that does not qualify.

As for powder, neither flesh nor rachelle seems to be flattering. One should seek a delicate tea-rose tint. If that cannot be found, a special powder will be blended for one at any make-up bar.

As for clothes, avoid browns and beige. Black is better than navy blue. While cold, steel greys are difficult, soft, dove greys are becoming. Coral pinks are better than rose pinks. Ordinarily, pastel shades are trying, especially blues and yellows. Cream tones for frocks and neckwear are more favorable than dead white, which offers too great a contrast to the sallow complexion.

A capacity number attended the Orange service in the United Church on Sunday evening when Mr. J. McMurray, the Presbyterian minister, delivered a most instructive address. The choir rendered an anthem and a duet by Mr. S. C. Gay and Mr. E. Tummon, was much appreciated. Pretty cut flowers adorned the altar.

BROTHER AIRMEN

STELLARTON, N.S., (CP) — Four brothers, the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. George MacPherson here, are serving with the RCAF as ground crew. The parents are proud of the boys, ranging from 18-year-old Douglas to 26-year-old Wallace, but "it's rather quiet around the house."

Cabinet Minister

Solicitor-General Antonio Rivard, 62, was elected to the Quebec Legislature first in 1948 and served as Minister without Portfolio until appointed to his present cabinet post in 1950. A law professor at Laval University and former president of the Bar Association in Quebec, Mr. Rivard is second-in-command to Premier Duplessis who also is Attorney-General. Mr. Rivard will contest Montmorency riding again in the July 16 provincial election. — (CP Photo.)

Crowd Stages Demonstration After Layton Defeats Hermann

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The Honuh of the Humpah was upheld. The British Lion's tail remained free of curlycues. There was a post-bout hate parade and three, or was it two, jolly old chairs for the peasantry.

Lord Athol Layton won the accolade from one Joseph Gollop, a gentleman in soiled white who was inserted in the ring merely because the rules of "rasslin'" demand it. Otherwise M'sieu Joe could not come under the heading of "decoration".

The Briton, as popular with the faithful as Senator Taft at a Democratic convention was outdone for hatte honors by aforementioned Joe and one Lou Petrocia, ringside factotum of the "marster from Surrey". This was demonstrated amply after the Laytonian chop had laid Herr Hans Hermann, a Nordic from Hannover, Germany, low for the third fall in what was billed as the main bout in Memorial Arena.

Real Cutups

After a few playful antics, you know what boys will do, in which Athol chopped Hans, Lou went down before a Prussian straight-arm to the Petrocian noggin, and Athol stretched out from a second application of the Prussian "Squeeze" while Joey peeked from behind a ringpost, the crowd, infuriated at the turn of events, charged the ring.

One "hero" leaped on the apron and swung a hefty left at somebody, and Joey and Lou made their break. They picked the weak spot in the spectator lines and decided to plunge. They made yards on the first down then Joey decided to run with the ball. Lou ran interference pushing off straight-arm from charging pewsters and they were almost brought down at the two-yard line.

Here they made a brief stand, using chairs to ward off the angry crowd. They finally made their way to safety, while "Speedy" St. Louis held the bridge and two policemen closed the dressing room doors.

But Hans, was not satisfied. The Teuton crew cut bristled with anger. He stormed into Layton's dressing room and the two went into a scale model of the Battle of the Bulges.

A few chops and a squeeze or two and 264 pounds of Teutonic fury blazed through the door to his own dressing room. Outside the arena on Pinnacle Street a crowd of the angry waited. Mebbe they didn't know the CNR had stopped running specials on this part of the great system. Four thousand squadrons of mosquitoes swarmed down to hot meals, and the "mob" decided to call it a night.

Briton Won Two

Lest we forget, there were three falls to the main bout. Holman and Athol had things pretty well their own way unless both were suffering from complete deafness. In all three falls, and in between swan dives to the floor, Joey waged a fruitless verbal battle exhorting the boys to be good or b'gar he'd disqualify 'em. He may as well have been talking to Uncle Joe back in wherever he lives. He did get around to tapping the canvas three times in the first fall when Layton pulverised the German's jugular with a vicious chop "suey." And again in teh second he couldn't help himself when Athol sagged unconscious in Hans' gorilla-like arms after trying to outwheeze the "Prussian squeeze."

The third fall was another free for all but wily Athol kicked, pushed, pulled, chopped and slapped until Joey got tired and banged the canvas in favor of the Briton. Then the fireworks started.

Ray Villmar, and Fred Atkins wrestled in a 45-minute draw that stole the actual wrestling thunder from the prize package.

Lou Petrocia villained his way to victory over Sonny Kurgis in a rough-and-tumble preliminary.

Sweeping Revision of Pro Boxing Called for By British Sportsman

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON — (CP) — A crusade has been launched by a British sportsman for sweeping revision of almost everything pertaining to the professional fight game and a new deal for the men who provide the entertainment in the ring.

The call for an international cleanup is made in the outspoken book, "Inside the Fight Game," Rockliff Publishing Corporation by Leslie Bell, for years closely associated with boxing.

Bell maintains that the so-called "manly art" will always harbor its villains and that the present set-up offers far too much scope for unsavory practices. But it can be made reasonably wholesome, he says, if the right action is taken by the right people.

Urges Big Cleanup

He suggests drastic revision of existing rules and methods of administration as well as wholesale re-casting of the boxing industry's entire structure of control in the United Kingdom.

Among other innovations, he proposes: stronger representation for the fighters themselves on boards wielding control of the game; a complete routine medical check of all boxers at regular intervals; abolition of the manager - matchmaker arrangement — not, he says, because of existing abuses but rather to avoid temptations; establishment of British trainers in a proper financial sense and organization of training schools for others wishing to enter the profession; a fair test in Britain of the "no foul" rule as operative in America.

The author deplores the existing clash of authority over boxing in the United States, with each of the opposing factions nominating its own men either as world champions or contenders and fighting each other tooth and nail in the process.

'Birds' Fielder Hits 4 Homers; Leafs Lose Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roy Weatherly, nicknamed Stormy, 37-year-old veteran outfielder, created his own storm in the International League last night as he slammed out four home runs in a doubleheader.

Weatherly drove in six of the seven runs as Baltimore Orioles edged Ottawa Athletics twice, 4-3 and 3-2. The four homers boosted Weatherly's output to 15, tops for the league.

Ottawa was held to six hits by Bob Miller in the opener and a like number in the nightcap by Jocko Thompson. The double win enabled Baltimore to move into fifth place.

Montreal Royals strengthened their hold on first place by sweeping a twin-bill from Springfield Cubs, 4-3 and 8-6. Junior Gilliam scored the winning run on a wild pitch in the fifth inning of the first contest. Jim Pendleton tripled in the 10th inning with the bases loaded in the second game to clinch matters.

Buffalo Bisons turned back the second-place Rochester Red Wings, 3-1. Babe Birrer scattered seven hits to gain his sixth victory of the season.

Syracuse Chiefs took both games from Toronto Maple Leafs, winning the opener 3-0 and the second 6-1. In the seven-inning first game Jack Griffore limited Toronto to three hits in winning his seventh game. Ray Hawworth drove in three runs in the nightcap to aid his batterymate, Art Hartley to register his third victory.

Canadians Whip Finland In Basketball Game

HELSINKI (CP) — Canada's Olympic basketball team came from behind last night to defeat Finland 111-72 in an exhibition game.

The Finns led 31-29 at half-time but the Canadians caught fire in the third quarter to wrap up the game.

The Dominion's all-star squad, made up mostly of players from Tillsonburg Livingstons, was sluggish and shot poorly during the opening quarter and were down 18-13. They atoned for that with a commanding 81-58 margin in the third.

Harry Wade, 23-year-old centre from Windsor, Ont., was high scorer with 28 points. Guard Glen Pettinger of Toronto was next with 19 and Bob Pickell, Lithuanian born centre from Edmonton, got 14.

Other scorers: Bill Pataky, 10, Bob Simpson, 10, Bob Phibbs, 9, Woody Campbell, 5, all of them from Windsor; Roy Williams, Winnipeg, 5; Wearing, Toronto, 5; Carl Ridd, Winnipeg, 4; Bill Coulthard, Tillsonburg, 3.

Canada now is paying for her ninth-place showing at the 1948 Olympic Games in London.

This year's representatives must play in a double-elimination round July 14-18 among the lesser lights to decide which six teams will join the top six squads, plus Argentina, 1950 world champions, Russia and Czechoslovakia, the two best teams in the 1951 European championships and host country Finland.

The Canadians are grouped with Egypt, Romania, Turkey and Italy and will meet Italy Monday morning. The winner will play Romania, which gets a bye, Tuesday morning.

The loser of this game will play the loser of the Egypt-Turkey match.

Two defeats in its group automatically eliminates a team.

Two Favorites In Rich Stakes

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Calumet's "grandmother" entry of Two Lea and Wistful occupied the betting favorite's role today as the Hollywood Turf Club prepared to stage the 13th running of its $100,000 Gold Cup Handicap.

Two Lea was generally picked to win, making it two Gold Cup victories in a row for Mrs. Warren Wright's racing empire.

Ten challengers to Calumet's pair of six-year-old mares were slated to go postward in the 1¼ mile fixture, notably such leading threats as Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Phelps' Sturdy One, Clifford Moore's Cyclotron and Moonrush, racing for Miss Anita King and Gus Luellwitz.

Gross value of the race, based on 12 starting, is $137,100. The winner's cheque actually will read $102,100. The $2,100 represents the nominating, entering and starting fees.

Rich Arlington Draws 15 Field

CHICAGO (AP) — The rich Arlington Futurity, the United States' first major test for ranking two-year-olds, drew a field of 15 today, competing for a $108,985 purse. There was no standout favorite.

The winner's share if all 15 go to the post will be $81,575. This will top the present record winning purse of $66,900 taken by Piet in 1937.

The six-furlong dash shapes up as a dog-fight. Ablest of the entries are Spy Defense, owned by Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana Stable, James C. Brady's Doc Walker, King Ranch's Kamehameha and William H. Veeneman's Happy Carrier.

With no Calumet Farm horse entered, Jockey Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Mr. Paradise, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice of Chicago.

Pt .Anne Netters Defeat Trenton

Point Anne's entry in the senior division of the Bay of Quinte Tennis League defeated the Trenton Club last night three games to two, on the former's courts.

The results:

Ladies' doubles —Marie MacDonald and Ann Armstrong lost to Gwyneth Bennett and Maureen Bowler, 6-3, 6-3.

1st Mixed—Helen Farrar and John Black defeated Hilda Finlan and Joe Deforge 7-5, 4-6, 6-1.

2nd Mixed—Ila Bayliss and Hank Fillon lost to long MacDonald and Jack Hart, 6-2, 6-1.

1st Men's—Bob Sager and Gerald Ireland lost to Jack MacDonald and Thorold Horwood 6-4, 8-6.

2nd Men's—Fred Bayliss and Bob Burns defeated Ken Haines and Phil Bennett, 6-1, 6-3.

Big Four College Football Draft Is Completed

OTTAWA (CP) — D. Wes Brown, secretary of the Big Four football league, yesterday announced completion of the Big Four's college football draft.

Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats named nine players each in the draft, Toronto Argonauts eight and Ottawa Rough Riders seven.

"Naming" of a player does not commit the player to play for a particular club. It is a "hands-off" agreement among other clubs that the club which has named a player has first choice in obtaining his services.

If a player named by Montreal, for example, wants to play in Toronto, Alouettes and Argonauts would make a deal or trade. Only players in their graduating school year may be named.

The players were chosen one at a time by the four clubs, from five universities — McGill, Queen's, McMaster, University of Toronto and University of Western Ontario. The club finishing last in 1951 play — Alouettes — had first choice, Toronto second, Hamilton third and Ottawa fourth.

Following are the draft choices from Queen's University by the various clubs:

MONTREAL

Harry Lampman, lineman.

TORONTO

Ross McKelvey, halfback; Eric McIlveen, halfback; Robert McIntyre, snap.

HAMILTON

Bill Surphlis.

OTTAWA

None.

St. Kitts Defeat Fergus Thistles

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Catharines Athletics climbed out of the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior circuit cellar last night when they downed Fergus Thistles 12-9 right in Fergus. While St. Kitts upset the applecart, Toronto Yorks blasted Owen Cound Crescents 17-7 in Owen Sound.

The Fergus tussle was the roughest of the season with a total of 58 minutes being handed out by the referees for rule infractions. More than once a Donnybrook threatened.

Fergus held the lead well on into the final half, but the A's broke loose shortly before the final whistle and pulled off their win. In the other game, Toronto held a substantial lead almost from the opening whistle.

Emil Uhynuk led the St. Catharines attack with three goals while Bill Scott was the best for the Toronto club, pushing in five goals against Owen Sound. Eddie Teatro clicked for three of the Toronto tallies.

No Doubt About it, He's Angry

At the Republican convention in Chicago, Governor John S. Fine of Pennsylvania yells with rage that he was promised a recess that did not materialize. Temporary Chairman Hallahan (left) and Raymond Bellamy just ignore the heated governor. Just after this scene on the rostrum, Fine jammed his way between the two men in a wild scene that lasted for minutes. Fine's controlled votes helped to elect candidate Eisenhower. — Central Press Canadian.

Gen. Ike is Learning Fast

Supporters of Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination say the general is no politician, but, obviously, he is learning fast. A public affection for babies is one of the politician's most effective methods of winning friends and influencing people, and in Chicago the general appeared expert in such political dodges by tossing young Ike-liker Yvonne Luttrell into the air. — Central Press Canadian.

Sparring Match is Added Attraction

First reported casualty of the Republican convention is a Mr. Cloon of Ironwood, Mich., who got belted in a slugfest on the floor. Whether Mr. Cloon was the puncher or only the recipient of a punch is not clear but he was removed in this horizontal position after a sparring round with another delegate. Glimpses of the scuffle were visible to television fans as tempers flared high in the Taft-Ike battle. — Central Press Canadian.

CALIFORNIA

There, in the glare of lights and camera flashes, the winner and loser exchanged compliments, Eisenhower paying tribute to "a great American" and a smiling, unruffled Taft promising his fullest support to the candidate.

Taft, Senate Republican leader, still has four years to serve in his seat.

Strong men in the Eisenhower organization, who engineered his successful battle for the nomination, included Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts.

Dewey is a two-time loser—he won the nomination in 1944 an 1948 and lost out successively to Roosevelt and Truman. This time he proved that if he could not get the nomination he could have a lot to say about who did.

Victory For Dewey

In doing that, leading the great bulk of his huge state delegation to the support of Eisenhower, he suffered cruel attacks from Taft supporters and walked from the convention hall when his chief castigator, Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, was nominating Taft. But he smiled always and saw his man victorious in the end.

Eisenhower took only one thrill-packed ballot to dispose of Taft, Governor Earl Warren of California, former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Acting swiftly to organize a campaign he said will be dedicated "to the shining promise of tomorrow," Eisenhower called available party members of Congress into a closed conference (11 a.m. EDT) to discuss policies.

He was reported to have given his approval for the selection of Arthur Summerfield of Michigan as the party's new national chairman, replacing Guy G. Gabrielson of New Jersey.

Summerfield helped supply some of the vital votes needed by Eisenhower.

In a colorful take-off for what both he and Nixon promised would be a fighting campaign, Eisenhower told a crowd of about 10,000 persons at the final night session: "It is more than a nomination I accept today. It is a dedication—a dedication to the shining promise of tomorrow."

Campaign Aims

The general laid down these aims of the campaign:

"To sweep from office an administration which has fastened on every one of us the wastefulness, the arrogance and corruption in high places, the heavy burdens and the anxieties which are the bitter fruit of a party too long in power.

"Much more, it is our aim to give to our country a program of progressive policies drawn from our finest republican traditions; to unite us where we have been divided; to strengthen freedom wherever among any group it has been weakened; to build a sure foundation for sound prosperity for all here at home and for a just and sure peace in the world."

Eisenhower's three active but unsuccessful rivals pledged full cooperation with him in the campaign. MacArthur, the convention key-noter who got 10 votes, pointedly was ignored. He was not an active candidate.

Democrats Disappointed

For Truman and most of the Democrats, the choice was something of a disappointment. Most of them felt Taft would have been easier to beat in November.

The Republican's choice of Eisenhower was almost certain to put additional Democratic pressure on Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois to head the party's ticket.

By choosing Eisenhower, Republicans may have gone a long way toward eliminating foreign policy as a major campaign issue.

While Eisenhower has criticized some of the Democratic administration's foreign policy decisions, he was directly linked to the European military assistance program until he resigned in May as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

Giants Must Stage Another Miracle Run To Win National League Flag

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

NOT TOO GOOD—

It could have been the heat, the crow-sized flies that hover over Megaffin Stadium (the winged kind) or mebbe the frenzied rooting of the Rodden-Jackson duo, but the Reds matched the Kingston Monarchs in a jolly old comedy of errors in a game that had everything in the baseball calendar last night. Twenty-one runs, 29 hits and 14 errors inked the scoresheets as both teams came up with an exhibition that had scorers dizzy. Eric Rank won the 11-inning debacle with a wall-punching double, and even the press-box twins were glad to call it a day.

The Reds erupted in a six-run explosion in the sixth to grab a three-run lead but the Limestone royalty came back with three to tie it up. Both scored singles by nine-innings time and the game went into time-and-a-half status. According to reports there was a rhubarb when "Mouse" Bush threatened Umpire Pointer with a bat and, it is alleged, struck him with a fist. "Mouse" was ejected from the game on plate Umpire Reason's insistence. Such goings on.

The Redmen had better start hiking up their baseball britches. Championships are not won on reputations, and they're a long way from being out of the woods yet. Peterborough is showing signs of strength, as is Kingston. It is anybody's league as yet, and while the competition is getting keener, the Reds had better give up any ideas they may have that the title is to be had by merely going through the motions.

ALL-STAR HUMOR

Two of the best stories to come out of the recent All-Star series included the one about Leo Durocher who while holding his clubhouse meeting, was asked "What will be used for signals?".

"Let's use Stanky's Cardinal signs," quipped the Lip, "Everybody in the league knows them.'

Stanky let out a howl and the grinning Leo invented a new set on the spot.

The other concerned Casey Stengel who after clearing out his clubhouse for his meeting, found one intruder who refused flatly to leave. He was Billy Martin, the most irreverent of the Yankees.

"Not me, Case," stoutly insisted the cocky youngster, who was in attendance merely as a spectator. "I'll probably be on the all-star team next year and this will be good experience for me."

The Ol' Perfessor stared at him admiringly. "By Golly," he said, "maybe you're right at that. Okay, you stay."

BROCKVILLE TONIGHT

The Brockville White Sox are the guests of the Redmen at the Exhibition Grounds tonight in an interlocking game. The Reds loosened the garters of the Sox by a score of 14-7 in their first meeting in the down-east city, but the Pale Hose have been strengthened appreciably since that date.

Arrangements are under way to have the once redoubtable "Smoky" Smith, well-known southpaw who forksided 'em for Batawa a while back, cross pitching rapiers with Ralph McCabe, Redmen coach righthander. If the pair happen to clash, and both flippers are up to par, the tilt should be productive of a smart hurling duel. Nothing definite, however, had been learned at time of going to press.

"Smoky" is a "limb-of-the-law" down thataway, a member of the Ontario Provincial Police, and it could be that duty may prevent him from putting in an appearance. However, Keith Pelton, Brockville sports editor, and manager of the Sox (how that guy looks after two chores is more than we can imagine, especially when both are prime headache producers) telephoned this department yesterday and said all efforts are being made to have "Smoky" here for tonight's joust.

Speaking of "Smoky" recalls one of the best pitching duels these baseball-weary orbs ever gazed upon. Smith was then hurling for Batawa, and the Shoemen were drawn with Thornbury in an intermediate "B" semi-finals playdown. Pitching for Thornbury was one Lefty Garton, and he and Smith looked alike as two peas in a pod as far as pitching style, delivery, and mound appearance were concerned. If our memory serves us correctly Thornbury won the game 1-0 with "Smoky" whiffing 21 and Garton 19. It was a tense, spine-thrilling game with the batters of both sides going down in order almost monotonously.

'TWAS A HORSE OPERY

And speaking of sports stories there's the one about the racehorse owner who took his nag to the movies. The cashier refused to sell a ticket for the colt. "But this is a very intelligent animal" said the owner. "He wont bother anybody."

He had his way and he and the horse enjoyed the show. The bangtail laughed when it was funny, and cried, vice versa.

The manager was amazed. "I'm amazed, too," said the owner, "because he didn't like the story when he read it in the book".

Lose Six of Last Eight Starts; Phils Break Cards Win-String As Brownies Stop Yankees

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Judging by the brand of ball played by the Giants of late it appears the New Yorkers will have to stage another miracle run to win the National League pennant.

The Giants have lost six of their last eight starts and have fallen 5½ games behind the front-running Brookly Dodgers.

Most of the blame has been directed at the failure of Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie to match their victory pace of a year ago but actually light hitting and poor fielding has been chiefly responsible for the Giants' latest woes.

Maglie Drops Another

Murry Dickson of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates beat Maglie 6-2 yesterday, following Thursday night's setback when bonehead base-running and fielding caused the Giants to drop a 12-inning encounter.

Rookie Dick Groat drove home three runs and Ralph Kiner knocked in two on his 14th homer to lead the Pirate drive yesterday.

Maglie, who has completed only one game in his last 10 starts, was charged with his fifth defeat in 16 decision.

The Dodgers gained ground by edging Chicago Cubs 6-5. In other games, Boston Braves tamed Cincinnati Reds 6-1 and Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 10 innings.

In the American League, St Louis Browns upset the pace-setting New York Yankees 6-3 but the world champions retained their 2½-game lead as Washington Senators nipped the runner-up Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 10 innings. Boston Red Sox swept a doubleheader from Detroit 16-6 and 5-3 and Cleveland Indians downed Philadelphia Athletics 8-7.

Errors Helped Dodgers

The Dodgers nicked three Chicago pitchers for only seven hits, including a home run by Duke Snider, but the Brooks made the most of five Cub errors.

The Cards' winning streak ended when Gran Hamner and Willie Jones singled and Stan Lopata flied Al Brazle. Robin Roberts went all the way for Philadelphia although yielding 14 hits and five walks.

Lefty Warren Spahn limited Cincinnati to seven hits while the Braves pounded out 16 against three Red pitchers.

The Browns halted their nine-game losing streak as Tommy Byrne, a former Yankee who had lost six straight, stopped his old mates on seven hits. The Browns snapped a 1-1 tie with four runs in the seventh inning.

Ed Yost singled home Hal Keller in the 10th as Washington beat the White Sox.

Homers Decisive

Successive ninth-inning home runs by Al Rosen and Larry Doby off Carl Scheib enabled the Indians to beat the Athletics. Rosen tied the score with his 16th homer and Doby won the game with an inside-the-park belt, his 14th. Mike Garcia, in relief for starter Bob Feller, picked up his 12th victory. Ferris Fain of the A's collected one hit to run his batting streak to 23 games.

Rookie Dick Brodowski, breezed to his third victory in the opener at Boston. Vern Stephens hit two homers and Brodowski and Hoot Evers blasted one each. Evers' belt was a grand slammer.

Billy Goodman, who drove home three runs in the opener, and Del Wilber led the Red Sox to victory in the second game with timely run-scoring hits.

A crowd of 80,000 at Jersey City saw heavyweight Jess Willard lose his last fight to Luis Angel Firpo of Argentina 29 years ago tonight. Willard lost the world's heavyweight title to Jack Dempsey four years previously, and Firpo was knocked out by Dempsey two months after Firpo had beaten Willard.

Gerry Knechtel Wins Junior Golf Crown

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Gerry Knechtel of Kitchener came from away back yesterday to take his second straight Ontario junior golf championship. Out with a 75—two over opening-leader Jerry Magee of Toronto Lambton—Knechtel came home in the second 18 with a blazing one-under-par 71 to take the tournament.

The hot Kitchener shooter got his closest competition from a 15-year-old Londoner, Bill MacBeth. Young MacBeth went out in the opening round with a 76 and came home in the last 18 with a 73 for a 149. It was one of the finest scores ever recorded in the Ontario Golf Association by a golfer so young.

Magee wound up with a 73-77—150.

Besides naming the Ontario junior champ, the tournament also decided the make-up of the team which will play a United States club for the Robert Simpson trophy July 29 at Toronto Mississauga.

Gord Brydson Leads Field In Pro Tourney

WINNIPEG (CP)—Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga led the field yesterday in the opening round of the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golf Association championship. But the names of his four closest opponents started more tongue-wagging around Winnipeg's Niakwa course than his three-under-par score of 68.

The gallery loved the second-place combination of two unrelated Fletchers from Saskatchewan—Par of Regina Wascana and Pat of Saskatoon, each with a 69. And the Huot brothers—Jules of Laval-Sur-le-Lac and Rodolphe of the Royal Quebec Club—stirred almost as much comment with their identical rounds of 35-35—70 which put them in a fourth-place tie right behind the Fletchers.

Leonard Still Favored

Although an even par 71 game left him in a four-way sixth-place tie three strokes off the pace, defending champion Stan Leonard of Vancouver still ranked as the man to beat for the $350 first money and the Cohama trophy.

Leonard, Canada's most formidable tournament golfer, had the shots in the opening day's test but they didn't pan out for the par-breaking score his followers expected. He was tied with Stan Horne of Montreal, Stan Kolar of Ottawa and Fred Wood of Vancouver.

The field of 34 winds up the all-Canadian test today with two 18-hole rounds.

Sport in Brief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's second contingent of the Olympic Games got away yesterday in a flutter of excitement. They left from Montreal.

The athletes were agog over the long airplane flight and were looking forward to joining their fellow team-members who went by the same route July 5.

The teams that left yesterday were: Boxing, paddling, weightlifting, wrestling, fencing, cycling and both men's and women's swimming teams. Ken Farmer of Montreal, secretary of the Canadian Olympic Association, was in charge of the party.

Olympic dress was the style. The men wore dark blue blazers, bearing the Olympic crest, and gray trousers. The girls wore white skirts, white hats and dark blue jackets.

An unidentified bettor at Aqueduct race track at New York won $13,429 yesterday by mistake on the largest daily double of the season. The double, comprised of Black Sands, $142.40 winner of the first race, and Hot Rock, $9.70 winner of the second, returned $1,342.90 to 70 holders of $2 tickets.

Three $10 doubles tickets were sold, two to one man who wanted a combination on the No. 10 horse in the first race and No. 3 in the second. He asked for No. 11 and No. 3, however, which the mutuels clerk punched out. Noticing the mistake, the man reluctantly took the tickets. Each was worth $6,714.50.

About 60 boats are expected at Brockville today for the fifth international powerboat regatta which will draw sportsmen from Fresno, Calif., northern New York state, Ontario and Quebec. Ray Smith, Jr., of Kansas City, holder of the world's record in the 225 division 1 class, will be a competitor. His record over a measured mile is 97 M.P.H.

Mary Lou O'Connor of Warwick Downs, Rhode Island will arrive this week-end to become the first woman to compete in open racing competition in Toronto. Described by some United States horsemen as "a good handler of horses and a nice, clean driver," she will bring her stable of four horses for the meet at Thorncliffe Raceway.

Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal Whitlock yesterday won the Quebec women's golf championship with a 10-and-8 victory over Mrs. Joseph Dagenais of Montreal Laval. Mrs. Pyke, 1950 Canadian champion, won her second provincial title in three years with long drives off the tee and accurate putting, going one under par seven times. The scheduled 36-hole final ended on the 28th.

Louise Brown and Don Platt of Toronto last night defeated the strong Montreal team of Henri Rochon, veteran Canadian Davis Cup player, and Mrs. Ruth Porter, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, in semi-final, mixed-doubles play in the Eastern Canadian tennis championship. In the finals tomorrow, they will face top-seeded Harold Burrows of Charlottesville, Va., and Mrs. Hanna Sledek of Montreal.

A couple of old hands—Henry Ransom and Sam Snead—shot six-under-par 66s yesterday to stand one-two at the half-way mark in the $15,000 St. Paul Open Golf Tournament. Ransom's 36-hole score was 130—14 under par. Snead was two strokes back with 132, having duplicated his opening-day count. Terrible Tommy Boldt, Durham, N.C., lived up to his name. After taking two consecutive sixes, and breaking two clubs, he withdrew.

Kingston Monarchs Edge Redmen 11-10 For 2nd Loss

Eric Rank's 11 Inning Double Swings Victory to Monarchs In Error-Riddled Exhibition

(By Boyd Upper)

Eric Rank's parlay of a three and two pitch into a double off the left field wall was enough to score Clark Carnegie from second base with the winning run, as Kingston's Edward Monarchs handed Belleville Redmen their third loss of the season, with an 11-10 win in 11 innings, in Kingston's Megaffin Stadium, Friday night.

In the fateful 11th Lenard went down swinging to start the inning and then Carnegie walked on a disputed pitch, Stinson moved him to second with a clean single to centrefield to set the stage for Rank's game winning double off the left field wall.

Up to the 11th everything that could happen in a ball game did. There were close plays at the plate, balls lost in the lights that went for doubles, errors aplenty, 29 hits, 21 runs, and a rhubarb at the plate that saw Earl Bush ejected from the game for hitting an umpire.

Minor Skirmish

The minor skirmish with offialdom took place in the eighth inning with one out, one in, and one on. Bush was called out on a third strike and was so incensed at plate umpire Pointer's decision that he marched on him with bat raised and the evident intention of crowning him.

Ejected from Game

However he didn't use the bat but pushed umpire Pointer instead. Base umpire, Bill Reason, then marched into the plate and ejected Bush from the game—a decision with which Pointer agreed. Coach McCabe replaced Bush in the field by playing himself at first, send Al Kelleher to left field, and bringing Vern Goyer in from left field to second base.

It was a neat 3-3 ball game through to the fourth inning, but in the fifth Monarchs scored three runs on a walk to Gilmour, a single by Levandoski, and a fielder's choice a play on Ferguson that saw Billy Strahan commit two errors on throws to third base and the plate that let in two runs and perched Ferguson at third. Scrutton scored Ferguson with a single.

The Redmen crashed back for six runs in the sixth as they paraded 10 men to the plate. Two walks, and three hits, helped by three Kingston errors were enough to let in half a dozen runs.

Monarchs picked up three runs in their half of the sixth to tie the score at 9-9.

Fresh Pitchers

New pitchers were rushed in for both sides with Babe Stinson going the rest of the distance for the Monarchs to claim the win. He walked four, struck out four, and gave up three hits for one run to claim the win.

Bob Bunton did the relief firing for the Redmen striking out five, walking three, and giving up five hits for two runs.

The Redmen picked up their 10th tally in the eighth on a walk, a fielder's choice and a single. Vern Goyer was picked off third and Earl Bush was ejected in this frame to add some excitement to routine business.

In the ninth the Monarchs scored their 10th run with Carnegie singling with one out. Then Carson made a sensational one-handed stab of Stinson's liner down the third base line. Rank was hit by the pitcher and Gilmour smashed a double to left field to score Carnegie with the equalizer, but a tremendous relay from Kelleher-to-Reeves-to-Pettitt nailed Rank sliding at the plate with potentially the winning run.

Batting: Billy Goodman, Boston Red Sox — Pounded out six hits drove home six runs and scored three as Boston took doubleheader from Detroit, 16-6 and 5-3.

Pitching: Spec Shea, Washington Senators — Scattered nine hits and turned in his eighth win of the season as Washington shaded Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings.

Sports Roundup

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Ty Cobb, the old Georgia Peach who cut loose with a blast at the modern-day ballplayers, must have chuckled if he saw the batting averages adorning the respective line-ups in the All-Star game this week.

Only three of the American League's eight starters carried a .300 average into the classic, while the National League could boast only four hitters above that figure.

How does this compare with All-Stars of the past Pre-All-Star game figures aren't available but, of the eight who started the 1942 game for the American League, only Ted Williams, .356, Joe Gordon, .322, and Joe DiMaggio, .305, were over the .300 figure at the end of the season. The National Leaguers of that era cut in even closer, with only Pete Reiser, .310, John Mize, .305, and Joe Medwick, .300.

How about the original game, back in 1933—weren't there some real hitters in those days? The baseball guide for the following year, which buried the "mid-season inter-league game" in the back of the book, discloses the following year-end figures for the 1933 heroes:

Chuck Klein, .368; Bill Terry, .322; Pepper Martin, .316; Wally Berger, .313; Paul Waner, .309; Frank Frisch, .303; Lou Gehrig, .334; Al Simmons, .331; Charley Gehringer, .325; Ben Chapman, .312; Joe Cronin, .309, Babe Ruth .301.

Some readers of the sports pages were surprised to find that Kid Gavilan, a young man of 26 years, was classed as the "veteran" welterweight champion who had taught a youngster, Gil Turner, the rudiments of boxing. The age of 26 scarcely seems to qualify even the survivor of 99 boxing bouts for the old men's home. If Gavilan is a veteran at 26, what does that make the venerable Mr. Walcott, 38-year-old proprietor of the heavyweight championship.

Prospects Gloomy For Canada's Olympic Oarsmen

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—Only partly successful in their hunt for replacement boats for Canada's Olympic scullers, downhearted officials returned here yesterday after a flying trip to Stockholm.

The team's three shells were ruined en route here from Canada and officials hoped to obtain substitutes in Sweden. The only good news they brought back: The loan of a double sculls from the Swedish Rowing Club.

That set things up for Bob Williams and Derek Riley, who will compete in the doubles when the rowing gets under way July 20.

But the crews for the four- and eight-oared events were a gloomy lot with no replacement shells in sight

The four- and eight-oared crews were out twice yesterday in choppy Gulf of Finland waters, using boats rented from a Finnish club.

The eight was plagued by hard luck. Their shell shipped water and was forced to pull into a boathouse and call it a day after 45 minutes.

The small crew survived the rough water for 15 minutes longer.

Both groups were unable to use the boats for training. Canadians use starboard-rigged craft and the Europeans bow-rigged, making it impossible for the Canadians to work as a team.

Help was on the way. Tom Alison, equipment manager for the team, announced in Toronto that two boats will be flown from Montreal to Helsinki early next week.

An air freighter of Royal Dutch Airlines will be diverted from New York to Montreal to pick up the fragile crafts, especially built for the Olympic team.

They arrived from the British Columbia makers too late to make the voyage by sea. Those sent instead were badly damaged aboard ship in a stormy crossing.

The rush flight of the two craft will cost about $3,564, Alison said.

Lowly Majors Trounce Guelph; Elgins Top Galt

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The lowly London Majors, holding sixth spot in the seven-club senior Intercounty Baseball League were not at all impressed last night by the first-place Guelph Maple Leafs.

The Majors were not dazzled by the league-leader's record of 19 wins against six losses, or the fact that the Leafs were riding high on a 10-game winning streak They chopped out a 10-7 win over Guelph to climb up into the No. 5 berth.

Elgins Top Galt

Second upset of the evening came when the cellar-dwelling St. Thomas Elgins walloped fourth-place Galt Terriers 8-3. Meanwhile, the second-place Kitchener Panthers cut Guelph's lead to three games with a 9-2 trouncing of Waterloo Tigers, dropping the Tigers into sixth place.

Rain and Fishing

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT

(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

Most any country boy will tell you that the best time to go fishing is during a summer rain. Frankly, I don't like to fish in the rain. I don't enjoy getting wet and a rain jacket is hot to the point of acute discomfort.

No so the country folks. They simply don't bother about fishing unless there is a good, steady rain in progress. Then they dig a mess of angleworms, take down the bamboo poles from their nails on the side of the barn, and head for the creek.

Where there is so much smoke there is bound to be a little fire somewhere. This firm belief about rain would not persist down through the years unless there were some truth in it. Those folks don't go out and take a ducking unless they have learned that their efforts will be rewarded by a mess of fish for dinner.

Summer rain is a beneficial thing in many ways. When we don't have enough of it, we know what happens. Springs go dry, streams get too low and the fishing becomes almost non-existent.

A good rain, of course, freshens up the streams and raises the level of the lakes and ponds. It lowers water temperatures, which are always too high for comfort during times of drought, and generally brings relief to a thirsty land.

Easy Eating

Surface drainage from the surrounding area finds its way into your fishing waters. This drainage brings with it a supply of natural food, such as angleworms, land insects and so on. Thus, the fish can find for themselves an easy meal which is not always available.

Increase in depth of water allows the fish to move about with more freedom as it protects them from their natural enemies. Visibility is obscured both by the ruffled surface and drifting sediment. A fish can feed and not be concerned about being fed upon by a predator.

Added to all this is the fact that rain brings with it a fresh supply of highly-oxygenated water. During bright weather the water in a stream must get its oxygen while passing through the riffles; in a lake the oxygen suply is renewed largely by wave action. Rain drops bring with them a fresh supply of much-needed oxygen and are doubly welcome.

But to return to the country axiom about fishing being at its best during a rain — let's take a closer look at that one. This is about the way matters arrange themselves.

As you know, the approach of a storm is heralded by a drop in the level of the barometer. Fish are excellent weather prophets. They can tell when the glass is falling just as well as we can; sometimes a little better, in fact.

Fishy Forecasts

This is nature's warning that trouble is coming and the fish, for reasons of security, take to deep water and there they stay until the danger has passed. This means, of course, that the fish are fairly well concentrated in certain known spots.

With the arrival of the rain, the barometer levels off or starts to rise. This is also quite evident to the fish. They know that danger has passed and it is once again safe to feed.

Thus, the country boy, with his can of worms and his cane pole, finds during a rain a group of ready customers who accept his offerings with evident relish. To be sure, he gets wet but he also catches a mess of fish.

Thunderstorms are somewhat different than settled rains in their effects on the fishing. It is difficult to set down any rules about these hard summer showers as rarely are any two thunderstorms exactly alike.

They are of two varieties — the "twisters" and the "rollers." All of them have their effects on the behavior of the barometer and that, in turn, affects the behavior of the fish.

I have had good fishing before, during, and after thunderstorms. By the same token, I have had bad fishing at the same times. By and large, fishing during thunderstorms is dangerous, hardly worth the risk or the ducking you are bound to take.

Dry Comfort

My procedure for thunderstorms is to go back to the car and sit it out in dry comfort on soft cushions. Time enough to fish after the storm has passed.

Rain and the Solunar Periods sometimes conflict and sometimes do not. It all depends upon what the barometer is doing. A falling glass will often offset the beneficial effects of a Solunar Period, just as a rising glass or a steady one accentuates the activity of the feeding period.

It is a pretty good plan, regardless of the weather, to keep track of the daily Solunar Periods. If the glass is falling, you probably won't find any fishing that is worth while.

Conversely, if the glass is steady or rising, you will have your best fishing as a general rule during the Solunar Periods. For that reason it pays to keep track of the daily Solunar times. Believe me, it pays dividends in sport.

Lacrosse Moguls Suspend Player

TORONTO (CP) — Ross Lowe, defenceman with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, has been indefinitely suspended from the Ontario Lacrosse Association intermediate league in which he plays during the summer months.

O.L.A. secretary Chuck Rowan said yesterday Lowe was suspended for striking a referee during a game at Orillia June 26. The referee, who was not named, suffered a fractured jaw.

Brooklyn, Oshawa area team for which Lowe plays, was fined $50 and Luther Vipond of Brooklin and Murray Pearsall of Orillia were each suspended one game for fighting.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Bridge players think of conventions as artificial bids. In the strictest sense this is so. My Horse Sense system, however, has a few conventions that are logical consequences of knowing its rules.

You are studying this deal:

SOUTH
♠None
♥K 10 7
♦K 10 9 8 3
♣K Q 6 5 2

Several days back you read here, when east opened with a spade, I said south should bid one no-trump. This was my recommendation for our first defensive bid by the south hand. Why?

With a true opening one bid hand, our immediate defence is a takeout double. And a defending no-trump bid would also promise the values found in an opening one bid, but with opponent suit stops.

The chances of using such a no-trump bid in defence are rare. And Horse Sense players are efficiency hounds. With so few bidding words available, we like to make the most prolific use of them.

So, we do not coop it up as a lazy companion to a double for takeout. Instead, we elevate it to a lively position. We make it a convention that becomes one of our most active defence bids.

The most frequent defence hand is one that lacks some item for a true takeout double. And yet it might easily fit some weak suit our partner may have. How ask him to show it without misleading?

Be defending at once with a bid of one no-trump. He knows we do not use such a bid. So, it must be with a hand that does not desire to play at no-trump, but lacks something for a true takeout double.

This inferential force has many advantages. All without fooling partner into depending on too many highs and sures. All without any interference to our policy for simple overcalls in a suit.

It gives us opportunities for learning of a good combined suit that will help us defend to a higher level. Or, for taking a saving sacrifice instead of making unsound penalty doubles. Like it?

Movie Column

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ethel Waters, a gal who should know, says there are only two white singers who could cross tonsils with Negro blues singers.

Miss Waters picked Ella Mae Morse and Mel Torme as the two who come closest to threatening the Negro blues monopoly.

"I don't know what it is they've got," she added, "but my ear tells me they've got it"

"All your girl singers today try to copy Ella Fitzgerald, but they can't do it," said Ethel. "The Negro feels the blues differently than the white person."

True Blue Love

Although Ethel is recognized as one of the top dramatic actresses on Broadway, she apparently considers singing her great love.

"It's my bread and butter," she commented.

Currently her non-singing talents are earning her enough Hollywood money to buy cake. She is out here for the movie version of her Broadway hit, "Member of the Wedding."

Singing, however, is where she made her first fame. She was the first of her sex to ever sing "St. Louis Blues," and she also introduced the old time hit "Dinah." In the first technicolor musical she sang "Am I Blue," still a classic on her recording.

She rates the late Bessie Smith and Ma Rainey among the greatest of the Negro Blues singers.

"I never sang the blues like they did. I didn't have a loud enough voice."

Then, glancing down at her buxom figure, she smiled: "Of course, in those days I had a good shape. They used to call me 'Long Goodie.'" That, she explained, referred to her then-slender figure.

Capsule Review

"The Quiet Man" is John Ford's best picture since "The Informer," but much, much funnier. Best scene: John Waye and Victor McLaglen stage a real knock-down drag-out fight across the Irish countryside, finally land in front of a pub. Time out is taken while the participants take a friendly drink and then resume the fight.

AT McCARTHY THEATRE

"The African Queen"

It's a long way from the ivy-covered arches of Bryn Mawr College on Philadelphia's Main Line to the thatched hut village of Biondo on the Congo River, and it's no joy ride. But Katharine Hepburn, co-star with Humphrey Bogart of John Huston's "The African Queen," which closes tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, through United Artists release, likes her assignments tough, unusual and challenging.

The highly individualistic Katie came back with rave notices of her ten weeks' 6,000-mile safari through the heart of the dark continent. To most, including Bogart, the location was a nightmare of tse-tse and hippo flies, snakes, bad food and warm beer. To Katie it was "Mahvelous!"

The fact that she was the sickest of director Huston's entire unit and played many of her scenes, as the tight-featured missionary's sister of C. S. Forester's story, with a raging fever, brought on by a mysterious intestinal bug, daunted Katie's enthusiasm not at all. She was only frustrated by not being allowed to do more.

"No lying in the lush cool grass for fear of snakes; no picking and eating the tempting fruits, for they had to be cooked first; no explorations of exciting jungle paths because of dangerous animals," she lamented.

"I always felt some invisible presence continually saying, 'Baby musn't touch!'"

All her life Katie has been making up her own mind about what she can and cannot touch, and it's a rare thing to argue her out of a decision. Huston, with whom she used to go hunting in off-hours on location, apparently learned to do it.

Back to her quiet life of reading, sports and good conversation, Katie is also back to her normal weight.

FIRE LOSS $50,000,000

CLARKSBURG, W. V. — (AP) — Loss in a warehouse fire was estimated yesterday at as much as $50,000,000. An exact accounting of the destruction may never be made public since the government, for security reasons, won't say how much crude rubber it lost. The rubber supply was one of the major items burned in the warehouse facilities of the General Storage Co. Wednesday night.

AT THE CAPITOL — Randolph Scott stars with Ann Sheridan in Zane Grey's "The Fighting Westerner," opening Monday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program luxury-loving Cecil Aubry in "Manon."

AT THE CAPITOL

"MANON"

Cecile Aubrey's adventures unfold against the black market of postwar France.

She emerges into lovely blonde womanhood on the screen in front of you.

The narrative of "Manon" which opens at the Capitol Theatre on Monday for 2 days only is strewn with gems of camera work and expert directorial handling. It is frank in its depiction of postwar normal decadence. The modern background of the star gives a dramatic background and fresh aspect.

Cecile is as fetching a bit of femininity as has been seen on the screen in a decade.

On the same program, Zane Grey's "The Fighting Western," starring Randolph Scott and Ann Sheridan.

THEATRE FEATURE TIMES

AT CAPITOL — "African Treasure" — Johnny Sheffield — 1.30, 5.20, 8.55. "Retreat, Hell" — Frank Lovejoy — Richard Carlson — 3.15, 6.50, 10.00.

AT DRIVE-IN THEATRE — "13 Rue Madeline" — James Cagney, Annabella — feature starts at dusk.

AT THE McCARTHY — "The African Queen" — Color by Technicolor — Humphrey Bogart, Katharine Hepburn — 2.39, 4.59, 7.26, 9.38.

AT TRENT THEATRE, TRENTON — "Westward The Women" — Robert Taylor, Denise Darcal — 2.30, 7.30, 9.35.

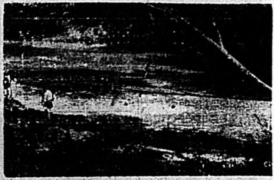
"The Water's Fine"



The "old swimming hole" still has a strong lure for boys. This cool, spring-fed pool attracts a goodly quota at Camp Wetaskiwin, the camp of the St. Catherines, Ont., District Boy Scouts Association. A waiting line, at right, gets ready to swing out on the rope tied to the half-fallen tree. — (CP Photo.)

Canada Names Escott Reid, High Commissioner

OTTAWA (CP)—Escott Reid, No. 3 man at External Affairs headquarters, yesterday was named High Commissioner to India, an appointment reflecting the importance Canada attaches to that Commonwealth country as a world power.

The 47-year-old former Rhodes Scholar and son of a Toronto Anglican rector is expected to leave for New Delhi in September to take up his first ambassadorial post in 13 years in the diplomatic service.

Mr. Reid, deputy under-secretary of state for external affairs since 1948, succeeds Warwick Chipman, 73, an eminent Montreal lawyer, who is coming home to retire.

Mr. Reid, as deputy under-secretary, ranks beneath External Affairs Minister Pearson and Under-secretary Dana Wilgress. In the last four years, he has spent a year as acting undersecretary.

Mr. Reid is regarded as an authority on the organization and scope of international organization, particularly the United Nations.

He was born at Campbellford, Ont., the son of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Reid. His father now is rector emeritus of St Chad's Anglican church in Toronto

British Columbia's male farm help are the highest paid in Canada, with an average wage of $5.00 a day.

More than 34 per cent of all Canadians live in urban places of 30,000 population and over.

Workmen Erect Barricades On Soviet Border

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin workmen erected barricades on the Soviet-zone border yesterday to help check kidnappings by Communists. Roadblocks were raised at dozens of junctions.

British, American and French teams joined the city government's supervisors to make sure the workmen stayed in their own territory and avoided incidents with armed Communist police.

The decision by Mayor Ernst Reuter's cabinet to put up the barricades was approved by Allied authorities.

The abduction Tuesday of Dr. Walter Linse, 48, an anti-Communist lawyer, from the American sector led the West Berlin government to order the barricading of streets that lead into the Communist-ruled countryside.

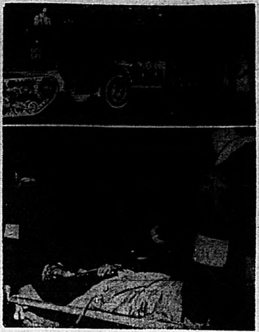
Bloodshed in Mexican Election



In Mexico City, a half-track (top) guards a midtown building, as post-election riots bring death and disorder to the Mexican capital. Thousands of troops, firing bullets and tossing tear gas, battled to halt outbreaks staged by backers of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, defeated for the presidency by Adolfo Ruiz Cortines. At bottom, one of the injured is shown being carried to safety. Mexico was congratulating itself on the quietest election in history when the rioting started. — Central Press Canadian.

CENTENARY

Centenary 3 T's Mission Circle

The Centenary 3 T's Mission Circle held its June meeting at the home of group leader, Mrs. Gordon Garrison. Roll call showed 11 members present.

It was announced that Mrs. Keith Sills' group will be in charge of the next meeting, to be held outdoors on July 21. There was a discussion about the layette. It was decided that the blanket be sent to Miss Maimie Gollan, missionary for prayer. Books supplied were discussed, followed by the worship service. Eleanor Roblin read a letter from Miss Gollan in the Missionary Monthly. The Scripture reading, Ephesians 4:1-7 and 11-14 was given by Elaine Bain and Mrs. Garrison led in prayer. Offering amounted to $1.72.

President, Mrs. Fred Edmondson, moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Garrison for opening her home for the meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Garrison and her assistants

A tentative date for the Centenary Church and Sunday School picnic is Tuesday, July 29, to be held at Crystal Beach, Madoc.

The induction service for Rev. W. J. Middleton was held on Friday, July 4, the officiating clergymen being, Rev. A. C. McCallum, Rev. W. Neelands and Rev. Puttenham, of Grace United Church, Trenton.

Quite a few from this community availed themselves of the opportunity last Sunday to escape the terrific heat wave by going to neighboring lakes and beaches.

The local pea viner is once more in full swing.

Mrs. Orval May is still confined to her home with illness.

Congratulations to the students of the local school and to the teacher Mrs. Warren Spafford, for a successful year's work, and to the Belleville Collegiate students from this community on successfully passing examinations.

100 Red Rebels Ambush Train, One Person Killed

RANGOON (Reuters)—More than 100 Burmese Communist rebels ambushed a passenger train today, killing one person and injuring seven, reports reaching here said.

They pounced near Moulmein, about 150 miles east of Rangoon

A rebel attempt to loot a freight train near Thazi, 300 miles north of here, was foiled when the train turned out to be carrying an armed patrol. Three rebels and two of the patrol were killed.

Thirsting city dwellers clashed today trying to get water in Rangoon where the supply has been cut off since rebels blew up the pipeline three days ago. A dock worker was stabbed to death and a woman was assaulted by two men.

MARMORA

Bowlers Enjoy Jitney Tourney

MARMORA—Twelve ladies and twelve men took part in Jitney bowling at Deloro on Monday evening and the games were very interesting and enjoyable. The six teams taking part were each composed of two ladies and two men, the players being selected by a draw. Three games were played of six ends each and the players were changed for each game.

The total score of each player was then added up to decide the winner. Mrs. William Brown had the high score for the ladies and James Appleton and Thomas Cousins were tied for high score for the men. They rolled one end to decide the winner and Thomas Cousins won out. The ladies proved to be as good bowlers as the men if not quite as experienced as skips in some cases.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Professor Ordell was on the verge of collapse. An agonizing moan shook his spare, tall body and in a frantic whisper he said, "Where is she? Oh, my wife! Where?"

"Come with me," said Dr. David Roberts.

Led by Mr. Roberts, we walked around and around the tent in a widening circle while the doctor played his light upon the earth and brush searching for some clue to this newest mystery.

"What are you looking for?" I whispered to the Doctor.

His lips close to my ear, he said, "I've known bears to drag a dead steer 15 feet or more. It's not a nice thought but . . ."

"Bears could not untie those tent flaps!"

"True," he said. "Too true."

When finally we had found nothing, we began to retrace the wet dim trail to the lodge.

Professor Ordell sobbed audibly as we walked along. The Doctor said "Please, Professor, remember this. The murderer returned to your wife for some reason. He cannot escape as quickly with her body."

But despite his kindly meant words, my mind went to the black unsounded depths of Gold Lake. How easy to dispose of what was left of poor Mrs. Ordell. Surely he realized that!

At that moment, Susie with a quick jerk pulled away from me and went back sniffing at the lonely tent.

We followed as fast as the path would permit. We saw her enter the tent and come out and, with muzzle to earth, she trotted again toward the stream.

She stood whimpering and whining by the deep, quiet pool just below the waterfall. Dr. Roberts played the light over the dim rocky bank and across the dark water. The pool was perhaps 10 feet wide and appeared very deep. The men apparently saw nothing. But I saw a fern frond mashed against the rock by which it grew. No other clue to the disappearing corpse.

As we walked along toward the dimly-lighted lodge I slipped a little on wet pine needles. Dr. Roberts, just behind me, caught me in a strong embrace. It was the second time he had saved me from a fall. His lips were very near my ear as he whispered, "You shouldn't try to stay here."

Like a fool I stood still in his arms until he released me slowly while he again whispered, "Get away, my dear, there are those who believed that you are the reason for this tragedy! There are those who still believe you are Elsie Martinson."

"I am not," I protested. "I am Rosemary Curtis. Here is my wrist watch and the monogram is R.C." and I held my small watch in the glare of the torch. "I can show you my driver's license, too. I don't know this Elsie Martinson and I hope that I never meet her."

Professor Ordell took the torch from Dr. Roberts and turned it into my face and said very solemnly, "Are you speaking the truth?"

"I am," I said.

"Then do leave at once. You have the misfortune — yes, tragic misfortune — to look like Elsie Martinson. There is no reason why you should be deprived of knowing that it is she who is taking a lease on this property from the bank in Sacramento. The bank is foreclosing on James. We who are here at the lodge don't want Elsie Martinson to come here. You look like her, very much. There is plenty of reason why no one wants her here."

His voice was stern but gentle. I realized how serious he was, yet I felt it was a simple case of mistaken identity that should be easily cleared up, so I prentended a bravado that I did not feel.

"But why should I go when I am not she?"

"Because," he said slowly in a voice little better than a whisper, "on the ridge just above us somewhere near Gold Lake lies money buried by the emigrants. The old trail followed by the covered wagons traverses this hogback of the range. There are iron-rust stains on the granite boulders to mark the way it takes. The iron tires of the old wagons scaped against those boulders and their stains of rust are clearly visible today. There are relics to mark the trails, too —iron, leather, a wagon wheel or broken axle. My wife—" and he choked on the words and was silent for a moment, "my wife — found a child's shoe there," and here he lowered his voice even more. "But no one, that we know of, has ever found the gold that the emigrants buried."

The whole affair seemed a horrid dream. Yet as the Professor continued his stranger-than-fiction story, I remembered the reality of the bullet hole in my fender, of the death of Mrs. Ordell, and the awful fact that her body had been stolen.

"There is a legend," the Professor continued, "that many thousands of dollars in gold are buried near the trail on this property. Through separate stories handed down to us from our pioneering ancestors we all claim part of that treasure and we don't propose to let Elsie Martinson have it. It is obvious that she has leased the land to procure it. The grandmothers and grandfathers of our group at the lodge rode in the wagon train that carried that gold. It was supposedly buried in a cache to be claimed later. To our knowledge it has never been unearthed."

Throughout this long speech Dr. Roberts had been quiet. "We had better go," he said at last.

When all the weapons were gathered together Dr. Roberts said, "and yours, Miss Curtis?"

"I have no weapon of any kind," I snapped. "And what is more, I believe I'm among gangsters, and if ever this storm abates and I can get out of here alive I'll turn the lot of you over to the police!"

It was at that moment that Mrs. James stepped forward and searched me quickly and efficiently. As she finished without any formidable result, she gave me a baffled look.

After the group seated itself, Dr. Roberts began. "Frankly, I came here to fish and relax. My practice in San Francisco has been demanding and I'm tired. But there will be no rest, because murder has been committed. And before that, poison was placed in a woman's tent. We must clear ourselves."

I broke in. "Did Mrs. James tell you that Mrs. Ordell is the second woman to be murdered? The other was near Horseshoe Springs just before I arrived last night. The old man there told me and was nearly shot for his pains. The proof of the shooting is the bullet-hole in the fender of my car."

"Yes," Dr. Roberts hastened to say, " Mrs. James told us of your story of the murder, but first let's try to solve this one."

Rhumba was fixing luncheon. We felt more cheerful at the prospect of food, when suddenly Dick Bannister, one of the university students, snatched up the platter of ham and held it for Dr. Robert to see.

The ham was coated with a sauce and clinging to the sauce was a thin film of a white, powdery substance.

"Don't eat it!" Dr. Roberts exclaimed. "It looks like the powder on the meat found in Miss Curtis' tent."

Robert's lips closed in a grim line. I agreed with him. I would eat no ham. We all declined to touch the meat and would eat only what came from freshly-opened cans.

I suggested a tray for Professor Ordell and Jeff took it across the narrow court to the lodge.

He was gone but a few minutes when he came dashing again to the kitchen, pale, breathless and his eyes wide with terror.

"Something's happened to Professor Ordell!" he gasped wildly.

Frantically we ran to the lodge. There before the cheerful fire lay the professor as he had fallen. His right hand on the hearth, his left hand close to his body and tightly clenched.

Dr. Roberts turned him over gently and felt for his pulse. There was no wound except a cruel swelling on the back of his head. He still breathed.

He had been struck by a large blunt instrument and had fallen forward.

Professor Ordell stirred and opened his eyes in a dazed fashion. "She asked for you, James," he mumbled.

Professor Ordell sat up quickly. "A woman in a big, dark colored coat," he said. "She had red hair and called your name, James. She carried a small handbag and I thought she was a guest arriving. I told her you were in the kitchen." He paused. "Perhaps she struck me, I don't know. But I had been writing down clues to—well to who might have hurt my wife. And the person who attacked me took these notes!" He took a scrap of paper from his clenched fist. The only writing on it was the word "Elsie."

Every pair of eyes in the room turned on me.

By 7 o'clock Mr. James succeeded in reaching the coroner by telephone. The sheriff had gone to investigate a murder at Horseshoe Springs, the coroner said, and could be contacted there by phone, so he might reach Gold Lake earlier, although bridges had been washed out by the storm and there would be a delay.

Professor Ordell had recovered from his drowsiness and was talking to Dr. Roberts, who sat near me by the fire. "I'm going to my wife, whether James likes it or not," he said. "It was wrong for me to leave her there alone. I wouldn't have except for the shock. I feel that James hustled us away too rapidly. There might be some clue we could have found I'm going back."

His thin, esthetic face was drawn and pale, but there was a determined expression in the lines of his mouth.

"You're right," replied Dr. Roberts. "I'll get a flashlight and we'll both go."

"I'm coming along," I said. "I'm afraid to stay here."

But as we started on the slippery trail, Dr. Roberts' flashlight caught a glint on the dark earth. Professor Ordell stooped to pick it up. In the beam from the torch he wiped it clean with his fingers, revealing a thin, bright little $2.50 gold piece, dated 1834.

I thought I saw an exchange of sharp glances between the two men. Professor Ordell droppde the coin into his pocket.

It seemed odd to me that neither man spoke when this strange old coin was found but I excused it on the grounds that both were anxious to get on to the scene of the crime.

We approached the Ordell tent. I, for one, dreaded what lay within. My experience with death was slight and the memory of the gruesome stillness of Mrs. Ordell unnerved me. In spite of my mental urging against senseless fear, I found myself icy cold and shivering as Dr. Roberts turned the light on the wet tent flaps that billowed in the wind.

I noticed that the torch was in the Doctor's left hand, in his right was a revolver. I watched him gravely, for though I liked him, I wondered about the gun.

Then clearly it came to me that I had noticed Mr. James tie the canvas straps of the tent flaps before he herded us back to the lodge after we found Mrs. Ordell.

There was a fateful streak of dark red on the tarpaulin which served as a counterpane.

To our utter horror, the body of Mrs. Ordell was—gone!

U.S. Lays Keel For 60,000-Ton Aircraft Carrier

Designed to Launch Planes Carrying Atomic Bombs

By ELTON C. FAY

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The United States Navy today laid the keel of a giant aircraft carrier whose range and planes can bring within reach the "innermost lairs" of any aggressor country.

Deputy Defence Secretary William C. Foster described this as one of the capabilities of the 60,000-ton carrier Forrestal, to be the biggest warship of the world's navies when completed.

Behind his words in an address at the keel-laying ceremony was the fact the ultra-modern, flush-deck carrier is designed to launch and recover atom-bomb carrying planes and heavy, swift jet fighters to provide for its own protection against enemy attack.

Costs $218,000,000

The ship, first of two of the class which Congress so far has authorized the navy to build, will cost an estimated $218,000,000, excluding cost of the 100 or more planes of the carrier.

At normal construction rate, the Forrestal will be ready to join the fleet in late 1954. In an emergency building can be speeded up.

The Forrestal is being constructed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, builder of the passenger liner United States which set a maiden trip to europe.

Foster did not specify in his speech the expected range of the Forrestal's aircraft. But his mention of the "innermost lairs" of an aggressor power suggested targets deep in Russia, now well beyond the operational radius of present-day carrier-based aircraft of 600 or 700 miles.

The Forrestal will grow into a carrier of these dimensions and appearance:

A flight deck 1,040 feet long, 252 feet wide. An "island" structure, housing the bridge, which can be retracted to provide a unobstructed flight deck.

A speed probably more than the 33 knots rated speed for the present largest aircraft, the 45,000-ton Midway.

A bow completely enclosed up to the flight deck, to thrust aside the biggest waves.

Television to give the crew "eyes" for steering and navigating the ship when the bridge is retracted during landing operations.

Woman Dies When Summer Hotel Destroyed

CAESARIA (CP)—A 65-year-old woman was burned to death early yesterday when fire destroyed the Kenosha Hotel at this summer resort in the Lake Scugog district.

The victim was Mrs. Fred Harran, wife of the proprietor of the 40-year-old hotel.

An unidentified woman broke her ankle jumping from the roof. The 11 other guests escaped uninjured.

Mrs. Harran had fled the building with her husband but returned in a effort to save the hotel records. She apparently was overcome by smoke.

Two unidentified men who had spent night in their car, parked in front of the hotel, awoke when the fire started and spread the alarm.

The frame building, located on the main street of this town 20 miles north of Oshawa, was destroyed in an hour. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Yalu R. Plant May Receive Another Pounding

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Nations bombers may have to return to the Yalu River power plant where a heavy attack last month blasted Communist electric-power development.

Reports are coming in which shows the Reds are seeking to repair at least some of the four big power complexes hit in the raids.

During the three-day series of blows at the major power sources of the eemy, the United States air command took particular care to avoid breaching the Supung dam at Suiho and other similar dams.

A Defence Department spokesman gave this official explanation:

"The bombing. . .was intended to cripple the war-making potential of the Communists without at the same time destroying the dam (at Suiho) which would be beneficial to the people in peacetime."

The Suiho power project was constructed by the Japanese in the mid-1930s when Japan controlled Korea and Manchuria.

Aerial photographs taken during and after the bombing attacks on the Suiho project show the precise care taken to hit the generating equipment and avoid damage to the 350-foot high, half-mile-long dam.

Ruest Removed To Montreal Jail

QUEBEC — (CP) — Genereux Ruest, in hospital since June 24 with a liver condition, has been removed to Quebec jail where he is awaiting transfer to Montreal Bordeaux jail for his scheduled hanging July 24 as the maker of a time-bomb that destroyed an airliner Sept. 9, 1949.

The 54-year-old cripple was removed from St. Sacrement hospital here during the weekend following treatment after a bilious attack, it was learned.

Crippled by tuberculosis of the bones for many years, Ruest is seeking from Justice Minister Garson a new trial or commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Large Fire Loss

TOULOUSE, France (AP) Fire destroyed a huge sector of this city in southwestern France today, causing 500,000,000 francs—($1,400,000) damage.

A grass fire spread to a shoe factory and the ensuing blaze destroyed 50 houses, several other factories and a garage.

Heart Attack Kills Captain As Ship Burns

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP)—Flames touched off by a spark engulfed two oil tankers at the Union Oil refinery Saturday.

Capt. Eugene Fulton, skipper of the 8,768-ton tanker Victor H. Kelly, died of a heart attack as his ship was wracked by internal explosions alongside the flame-swept pier at nearby Oleum.

Two men are missing and 30 or more were injured.

Damage was estimated at $5,000,000.

The other flaming tanker, the 10,448-ton Lompoc, was hauled out into San Pablo bay by a navy tug. Crew members and fireboats put out flames on her decks in an hour's battle.

Witnesses said a spark on the 1,800-foot pier touched off leaking oil as the Kelly was discharging a cargo of crude oil.

Duke of Edinburgh Abolishes Many Ancient Duties in Economy Drive

LONDON (AP)—The Reynolds News says the Duke of Edinburgh has launched "the most drastic economy drive ever known in the Royal Household." It says the new belt-tightening policy comes at the request of the Queen.

The Labor Sunday newspaper in a front-page story says: "High on his list for immediate attention is a proposal to close the Royal estate at Sandringham while there is a need for national economy."

The Reynolds News says the Duke has issued instructions to senior officials that staffs must be streamlined and centuries-old duties, based more on tradition than on usefulness, abolished.

One of the Duke's economy steps would be to scrap the time-honored procedure allowing any member of the Royal household to drop in at the palace for a free meal at any time.

Next to go, says the paper, "will be the custom of placing a bottle of whisky in the Royal bedroom every night and removing it in the morning, for it is never touched."

"Someone," says the paper, "gets 365 bottles of scotch a year at the Queen's expense."

INDUSTRY TOSSES STEEL STRIKE IN WORKERS' LAP

Negotiations Hit Snag After Initial Proposal

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Industry today tossed the steel strike into the lap of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

The latest negotiations hit a snag after industry proposed a watered-down version of the Union Shop—compulsory union membership—and other undisclosed suggestions for ending the strike, now in its 43rd day.

An industry statement said:

"Those suggestions are still under consideration by the union. There are no definite arrangements for further meetings."

Meeting Fruitless

Top steel executives left Pittsburgh yesterday after an apparently fruitless meeting with Philip Murray, head of the 650,000-member steelworkers union.

Murray had nothing to say about the industry statement, His only remark was that future negotiations are "contingent upon developments." He did not elaborate.

U.S. Steel Corp., bellweather of the industry, asked the government for a steel-price increase Saturday. This set off the weekend talks between Murray and the industry.

This is the crux of the dispute: Murray wants a union shop. Industry is willing to go along on a modified plan if the government grants a price increase.

The union shop in its conventional form, requires all workers, old or new, to join the union.

Under the modified plan offered by the industry, new employees would be required to join the union but could withdraw between the 20 and 30th day of employment.

Increase Granted

It was learned the government has agreed to a price increase of at least $5 a ton to compensate the industry for wage increases it may grant the strikers. Steel now sells for about $110 a ton.

One other issue also must be considered—wages. The companies have offered a pay increase of 16 cents an hour, retroactive to April 1.

The union says it wants the retroactive date back to March 15. Indications are the industry will go along but only if the union agrees to a modified union shop.

Industry's offer also included paid holidays, higher shift differentials and other fringe benefits. Pre-strike wages averaged $1.95 an hour.

Conservatively speaking, the strike has dented the U.S. economy of nearly $2,000,000,000. More layoffs loom—particularly in the automotive industry in which there are nearly 300,000 idle.

Other allied industries, principally railroads, also feel the effects.

Pilots Land Safely

CARDIFF, Wales (Reuters) — The pilots baled out safely when two Vampire jet fighters collided over Cardiff today but one of the planes crashed into a hotel and killed a 72-year-old cleaning woman.

The other Vampire crashed on a farm outside the city and burned.

Norstad's direction. — (CP from National Defence.)

Effects of Steel Strike Being Felt in Canada Many Plants Face Closings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The United States steel strike has begun to bite deeply into Canadian industry and the effects are widening with each day the strike continues.

A Canadian Press survey indicates that the industrially-rich area of Central Canada has been hardest hit. Steel and automobile plants have curtailed production and let out some workers. The construction industry is feeling the pinch, particularly in structural parts and materials which can only be imported from the United States.

At Montreal, an official of Algoma Corporation said many smaller Canadian steel plants will be forced to close if iron-ore shipments from the U.S. continue to be interrupted.

Layoffs can also be expected, the official said, in the country's largest steel mills within four or five weeks if no settlement is reached.

At Windsor, Ont., Chrysler of Canada has suspended production. Ford of Canada said it is operating on a day-to-day basis. At Oshawa, General Motors has laid off more than 1,000 men and warned there may be a complete plant close-down when the vacation period ends Aug. 11.

The Studebaker plant at Hamilton will close July 25, also for a two-week vacation period, and officials indicated it will remain closed.

Meanwhile, at Hamilton, R. G. Hilton, president of the Steel Company of Canada, denied rumors that the company will be forced to close completely because of the iron-ore shortage. However, he said the situation is "nip and tuck."

Mossadegh Asks Parliament For Sweeping Powers As Iran Faces Financial Ruin

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran's lower house of Parliament, the Majlis, tomorrow is expected to take up a request by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for sweeping new emergency powers.

A pro-Mossadegh deputy told reporters the aged Nationalist leader put his unprecedented proposal—to rule for six months by decree—before the Majlis at a five-hour closed session yesterday.

Stiff opposition appeared likely to confront the proposal, which Mossadegh said is necessary to halt Iran's present skid toward bankruptcy. The lawmakers—mostly wealthy men and big landowners—have supported him in his past programs but may balk at his proposed scheme for stiff levies on higher incomes, redistribution of labor, austerity controls and land reforms.

The deputy said Mossadegh asked for authority to initiate and enforce rigid economic measures for six months. The Premier promised that he would let both houses of Parliament pass on his program at the end of the period.

Iran has been in a serious economic plight since Mossadegh nationalized the country's British-run oil industry last year and oil production and royalties were cut off. Mossadegh argues that even though the oil revenues were Iran's main source of national income, the country can get along without them if it accepts a program of severe austerity.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Most of southern Ontario is in for another scorching day today. Temperatures will climb over 90 and increasing humidity will add to the general discomfort. However, a little relief is in sight. Tuesday will see a cover of cloud over southern regions protecting these areas from the intense heat of the mid-July sun and a few widely scattered showers are forecast over most of southern Ontario during the day. Northern Ontario's cool weather will continue today and Tuesday.

Seven Survivors Of Bomber Crash Recovering

ANCHORAGE, Alaska. (AP)—All seven survivors of a B-17 crash in the mountain wilds near the Alaska-Yukon border were reported by the United States Air Force yesterday to be recovering satisfactorily here.

Names of the seven men and their fellow crewmen who died in the Friday crash are expected to be released later.

Only one of the survivors was in serious condition with severe burns, and he was said to be improving. Four others had varying degrees of burns and bruises, while two escaped with only minor bruises.

The air force said the B-17 search bomber of the 10th Air Rescue Squadron crashed and burned near Snag, Y.T., in the area it had been assigned to hunt for an R.C.A.F. Mitchell bomber missing in the Yukon since June 30 six men aboard.

Within two hours of the time they were reported overdue Friday afternoon at Whitehorse, Y.T., other search planes from their squadron had spotted them. A doctor and three other airmen parachuted down to give them first aid.

Soon helicopters reached the scene and the airmen were ferried out one-by-one to Snag, about 30 miles away.

Girl Drowns At Havelock

HAVELOCK —(CP) — Susan Rooth, 2 1-2, died yesterday when she fell into nearby Round Lake and struck her head. Her absence was unnoticed until her body was spotted floating in the water.

VOLUNTEERS START DUTIES AS SPOTTERS

27 States Involved In Defence Plan

WASHINGTON (CP)—More than 150,000 volunteer aircraft spotters today began operating on round-the-clock shifts helping guard the United States from air attacks.

The plan, designed to plug the gaps in the country's radar screen, went into operation at about 6,000 stations in 27 states across the northern rim of the U.S.

In conjunction with this program, the U. S. Army last month disclosed it had moved anti-aircraft batteries into positions of readiness around strategic targets.

Exact locations were not disclosed but generally the guns were placed around vulnerable industrial centres.

The army said this precaution had no special significance other than "an increased state of operational readiness."

The air watchers, using binoculars, will report suspicious or unidentified aircraft to 32 filter stations. The information will be passed along and checked in a co-operative network set up by the air force and the air defence command.

Jet interceptors will be ready on a 24-hour alert to meet any verified threat.

The watcher network extends across the Canadian border and the northernmost Atlantic and Pacific coastal states.

Canadian Stock Exchanges May Go on 5-Day Week

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

If the New York stock exchange should decide on a five-day week and extended trading hours, it is regarded as virtually certain that Toronto and Montreal exchanges will follow suit.

For one thing, if New York were open after the Canadian exchanges closed, Canadian exchange members would be unable to protect themselves and their clients in the event of a late swing in New York prices.

It is reported that the Board of Governors of the New York Exchange may consider a five-day week and extended trading hours at its monthly policy meeting July 17.

New York and the Canadian Exchanges now are on a five-day week for the summer months, but with no extended hours. The New York Curb, however, is trying out an extra half-hour of trading on its five-day summer schedule.

STOPPED THE HARD WAY

TORONTO (CP)—The lights on Bruce Bidonski's car went out. To stop the vehicle he drove off the road and—up an eight-foot embankment, 35 feet through the air, skidded 27 feet and hit a tree, bounced 13 feet into the air, ripped through hydro wires, knocked down four mail boxes and finally stopped. He was fined $10 for driving without a licence.

Eat Plenty of Fruit and Vegetables, Stay Mentally Cool Says Doctor

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—In a heat wave, one tip for keeping cool is to go tropical.

That means plenty of fruit and vegetables, light and loose clothing, a sun helmet if you go out at noon, an afternoon siesta if you can convince your boss.

Another tip — stay mentally cool.

The hints on health and coolness in summertime are receited by Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, well-known physician and author. There are 14 points in this summertime recipe:

1. Don't overwork.
2. Don't overplay.
3. Don't overeat.
4. Avoid fats and an excess of sugars and starches.
5. Get plenty of fresh fruits and vegeztables. Vegetables and fruits supply minerals and essential salts. We need more of them in summer because we lose salts in perspiration. Fruit should be eaten at least once and preferably twice a day. Salt lost in perspiration also can be replaced by using more salt on foods, or taking salt tablets.
6. Avoid food that is not properly refrigerated. Don't eat anything that carries the slightest suspicion of being spoiled.
7. Avoid an excess of alcoholic drinks.
8. Drink plenty of cool water but take iced drinks in moderation.
9. Don't drink water if you are not sure about the safety of the source of supply.
10. Wear light, loose clothes.
11. Take a noontime nap, or rest during the day as much as possible.
12. Wear a helmet or hat of porous material if you work in the sun.
13. Avoid over-exposure to the direct rays of the sun.
14. Don't worry—and don't let people get your goat.

For cooling down, physiologists advise not a cold shower but lolling for 20 minutes or more in a tepid bath. That gets the heat out of the deep tissues of the body, and you stay cooled off longer.

For comfortable sleeping in the hottest weather, a good bet is your basement. Toss a mattress on the cellar floor. Chances are you'll need a light blanket before the night is over.

Body of Toronto Man Found In Ditch at Kingston

Had Been Stabbed Several Times in Heart Police Say

KINGSTON (CP)—The body of 30-year-old William Calhoun of Toronto, stabbed 11 times in the heart, was found today in a ditch in Kingston's residential west end.

First reports were that he had been dead two or three days.

Police said robbery was not the motive; $46 was found in his pockets.

The body, almost hidden under high grass in a deep ditch, was discovered by penitentiary guard Douglas Moulton.

Police said they believed the man was killed elsewhere and dumped into the ditch from a car. No weapon was found near the body.

One officer said the wounds were clean, as though "plenty of time had been taken in inflicting them."

Coroner Dr. M.J. Morison ordered the body removed to a funeral home. An autopsy will be performed.

ON SPECIAL MISSION

ROME (AP)—A South American source said yesterday an Argentine physician on a mission to consult with a Viennese cancer specialist about possible treatment for Eva Peron, wife of Argentina's President, has arrived in Italy.

A government bulletin issued in Buenos Aires last Thursday said Mrs. Peron's condition was "unsatisfactory." There has been no official statement she is suffering from cancer.

Gunman Kills Physics Worker At Columbia U.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eileen Fahey, was shot to death on the Columbia University campus today. Her slayer fled with a gun still in his hand.

The shooting was in the university's physics laboratory. Seconds later, a man emerged, a gun still in his hand, and told a passerby:

"I just killed a girl: call the police."

But he disappeared from the scene before police arrived.

The slaying was about the time university classes were beginning in most buildings. Students were streaming to-and-fro across the campus as police began a search for the slayer.

Miss Fahey was employed by the American Physical society which has an office in the building.

Bystanders said the killer was an exceptionally tall, slim man, more than six feet in height, about 28 years old.

Five ejected .22-calibre cartridges were found at the scene of the shooting. Officials said four bullets apparently entered the girl's body.

Four Dead, Several Missing In Fairbanks Alaska Fire

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Four or more persons were believed dead and several were reported missing in an early morning hotel fire that may reach the proportions of a majoor disaster. Complete confusion made it impossible to get any accurate check on the dead and missing.

Guests who escaped from the third floor, estimated up to 50 persons might be burned to death. Nine persons were in a hospital, two of them in critical condition.

The fire was in the crowded Pioneer hotel, where there were approximately 250 occupants.

Blazing Inferno

Within minutes after the fire started shortly after midnight, the old, wooden, block-long structure was a blazing inferno.

Night clerk David Littlefield, who raced through the building warning sleeping guests, said he believed the estimate of 50 dead was far too high.

"I saw one body on the second floor just before I left the building," he said. "I am certain that at least four people died, but I can't say how many more."

Fire Chief E.B. Woodcox said there was no way of estimating the death toll.

"The building was in flames when we got here," he said. "We pulled out some people. There are probably more in there."

Jump from Windows

Scores of guests jumped from windows, and others leaped to a building next door.

Firemen on the way to the fire found the street swarming with fleeing guests, some of them almost naked.

All hotels here are crowded to capacity because of the big boom in military projects. The Pioneer was the city's second largest hotel.

It was in ruins — ashes and warped sheet metaal — two hours after the first alarm.

Two guests, Cy Hughes and Haskell Dickerson of Fairbanks, escaped from the third floor where the fire centered and where guests were feared to have been trapped. Hughes and Dickerson were the only two from the third floor in the front of the building who could be found in a frenzied search in the confusion outside the structure.

2 Men Wounded In Shooting On Indian Reserve

SUTTON (CP) — Two men were wounded yesterday in a shooting on Georgina Island Indian Reserve, three miles north-east of this Lake Simcoe town.

Police said a man flagged down the motor-car driven by Munroe McCue, 23. He fired one shot through the open car window, the bullet grazing McCue's forehead and lodging in the right leg of Thomas Porte, 20, sitting beside him.

Corbett Johnson of Georgina Island, was later arrested and a sawed-off .22-calibre rifle seized.

31 Lodges Take Part in Huge Orange Walk At Springbrook, Close to 6,000 Attend

Marmora (Special)—Never before in the history of Springbrook was that village in the very centre of Ontario, thronged as it was on Saturday when its Orange Lodge No. 422 commemorated the Glorious Twelfth with thirty-one lodges on parade and catered to a crowd of close to six thousand.

This is the year of the centenary of the lodge and so Centre Hastings County Lodge of which it is a component part readily granted the lodge at the annual February meeting, the right to call it a county celebration. Also having some bearing upon the indefatigable labors of the Springbrook brethren was the fact that one of their number, a descendant of a chartered member, Fred Bateman, is holding the office of Grand Master of Ontario East for the second successive year. All circumstances, combined with the elements on Saturday to grant the lodge fullest success in their undertaking and the day passed off unmarred by mishap.

A string of cars both sides of No. 14 highway for about half a mile at the north and south approaches to the village and the Union Jack lavishly displayed at almost every residence, indicated to the casual motorist, that the village was en fete. The greater number found accommodation under the shade of the trees of Percy Mumby's grove directly across from the Orange Hall. Lunches were obtainable in cafeteria style from the basement of the hall which was the scene of bustle as it was converted into a refreshment room. Some went upstairs to the second storey to eat their meal, others sat east of the hall, where it was shaded, but the majority crossed over to the grove where additional refreshments, such as ice cream and soft drinks were readily procurable.

FRED BATEMAN

Right Worshipful Brother Fred Bateman of Stirling. Grand Master of Ontario East for the Loyal Orange Order, who attended the Orange celebration at Springbrook.

Lodges in Attendance

About 2 p.m. led by Stirling Citizens Band, and County Master Kenneth Holland bearing the Union Jack and marshalled by County Marshal Carman Fitchett on a fine grey steed, the visiting lodges paraded to Mt. Nebo cemetery and back in the following order:

Many Orange Veterans

Older members of the order interviewed in the Grove and seated near the speakers' platform, included Thomas Freeburn, Flinton L.O.L. 907, age 84 years and a member of the order for 66 years; W. J. Webb, Elliott's L.O.L. 392, and member of 63 years standing; Ed. Blakely, Eldorado L.O.L. 517, and a member of the order for 62 years; William Preston, Tanner L.O.L. 509, 61 years a member and William Courtenay of the same lodge, having completed 60 years of membership. Also completing 60 years membership on the day itself, was John Moffatt, now of Nickle L.O.L. 285 initiated into Marmora L.O.L. 319, in 1892.

Beulah L.O.L. 435 had three hardy veterans out for the walk, Past County Master John Geen, 42 years; Ed. Benson, 59 years, and Ben Brough, 52 years, a member.

E. J. Clark of Foxboro L.O.L. 3 looked back 55 years to the day of his initiation, and Joseph Rollins, Allen Settlement L.O.L. 253, said, "You can put me down for 51 years of membership". W. E. Harrington of Frankford L.O.L. 240, present as a visitor, claimed 60 years of membership. With regard to the host lodge, Thomas Webb, of Springbrook L.O.L. 442, is now considered the oldest member with 59 years of faithful service to his credit. Many others have been members of the order for over half a century.

Welcomes Visitors

Rev. H. E. Beare, pastor of Springbrook United Church and Deputy Grand Chaplain of Ontario East, is the Master of Springbrook Lodge this year. After the parade and following selections from the band, he welcomed the large crowd and thanked those in charge of arrangements, before turning the chairmanship of the platform speeches over to County Master Holland, who tendered congratulations to Springbrook Lodge and expressed pleasure at the large attendance.

Elmer Sandercock, MPP, first speaker commended the home lodge on its arrangements for the day and tendered greetings from the Belleville lodge. "It was a credit to the district," he said, "that Fred Bateman had been elected to the Grand Master's chair."

Roscoe Robson, MPP, enlarged a little on the thought inscribed on one of the banners decorating the village. "The Orange Association Stands for National Freedom."

Gives History of Lodge

Grand Master Fred Bateman was happy to bring Grand Lodge greetings to his own lodge. He declared, "It is a great thing to be a member of the Orange Order, which is protecting civil and religious liberties." He devoted the rest of his address to comments upon the history of the lodge.

He mentioned that at its organization in 1852, meetings were held in the township hall at Harold. Unfortunately the lodge had lost the minutes of the succeeding years until 1871, when the W.M. was David McQuigge. The first Orange Hall was erected in Springbrook in 1888 to be replaced by the present hall on same site in 1926.

Rev. Boyd Beckell member of the Order, stated that the 12th was a great day for all Protestant people, and all Canadians. "We are fortunate," he said, "to live in a country like Canada, where there is freedom to worship as we would. We should not think destructively of what the other fellow thinks, but rather constructively upon what is our Protestant belief. We should read the open Bible under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. The church is not a political institution. It should purge politics of its evils and not exercise political power."

He urged brethren to stand fast in the faith when persecutions arise.

Archie Sinclair, County Chaplain, having spoken appreciatively, too of the day's arrangements and eulogized the Grand Master, stressed the thought that Ottawa should be advised to bring in none other than suitable emigrants for the Dominion's welfare.

Rev. J. McMurray, who has newly arrived in Foxboro from Ireland, as closing speaker gave a striking address on "The Quizling Breed." He touched upon the failure of Judas to be true to his master. "Jesus Christ may fail with you if you ignore His offer of mercy," he warned his hearers. He contended that every Christian man should be an Orangeman and every Orangemen a Christian man. The National Anthem was then sung to the accompaniment of the band.

At the Recreational Centre a seven innings game of softball between Springbrook and English Line resulted in the visitors being victorious by the score of 7-4.

Past Masters Listed

In additional to the history of L.O.L. 442 as given by the Grand Master, a few more items were gleaned. Past Masters of the lodge succeeding David McQuigge included the following—James Johnston, Robert Bird, James Bird, Hugh Livingston, John Bateman, William Haslett, William Bateman, B. Sine, Nathan Clarke, George Johnston, Charles McConnell, Archie Haslett, Samuel Stevens, Samuel McComb, Robert Craig, James Morgan, John Webb, B. Kemp, William Bateman, Newton White, S. S. McComb, David Cotten, George Bailey, Roy Barton, Morley Barlow, Edward Bateman, Allan McComb, Harold Spencer, John Morrison, Charles Lough, W. J. Bateman, Gordon Webb, Fred Bateman, Orrie Barton, Burton Bateman, Thomas Neal senior, William Stiles, Cecil Bateman, Clayton Burkitt, Thos. Neal, junior, Alex Bateman, Chris Bateman, Lorne Bailey, Everett Cooke, John Sharp, Elwood Bateman, William Neal, Harry Cotten, Delbert Mumby and Murney Bateman.

Donated Site For Hall

The land on which Springbrook Orange Hall stands was donated in 1888 by Bro. Thomas Rupert, Duncan Narrie and Thomas Rupert were authorized to build the old hall that year at a cost of from $500 to $800. Since 1870 several celebrations have been held in the grove used on Saturday. In 1894 meat was furnished (dressed weight) for 8 cents a pound.

The first meeting in the present hall was held in October 1926 and the 12th was commemorated in Springbrook the following year. In the autumn of 1936 the mortgage on the hall was burned. For the twenty-six years of its existence, the hall has with its three storeys, not only been the most imposing Orange Hall in Hastings county but it has also served as a community centre of which the village is justly proud.

Belleville Orangemen at Kingston

While centre and North Hastings Orangemen converged on Springbrook on Saturday "The Glorious Twelfth" where the Grand Master of Ontario was present, sons of the Orange and Blue from the southern part, and Prince Edward County celebrated with eastern-central Ontario lodges in a grand parade held in Kingston.

It is estimated that some 8,000 loyal Orangemen, their bands and junior and ladies' lodges made up the colorful parade that made Kingston's main thoroughfares echo to the music of the fife and drum and the skirl of the bagpipes.

Four Belleville lodges, the Benjamin Lodge L.O.L. No. 274, the Sunshine Lodge, the ladies' lodge and the junior lodge of the Loyal Orange Order packed four large buses for the trip to Kingston.

The Belleville Orangemen spearheaded the contingent from Hastings and Prince Edward counties. Included in the attending lodges from this district were Tyendinaga, Point Anne, Shannonville, Trenton, Frankford, Cannifton, Picton, Wellington and Bloomfield.

Came by Trainload

From the eastern part of the province came Orangemen by the trainload. Special trains brought large contingents from Ottawa, Brockville and Smiths Falls. These were swelled by lodges by Kingston, the surrounding district and others from the large area nirth of the city.

It was the first Orange parade staged in Kingston in 19 years and said to be one of the biggest celebrations in this part of the province. Swelling the Canadian Orangemen numbers was a large delegation from Watertown, N.Y., where the 1951 celebration attracted 10,000.

The parade which started at the Cricket Field, wound down Barrie Street to King; along King to Princess, up the main thoroughfare to Albert, thence to the Community Centre, or the Fair Grounds, where speeches were made and prizes awarded.

Many of the marchers were garbed in the traditional blue a and white uniforms crossed with orange and blue ribbons and carrying colorful standards depicting the victory of the "Glorious Twelfth," and other incidents in Orange history.

In addition there was "King Billy" astride his white charger just as the original King William appeared at the Battle of the Boyne in 1690.

Filling this role was John Dodds of Kingston. The county marshal of Frontenac County and several other subordinate "King Billys" from other lodges rode in the parade.

Prizes Awarded

Prizes were awarded to the best ladies' lodge taking part in the parade, the best men's lodge, the best band, the second best band, the oldest Orangeman, the oldest Orangewoman and the lodge attending from the farthest point.

Speeches were given by the Rev. R. A. McRae, the county master, J. A. Corrigan, of Ottawa, past grand master, of Ottawa East, and Edna Lindsay, past grand mistress of Ontario East. Mayor Clifford A. Curtis of Kingston, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city.

Contract for East Belleville Firehall Awarded to McCrory Co. for $74,281

The S. R. McCrory Construction Company will build Belleville's new east end firehall at a contract price of $74,281, it was decided today at a special meeting of city council.

Only two tenders were received by council and although the accepted tender was the higher, contract was given to McCrory because of a "moral obligation" which council felt it owed the contracting firm. The lowest submitted by the Tatham Contracting Company was for $73,840, a difference of $441.

Had Purchased Materials

Out of pocket expense made by the McCrory Company last year when the firm was the successful bidder for the firehall planned at that time, was the factor which caused a majority of councillors to favor the higher tender in awarding today's contract. Last year the McCrory firm was tentatively awarded the contract for construction of the firehall and purchased materials to commence the job when construction was delayed through inability of the city to secure the desired site.

Last year's tender submitted by Mr. McCrory was for $68,000 and this amount was raised by $1,000 when lack of a site held up the work. Several weeks ago when the site immediately east of the old county home property was approved for the firehall, Mr. McCrory was again approached and he offered to build for $73,000. However, council decided to call for new tenders.

Architect William A. Watson told council that the change in the site had entailed plan changes for services. Also there had been one or two minor changes in building specification calling for more expensive doors and better type tile flooring for upstairs quarters.

There was considerable discussion prior to awarding Mr. McCrory the contract.

Alderman Lattimer declared it was policy of council to accept the lowest tender and therefore it had no alternative than to award the contract to Tathams. "We have been through it all before," he said, "and accepting anything but the lowest tender usually got us into hot water."

Moral Obligation

Several of the other councillors, however, felt the city had a moral obligation to Mr. McCrory with Alderman Rollins saying that in good faith the city should award him the contract.

The by-law for resurfacing of Bridge Street West with lessening certain curves at the top of the hill, was given its third and final reading following approval by the Municipal Board. Cost of the work will be $54,000 with provincial subsidy to be received on an expenditure of $36,000. Alderman Thomas said the work would be commenced immediately.

After revoking the licence of a peanut vendor who operated at the intersection of Front and Bridge Streets, council voted to re-instate the licence, the stand of the vendor to be determined by the traffic committee. Alderman Lattimer said the licence had been revoked because the vendor had failed to co-operate.

E. Walter Brown, Former Thurlow Clerk, Dies

Former Reeve of Thurlow township and clerk of the township for 21 years, Mr. Eratus Walter Brown, Belleville R.R. 6, died in the Belleville General Hospital Sunday evening. He was in his 83rd year and had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Rawdon township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, he had lived in the Belleville area for the past 55 years. Prior to that time he had lived in Rawdon. He was a retired farmer.

A member of Bethany United Church, he was both honorary elder and honorary trustee in the church. He was a member of Cannifton Orange Lodge and also was a member of Belleville Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 123. His wife, the former Esther Hall, died in 1939.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clayton (Isobel) Eggleton R.R. 6 Belleville, and Mrs. Morley (Anne) Davidson, R.R. 7, Belleville.

Three sisters, Mrs. Edith Ryan, New York City; Mrs. Blanche Ketcheson of Guelph and Mrs. Mary Fisher of New York City, and three brothers, Phil. of Stephenson, Washington State; John of Los Angeles, and Arthur of Toronto.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Thefts of Bike And Car Land Airmen in Jail

Appropriation of other people's vehicles failed to pay off for two Trenton RCAF members Saturday night who were checked in their efforts to secure cheap transportation back to the station. Both are in Hastings County jail, one charged with auto theft and the other with theft of a bicycle.

Manley McCormack, driver for a local Mid-Town Taxi, Saturday night was flagged down by an airman who requested the driver to take him to the Trenton Air Station. Before the driver could get out of town, however, he was called on the cab radio to pick up another fare at a hotel. When the driver came out his taxi was missing.

City police were notified with result the provincial police were notified and the missing taxi was located just outside the Trenton air station. Benjamin Grandbois, 19, was apprehended and brought back to the city and will face an auto theft charge. Two hitchhikers picked up on the highway were allowed to go.

Early Sunday morning Mrs. V. Warwick, 4 Holden Street, heard a noise in her driveway and looking out saw a man riding away on her son's bicycle. Police again were notified with result an airman riding the bike was apprehended near the Avondale Grocery on the Trent Road. The airman, Alexander Ed. Ewing has been charged with theft of the bicycle.

Year-Old 'Mother' Cut Down by Car After Giving Birth to 12 Puppies

TRENTON — (Special) — Queenie, a year-old cocker spaniel gave birth to 12 curly-haired puppies the other day. Her big happy family was doing fine and so was the young mother until the July fourth holiday.

Owner Lyle Hartman was only a short distance away when an American tourist's car cut down Queenie as she crossed the highway just east of the air station. The mother dog six days after the stork's visit found the day hot and went down to the bay to swim and cool off. She had to cross the main roadway on the way back to her babies.

Since Queenie died Mr. and Mrs. Hartman have learned to feed the orphaned pups. They fill a rubber glove with milk and four little ones at a time enjoy all three meals a day. There were three separate sittings each feeding until a friend adopted four of the large family.

It is unusual for a year-old mother dog to give birth to a litter of a dozen pups. It is more unusual for all the pups to live.

But the most unusual part of this story is that all the pups now have their eyes open and are doing fine in the keep of foster parents.

Alderman Charges Odor Caused By Unburied Bodies of Animals

Failure of the city scavenger to do his job properly was responsible to a great extent for the unpleasant odor arising from the city dump during the hot spell, it was charged today in city council.

Alderman Arthur Keegan in recommending that the operation of the city scavenger be thoroughly investigated and that another scavenger be hired if he could not be made do his job, said that the stench arising from the city dump would "turn your stomach".

"The citizens living in Foster Ward have the right of some protection," the alderman stated. "If the present city scavenger cannot be forced to do his job right then get some other man to do the job."

According to the alderman the main trouble was the scavenger was not properly burying the dead bodies of animals and other refuse.

"I have received numerous complaints and on personal investigation I find they are justified," he said.

Two Foster Ward citizens who take pride in their places had invited him to their homes at lunch time, he said. The stench coming from the dump "would turn your stomach," he assured.

Council directed that the matter be investigated by the sanitary inspector George Whitman and chairman of the welfare committee. The two men were given power to act.

Alderman Duffy noted that fill from the excavation for the new firehall would be spread on the dump and this was expected to take care of some of the odor.

Belleville Soldier Says Lack Of Entertainment Irks Canadians

Canadian troops fighting Korea believe they are fighting the war without the support of the people back home. That view was expressed today by Corporal Arthur H. Empey, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Empey, 46 Harriet Street, who returned to Belleville Saturday after serving a six-month hitch with the PPCLI in Korea. Corporal Empey was among a group of five district soldiers who returned home.

Describing Canadian soldiers as "browned off" Corporal Empey traced their discontent to lack of entertainment facilities for the benefit of Canadian troops fighting in Korea.

"There is nothing to do . . . nothing," he said. "There are no cities or towns, only villages. You might get acquainted and learn your way around, but by the time you get back next day the village is gone. Shot up and destroyed."

With the fighting moving in no direction, Corporal Empey declared that current peace talks, some of which last 30 seconds before being adjourned, were pooh-pooh'd by the troops who openly wonder what they are fighting for.

"It's doubly bad when you feel you are forgotten by the folks back home," he said. "Yes, there is mail . . . it comes through well . . . but there are few Canadian papers and practically no entertainment. Add to this the fact that there is nothing to do. No Canadian would even wish to live in the country if there were no war. The troops feel grim."

The return to Belleville of Cpl. Empey brought to two the number of Empey boys who have served in Korea. His brother Ross, 22, returned home a few months ago after almost one year in the East.

Democrats Face Hot Fight As They Seek to Beat Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats take over the centre of the political stage this week in a wide-open scramble to pick a man to beat Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The "ins," aiming at a sixth straight Presidential victory, concede that they face the hottest election battle in 20 years as they head for their own nominating convention opening in Chicago July 21.

Many Candidates

Unlike the Republican hassle, a two-man contest between Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the Democrats have candidates everywhere they look, with 20 names figuring in the race. Seven are avowed aspirants. The others figure as dark-horse possibilities.

Two big question marks hovering over the Democratic convention are these:

1. Will Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois be available for the Presidential nomination?

President Truman is reputed to favor Stevenson but some political bigwigs say Stevenson has been so coy about running that Truman may switch to Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator, or someone else.

2. Will the convention write another strong civil-rights plank as it did in 1948 or compromise the issue with southerners threatening another revolt?

Truman says there will be no retreat on this question of equal treatment for whites and Negroes if he can help it. He won in 1948 without the solid south.

None Has Majority

None of the 20 candidates has anywhere near the 616 majority needed for a nomination.

The latest Associated Press tabulation based on pledged votes and known first-ballot preferences shows Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee leading with 252. Senator Richard Russell of Georgia is second with 117½, exclusive of 18 in Mississippi and at leeast 22½ in Texas' 52 - vote delegation which will be contested by rival factions. Harriman is third with 101½. Stevenson has 54, others 259½, and there are 417½ uncommitted and in dispute.

BIG EXCAVATION FOR SEWER CONNECTION

The big excavation stretching half way across Front Street above Victoria Ave. is nit a continuation of the Toronto subway, nor is this city planning an underground railway of its own. The deep ditch is merely for a new sewer connection according to Charles Mott, city engineer.

POLICE SEEK WORD OF MRS. M. McBRIDE

City police have been asked to assist in locating a Mrs. Mildred McBride, formerly of Blind River who is believed to be living in Belleville or immediate vicinity. The request comes from Orangeville authorities. Any person knowing the whereabouts of Mrs. McBride are asked to contact local police.

Thurlow Home Gutted by Fire

Loss estimated at approximately $2,000 resulted at noon Saturday when fire raced through a small Thurlow township bungalow occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crawford, living east of the city near the Bakelite plant.

All household furnishings and clothing owned by the couple were burned, while the interior of the house was gutted by the flames. City firemen saved the shell of the structure.

Electric wiring was blamed for the fire which started in the absence of the owners. Mrs. Crawford had been home until about 10:30 in the morning and had gone to the city to shop when an hour and a half later she learned from a friend that her home was afire. She sped home in a taxi but was too late to save anything from the dwelling.

River Bed Blasted, Pipe Line Laid Across Moira in Near Record Time

"Sidewalk superintendents" in the Cannifton area, or in this case "highway superintendents," over the weekend had their first inkling as to how an oil pipe line is laid when within a matter of hours they saw a 10-inch main hauled across the Moira River and buried within a matter of hours.

The big pipe weighing tons was hauled across the river in two pieces, then welded together in the centre and dropped into a three foot trench in the rock of the river bed.

Laying of the line across the river at Cannifton was the first pipe laying in the immediate Belleville area in connection with the 10-inch line which is being constructed from Montreal to Hamilton this summer.

Drill Six-Foot Holes

During the latter part of last week drillers drilled six-foot holes in the river bed just south of the Cannifton school and Saturday morning these were filled with dynamite and blown. Traffic along the highway was held up and with the all-clear signal the entire stretch across the river was blasted in one operation. Approaches to the river were blasted later.

River crossings for the pipe line which will transport oils and gasoline for British American, Shell and McColl Frontenac oil companies, are being laid by Mannix and Williams Bros. of Calgary. This firm is laying the pipe line across the Napanee River at Napanee, the Moira and across the Trent a few miles above Trenton.

No actual laying of pipe across land has yet been started in the immediate Belleville area, the closest being east of Kingston and in the Brighton district.

But work on the oil tank farm north of Cannifton is progressing rapidly with eight of the 21 tanks planned for this year in various stages of competition. This tank farm is one of several which will be spotted between Montreal and Hamilton. There will be one at Kingston and another at Port Hope.

CANADIANS TO BLAME, TOO

A fact not generally known has played a major role in influencing the decision of many Belleville merchants to impose the full official discount on American money, regardless of whether the money was spent on purchases. As a good-will gesture, the merchants previously gave their American customers a break by not imposing the discount penalty on actual purchases, just change if Canadian change were demanded.

Now, to put a stop to Canadians who are attempting to extricate themselves from their own squeeze, merchants must now impose the discount or face appreciable losses.

Merchants in this city claim that less than half of the American currency now being passed over their counters comes from legitimate American sources. Most of this money, they insist, was hoarded illegally by Canadians during the days when such hoarding was against the law under foreign exchange control regulations. With Canadian money now at a premium — and no one knows for sure where the premium will stop — these Canadians are attempting to get themselves out from under future losses and palming their hoarded American money off on innocent businessmen.

Merchants also expressed the view that the most vocal complaints concerning the discounting of American currency came not from Americans but from Canadians who happen to now possess some American money. As evidence of "hoarding" they cite the number of American bills of large denomination being tendered by known Canadians.

If the present discount on American money teaches these Canadians that cheating does not pay, it will have accomplished something. Meanwhile, the merchants are determined they will not be the suckers.

HELP ON WAY FOR FOSTER WARD

Residents living adjacent to the Foster Ward garbage dump will be pleased to learn that the stench which now blows off the dump when a southwest wind is blowing will be brought to an end when excavation gets underway on the new fire hall beside the Old County Home. Earth removed for the excavation will be used as fill to cover the rotting garbage and blanket the odor.

After voting by a majority of three-to-one, Belleville ratepayers authorized construction of an incinerator costing as estimated $90,000 in 1946. Later the expenditure was approved by the Ontario Municipal Board but by the time tenders were called building costs had jumped to the point that $125,000 would be required to build the incinerator which could have been built earlier for $90,000.

However, subsequent investigation has proved that the "sanitary land fill" method of garbage disposal is more efficient and cheaper than disposal with an incinerator. Under this system of disposal, a trench is excavated and later filled with garbage and covered with soil. To do this job, $18,000 was recently spent to purchase a bulldozer and the marsh near Zwick's Island is now being prepared as a burial ground for the city's garbage.

With the filling of the dump in Foster Ward and disposal of garbage at the new dump, Belleville citizens should be able to breathe fresh air at all times, regardless of the direction of the wind.

HIGHWAY MENACES SHOULD BE REMOVED

A Toronto magistrate has recommended to the Minister of Highways that the driving licence of a man who has been convicted four times within the space of six months for driving while "impaired" by alcohol, be cancelled for a lifetime in order to keep this individual off of the road.

Events leading up to the magistrate's recommendation are interesting. On his first offence, the man was fined. Appearing in court a second time, he was jailed for 15 days. This jail term was doubled upon his third conviction. He is now serving another 30 days for his latest conviction.

In this instance it is hoped that the Minister of Highways will accede to the magistrate's recommendation. The drunk driver is the greatest menace on the highways today and if this menace can be reduced by the simple expedient of cracking down on perpetual drunks and rule them off the road, then the lives of innocent people will not stand in needless jeopardy.

SECURE RICHES

A bank will rent a safety box
To keep secure our bonds and stocks,
Our treasures rare, our diamond rings,
And all our "might-be-stolen" things.
But there are riches just as sure
No safe is needed to secure.

A good name, from life's start to end,
The strongest vault cannot defend.
The friends we make, if they are real,
No thief by day or night can steal.
The love that keeps the home aglow
Into a strong box cannot go.

And these are riches dearer far
Than stocks and bonds and treasures are.
Through what is known as "growing old"
They're ours to gain and ours to hold.
And they are safe so long as we
Of them deserving strive to be.

The members of Mr. F. E. O'Flynn's Bible Class in Bridge Street Church Sunday School will run their annual excursion to Twelve O'Clock Point on July 16th. per steamer Aletha.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Long before the tourist trade was thought of in Canada, and long before any hint of the frenzy of modern city life and traffic was apparent, a great many thousands of Canadians went exploring what is now called the tourist area of the country. They did not go on tour. They went to find an ideal wilderness site and there build a cottage and settle down for life. Or for two months of every year of their lives.

It was for peace and quiet amid the beauties of nature that they went to this trouble and expense. Not all of them, by any means, were well-to-do. The great majority were people of modest means, and included all income levels from professional men to clerks and mechanics. Canada was unique in its geographical features. Within a reasonable distance of every centre of population was an ideal cottage area of lakes and woods. Probably a larger proportion of our population had a summer cabin of some sort than any other in the world.

Then came the deluge. The tourist traffic brought enough fresh wealth to finance highway building on the grand scale. The secret places of even twenty years ago are secret no more. Those who pioneered the holiday regions have long ago been swamped out by what amounts to suburbs of the cities, with most of the city fathers from which the pioneers intended to escape: traffic, telephones, electric light and power, noise, juke boxes, dance halls.

Most of the cottage pioneers do not resent the invasion though they bewail their loss. They realize that they have enjoyed twenty-five or fifty years of heaven, and that now others may want a taste of it too. The only curious feature of the situation is that while the first-comers to the wilderness wanted peace and quiet, the newcomers seem to demand anything but that. Instead of escaping from the cities, the recent arrivals want to bring the cities with them.

About the only thing the peace-and-quieters can do is pack up and move to a new uninvaded territory, knowing full well that wherever they go, the peace and quiet won't last long.

New York's Chief Magistrate Conducts Continuing Crusade Against Negligent Motorists

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—John M. Murtagh, New York City's chief magistrate, has nothing personal against motorists who think they can fix or ignore traffic tickets.

He just wants to make their lives as miserable as possible, and thinks other cities ought to spread this type of misery. He has been conducting a continuing crusade on the matter in New York.

Murtagh fined one trucking firm a record-breaking $4,700 for ignoring 467 parking summonses. He fined one individual $2,200 and sentenced him to 30 days for trying to forget about 84 traffic tickets. The judge also had used his influence to go across state lines to get the licenses of out-of-state violators revoked.

Few Conceits

The guy who tries to fix or forget a traffic ticket, Judge Murtagh thinks, is normal except for a few conceits.

"He has to think of himself above the common horde," the judge says. "He is too proud to submit to authority. His vanity demands special consideration. He is humiliated by paying a fine like anybody else.

With strait-laced judges and a complicated mechanical brain for processing tickets, Murtagh believes the fix is virtually impossible in New York City.

The mechanical brain consists of 39 machines rented by the city for $80,000 a year from International Business Machines, Inc. Judge Murtagh says New York is the only city in the United States using these machines.

Revenue Increased

New York issues more than 1,000,000 traffic summonses a year. In the last month, revenue from fines was $60,000 higher than it was in the same months last year. Since machines were installed early in 1950, the number of traffic violators who ignored summonses has dropped from 15 to 5 per cent.

Here's how it works:

A cop on the beat gives out a traffic ticket, on which there are two stubs. He keeps one, and turns the other into his precinct house. The precinct forwards the stub and the officer's affidavit to the traffic-summons control bureau by the next morning.

There the machines record, reproduce, and collate with other past offenses, the name and address of the violator, date of offense, licence number, summons number, precinct involved, make of car, and badge number of the ticket-issuing patrolman. The machines also automatically assign the case to a traffic court docket and later record in detail each disposition.

The machines handle about 5,500 tickets a day and, among other things, put the finger on missing summonses (all tickets carried by policemen are consecutively numbered), altered licence numbers on tickets and judges with a tendency toward passing too many suspended sentences.

No. 1 Hungarian Communist High Man on Red Purge List

VIENNA (Reuters)—Matyas Rakosi, Moscow-trained No. 1 Communist leader in Hungary, is the new 'high man' on the Kremlin's purge list, say experienced observers.

These observers maintain that the Kremlin has decided, for its own reasons, to purge the Moscow-trained "international" school of "national" figures.

"Now," they said, "the time has come when the Kremlin wants to save the last vestiges of popularity of its regimes in the Iron Curtain lands by making scapegoats of the 'international elements,' pandering to the relics of anti-Semitism left over by Nazism in these parts. . .

"Thus, for example, the dissatisfaction of the Czechoslovak people with short rations, lack of consumption goods, long hours and high prices had to be assuaged by the jettisoning of Rudolf Slansky, deputy prime minister, head of the economic organization of the country, confidential agent of the Kremlin in Czechoslovakia and a group of his associates, many of whom were Jews."

In every one of the satellite lands, the Reds have had to sacrifice one deputy premier as a Titoist, have had to frame great "treason trials" and to condemn old and loyal Communist leaders as arch-traitors and long-time spies and agents of the "imperialist west," the observers say.

As in Czechoslovakia and Romania, the workers in Hungary are getting tired of long hours, short rations, and the tyranny of the state security police.

Some one will have to be thrown to the wolves. If the pattern in other Iron Curtain lands means anything, they ask who would be more suitable than Matyas Rakosi, deputy prime minister, agent of the Kremlin in Hungary, and leader of the Communist party

OVERCOMING HANDICAPS

Yesterday in conversation with an acquaintance outside the Post Office (where we often meet our friends in this village), he spoke about his wife's health. Upon inquiry I found to my amazement that this man's wife had been confined to the house and practically to her bed for twelve years with tuberculosis. Then with great enthusiasm this man went on to tell me how in recent years his wife had taken up the writing of poetry. The largest magazine in the United States has purchased ten of her poems and another magazine which rates with the first half-dozen in circulation has purchased several. Furthermore, this stricken woman took up painting and is now receiving very flattering commissions, especially from interior decorators who want to furnish their patrons productions that are truly artistic.

John Bunyan, sent to jail for twelve years for preaching the gospel, wrote Pilgrim's Progress during his incarceration. Jonathan Edwards, dismissed by his congregation in New England because his gospel was too strong for the worldly to swallow, became pastor of a poor little Indian congregation at Stockbridge, Massachusetts. But while there Edwards wrote his greatest philosophical works.

Trouble can be opportunity if we make it so. If we have faith, we can turn it into triumph. "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers . . . shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

HEALTHY COMPETITION

We Americans as individuals seem lost in the competitive struggle. We do not know our selves. Why should we? We have concentrated so fiercely upon beating the guy next door that we have had no time to realize our own qualities. In order to win a race, you must keep unswerving attention upon the runners around you.

Is the attention of your child focussed upon beating the other fellow? Or have you helped him place it where it belongs, upon improving his own skills, beating his own record, increasing his own self-knowledge? Are you helping him to grow emotionally healthy?

Set goals for yourselves and for your children that you know can be reached. When they are attained, set further, attainable goals. Let your children know the joy of a job well done, for the sake of the joy in working, not for applause, nor profit, nor personal glory. Say not, "What a fine girl you are," but instead "What a fine job you've done."

Point at the job, not the child. This leads the child to produce good work for pure pride in creation and production, not for the elusive and soul-destroying causes of money and fame.

Look about you at the few you know who take joy and pride in their own workmanship. Warm, happy, outgoing personalities, aren't they? Help your child toward that goal.

When a child competes, let it be with his own record. "This is a better job than you did last week." Never mind how he compares with brother or sister Never mind how he compares with others of his own age or size. "Your pitching is better this month than it was last, son. Keep improving it. Today's game was lost, but your team had finer teamwork and better sportsmanship than you had in the first game this season. That's more important than winning that game."

Keep the productive and creative effort concentrated upon the job itself, not on the cheers or the score. This makes for healthy emotions, strong citizens, men and women who do not need to lie about their superiority, who do not need to loudly proclaim their virtues, who do not need to be in the limelight. They know their capacities and take warm joy in being useful.

They do not fill the psychiatrist's waiting rooms nor the beds in mental hospitals.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

The Dentist Knows Best

Advised to have all my teeth pulled and upper and lower plates made. Seems to me it would be better to have the upper teeth pulled first and an upper plate made, and when I have gotten used to that then . . . The dentist says I'll get more satisfactory results if I have both plates made and installed at the same time, immediately after extraction, although of course the plates will probably require relining later. (Mrs. M. M.)

Answer—Your dentist gives you twentieth century advice. Your notion is a century behind the times.

Foot Itch

The recipes given in your pamphlet cured my athlete's foot completely. I'd like to have your booklet on callus and corns. (K. F.)

Answer—For pamphlet on Foot Itch send stamped, self-addressed envelope. For booklet Care of the Feet inclose 25c.

The Gray Sickness

My lips are so pale and my skin has a grayish, fagged out look. I am 26. How can I overcome this? (Mrs. K. A.)

Answer—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet The Gray Sickness — doctors call it hypochromic or nutritional deficiency anemia.

TEACHERS GRADUATE

TORONTO — (CP) — Some 500 teen-age teachers will enter elementary school classrooms all over Ontario in September. They are the first graduates of an emergency six-week course instituted by the Department of Education and designed to relieve the present teacher shortage. Lectures are at Bloor Collegiate here.

Not counting Quebec, it is estimated that by 1954-55 Canada will need 71,200 public school teachers, 12,600 more than 1950-51.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE POWER OF PLEASANTNESS

There is something electric and immediately inspiring to a pleasant person. The very atmosphere is all sunshine, burdens drop away, and the spirit of everyone is raised. We are always happiest with a pleasant person.

A pleasant guest in our home is always welcomed. There is something exhilarating in the talk and manner of one who is pleasant. Such people are unforgettable. I am reminded of a little grave in New England, where a young girl was buried long ago, with but this simple inscription carved upon the small stone: "She was so pleasant."

How wonderful it is to be remembered because you are so pleasant! There is a power to pleasantness that many may pass off as unimportant, but the power is there just the same, and it is being exerted every day. The pleasant clerk sells the most goods and to a greater number than one who is not pleasant. A pleasant salesman is always an asset. The friends that we tie longest to are pleasant ones.

The candidate for office invests in big doses of pleasantness as he campaigns for some important office. I am of the opinion, however, that the one who has made it a life habit to be pleasant has the edge upon one who only manufactures it with the hope of getting elected.

The pleasant person, the pleasant home, the pleasant office, the pleasant church — what assets. With pleasantness meeting us wherever we go, life takes upon itself a glow of happiness. Its power radiates. It has influence. One pleasant person in a group can easily dominate that group.

The Angels in Heaven that we read about must come down to that silent New England grave, where that little girl is buried, whom everyone must have known. There they may pay their tribute of love. And so will all others who look upon that simple line, be inspired anew as they read: "She was so pleasant."

RAWDON

Mrs. Milton Sharp Addresses W. M. S. A. Family Party On 'Blessed Are The Pure in Heart'

Rawdon — On Wednesday afternoon over 60 people gathered at Mount Pleasant - Rawdon United Church hall for the annual family party under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary. The roll call showed 16 member of the Auxiliary, 17 adult visitors, which included guests from Ivanhoe, Stirling and Bethel and over thirty children; members of the Mission Band and Baby Band.

Two vases of summer blooms added beauty for the service, which opened with quiet music played by Mrs. Burton Sharpe. Mrs. John Holmes presided and read a poem "Doing Things for Others," and offered prayer.

The president welcomed the leaders, Mrs. Herbert Smith and Miss Ruth Linn, of the Mission Band, and Mrs. Ross Jeffs, of the Baby Band, the members of both organizations and their mothers, and the visitors from other points.

The August meeting will be held at the church on the 13th. with Mrs. Percy MacMullen to prepare the program. There will be a W.M.S. quilting in the near future.

Mission Band Program

The Mission Band presented the following program with Miss Lola McConnell as presiding officer and Miss Ina Scott as pianist.

All sang, "That Sweet Story of Old". Miss Eleanor Smith read the membership roll. Misses Gail Scott and Carol Sharpe gathered the offering. The loose collection of over $7 was divided between two Bands. Mrs. John Mulheron, Bethel, a former Band leader, dedicated it and the W.M.S. envelopes to the cause of missions.

A quartet, "When He Cometh", was rendered by Malcolm Reid, Raeburn Scott, David Potts and Roger Smith.

Douglas Warren, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren, Bethel, and a festival gold medallist, sang "Gods Sees the Little Sparrow Fall," with his mother as accompanist.

Gail Jeffs and her mother, Mrs. Will Jeffs, sang "In My Heart There Rings a Melody." Carol Sharpe with her mother, Mrs. Burton Sharpe, as accompanist, sang "A Missionary Hymn."

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Herbert Smith spoke briefly on the theme, "Blessed Are the Pure in Heart," and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Milton Shaw, Ivanhoe.

Edna was a former leader of the Mission Band from 1932-37, and the first Presbyterial certificate was won during her leadership in 1935.

She told the children an interesting story about a little black African boy and how he learned about "Jesus, the Shepherd," at Mission school. Later, he prayed for protection through darkness as he guarded the sheep. Through his own faith and hard work he was able to make a small contribution to mission. He gave a special cocoanut shell, made into a basket and it was engraved these words, "to the Shepherd, Jesus, who cares for me, a little black boy, and who is a friend of little children."

Mrs. Shaw also gave a message to the adults on the theme "Our Life's Picture." Each day each older individual unconsciously paints a picture according to his living habits. The influence of his life spreads to others and his interests in church, his faith and thoughts all show in his face. It behooves each one so to live his life so that he can say with Paul: "I have fought the good fight, I have kept the faith."

Value of Daily Prayer

The speaker stressed the value of offering prayer daily for missionaries. Each day each individual should add something worth while to the picture of life.

Mrs. Shaw closed her address with an appropriate poem, entitled "God's Light Shows in Your Face."

Miss Ruth Linn, assistant Mission Band leader, voiced grateful appreciation to Mrs. Shaw for her message, and also thanked the Auxiliary for the delightful party and the guest soloist for his number.

Mrs. Shaw and Douglas Warren were then given an ovation. Shirley Potts presented Mrs. Shaw with a bouquet of red roses and Kenneth Smith presented Douglas with a bouquet of pink and white Rambler Roses. Mrs. Shaw voiced thanks.

Rev. R. R. Bonsteel, pastor, sspoke briefly, basing his remarks on "Church Fellowship" and paying special tribute to those who had presented the program, especially the younger children who had delighted with their singing.

Graduation Carols

Mrs. Ross Jeffs, leader of the Baby Band, gave out six graduation cards to Allan Wrightman, Mary Ellen David, Freddie McAdam, Carol Sharpe, Jimmie Summers and Pauline Johnson. These children will now become members of the Mission Band. Mrs. Jeffs reported four new Baby Band members.

The service closed with "Father We Thank Thee," and the pastor offered a special prayer.

The ladies served sandwiches, fruit bread, assorted cookies, small cakes and lemonade and all enjoyed a half hour of fellowship together.

Reunited

The affection of a boy and a dog is strongly illustrated in the case of six-year-old Omar Martel of Edmonton and his canine friend, Jerry, owned by a neighbor. Five times the neighbor sent the dog to different points in the country. Each time Jerry made his way back to young Omar. The last time Jerry took two months to travel the 45 miles. Omar's mother tried unsuccessfully many times to buy the dog. She said she will try again because the two, she feels, belong together. — (CP Photo.)

Mrs. Eisenhower Shares in the Acclamation

First act of Gen. Eisenhower on learning he had been elected by the Republican convention at Chicago, was to find his wife, Mamie. All smiles, she posed with him for cameramen, then disappeared while Ike sought out his defeated opponent Senator Taft and asked his help in the campaign for presidency. — Central Press Canadian.

WEDDINGS

McKENZIE—CARLISLE

The 6 R.D. Chapel in Trenton, as the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, July 5, s Patricia Ann Carlisle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlisle, of Frankford, was united in marriage to Ivan Wendell McKenzie, of Summerside, Prince Edward Island.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a ballerina-length dress of white sheer, with fingertip veil and carrying a bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Ford Wood, of Trenton, sister of the bride, dressed in a street-length gown of blue flowered nylon with white accessories and wearing a corsage of yellow roses.

The father of the groom, Mr. John McKenzie, of Summerside, P.E.I., was groomsman.

The wedding supper was held at the bride's parents' home in Frankford. The bride's mother, received in a gown of blue sheer, with navy blue picture hat and white accessories and wearing a corsage of red roses.

Guests were present from Belleville, Toronto, Campbellford, Trenton, Frankford, and Summerside, P.E.I.

The happy couple will reside in Trenton, where the groom is stationed with the R.C.A.F.

BABIAK—McCLELLAND

Pink, white and green gladioli formed the background for a lovely wedding in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, July 12th, at 3:30 p.m., when the Rev. Ray Rowley, pastor of the church, united in marriage, Marjorie Joyce McClelland, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McClelland, to John Lawrence Babiak, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Babiak, of Fort William.

Mr. Harold McNish, church organist, furnished the traditional wedding music including, "The Lord's Prayer", during the ceremony and "Through The Years", while the register was being signed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of white embroidered nylon in floral design over a two-tiered underskirt of marquisette fashioned with shirred fitted bodice, scalloped at the bottom edge, having long sleeves ending in V points over the wrists. She wore a nylon headdress and fingertip veil and carried a fan covered with stephanotis and white gardenias.

Mrs. Mel Gariepy, of Belleville, was matron of honor, and Miss Doris Miller, of Fort Erie, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both wore similar gowns of green taffeta muted with white net, and buttoned to the waist with pearl buttons, featuring long, pointed collars.

Miss Sharon Gariepy, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing white net over pink taffeta, with matching net poke bonnet. She carried a ribbon basket of green tinted daisies. All attendants wore circlets of daisies in their hair, while the matron of honor and the bridesmaid carried nosegays of daisies backed with white net.

Mr. Malcolm McClelland attended the bridegroom and Mr. Claud Carr, of Belleville, and Mr. Bruce Miller, of Fort Erie, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Following the reception, which was held in the church parlor, where the bride's mother, gowned in pale turquoise crepe with lace jacket, navy accessories and white carnation corsage, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in navy crepe, with white accessories, and corsage of white carnations, the young couple left for Montreal, and the Laurentians. The bride travelled in a moss green linen suit with green and white accessories and corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Babiak will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Fort William, Buffalo, N.Y.; Fort Erie and Hamilton.

Prior to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at a shower given by Mrs. Claude Belshaw, and at a personal shower given by Mrs. Norm Howard.

SPURRELL—REID

A very pretty lawn wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, July 5, at 2:00 p.m., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gainsforth, Frankford, under an arbor of evergreens, orange blossoms and roses, when the Rev. R. P. Spurrell, united in marriage, Betty June Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gainsforth, and Paul Arthur Spurrell, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Spurrell.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, looked charming in a floor-length gown of white lace over satin, with lace insertions. Her three-quarter length veil was attached to a coronet headdress of white net and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white bouvardia.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Michael Cosgrove, sister of the bride, was gowned in a floor-length dress of mauve nylon over taffeta with matching mitts and headdress and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Carol Reid, junior bridesmaid, and sister of the bride, was gowned in a floor-length dress of green net, over yellow taffeta, with matching mitts and headdress, and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Wesley Spurrell, of Barrie, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Wesley Spurrell, of Barrie, sang "Together", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lonnie Reilly.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with thirty-five guests in attendance.

Mrs. Gainsforth, mother of the bride, received, wearing a street-length dress of light blue crepe with white accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Spurrell, mother of the bridegroom, received, wearing, a street-length dress of mauve crepe, with beige picture hat and black accessoriees. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

For travelling, the bride wore a pink gabardine suit with navy accessories, and corsage of white carnations. The happy couple left on a wedding trip to the United States. They are residing in Frankford.

Out-of-town guests were from Barrie, Peterborough, Trenton, Wooler.

HOPPERTON—O'CONNOR

The Right Rev. J. E. Ronan read the marriage ceremony and the Rev. V. B. Brazik said the Nuptial Mass in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, on Saturday, July 12th, when Frances Adele O'Connor, Reg.N., exchanged wedding vows with Peter Gerald Hopperton.

The bride, who is the daughter of the late Judge Lawrence Vincent O'Connor and Mrs. O'Connor, formerly of Cobourg, was given in marriage by her brother, Lawrence Gerrard O'Connor, of Chatham. The groom is the son of the late Capt. Harry Edward Hopperton and Mrs. Hopperton.

White sheer over taffeta, fashioned in ballerina-length with lace jacket was the bride's choice for her gown. Her fingertip veil was held by a Juliet cap, and she carried a prayer book with a corsage of gardenias and coral roses.

Miss Maureen Upper, of Belleville, was maid of honor, and Miss Patricia Hopperton, was junior bridesmaid. They wore similar gowns in orchid and lime green shades with lace capes, matching headdresses and carried cascade bouquets of summer flowers.

Mr. Hugh Edward Hopperton was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. John Roch and Mr. Mel O'Donohue.

Mrs. Lawrence O'Connor, the bride's sister-in-law, received the guests at the Royal York Hotel, following the wedding. She was assisted by Miss Joan Hopperton, sister of the groom.

FARARA—BEAN

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Thursday, July 10, at 10 a.m., when Joan Bean, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bean, became the bride of Gerrard E. Farara, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Farara, of Antigua, British West Indies. The Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated at the double ring ceremony, before a lovely background of pink gladioli and white cushion 'mums.

Miss Flurey was the organist, and Miss Carolyn Forhan, the soloist, sang "Ave Maria", Panis Angelicus", "Jesus Food of Angels" and "On This Day".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her beautiful gown of foam white net and shadow lace over satin. The sheer yoke was offset by the scalloped portrait neckline edged with seed pearls, and the dropped shadow lace sleeves were shirred; the bodice being of lace and net over satin. The bouffant skirt of net featured a front panel of shadow lace ending in full back skirt. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses, stephanotis and adiantum fern tied with white lacelon ribbon.

Mrs. Marion MacPherson, the bride's only sister, was matron of honor, gowned in pale green with French lace bodice and matching bolero, and bouffant skirt of nylon net over taffeta. She wore a matching picture hat and gloves and carried a nosegay centred with Johanna Hill cream roses, mauve sweetpeas, bronze pom 'mums and baby's breath.

Miss Evelyn Culloden, cousin of the bride, and Miss Carol Shorey, were bridesmaids, wearing identical gowns. Miss E. Culloden in pale blue and Miss C. Shorey in pale yellow. The taffeta bodices were in princess style and the bouffant skirts were of nylon net over taffeta. Both wore matching picture hats and gloves, and carried nosegays of Briarcliffe roses, pink sweetpeas, bronze pom 'mums and baby's breath.

Miss Sharon MacPherson, niece of the bride, and Miss Linda Moreau, were flower girls, identically frocked in long dresses of pale pink nylon net over taffeta, with headdress of pale pink roses, and carried nosegays of pink rosebuds, sweetpeas and baby's breath.

Mr. Jack Thorne attended the bridegroom, and Mr. Arthur Culloden and Mr. Arthur Randle were ushers.

The reception was held at Tobes County Gardens, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a gown of dusty pink French lace over taffeta, with white accessories and corsage of Starlite roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a gown of grey sheer and French lace, with pink and grey accessories and corsage of pink Delight roses.

The bride and bridegroom left for Montreal and sailed on the "Lady Rodney" for a six weeks' honeymoon to the British West Indies, the bride travelling in a periwinkle blue taffeta suit with white accessories, white shortie jacket and white orchid corsage. Upon their return, they will reside at 341 Bleecker Avenue.

Out-of-town guests were from Chicago, Ill., Rochester, N.Y., London, Toronto, Cobourg, Smiths Falls, British West Indies, Shannonville and Trenton.

The bride's gifts to her bridegroom, smoker set; to the matron of honor, gold pin and earring set; to her bridesmaids, set of jewelled pins, and to her flower girls, gold crosses. The bridegroom's gifts: to his bride, a necklace and earrings of rhinestones; to the best man, gold tie pin and cuff link set and to the ushers, gold cuff links.

There are about $141,000,000 worth of paper baxes and bags made in Canada each year.

Mamie Eisenhower Makes Bangs Popular in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Thanks to Mrs. Dwight D. Eisehower bangs now are a high-style hair fashion in the United States.

The wife of the Republican Presidential nominee has worn some version of bangs for more than 30 years.

Through the years "Mamie and her bangs" have been a topic of conversation among army wives. She would let hairdressers curl them this way or that, cut them a little shorter perhaps, but bangs she insisted upon.

It is almost as though Mamie Doud Eisenhower was determined to remain a definite personality in her own right instead of just a wife overshadowed by the increasing fame of her husband.

Although Mrs. Eisenhower has held to bangs — regardless of whether they were in our out of style—she likes clothes right up to the minute in fashion. She has kept her slim figure and wears clothes well. In jewelry, she favors earbobs.

Woman MP Says Money Paves Way for Court Presentations

LONDON (AP)—A woman Member of Parliament suggests that the pre-war practice of paying sponsors to get debutantes presented at court is rearing its head again in Britain.

She urged abolition of the presentation ritual so that the Queen could use the time to meet some of the 5,000 students from Commonwealth countries who come to Britain each year.

Writing in the Sunday Express, Mrs. Eirene White, Labor member for East Flint, said:

"In pre-war times the snobbery associated with presentation at Court was exceedingly distasteful, to say the least. The rumors of money paid to receive the favor were well based."

The sponsors always were well-placed socially ad often had titles. Mrs. White said 10,000 pounds—then worth almost $50,000—was believed to be the most ever paid to a sponsor. The usual fee ran about 1,000 pounds.

Pupils Honor Teacher With Handsome Gift

Miss Kathleen Campsall, former teacher at Elginburg Public School, was honored recently by a farewell party given by the pupils when they presented her with a silver set in grape design consisting of cream and sugar, salt and pepper and tray.

The address was read by Miss Margaret Hartman, and the presentation made by Miss Rita Hart, on behalf of the pupils, for which Miss Campsall graciously expressed her appreciation for the lovely expression of their regard toward her.

Miss Campsall has been the Elginburg teacher for five years, and will assume her duties on the teaching staff of Trenton public school when school reopens in September. All extend to her the best in her new position.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. H. Tolls and Mrs. E. Stover.

Baragar-Barr Clan Holds Picnic Reunion

On Sunday afternoon, a family picnic-reunion was held in Tweed Park, Tweed, where 65 members of the Baragar and Barr clan enjoyed a most delightful get-together, and a bounteous dinner and supper amid cooling breezes.

The afternoon was spent mostly in swimming, brief speeches, in the renewing of old acquaintances, and visiting among relatives.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. Baragar, Mr. and Mrs. C. Boe and Mr. and Mrs. Armson, formerly residents of Bancroft and the North Hastings district. Others were present from Toronto, Oshawa, Mimico, Belleville, St. Catharines, Coe Hill, Bancroft, Lake St. Peter, Maynooth and Tweed.

Canadian Women Are Good Cook--The Men Too

(By MARY MOORE)

There are a few things that make me blazing mad. Otherwise I'm fairly even-tempered. No. 1 is discourtesy of children to their parents, (2) garbage not disposed of and (3) sophisticated travellers airily claiming that Canadians have no cooking culture.

It is those latter upstarts I'm tearing into today. If they could see the letters I receive from you girls with original recipes you have worked out—things you could not find in cookbooks so worked out yourselves; or the samples—yes meal-size samples—of your cooking that come by mail to me—if they really knew what goes on in some private Canadian kitchens they would have to change their tunes or hold their tongues.

For instance, read this letter from Mrs. J. D.:

Dear Mary Moore—Your column gives me much pleasure as I am a stickler for a balanced diet. . . I have been experimenting with whole wheat flour . . . it improves the texture and taste of fruit, spice and other soda cakes. Cookies just vanish since I started making them with whole wheat flour. Here is a favorite recipe:

WHOLE WHEAT COOKIES

(By Mrs. J. D.)

Three-quarters cup each brown sugar and shortening, 1-2 cup white sugar. Cream these well. Add 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg or cloves. Blend well. Mix together 3 cups whole wheat flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Gradually mix into first mixture. Roll thin and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. until golden brown.

I want Mrs. J. D. to know I made these. They are all she claims for them. I divided the dough into halves and to one-half added 1-2 cup plump seeded raisins, because Pete is working at Stelco for the summer and carries his lunch and I pack all the nourishment I can into its contents. Thank you, Mrs. J. D.

Then I want to give you "Ada Pal's"

CHERRY CONSERVE

(Sent in by Ada Pal.)

(Tricky pen name isn't it? Personally I don't think she needs much help.) She vows her pickles "draw visitors" because they come 20 miles from the next farm for them—out West of course, where 100-mile drives are an evening's jaunt.

One lb. raisins, 2 lbs. sweet or sour cherries, juice and rind 3 oranges, 3 1-2 lbs. sugar, 1 cup water. Boil sugar and water 5 minutes with the grated orange rind. Add the cherries and raisins and boil carefully until thick, without burning (Ada uses asbestos mat under it)—this takes about 1-2 hour. Add orange juice and boil two minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal. . .Thanks Ada Pal for sending this while cherries are in season.

And see how this appeals to you

HE-MAN'S BARBECUE OR STEAK SAUCE

(By "Distant, Critical Admirer—male.)

(All I have are his initials—the coward—D'A. O'M. which he vows are correct. Anybody gotta clue?)

"One-half cup Worcestershire or H. P. sauce, 2 small lemons, 1-4 cup each vinegar and lime juice, 1-4 cup butter (don't substitute margarine!), 1-2 teaspoon each dry mustard, chili powder, black pepper, 1-2 cup catsup, 1-2 clove garlic, 1 very small onion, 1 bay leaf. Combine all ingredients (1 mean—mix the whole business together) and boil it up for 5 minutes. It should be about as thick as thin catsup (specific isn't he?).

If you think it is too thick pour in a blob or two of tomato juice. Strain into a pitcher with a wide top. After that it's my wife's job to find a cover for it and keep it until I can earn enough money to buy the steaks to smear it over then we start all over again."

I tried it, kids. It's a honey. I bow to you, D'A. O'M. All of you giv-ees come again sometime.

1,200 Girl Guides Will be Given Special Training

SOUTH MARCH (CP)—Into territory normally occupied by men, some 1,200 happy teen-aged Girl Guides from many parts of Canada will march today for the start of a 12-day stretch under canvas.

The camp, largest ever undertaken by the Girl Guides Association, will be established on a site—15 miles southwest of Ottawa—normally used for male rifle competitions.

The Guides, ranging in age from 13 to 16, were hand-picked. Instead of attempting to train the girls in camping and life-saving techniques, an effort will be made to teach them the finer points of citizenship.

The camp was designed to help the youngsters to think as Canadians, not as the natives of any particular province.

'My Sin' Wins Feature Race At Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Expert driving by Henry Vogel of Rochester, N.Y., in winning both heats of the 225-cubic-inch hydroplane class, over a choppy course highlighted the international power boat regatta here Saturday.

Vogel's triumph in My Sin gave him his second Schenley gold helmet within a week plus valuable points in the Schenley Trophy high-point competition.

My Ambition, driven by Edwin N.Y., flipped over on a turn in the first heat, ripping a hole in the side of his craft. He was unhurt.

Two disqualifications marred the 226-cubic-inch hydroplane class. Jack Langmuir of Brockville, winner of the first heat was disqualified along with William Braden of Waterdown, Ont., for jumping the gun in the second heat. The race was won by Francois Lavigne's Enterprise of Montreal with a best lap time of more than 67 m.p.h.

Results:

48-cubic-inch class—1. Harry Waggett, Pefferlaw, Ont., Spasmodic Suzy; 2. N. Milton, Toronto, Suzy II; 3. P. Brafield, Toronto, Slo Poke.

225 hydroplane class—1. Henry Vogel, Rochester, N.Y., My Sin; 2. Bernard Daoust, Lachine, Que., Canada Maid II; 3. John Haincalt, Cornwall, Kincott III.

135 hydroplanes open—1. Don Wilson, Dearborn, Mich., Who; 2. Tommie Turner, Kenmore, N.Y., Rebel; 3. George Kane, Lincoln Park, Mich, My Move.

226 hydroplane class—1. Francois Lavigne, Montreal, Enterprise; 2. Jack Langmuir, Brockville, Running Wild; Joe Less, North Tonawanda, N.Y., Mamma's Mink.

Canadian one design—1. Frank Ramsay, Rideau Ferry; 2. Harry Stone, Toronto Cobalt Silver Streak; 3. Ed Pine, Belleville, Miss Madoc.

"D" and "E" racing runabouts—1. Al Endres, Grand Island, N.Y., Stiver; 2. Elwood Lie Scott, Cambridge, Md., My Boy Woody; 3. Ed Endres, Grand Island, Dot E IV.

135 Canadian class—1. Charles Buddo, Dr. Erveante, Toronto, Ante Up; 2. George Reynolds Brockville, Hornet; 3. Bill Belfie, Gananoque, Ont., Static.

CHOIR GIRLS STRUCK

ROCHESTER, England (Reuters) — A light plane with its engine stalled swooped down and struck two choir girls as they walked home from church yesterday. The girls—one of whom said she felt the plane's wheels run over her back—were injured. The pilot managed to guide glide the plane between two houses and pancake in an open space. He was unhurt.

U.S. Strength in Korea Could Be Increased 'In a Pinch' Says Collins

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff, today hinted that U.S. strength in Korea could be increased "in a pinch."

He said the U.S. Eighth Army "as a general proposition" has been furnished all the "means readily available" for battle, but added:

In a pinch if it were essential to do so, we could employ other means."

He called the mass flight of Thunderjets bound from the U.S. to Japan an indication that "we are growing in air strength."

The general is on a tour of the battlefront.

Step-up Attacks

He said recently stepped-up U.N. air attacks on North Korea certainly did not decrease the chances for peace.

Without an armistice, Collins said "the Communists can expect hard attacks from the air."

The Far Eastern commander, Gen. Mark Clark, and Eighth Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet had authority to order bombing of Chinese territory.

Collins said "the U.N. commander (Clark) has the local authority." But he added that no order to bomb Red China would be given without consultation among the United Nations.

Collins said he knew of no more targets in North Korea that had been spared air assaults as the Red hydro-electric plants had been until heavily attacked last month.

Kingston Workers Of Aluminum Co. Reject Offer

KINGSTON (CP)—The offer of a 10-cent hourly wage increase to employees of the Aluminum Company plant here has been rejected by members of Local 343, United Steelworkers of America (C. I. O.-C.C.L.), it was learned today.

More than 350 workers turned down the company offer at a mass meeting yesterday. The Steelworkers union embraces about 1,500 plant workers.

The offer was announced Saturday and was accepted by Local 54, International Association of Machinists, which has about 275 workers in the plant.

The union negotiating committee recommended that the company's offer be rejected. The workers' resentment that the company did not submit the 10-cent offer through the negotiating committee was given as one of the main reasons why the offer was rejected.

The company offer would be retroactive to June 29 and the union felt it should date back to May 24

Large Parades Mark Observance Of 'Glorious Twelfth' in Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of Ontario Orangemen turned out Saturday to walk behind their local "King Billy" in observance of the "Glorious Twelfth."

Hot, humid weather prevailed during the celebrations of the 262nd anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in which the Protestant King William II defeated the Catholic James II and ensured a Protestant succession.

Biggest parades in Ontario were at Toronto, where some 5,000 joined the "walk," and Kingston where an estimated 25,000, many from Ottawa, were on hand for the celebrations.

The normal 2,500 population of Wingham was swollen to more than 15,000 as the town played host to 75 visiting Orange lodges.

R. C. Henry, 81-year-old Perth county parade marshal, took part in his 69th walk when some 5,000 members of 120 lodges from southern and western Ontario visited Stratford.

A wreath-placing service featured observances in Galt.

The Kingston parade, first there in 19 years, also was attended by members from Belleville, Brockville and Watertown, N.Y.

Members from 70 lodges crowded into Durham. Highways Minister Doucette was special speaker at Perth where a street dance rounded out the celebration.

A re-enactment of the Battle of the Boyne highlighted the program at Fort William as lodge members from Port Arthur and other nearby centres attended a parade and sport show.

Red Dean Charged in Commons As 'Wicked, Irresponsible Old Man'

LONDON (CP)—The "Red" Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, was assailed in the House of Commons today as a "wicked and irresponsible old man" but the attorney-general said there are no grounds to try him for treason.

"I am of the opinion that the evidence available does not disclose a prima facie case of treason," Attorney-General Sir Lionel Heald told the house.

Miss Irene Ward, a Conservative member of Parliament raised the issue. She charged that the Dean's allegations about United Nations forces using germ warfare in Korea are "prejudicial to the interests of Her Majesty's "subject's."

Can't Prosecute

Miss Ward suggested that prosecuting the Dean "would provide an invaluable opportunity of proving the falsity of the evidence of this wicked and irresponsible old man."

But the attorney-general said it just wasn't possible.

"I am afraid my decision has had to be based on the unfortunate fact that it will not provide such an opportunity," he replied.

"If anyone else has any further evidence to offer I am prepared to consider it," he added.

Prime Minister Churchill will be asked in the House of Commons whether the government will set up a tribunal to investigate the Dean's conduct "in furthering and disseminating the propaganda of persons engaged in hostilities with British troops and in claiming he had proof of the truth of such propaganda."

Sources close to Parliament say Churchill is unlikely to agree to a tribunal, requested by John Langford-Holt, a Conservative member of parliament.

Church Matter

The government is likely to take the line that the disciplining of the Dean is a matter for the church, not the state.

The House of Lords debate on Dr. Johnson's conduct will deal with a query by Lord Ammon, a former Labor minister, as to whether any legal action can be taken against the churchman.

An important speech is expected in the Lords debate from the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who as head of the Church of England is perhaps the final authority on the issue.

Dr. Johnson, long a centre of controversy for his backing of Soviet views, returned last week from a trip to Communist China with what he claimed was proof that U.N. airmen have dropped disease germs in the Korean War.

His charges were denounced yesterday from a number of pulpits in England.

Britain Orders Red Diplomat To Leave Country

LONDON (AP)—Britain yesterday ordered Soviet diplomat Pavel Kuznetsov to get out of the country within a week on grounds that he had received official secrets from a British Foreign Office radio operator.

The operator, William Marshall was convicted Thursday of passing to Kuznetsov secret information of value to an enemy and was sentenced to five years in prison.

He had a series of meetings here this spring with Kuznetsov, for three years the second secretary at the Russian embassy. Government agents arrested them together in a suburban park June 13.

In the 10 years 1940-49 the pulp and paper industry used one-fifth of the total forest depletion in Canada and it is estimated the rate of regrowth at least equalled this depletion.

Redmen Trounce Brockville White Sox 11-1 For 12th Victory Of Season

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

RETURN TO FORM

That was better. The Redmen regained their shootin' eyes and fielding prowess Saturday night behind the inspired hurling of Coach Ralph McCabe. After a couple of excusable bobbles they settled down to sparkle defensively and backed up the boss' fine chucking with some long-range clouting that had even the mosquitoes laying off luscious lunches to watch the flight of the soaring pills.

And brother, those long-billed buzzards apparently had been on a six-weeks hunger strike. They bit, drilled and gouged by platoons. As soon as one blood-hungry squadron had gorged its fill, two others moved in. They didn't miss a stroke. In fact that buzzing radio listeners might have heard was not static or mechanical growling. Just three big hunks of mosquito arguing as to whether they would take off with the press-radio crew or eat 'em on the spot in case the big fellas outside would rob them of their meal.

Sam Mulholland's running spear of a towering fly in the sixth was the fielding highlight. Sammy started with the crack of the bat, galloped toward the fence and pulled down the ball over his right shoulder while at top spred. Al. Kelleher also came through with some neat work at first, besides blasting out a timely triple that scored two runners. (Was that the first ball, Clappy?)

Mouse Bush won the Red Cap prize with a home run blast that cleared the centre rightfield fence by at least ten feet. Fitz and Mulholland hit doubles, the latter's bouncing over the fence to complete an evening of neat long-range belting. The Reds seasonal record now stands at twelve and three.

SOON BE HERE

Bulletin from Frank Feaver, secretary of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association reminds playdown clubs that all players certificates must be signed not later than July 15th and the OASA sections mailed to the secretary by July 20th . . . All associations below senior "A" and "B" must declare winners by August 15th. . . . All umpires for playoff games must carry OASA cards . . . Playoff draws will be made Saturday, July 26th and Sunday, July 27th at a meeting of the OASA executive committee . . . Umpire registration will be made only upon recommendation of the local association . . .

Got a chuckle from a sports reporter's comments anent the recent Prescott-Belleville game which appeared in the Prescott Journal. Add these to the fact the Prescott manager-coach though the Reds were barnstorming, and baseball orphans without a league to play in.

Says the riverside scribe: — "The Merchants hitting power was stymied by the experienced hurling of "Stan" McCabe, ex-big leaguer. The big hurler not only had a good fast one but used a straight drop very effectively. That pitch is almost so old it is new as younger hurlers are now throwing stuff that breaks down and away, commonly called a slider and formerly a fade-away."

And listen to this, Jumbo: — "Of course, Belleville also introduced a new type of batting stance with Vern Goyer, who could scarcely be mistaken for an artists model, doing the demonstrating. The big fellow, whom the crowd lost little time in choosing Public Enemy No. 1, bent over the plate in much the same fashion as a boy who has eaten too many green apples. But when the pitch he liked came his way, he just sort of uncoiled like a fat python and went after it."

SO, THAT'S IT!

The experts tired of arguing as to whether a baseball curves, or whether the "hook" is an optical illusion finally resorted to science to settle the verbal duels. And the outcome was, the ball does curve.

Some will recall the stroboscopic pictures published in Life Magazine 11 years ago which showed that balls pitched by Carl Hubbell and Cy Blanton didn't curve at all — they merely dropped. There they were a string of white circles down a straight chalk line. No optical illusian here. A camera can't lie — or can it?

According to an American item, a new and awesome electronic calculator says a common baseball actually curves. All of which may sound strange to millions who have sat behind a plate or swung at the air with the willow themselves.

While two mechanical gadgets are busy calling themselves liars, let's see what mere man did about it. In fact the homo sapiens of baseball did it. The Sporting News says star flinger Fred Goldham did it eight times in 1870. He and a catcher stood on the same side of a line of three stakes. The ball left the pitcher's hand to the left of the first stake, travelled to the right of the second and smacked into the catcher's hand (no mitts those days) at the left of the third. Bill Posedel and Lenny Levy did it again in 1950.

Who's right? Ask the many who have tw[illegible] themselves into a corkscrew as they swung at a big "roundhouse" and missed for the third strike. They'll tell you if the ball didn't curve that hickory must have had an awful big hole in it.

McCabe Fashions Two-Hitter In Fine Mound Performance; 'Mouse' Bush Blasts 3rd Homer

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Ralph McCabe's sparkling two-hit pitching, aided and abetted by timely hitting, gave the Redmen an 11-1 victory over the Brockville White Sox in an inter-league baseball game here Saturday night.

Wildness of the White Sox hurling staff, good for a dozen walks and a falling apart of the infield in the fifth, helped swell the score.

The victory, the Redmen's twelfth in fifteen starts, broke a two-game losing streak. They came back with their long-range clouting, belting out a home run, a triple and two doubles in ten of the hits garnered off a trio of Sox hurlers. It was their fifth straight win over St. Lawrence Baseball League teams.

Never in Danger

McCabe held the Sox in the hollow of his hand throughout the game. The tall righthander gave up two singles, struck out seven and walked two. Only thirty-two Sox batters faced him over the nine-innings route, sixteen in the last five innings. In addition he clouted out a pair of singles to aid his own cause.

The Redmen, outside of two bobbles, one an overthrow to second and a bad toss to first, came up with a fine defensive exhibition. Sam Mulholland's running, back-to-the-diamond pull-down of Bissonette's bid for a triple in the sixth, was the feature fielding play. Kelleher came up with an outstanding display at the initial sack.

Breaugh, Sox ace righthander, started on the mound and staged tight hurling duel with McCabe for three innings. He was touched for two doubles in the fourth, then developed a streak of wildness, walking three in a row in the fifth. He gave up four for four and was relieved by McDowell who was touched for three hits for as many runs in the three innings he toiled. LeClair took over in the ninth but he was no better, the Reds tabbing him for three hits for two runs in the inning.

The Sox scored their lone run in the first innings. McIntosh whiffed and Burns walked, going to second when catcher Vern Goyer tossed badly to the bag. Bissonette popped out and Ashley hit a single to left scoring the runner. Lewis popped to Kelleher. That was all.

The Sox threatened only once after that. Fitz' bad throw to first put Bissonette aboard. Ashley grounded out and Lewis forced Bissonette. McBroom got the last single off McCabe putting two on but Turner grounded weakly to Fitz.

"Mouse" Bush Hoists One

Doubles by Mulholland which bounced over the right field fence, and Fitzpatrick plus a Sox bobble, gave the Reds a 2-1 lead in the fourth. Four walks and McCabe's single were good for two more in the fifth, and the Brockville infield fell apart in the seventh when the Reds shoved over five runs off two hits, three errors and two wild pitches.

"Mouse" Bush connected for a towering home-run his third of the season over right centre field fence in this inning, driving in Kelleher who had singled ahead of him.

In the ninth with one out, Goyer and Carson singled and Kelleher smashed out a blazing triple, after Reeves fanned, scoring both runners. McCabe flied out to centre.

Al. Kelleher paced the Red offensive with a triple and single with McCabe getting two singles. Fitz and Mulholland hit doubles and the rest were shared by the "rest" with the exception of Reeves, the only Redman who failed to hit safely.

Sports Roundup

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—If Avery Brundage and all his co-workers on the United States Olympic committee haven't a good case of ulcers by now, they'll never have them.

The entire team of about 340 athletes is in Helsinki but just eight days ago—when virtually all the tryouts were over—no one knew for sure just how much money was in the till or whether any of the hopefuls would have to be left home.

For months Brundage had been talking up the fact that the United States needed funds to get the team across the Atlantic. He must have had a stock speech because he's been doing the same thing every four years for longer than he cares to remember.

"I suppose we'll get over the top, but it's the same old story," he sighed. "We never know until the last minute if we'll make it." This was some 24 hours before the team was scheduled to depart.

Telethon Tried

A big telethon was held with the intention of raising money. Bob Hope and Bing Crosby wheedled more than $1,000,000 worth of pledges for the team.

A little arithmetic would reveal that this was more than enough to send the team to Helsinki, plus enough to get a start on the next games. But to date, perhaps one-fifth of the money has been banked, and that's a generous estimate.

As Brundage said, the tough thing is not that the money didn't come in, but that the telethon virtually halted all the other donations and drives since everyone thought all problems were solved.

Well, all's well that end's well, but when they start thinking of a telethon four years hence, the lesson should be learned.

Gerry Kesselring, Weslock Tie For Golf Title

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two of Canada's top amateur golfers, Gerry Kesselring and Nick Weslock, who have waged many an exciting battle, never staged a more dramatic finish than the one they put on in Saturday's London and District amateur golf championship at the Highland Golf Club.

Tied at the end of 36 holes with 138 apiece, Kesselring and Weslock battled through four extra holes before darkness called a halt to proceedings with the two still tied. Kesselring and Weslock will share the London Winery trophy, emblematic of the championship.

Kesselring, the Kitchener Rockway sharpshooter, blew his chance to win without a playoff when he took a five on the par four 18th hole of his second round, missing a six-foot putt.

Meanwhile, Weslock, of Windsor Essex, rolled home with two steady rounds of 69 for a 138.

John Watson of Chatham, defending champion, after a good round of 68 which left him right in contention, dropped from consideration with a 77 on the last 18.

'Two Lea' Takes $100,000 Gold Cup

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The famed devil red silks of Kentucky's Calumet Farm raced to victory for the second straight year in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup Saturday when Two Lea, the stable's distinguished and elderly mare, won the 13th running of the midsummer event at Hollywood Park.

Just as Calumet's great Citation scored in the western classic a year ago, so did Two Lea, the favorite, come through on schedule to win by half a length.

Second was Clifford Moore's Cyclotron, once a Calumet horse but cast off last year because of ailing feet.

Third in the race, staged before 50,088 fans, was F. N. Phelps' Sturdy One, No. 2 betting choice in the pari-mutuels.

Jockey Henry Moreno finished the 1¼ miles in 2:00 1-5.

Veteran Pat Fletcher, New Wearer Canadian Professional Golf Crown

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian professional golf got a new tournament champion Saturday—big Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon who squeezed out the first major golf victory of his 19-year playing career in a field of 34 competitors from across Canada.

Fletcher, making his putter behave on the lush greens of Winnipeg's Niakwa course, carved three strokes off par in the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship. He put together rounds of 69-69-72 for a total of 210, one stroke better than veteran Jules Huot of Laval-Sur-le-Lac, a three-time winner of this blue-ribbon event for Canadian pros. His victory was worth $350.

Ends Leonard's Reign

His victory ended a two-year reign of Stan Leonard of Vancouver. It marked the first time that a player from other than British Columbia, Quebec or Ontario clubs had carried off the Cohama trophy and first-place money since the competition began in 1912.

Fletcher, 36-year-old native of Victoria, B.C., earned his victory. He hit the ball well all through the three rounds. He added to the solid irons play for which he is noted a deft putting tough which brought him the triumph—a popular one with the gallery of some 2,500 who followed the players on the tough 36-hole decisive grind Saturday after 18 holes Friday.

He needed all his shots to stave off Huot, who shot a sparkling third-round 69 for his 211, and Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga who wound up in a third-place tie with 212 after leading the field Friday with an opening-round 68.

Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener Rockway offered another stout challenge, recovering from an opening 75 to shoot rounds of 69 and 68 Saturday. He three-putted the final green in a moment of relaxation.

The draw made for a tense finish. Fletcher played with Brydson and Par Fletcher of Regina who had a starting 69. Pat Fletcher duplicated his starting round with a 65 to take a two-stroke lead over Brydson who slipped to 72 while Par Fletcher dropped back with a 75.

Toronto Yorks Trounce Mimico

BRAMPTON (CP)—Toronto West York Saturday night trounced Mimico Mountaineers 19-8 in a senior Ontario Lacrosse Association tilt played here.

It was the Mountaineers' second straight defeat.

Pop Chard led the Mimico scorers with four goals. Leading Toronto were Stu Scott with five, Nick Ferri and Leo Teatro with three each, and Frank Facts with two.

Bob Shantz Wins Fifteenth Game; Can Set Up Three New Mound Records

Tosses 3rd Shutout Over Sox; Yankees Claw Tigers for Two, Tribe Scalps Senators Twice

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia Athletics ace southpaw can:

1. Become the biggest winner in Philadelphia's American League history.
2. Become the first second-division hurler in the last 50 years to lead his league in won-and-lost percentage.
3. Become the first 30-game winner in the majors in 18 years and the first American Leaguer to reach that total in 21 years.

Gets Shutout

Shantz spun a seven-hit 6-0 shutout yesterday as the Athletics split a doubleheader with Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the second game 7-4. It was Bobby's third shut out and his 16th complete game in 18 starts. He has won 15 and lost three.

The five-foot seven-inch pitcher has a chance to equal or better the highest total of victories ever racked up by a Philadelphia hurler. Jack Coombs of the 1910 Athletics and Bob Grove of the 1941 club each notched 31 triumphs.

Groves, incidentally, was the last of eight American League hurlers to win 30 or more in one season. Dizzy Dean was the last major leaguer to accomplish it. He won 30 for the 1934 St. Louis Cardinals. The major league record of 41 was set by Jack Chesbro of the 1904 New York Highlanders, now the Yankees.

Only one pitcher hurling for a second-division club ever led the American circuit on a won-and-lost basis. He was Bill Bernhard who won 18 and lost five for the fifth-place Cleveland Indians of 1902. Shantz can join Bernhard provided he maintains his current pace and the Athletics don't improve their current fifth-place standing. Shantz was not the only pitcher to shine yesterday. Vic Raschi came within four outs of pitching a no-run, no-hit game for New York as the Yankees twice overwhelmed Detroit Tigers 11-1 and 12-2.

Raschi had two out and two strikes on Myron Ginsberg in the eighth inning of the opener when the weak-hitting Tiger catcher blasted a 350-foot home run into the right field stands. It was the Tigers' only hit.

The victory was Raschi's 100th major league victory and his ninth against two losses this season. Mickey Mantle hit a homer in each game for the Yanks. Yogi Berra belted his 18th and Joe Collins his seventh for the Yanks.

Mike Garcia turned in a brilliant two-hitter for Cleveland as the Indians swept a doubleheader from Washington, 1-0 and 2-1, to remain 3 1-2 games behind the pace-setting Yankees. Garcia's win was his 13th this season.

Cleveland got only four hits off Con Marrero. Al Rosen's 17th home run, with Bobby Avila on base and in the eighth, gave the Indians the second game.

Browns Drop Two

Maurice McDermott also hurled a twohitter for Boston as the Red Sox took a pair from St. Louis Browns 8-5 and 40. The young left-hander beat Ned Garver for his win in the nightcap. Catcher Sam White's 10th-inning homer with two out snapped a 5-5 tie in opener.

Gus Zernial provided Shantz with more runs than he needed, blasting a pair of home runs, one with the bases loaded, to increase his homer total to 16.

Philadelphia Phillies moved to within four games of the fourth-place Cubs in the National League, whipping Chicago in a doubleheader, 7-3 and 9-2. Richie Ashburn led the Phils' 23 hit attack in the two games with five safeties, including a double and triple.

Davey Williams' ninth-inning triple drove in two mates and gave New York Giants a 4-3 nightcap win and a split with Cincinnati. The Reds, behind Harry Parkowski's six-hit hurling, took the opener 10-2.

Veteran Matt Surkont and rookie Virgil Jester pitched Boston Braves to a 4-2 and 2-1 double win over Pittsburgh. Ralph Kiner slammed his 15th homer with a man on base in the ninth for Pittsburgh.

The Brooklyn St. Louis game was rained out.

Timbermen Down St. Kitts 14-6

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Peterborough Timbermen downed St. Catharines 14-6 Saturday night in a senior Ontario Lacrosse Association match.

Ross Powless led the Timbermen scorers with three goals.

Peterborough led 5-4 at the end of the first quarter, 7-4 in the second and 11-5 in the third.

Jamaican Star Says Can Win Olympic 400

HELSINKI (AP)—The 100-metre dash in the 1952 Olympic track and field Games is so wide open that Herb McKenley, the Jamaica 400-metre star, says he thinks he can win it.

Herb, who is now 30 and no longer the great runner who set the world quarter-mile record of 46 seconds flat in 1948, had finished eating at the Olympic village last night when he began toying with the idea.

"I think I will practise starts and if I can get out of the holes quickly enough, I'll run the 100 as well as the 400," said Herb who is entered in the 200 as well. "I think I can run 10.4 or 10.5, and that's enough to win."

McKenley, who ran the 100 in 10.3 seconds three years ago, picked Emanual McDonald Bailey of Great Britain to win here—if Herb doesn't compete, that is.

"The field is the weakest in recent times," said Herb. "You see Andy, sitting across from me? He could run away with the 100 if he had been entered."

McKenley was looking at Andy Stanfield of the United States, the 200-metre favorite and probably fastest man in the world today. Stanfield decided to favor a bad leg and qualify only in the 200.

Sport in Brief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harold Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., ace, walked off with three titles in the Eastern Canada tennis championships at Quebec and Mrs. Hanna Sladek, the Czech now playing out of Montreal, won two.

Biggest prize for top-seeded Burrows was the singles crown he won yesterday over Lorne Main, Vancouver and Montreal, 6-4, 1-6, 6-, 7-5.

Saturday night, he teamed with Mrs. Sladek to defeat Toronto's Mrs. Louise Brown and Don Platt in mixed doubles 6-3, 6-1.

Yesterday, in men's doubles, he paired with a veteran Canadian Davis Cup player, Henri Rochon of Montreal, to walk over Robert Bedard, Sherbrooke, Que., and Jack Spencer, Montreal, 6-0, 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Sladek won her singles championship from Mrs. Brown 6-2, 6-2.

Mrs. Brown avenged her singles defeat by teaming with fellow-Torontonian Dorothy Hurst to win the women's doubles title over Mrs. Sladek and Ruth Porter, Montreal, 8-6, 3-6, 6-0.

Kelowna Packers won the Canadian summer hockey championship at Nelson, B.C., Saturday night, beating Nelson Maple Leafs 5-3 in a star-studded off-season exhibition before a sellout crowd. The temperature was near 80. Both line-ups featured well-known pro stars, headed by the Toronto Maple Leafs veteran, Turk Broda, who played one period for each club.

Broda allowed one goal in each stint, the final one coming in the game's last minute when he was caught up the ice on a forway of his own and Bill Haldane scored on a breakaway. Broda received an "assist" on the play.

Ernie Bentley of Toronto Weston came in with a 36-hole total of 148 to win the Kingston Whig-Standard and Eastern Ontario golf championship at Kingston's Cataraqui Golf and Country Club Saturday. It was Bentley's second consecutive win.

Miss Boston scored an upset when she romped home first in the 1⅛-mile $2,500 Cattarinich Memorial Handicap at Montreal's Blue Bonnets Saturday. Epigram, Ontario Queen's Plate winner and the favorite, was an also ran. Kenny Davidson, 22-year-old jockey from Hamilton, was aboard as the five-year-old mare went out in front at the first turn and never was headed.

Marlene Stewart, Canadian women's open and closed golf champion, defended her Lookout Point Golf Club women's title at Fonthill yesterday by defeating Ann Sharpe, 4 and 3. Miss Stewart was three under par and conceded only three holes. She shot a 38 for the first nine and 25 on the first six of her final round.

Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver became the first Canadian to win the Pacific Northwest Golf Association championship by crushing Bruce Cudd of Portland 8 and 7 in the 36-hole final at Tacoma, Wash., Saturday. Mawhinney, 1950 Canadian amateur champion, ruined Cudd's 19th birthday with a dazzling display of sub-par golf.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, dentist golfer, won the $2,400 first money in the $15,000 St. Paul open golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole score of 266, 22 strokes under par. Five strokes back in second place with 271 was Sam Snead. He won $1,600. Henry Ransom, leader the first two days, finished third with 272 for $1,400.

Oshawa Defeated

OSHAWA (CP)—St. Catharines Stags Saturday night squeezed out a 6-5 win over Oshawa Merchants in a scheduled Niagara District Baseball League game. The win moved St. Catharines to within one-half a game behind the league-leading Merchants.

TWEED

Juniors Defeat Tweed in Playoff

TWEED — Madoc Juniors scored eight runs in their last two bats to defeat Tweed 11-5 in the first game of their best two out of three semi-finals in the Centre Hastings Softball League. The juniors are the favorites to win the championship, as they only lost two games this year and one was an exhibition game.

Cassidy, of Tweed, pitched his heart out but faulty fielding and baserunning cost him the game. In one inning Madoc scoresd six runs without getting a real base hit and Cassidy had to strike out the side. Cassidy struck out 11 including one batter every one of five trips to the plate. He walked five over the nine innings. Radnor of Madoc, fanned eight and walked only three as he went the route.

For Madoc, Pigden got on four for five; Blakely had three for four; Hatch hit one for two. Sherry led Tweed with three hits, including two doubles.

Tweed scored in the third and made it four to one in the fourth. Madoc got two in the fifth but still trailed four to three after six. They came through with two in the seventh and six in the next. Tweed loaded the bases in the ninth but they could only score once.

Guelph Leafs Margin Cut Panthers Climb

(By The Canadian Press)

Guelph Maple Leafs found their first place lead in the senior Intercounty Baseball League chewed down this weekend.

Friday night the sixth-place London Majors walloped the Leafs—league leaders for more than a month—10-7 and on Saturday Brantford Red Sox, holding third spot, whipped them 5-2. Guelph now leads Kitchener Panthers by 2 1-2 games.

Elgins Still Lose

London went from the top of the league to the bottom Saturday ot hand the cellar-dwelling St. Thomas Elgins a 5-3 defeat, while Galt Terriers snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over Waterloo Tigers.

Righthander Billy Gibbs paced the Sox with a three-hitter. He travelled the distance, allowing three walks and fanning six.

Guelph's John Addie picked up his first defeat in seven starts. He gave up six hits, four wlks nd struck out two.

Top Brantford hitter was centrefielder Jerry Wilson who collected two for four.

Bob Brake pitched London to their 14th win in 30 starts, giving up seven hits.

Win All the Way

The Majors led off with two runs in the first and pushed their lead to 5-0 by the end of the sixth. The Elgins picked up two in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Don Summers was the loser, though giving up only six hits.

Catcher Bill Dixon spurred the Majors at the plate with two for three.

Don Miller lasted till the ninth for Galt when he was relieved by Hal Rockburn. Miller allowed four hits.

The Terriers made four hits off Joe Yosurak in the fourth inning pay off for four runs. Both clubs notched one in the first, Galt adding another in the seventh while Waterloo collected two in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Tonight London goes to Galt and Kitchener to St. Thomas.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Batting: Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics—crashed a pair of home runs, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Athletics to a 6-0, first game victory over Chicago.

Pitching: Vic Raschi, New York Yankees—came within four outs of a no-hitter, yielding one hit—a two-out eighth inning home run by Myron Ginsberg—as the Yankees whipped Detroit Tigers 11-1.

Tiny Czechoslovakian Blonde Wins Canadian Women's Tennis Singles

QUEBEC (CP)—Mrs. Hanna Sladek, a tiny Czechoslovakian blonde who slipped under the Iron Curtain two years ago to play tennis in a free world, emerged from the Eastern Canada tennis championships yesterday a tired and slightly-ill girl, but Canada's No. 1 women's singles player.

Suffering from an upset stomach and the heat wave which lasted for most of the week-long tournament, Mrs. Sladek lost out in the doubles title with Mrs. Ruth Porter, Montreal, against Mrs. Louise Brown and Dorothy Hurst, Toronto, but not before she had won the women's singles and mixed doubles crowns.

The 23-year-old freckled-face tennis star escaped two years ag from Czechoslovakia with her hus band and father who is the famou Czech Davis Cupper Aton Vozeluh

Voseluh nursed his daughte from a promising teen-age star t No. 1 spot in Czech tennis. Whil awaiting entry to Canada las year, she won the Berlin tenni tournament and first rank i German play.

She arrived in Montreal si months ago and took a drafting job in an architect's office.

She is Ontario women's single champ, Quebec province title holder and now Eastern Canadian champion.

'Mr. Good' Wins Rich Arlington

CHICAGO (AP)—Two Knoxville, Tenn., lawyers were enriched by $81,575 by the surprise victory Saturday of their Mr. Good in the $108,985 Arlington Futurity before a crowd of 24,716 at Arlington Park.

Jockey Douglas Dodson, a veteran of many Stakes victories, brought the two-year-old son of Easy Mon and Grim and Gay across the finish line three lengths ahead of Mr. Paradise, owned by Mrs. Ada Rice of Chicago and ridden by Eddie Arcaro.

The King Ranch's horse, Kamehameha, was third in the 15-horse field.

Mr. Good sprinted the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5. The Knoxville lawyers, Karl L. Martins and W.N. McKinney, formed a partnership in the thoroughbred racing business only this year and paid $7,500 for Mr. Good at a yearling sale at Keeneland.

The Arlington Futurity was Mr. Good's third victory in five starts. His total earnings of $85,675 makes him the top money-winning two-year-old in the United States.

Russians Offer Canucks Sculls

HELSINK (CP)—Russia offered a friendly hand to Canada Saturday.

The Russians heard that Canada's rowing shells were wrecked during a North Atlantic storm and offered to fix things up.

They made the offer to Gordon Jennens of Kelowna, B.C., builder of the boats who just arrived from Canada. They said, through an interpreter:

"We are very sorry to hear about it and will do anything to help."

The Russians had brought along spare single and double sculls and four- and eight-oared shells. They said they could be used either for practice or for the Olympic Games.

The offer was turned down with thanks. Replacements are coming from Canada.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A bridge system with a defi te set of standard signals is a y to follow, and the best pat rn for accurate results. Of any signals available, the one- mp bid holds an important ace.

In answer to an opening one d, an immediate one-jump re ponse makes several promises. mong other things, it admits eing enough tricks to make a ame and it promises two sure ricks.

In answer to a defensive bid, n immediate one-jump response romises, among other things, ricks enough to help make a ame. But it neither denies nor dmits a specified number of ure tricks.

East opened with a spade in his deal;

NORTH
♠K 10 6
♥Q J 8 6 5 3
♦A J 7 5
♣None

WEST
♠J 9 8 5
♥None
♦4 2
♣J 10 9 8 7 4 3

EAST
♠A Q 7 4 3 2
♥A 9 4 2
♦Q 6
♣A

SOUTH
♠None
♥K 10 7
♦K 10 9 8 3
♣K Q 6 5 2

South put in a bid of one no-trump. In expert Horse Sense play this is a convention; a modified takeout double; a force for partner to bid when lacking some item a true double would promise.

With a lack of high cards for an immediate response to the one opening, west passed. He has material for a later back-in, however.

In response to the south inferential force, north has a count of six tricks. Even if south is a trick short of what his signal promised, north sees enough tricks for game in their pair.

So, north makes an immediate one-jump response to three hearts, a forcing to game signal. Unless south has shaded far below practical right, the pair is in line for a game, a good try for it.

Despite the west pass, east has enough for a second bid. Three spades is the bid he comes in with here. South was a player who believed in obeying signals and here bid four hearts.

True, south might have bid four diamonds instead of four hearts. Not being game, north would be forced to bid again. But game is all south hopes for after the opening and rebid by east.

Earmarked dispensible are partners not sensible.

Bakelite Company Holds Picnic 300 Attend

Sponsored by the Bakelite Company over 300 hundred employees with families and friends enjoyed their second annual picnic at Crystal Beach on Saturday afternoon.

Under a blue summer sky at the lovely shady shore with a beautiful view on the Moira Lake children and parents enjoyed the activities which consisted of swimming, races, competition games and a ball game.

The transportation and the program were well arranged by the picnic committee whose efforts resulted in an outstanding event.

During the program free coffee, tea and cold refreshments were supplied.

The program started at two o'clock p.m. with a straight race for girls under five years, the winner was May Palmer; boys under 5 Bruce Smith; girls 6 to 8 Carol Miley; boys 6 to 8 Barey Smith; girls 11 to 12 Carol Keller; boys 11 to 12 Gerald Muller; girls 13 to 15 Jay Smith; Potato and spoon race Beverly Durno; balloon race for girls and boys first winner Carol Miley. Ladies open straight race first winner June Park, men Ray Lucas. Men three-legegd race R. Lucas and S. Mardeville. Open mixed needle and thread M. Summers and A. Manjuris. Ladies open nail driving contest first winner H. Keller. In the tug of war men from Machine shop dept. under direction of Mr. J. Baker won over the men from molding dept.

At the close of the program Mr. J. Buchan drew the coupons and presented prizes to the lucky winners.

A special event was a ball game in the evening: Hourly Rate Fence Busters vs. Salaried Alibiers. The score was 14 to 19 for Salaried Alibiers.

Andre, Handley Win Events At Race Meet

In the dash for the Pellar Star of Excellence Trophy, Frank Andre of Napanee and Earl Handley of Cherry Valley took first and second places respectively in the feature and consolation events at the Shannonville stock car races Saturday evening.

Andre, in his Brinklow Special took the lead in the first lap in the consolation and held it from start to finish. For some time it was a toss up between Leo Heaney of Kingston and Earl Handley for second spot. Handley took over in the third lap, as Heaney spun out on the west turn.

Again in the feature it was Andre from the drop of the flag. He took an early lead and held it for the finish.

Frank Andre is presently leading in points for the Pellar Trophy. Saturday evening he went out in an attempt to break the track record of 36 2-5 seconds for the half mile. Andre set that record last year and on Saturday he equalled it. A second attempt failed to break the record. R. L. Burrows, track promoter has offered a reward of $10 to any one who can break the present record.

The match race between Seaford Thompson of Picton and Earl Handley, Cherry Valley resulted in Handley coming out on top after six gruelling laps.

First heat: Frank Andre, Napanee; Earl Handley, Cherry Valley; 10 laps, 6:45.

Second heat: Seaford Thompson, Picton; Leo Heaney, Kingston; six laps, 4:03.

Match race: Earl Handley, Cherry Valley; Seaford Thompson six laps 4:56.

Consolation event: Frank Andre, Napanee; Earl Handley, Cherry Valley; 4:11, six laps.

Feature event: Frank Andre, Napanee; Earl Handley, Cherry Valley; 10 laps, 4:37 2-5.

Leafs Drop Two To Syracuse; Royals Win Pair

The International League went on a home-run spree yesterday as batters in three games slammed 20 baseballs over the fences.

Nine were lofted over the fences at Toronto as Syracuse Chiefs beat the Leafs 2-1 and 10-3.

Another nine were clouted as Buffalo Bisons and Rochester Red Wings split a doubleheader, the Bisons taking the opener 7-6 and dropping the second 7-5.

The other two homers were hit as Ottawa Athletics beat Baltimore Orioles 9-1.

The only games that lacked four-baggers were the 3-1 and 8-0 victories that the league-leading Montreal Royals scored over Springfield Cubs.

The sweep by the Royals enabled them to move four full games ahead of Rochester. The Royals broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the opener as Mal Mallete picked up the win, and then got going early in the second game to let Tom Lasorda coast to victory.

Rochester rallied to go ahead in both the ninth and 10th innings of the first game with Buffalo but lost on the error by Fred McAlister in the bottom of the 10th. Starting Wing pitcher Ellis Deal hit a pair of homers and teammates Rip Repulski and McAlister each had one in the losing cause.

But in the nightcap Ray Jablonski hit his 14th and Pete Riggan also connected to offset Bison four-masters by Damon Phillips and Eddie Kasak.

The home run was the only scoring weapon Toronto had, and it wasn't enough. In the opener, Ed Stevens' solo belt was duplicated by both Bill Drescher and Hank Workman. In the second game, Paul Lehner and Matv Rickert slammed four baggers, but so did Johnny Blatnik, Carden Gillenwater and Fenton Mole for the Chiefs. Mole hit two.

Tom Kirk and Bob Moscovich were the out-of-the-park boys for Ottawa as the tailenders cooled off red-hot Baltimore.

Little Giants Meet Paul's Motels Tonight

Ted Schwab's "Little Giants" and Paul Haggis' Motels meet tonight in the second game of their peewee baseball elimination series at the Fair Grounds, starting at 6.30.

The Giants won the first game of the best-of-three series by an 8-3 score, and the Motels will be all out to even the count. The third game, if necessary will be played this week, the date to be announced.

The winner of this series will represent the city in the OBA peewee playdowns.

In Saturday's four single games Buffalo beat Rochester 10-4, Baltimore defeated Ottawa 3-1, Toronto edged Syracuse 6-5 and Springfield defeated Montreal 4-3.

Flyers Defeat Point Anne 5-4 At Air Station

Trenton RCAF Flyers outscored Point Anne Cementmen 3-2 in the first inning Friday evening at the air station and went on to edge the Cementmen 5-4 in a Belleville and District League fixture.

The Pointers opened strongly with two tallies in the first inning on a single by Genereaux, an error at second that gave Elliott a life, an error to the pitcher that put Woods aboard, and a walk to Strahan. Wood was thrown out catcher to third, Mallory singled, but Green popped to second and Buchanan struck out to end the rally.

Flyers came back with their own rally in the first with walks to Wood and Burtt and an error in right field on Noel's fly ball that let in three runs.

Flyers used two errors and a single to score one run in the second frame and picked up their final tally in the fourth on a single by Auld and outfield fly balls by Wood and Gingrass.

Point Anne scored their final runs in the sixth and seventh.

Burtt went all the way on the hill for the Flyers walking four, striking out six, and giving up three hits.

Burshaw went the first six innings for the losers walking three striking out two, and giving up three hits for five runs. Maracle finished the final two frames walking none, striking out one, and giving up no hits for no runs.

Crawford Metals Defeat Motors For Fourth Win

Crawford Metals, with a six run rally in the third inning, downed Belleville Motor Car 10-5 in a Belleville and District Softball League game at the Alemite Field Saturday night.

It was Crawford's fourth victory in 17 starts. The Motormen took their 15th loss in 17 games.

Lewis homered with no one on to lead off the second inning for Crawfords. In the third Donovan led off with a home run to right field. Duesberry was safe on an error by the third baseman and Watson struck out. Lewis singled and Galbraith walked to load the bases. Speigel was safe on a fielder's choice that forced out Lewis, but Taylor singled to score Galbraith and pitcher Jim Dowsett slammed a home run to right field to plate Speigel and Taylor in front of him.

That was all for Motor Car starter, Donly, and Jack Reid came on to do the firing. He walked Upper but Donovan struck out to end the inning.

Errors at second base and in centrefield were good for another Crawford run in the fourth as they took an 8-0 lead.

Motor Car scored their first two runs in the fifth with Day getting a life on an error at short with one out. Reliefer Jack Reid then singled to right field. Miller advanced the runners on an infield roller and James brought them in with a single to right field.

The Motors added two more in the seventh on an error at third and a home run to left-centrefield by Jack Reid. They scored their final tally in the ninth on an error in left field, and singles by Ashley and Miller.

Crawfords scored single runs in the fifth and sixth.

Jim Dowsett went all the way on the firing line for the winners walking three, striking out one, and giving up seven hits for five runs. Donly started for the losers and in two and two thirds innings walked three, struck out two, and gave up seven hits for seven runs and the ball game.

Jack Reid went the rest of the way for the Motors walking three, striking out five, and giving up two hits for three runs.

Best at the plate for the losers was Reid with two singles and a home run in three official trips. Burley had two for four.

Lewis led the winners with a home run and two singles in five trips.

Lineups:

Motor Car: Miller ss; James c; Burley 3b; Callaghan 1b; Cousins 2b; Thomson cf; Walsh lf; Day rf; Donly p, replaced by Reid in 3rd. Ashley batted for Day in the 9th.

Crawford Metals: Upper c; Donovan lf; Duesberry rf; Watson 3b; Lewis ss; Galbraith 2b; Speigel 1b; Taylor cf; Dowsett p.

FRANKFORD

Softball Team Is Eliminated

FRANKFORD—Frankford softball team was eliminated from playoff competition this week, as they finished an incompleted game from earlier in the season in Glen Miller.

Frankford led the Glen Miller Royals going into the final frame but the homesters tied the score as a Frankford outfielder dropped a fly ball which would have been the final out. The game went into two extra innings with Glen Miller bringing in the winning run, also an unearned tally in the bottom of the second extra inning. The final score was 7-6 for Glen Miller.

The Frankford team was short several of their regulars who were on holidays at the time, replacing them with the younger members of the bench. Although the kids played hard all the way, the team was very lacking in their power at the plate.

Final Standing:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Johnstown	9	1	.900
Centenary	7	2	.778
Frankford Juveniles	6	3	.667
Glen Miller	4	6	.400
Frankford	3	7	.300
Wallbridge	0	10	.000

Note: Centenary and Frankford Juveniles had one tie game.

In the playoffs, Johnstown meets Frankford Juveniles, and Glen Miller plays Centenary.

AT THE McCARTHY

Rex Harrison, Lilli Palmer Star In 'Long Dark Hall'

Lovely Lilli Palmer, who is currently starring with her husband, Rex Harrison in the Broadway hit, "Bell, Book and Candle," returned to England recently to make a film, "The Long Dark Hall," in which she is also starred with her husband. This is their first film together in five years, the last one being "The Notorious Gentlemen."

In the picture which is coming to the McCarthy Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Miss Palmer plays the role of Mary Groome, wife of a man who takes up with a chorus girl subsequently found murdered, a crime of which he is accused. Through all this Mary stays by his side, deeply hurt at having been deceived, yet strong in her love for him. The part gives Lilli an abundance of opportunity to display her dramatic talents in a role that is symbolic of all women who love their men, no matter what circumstances are sent by fate to try them.

Wife Important

Although the main interest of "The Long Dark Hall," which is being released by Eagle Lion Classics, is focused on the character of Arthur Groome, played by Rex Harrison, it is the character of Mary who brings home to the audience the full import of the terrible situation in which the husband finds himself.

The screenplay for "The Long Dark Hall" was written by Nunnally Johnson who adapted Edgar Lustgarten's novel, "One More Unfortunate." Anthony Bushell and Reginald Beck share directorial credits for the film which Peter Cusick produced.

To all governments last year Canadians paid $6 billion or an average of $1,720 (about the price of a new car) for every family of four.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Aspects aren't the exhilarating, benefic ones, you may expect, but obstacles can be overcome by sheer will, tenacity. Avoid needless clashes with friends; be genial.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—You active thinkers might try relaxing some today. Concentrate on important things, but don't strain. P.M. could be happy period for romance, socials, family affairs.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Go slow-but-sure, don't jump to conclusions, and do not fear problems. Sound new devices, inventions freshly honored. Don't rush!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Caution here not to exceed your capacity or be "in the dumps." Either can spoil good chances. The unusual and clever favored if handled rightly. Sack moodiness, temper.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Mark time a bit, plan thoughtfully for activity. Tomorrow's aspects improved. This doesn't mean to idle today.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Some matters may irk but don't let them defeat good purpose and cheery humor. You may be surprised at results. Have confidence, avoid restlessness.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Should be a happy, promising period; aspects to make your day interesting, full, pleasant. Keep plans, actions, on high plane.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Indications excellent in many ways. Start right by going forward in calm, smooth manner, without taking undue chances.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Encouraging day. Be genial, considerate, particularly of family, loved ones. Many little things are as important as those that appear big.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Your rainbow is shining, so get along with a smile and the will to achieve. New influences during afternoon can be helpful if you are alert.

January 22 to February 20 (Auarius) — Benefic day. Sound activities, useful chores rate closer attention. P.M. may bring fresh pleasures.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Correspondence, professional and legal matters high in favo rtoday. All wholesome endeavor, essential work sponsored by top-notch aspects.

YOU BORN TODAY have an intelligent manner, a bright mind; should be clever in ideas, planning. Current tendency to restlessness; settle down and don't give up an undertaking when first enthusiasm wanes. Keep improving your talents, polishing manners and capability. Next few months hold fine possibilities. Birthdate: Henry Edward Cardinal Manning, famous English divine.

WOUNDED BY BULLET

RANDOLPH, Vt. (AP)—A 27-year-old mother was wounded critically by a rifle bullet yesterday as she hid behind a door during a game of "cowboys and Indians" with her four children and two other youngsters. State's attorney Stanley Chamberlain said Mrs. Everett Morse was shot by one of the children, who range in age from six to 10 years.

About $2,000,000 worth of leather belting is made in Canada each year.

British Govt. To Give Seaway Top Priority

LONDON (CP) —Canada's St. Lawrence seaway project hit the front pages again today with a report that the British government will give top priority to seaway orders.

The News Chronicle said in a front-page story the government will give allocations of steel, scarce materials and labor to British firms filling Canadian orders on what the paper described as "the biggest engineering feat since the Panama Canal."

A Board of Trade spokesman said there was no immediate comment on the story. A Canada House spokesman said the reported priority seems a little premature, since the seaway authority has not yet been formed.

"These reports are about 18 months too early," he said.

Sir Albert Braithwaite, Conservative member of parliament, is reported heading a drive by British constructional engineering firms to get in on the ground floor on seaway developments. Reports here suggest Sir Albert will meet leaders of steel, engineering and cement companies this week with a view to forming an export group with the St. Lawrence scheme in mind.

Sir Albert was quoted as saying the government or the City of London should be allowed to help Canada finance the project.

Lodge Leaves To Contest Seat, Ike Seeks Manager

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Republican Presidential nominee, searched today for a new campaign manager after reluctantly letting Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts step aside.

Lodge's retirement from active direction of the General's campaign had been expected. Eisenhower said he agreed to the move "only because I attach the greatest importance to his re-election to the Senate."

The General said in a statement last night that Lodge—who successfully directed Eisenhower's bid for the nomination—had informed him he wants to devote as much time as possible to the Senate contest in Massachusetts where Representative John Kennedy, a Democrat, is seeking Lodge's seat.

The General Saturday resigned from the army, as he previously had announced he would do if he won the Republican nomination.

More Military Assistance For Tito Planned

BLED, Yugoslavia (AP)—High-ranking United States army officials informed Premier Tito yesterday that Yugoslavia can count on greatly strengthened military aid, including jet planes, tanks and heavy artillery, during the next 12 months.

The information was turned over to Tito at his villa in Bled, this country's summer diplomatic capital, at a dinner.

The decision to strengthen the U.S. military aid program to Yugoslavia came after a check-up of Tito's military establishments and troops and the use to which a limited amount of U.S. equipment already delivered has been put.

In general terms the reports described the conditions, training and morale of Yugoslav troops are excellent, their equipment in small arms as adequate and their greatest needs as planes and heavy armor.

Of particular importance was the decision to supply Yugoslavia's patchwork air force with modern jet planes. Of perhaps equal importance, the U.S. military delegation also told Tito that U.S. dollars will be used to strengthen Yugoslavia's own munitions industry and enable it to produce arms and ammunition which it now must import from the west.

Eastern Canada Weekend Deaths Amount to 25

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eastern Canada recorded 25 persons killed during the week-end.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed that 14 persons died in Ontario, eight in Quebec, two in New Brunswick and one in Nova Scotia.

There were 12 drownings and six traffic deaths. Nine persons were drowned in Ontario and three in Quebec. Ontario had three traffic deaths and Quebec four.

One man was shot to death and another killed in a fall in New Brunswick. One Nova Scotia man was killed when the truck he was riding slipped off the road and plummeted down a 20-foot embankment.

Last week-end 33 persons were killed in Eastern Canada, 19 by drowning and 10 in traffic accidents.

MANY DROWNED

Drowned in Ontario: Mahalon Inksitter, 10, of Hamilton in Lake Erie, 15 miles south of Simcoe; Judith Vicar, 7, of Cincinnati, O., at Point Pelee Park near Leamington; Charles Pavlina, 8, in Lake Ontario at Toronto Paul Gamble, 2, in Halls Lake, 15 miles north of Minden; Bruce Stevens, 14, in Lake Timiskaming at New Liskeard; Paul Henhoeffer, 9, in the Conestoga River near Waterloo; Kenneth Young, 14, at Bobcaygeon; Ian Paye, 12, of Manotick, in the Rideau River; Pte. William Krischoff, 21, of Ottawa, in the Mississippi River near Packenham.

John Romaniw, 36, and Ronald Ouellette, 27, both of Windsor, were killed when their car missed a turn and crashed off the road. Jerry Biderman, 19, of Toronto, died of burns when the truck he was driving struck a hydro pole and burst into flames at Brampton.

Mrs. Fred Harran, 65, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Kenosha Hotel, at Caesaria, in the Lake Scugog district. Wilfred Trasuk, 58, was found dead in a rooming house in the Toronto suburb of Port Credit. The cause of death is unknown.

4TH THURLOW

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Professor Ordell went ahead of me and I followed him by the dancing light of his flashlight. Dr. Roberts came last. Just as we rounded a curve in the trail that circled a clump of pines that light failed. The battery was burned out.

We were about to stumble along when Sue growled and strained on the leash. There was a rustle in a clump of willows to our left. There was the snapping of a stick, as if a foot had trod upon it.

Without the light we were helpless to see our way; yet we began to run, stumbling over roots and rocks. The Professor ran into the brush foolishly toward the noise. I started to race madly toward the lodge.

Then Sue frightened me again by breaking into loud barks. Almost at once we heard the command "Halt!" and to my utter joy and relief I saw the familiar and reassuring uniform of a state policeman. He ushered me into the lodge door.

I told him of our fright on the trail. Calling another officer, he sent me indoors. Then two of the officers went out to search.

The big room was bright with the light from fire, candles, and and lamps. Everyone seemed more cheerful and apparently doubtful for the protection of the law.

"Duke" Torrington, the sheriff of the county, was there. He was a spare, tall man, with eyes close together for all the world like a mule. Murder, one could see, was a bit out of his line. Especially a murder in which the corpse was missing.

After the officers returned, not even having found the professor or Dr. Roberts, I told my story of Mrs. Ordell's disappearance.

When they returned the officers wrote endlessly in little notebooks, asking unceasinging and apparently futile questions and noted all answers in writing.

Their questions came to no point. Oddly enough, and as if by a prearranged plan, no one mentioned the story of the buried treasure, of Elsie Martinson, or that apparently all the persons at Gold Lake were there for a single purpose.

There was indeed, a mystery within a mystery. And I, it seemed, must either stay and play a dangerous and ungracious part in the story or take my life in my hands by driving a skidding car over impassible roads perhaps into the dark lake that lay below the cliffs.

Professor Ordell returned after a half-hour and announced that he followed the echoes of footsteps to the lake but had caught no one.

I slipped into my coat and gloves and, approaching the sheriff, I said, "I have decided that I would like to leave, Sheriff. I shall go on to Tahoe . . ."

The sheriff grinned as he continued to pick his teeth caressingly with a splinter of wood. "Well, Sis, nobody's leavin' here. Least of all you. Why, it's you that we want mostly."

Most everybody slept a little as the night wore on..

About dawn the sheriff awakened and went to the kitchen with Rhumba, Dick, Bob, and Jeff to prepare breakfast.

Sergeant Duncan left his post at the door and went outside to stand by the window that had been shattered by the bullet. I followed him. He looked for tracks or evidence but the beating rain had melted the large, broad tracks we had seen yesterday. The light of the new day served to give me back my lost courage.

So as boldly as possible I looked into Sergeant Duncan's Irish blue eyes and said, "Sergeant, is it true that there was a murder down the mountain at Horseshoe Springs?"

"There was."

I told him how I knew of it and of the bullet hole in my fender. He asked to see the latter.

Together he ad I, with Sue following, walked across the meadow to the barn. The James car was there as were the several other motors of the others at the lodge. The horses that the officers and the sheriff had ridden were in their stalls, comfortably nibling hay. A fourth horse was mud-splashed, and showed every sign of having been hard-ridden. I saw that Duncan looked at him closely and measured the length of the stirrup strap of a saddle on the floor.

But my car was gone!

"You wouldn't kid me, would you?" Duncan inquired a bit sarcastically as he watched me closely in the unmerciful light of the new day.

"No, I wouldn't. The fact is, I was let in for something when I came to this horrible place. I want to get out!"

Because it had been such a bad night and because I seemed hedged about with damaging evidence of which I was innocent and knew nothing, I burst into hysterical weeping. And in between the sobs that relieved my nerves and racked my body, I told Sergeant Duncan the story of the treasure.

He listened quietly and gave me his very clean handkerchief with which to mop up my hysterics.

When I again had myself in hand, he said to me in a matter-of-fact tone as he watched me closely to see the effect of his words, "Sure you didn't murder your own sister?"

I gasped, "I have no sister!"

"No? Well, you used to have before she died of a bullet hole through her head. She had your same red hair and blue eyes."

So that was it. Elsie Martinson, the woman who looked like me, had been murdered. I realized that I must make Sergeant Duncan believe I was no relation. I told him the whole story right down to the discovery we had just made, that my car was gone.

Sergeant Duncan listened, then said: "I believe you, Miss. Maybe you can help me solve this whole mess if you're innocent. But if you're lying to me, you'll not get away with it.

He shook my hand and at that moment Susie's tail began to thump as Dr. David Roberts came down from the dusty haymow above us. Duncan touched his gun, but the Doctor said:

"Pardon me for eavesdropping, but I have some things I must say. I've doubted your story, Miss Curtis, especially since your means of identification could be easily forged. I wanted you to go because I knew if you stayed there would be trouble. But now I realize that if you were Elsie Martinson, you would have no reason to conceal your identity." He had believed I was lying!

I was on the verge of explosion but before I could get my furious thoughts harnessed into the power of words, Duncan said "As far as I can see, Doctor, you and Miss Curtis know a lot! Ordell seems to know something too. Nothing, thus far, has explained why he pocketed the gold piece that you found or why he consented to leave his wife's body alone in the tent.

"According to your reasoning Mrs. Ordell lay untouched, alone, from 9:45 in the morning until just before we arrived last night at 8:30. That's awful! It involves everyone of you in complicity to the crime. Where were you, Doctor?"

I answered before Dr. Roberts had a chance, telling the Sergeant that the Doctor did try to make Mr. James let him do something.

"James, eh?" said Duncan quietly. Then he looked sharply at us both. "You're both smart. By the way, Roberts, how did you get out of the lodge and up into the hayloft without Marguard or me seeing you?"

The doctor grinned delightedly. "While you looked for the tracks beneath the window, I slipped out of the far door while Marguard turned to watch what you were doing."

We went again along the trail where we found the gold piece; again to the Ordell tent. Everything was exactly as it had been the previous night.

We went to the pool below the noisy falls. Again I saw the fern frond crushed against the granite boulder by which it grew.

"I suppose you people milled around here last night and some one's heel hit that fern," mused Sergeant Duncan almost in reply to my thought, "or it might be that the stream was used to break the scent. Well, it's a slim clue to follow. Let's go back to the barn, get some horses and take a ride!"

Mentally I wondered about that fern. Duncan seemed to dismiss it as unimportant. Perhaps the killer swam the icy-cold, calm water of the pool to the other side, and if I crossed it, I felt sure Susie would pick up the scent again. We could go up the hillside toward the source of the stream and could cross at a narrow place. I decided to slip away on the pretext of changing into riding clothes.

Back to my tent, booted and in my whipcord breeches, I pulled a sweater over my head, thrust a beret into the square pocket of my leather jacket and, with Susie pulling on her leash ahead of me, I ran up the mountainside. Running from clumps of buckbrush to a sheltering tree to partially hide me from the men below, I went up, up into the wilderness.

Then across the small and shallow canyon down which rushed the same stream that passed my tent, I saw someone.

Indian-like, he made no sound as he walked, yet my eyes were instantly drawn to him. He was short, barrel-bodied, clothed in faded overalls and he was barefooted.

A stubble of beard covered his face and his hair was unkempt. He carried a rifle under his arm and walked stealthily.

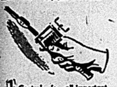
Down the stream course toward my tent went the man. He had not seen us.

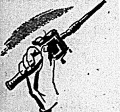
As silently as we were able, Sue and I followed. Then was my chance to use my gun because there was no doubt in my mind that here was the murderer. I crept closer, hoping I would prove to be a good shot.

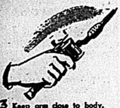
The man followed the stream down the canyon. I was thankful because the noise of the water covered any sound that we made.

Within sight of my tent at the pool below the falls, he stopped. I thought of the crushed fern.

(To Be Continued.)







"COOL CONTROL"

OVERHEAD BAIT CASTING

1 Control is all-important. Index finger of right hand grips trigger of rod firmly. Thumb rests lightly on spool. Other fingers press handle of rod into palm. Thumb should be relaxed, rest of grip firm but not rigid.

2 Control comes with experience. Practise moving rod back for cast, applying thumb pressure to allow weight of bait to carry tip of rod back, for extra casting power. Relax thumb pressure when rod begins forward movement; apply again just before bait hits water.

3 Keep arm close to body. Movement comes from wrist and forearm. Fingers on handle open as rod moves back, close as rod comes forward. Concentrate on wrist movement for accuracy. Aim; come back fast; forward twice as fast. Remember—only experience gives perfect control.

Yes, it's control that counts, in fishing as in every sport—control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Russian Embassy Ordered To Quit Distributing Pamphlets in United States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department today ordered the Russian embassy to quit publishing and distributing pamphlets in the United States.

An announcement said the U.S. is suspending publication of a Russian-language magazine called "Amerika," which it had been distributing in Russia.

The twin actions were taken because the Russians were obstructing distribution of "Amerika" in the Soviet Union.

A spokesman said the magazine was so popular that stands sold out all copies within a few hours wherever the Russian government did not interfere.

"Amerika," is a lavishly-illustrated monthly patterned after Life magazine.

In a note addressed to the Russian foreign office, the state department asserted:

"As a result of this obstruction, the number of copies which can be presumed to reach the Soviet public has become so small as not to justify this effort of the. . . .United States to. . . .promote understanding between the two peoples."

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

STRATFORD (CP)—Fire destroyed the farm home of Robert Kirkey at nearby Atwood last night. Most of the contents were lost. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkey and their three children were on another farm haying when the blaze broke out.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis: Relief from southern Ontario's heat wave is on the way. A disturbance which developed over Kansas Sunday night has gathered enough energy during its northeastward course to draw the cool air southward in its wake. As this centre of low pressure moves across the southern half of Ontario today, the cool weather which the north country has monopolized for so long will finally move into the lower lakes regions tonight. Afternoon temperatures in southern Ontario on Wednesday will be 10 to 15 degrees lower than today's maximum readings.

Two Canadians Cross Atlantic In Light Plane

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Rutland, England. (CP)—Flt.-Lt. W. J. Watson and FO. Arthur Titus, both of Ottawa, arrived in their twin-engined R.C.A.F. Beechcraft "Expeditor" at noon today.

It was the first R.C.A.F. Atlantic crossing in that type of plane and probably the first crossing for anyone in an Expeditor.

The veteran pilots left Ottawa Sunday, and stopped at Goose Bay, Labrador, Greenland and Iceland en route to No. 1 fighter wing at North Luffenham.

They jammed available space with extra petrol, as the normal radius of the ship is 600 miles. The ocean hops were about 775 miles each.

The Beechcraft Expeditor is a five-passenger plane and will be used to transport airmen throughout Europe.

RECORD VOTE PREDICTED IN QUEBEC ELECTION

Number of Candidates Short of 1948 Field

QUEBEC (CP)—All indications pointed today to a record vote in tomorrow's Quebec election.

The month-long campaign, one of the most widely publicized and with heavy attendance at meetings, seemed destined to produce a popular vote that would outstrip the 1,509,971 ballots cast in the last election in 1948.

With an increased population, the list of registered voters—2,248,576 — is more than 211,000 higher than the 2,036,576 eligible to vote four years ago. In that contest, approximately 74 per cent exercised their franchise.

Party leaders and the more than 200 candidates supporting them concentrated today on wind-up meetings as active campaigning moved toward the shut-down hour at midnight tonight. The leaders moved into their home constituencies for final platform appearances.

Voting hours tomorrow are 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. EDT.

Leaders At Home

Premier Duplessis, leader of the governing Union Nationale party, tours his Three Rivers riding, where he is in a two-man fight with J. A. Mongrain, mayor of Three Rivers and a Liberal candidate.

Georges Lapalme, leading the Liberals in a drive to get back into office, confines his activities to Joliette, where he is up against Labor Minister Barrette in another two-cornered contest.

The Union Nationale, which knocked the Liberals out of office in 1944 and repeated their victory in 1948, held a 71-seat house majority when the Legislature was dissolved May 28 last.

This was the standing in the 92-member chamber:

Union Nationale 81; Liberals, 8, Nationalist, 1; Independent, 1; vacant, 7; total 9.

The total of candidates this time is 234, far short of the 312 in the field in 1948 and the 337 who ran in 1944. Two parties which contested those elections are not running this year. They are the defunct Bloc Populaire and the Union des Electeurs.

1 Killed, 3 Hurt In Car Crash

ANGERS, Que. (CP)—One man was killed and three injured three miles west of here last night when a car went out of control on Quebec highway No. 8, about 15 miles east of Ottawa.

Killed was Jean Morris Ayotte, 44, of Eastview, Ont., who was pinned under the car after he jumped from it. Injured were Rheal Mousseau, 21, Robert Parent 20, and Guy Ladouceur, 19, all of Hull. Mousseau suffered bruises about the face and arms, internal injuries and severe shock. The others were allowed to return home after treatment.

3 P. C. DISCOUNT

MONTREAL (CP) — The American dollar was at a discount of three per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EDT.

U.S. 'Skyrocket' Sets Two Records Flying at Twice Speed of Sound

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. (AP)—An apparently-inadvertent disclosure that the Skyrocket research plane has flown twice the speed of sound was confirmed here today.

It also was indicated that the Skyrocket carries refrigeration equipment enough to cool a theatre of 3,000 seats.

This would be necessary—in a plane flying more than 1,300 miles an hour—in order to keep the pilot from being roasted alive, and to keep the plane's metal from turning soft.

The United States Navy has announced officially only that Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman flew its D558-II Skyrocket faster and higher than any other piloted aircraft has travelled The details were kept secret. Last Saturday, however, an announcer said the Skyrocket had flown more than 1,300 miles an hour.

Officials of the national advisory committee for aeronautics said the disclosure of the speed was correct.

The altitude mark—"more than 79,000 feet"—was in an article in the aviation trade magazine Pegasus a month ago.

The Skyrocket was launched from a B—29 mother ship, at about 30,000 feet.

It has a turbo-jet engine with a rocket engine for the additional thrust to move into supersonic flight, and has wings swept back 35 degrees.

Arms Shipments to Help Atlantic Pact Allies Token Of Canada's Defence Program

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's three-year defence program has quietly passed a milestone.

She has started to ship new equipment off her post-Korea assembly lines to help Atlantic Pact allies in the strengthening of Europe.

The arms and equipment she has sent in the past have been things left over from the Second World War.

It was announced yesterday that the first of 300 secret new radar sets, a type to be used by the army in its anti-aircraft setup, is due in Britain shortly, possibly today.

It came out of the Leaside, Ont., plant of Canadian Arsenals Ltd. a short time ago and was shipped to Britain aboard the Empress of Canada complete with the truck and large trailer which make it mobile.

First of Many

The set is the forerunner of a variety of types of modern equipment and arms Canada has promised to send to allies in Europe at no charge as part of her share of the joint rebuilding of western military strength.

Officials say the flow of this new gear—including 86 Sabre airframes, artillery howitzers, walkie-talkie wireless sets and the radar sets—won't really hit its stride until the fall.

On the basis of more than $600,000,000 so far voted by Parliament for this mutual-aid program, Canada has been sending weapons and gear she had in use or in stores when Korea came along—notably Second World War British-type arms for several infantry divisions as well as artillery pieces, mortars, grenades and other things.

The new radar sets are designed to replace a type which became familiar to Canadian soldiers in the last war. They were mobile sets which moved about from field to field, scanning the horizon for enemy aircraft.

The army has taken over some of the new sets itself for use in Canada and they will gradually usurp the previous type.

Eisenhower Political Amateur Says Official of Labor Union

By ROLAND EVANS, JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top C.I.O. leader today termed Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican Presidential candidate, a "rank amateur" in the field of civil government. He said that on majo domestic issues Eisenhower would be a "prisoner of his own advisers."

Joseph A. Beirne, a C.I.O. vice-president and head of 300,000 communications workers, said in an interview before leaving for the Democratic Presidential convention:

"Eisenhower has unquestionably been a great military leader, but if he is elected President he will be helpless on the great domestic issues facing the country, such as the Taft-Hartley labor law, civil-rights legislation, federal aid to the states, and others.

"He will have to depend completely on his advisers in making domestic policy decisions, rather than making up his own mind."

Beirne, a member of the platform committee at the national Democratic convention, is sometimes regarded as a possible successor to President Philip Murray.

Long Opposed Ike

Some segments of organized labor have been fighting Eisenhower for months. The C.I.O. has been a staunch supporter of democratic candidates.

But the other and larger labor confederation, the A.F.L., has a Republican heritage.

Actually, observers say the term "labor vote" has little significance. Organized labor does not vote in a hard bloc no matter how strenuously its politicala leaders may work for a candidate.

C.I.O. opposition to Eisenhower was first evident last November at the C.I.O.'s convention in Atlantic City. Emil Mazey, a member of the C.I.O.'s Political Action Committee and secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, said that supporting Eisenhower as President would be buying a "pig in a poke."

Schacht Accepts Iranian Invitation

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The newspaper Etelatt said last night that Dr. Hjalma Schacht, German financial expert, has accepted an invitation by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh to help solve Iran's economic crisis.

The paper said Mossadegh disclosed his invitation and Schacht's acceptance at a secret session of the Majlis (lower house of parliament) Sunday.

There was no official confirmation.

FEELS IKE FOR SEAWAY

MIDLAND (CP)—A. E. Summerfield, recently-elected Republican National Committee chairman, said here yesterday he felt certain Gen. Eisenhower would favor the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway. "After all, he's a mid-westerner," Mr. Summerfield said. "Most mid-westerners want the seaway."

Stab Wounds Self Inflicted Says Coroner

KINGSTON — (CP) — Dr. M. J. Morison, Frontenac county coroner, said today that William Calhoun, 30, of Toronto, found stabbed to death here yesterday, died from self-inflicted chest wounds.

Dr. Morison made his announcement after receiving a report from Dr. W. D. Hay, pathologist, who examined the body. He released the body for burial.

Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney also said he is satisfied Calhoun killed himself.

Soldiers with mine detectors sought the weapon which inflicted 12 horizontal slashes on Calhoun's chest. It is believed to be a pen-knife.

Calhoun left Toronto by bus and arrived here Saturday on his way to Fredericton to take a teaching course. His body was found in a ditch.

Hurricane Winds Hit Kent County

CHATHAM. (CP) —Hurricane winds struck southern Kent county last night, knocked down trees and tombstones and toppled a large barn, trapping more than 100 animals. Damage was estimated at $40,000.

Wrecking equipment went into action today.

A barn owned by Lawrence Kerr was flattened, killing two pigs and a cow. Forty cattle and 63 pigs were trapped in the debris.

Before rescue operations started, some pigs were feeding at the automatic feeder in the ruins.

High winds cut a swath about 100 yards wide along Indian Creek Road, uprooting trees and hydro poles. Hydro and telephone service to many points was cut.

Several tombstones in Maple Leaf cemetery were blown down.

FIRE SWEEPS PAINT SHOP

WELLAND (CP)—Damage in excess of $60,000 was caused yesterday when fire swept the J. C. MacIver and Sons paint and decorating shop in the west-end business section. Nearby Crowland fire brigade was called to assist Welland firemen in the 45-minute battle. Two adjoining residences were evacuated. Both were slightly damaged.

POPE RECEIVES CHILDREN

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope today received 4,000 Italian children in special audience to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the children's section of the Italian Catholic Action. He warned the youngsters, aged eight to 10, that Communists are trying to entice them from their faith.

STEEL PRICE RISE REFUSED, NEW PEACE TALKS SET

Increase of $5.65 Per Ton Sought

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Government prodding set up new peace talks today between the Unit Steelworkers (C.I.O.) and the industry for another try at ending the paralyzing steel strike.

Presidential assistant John R. Steelman arranged the talks. He acted after a round of week-end discussions failed to settle the dispute, now in its 44th day.

President Philip Murray and Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel, head the union negotiating team. The industry is represented by two Bethlehem Steel Corp. officials—Vice-President Joseph Larkin and John H. Morse, general counsel.

Price Rise Refused

Coincidental with setting up the peace talks, the Office of Price Stabilization tossed a minor bomb by rejecting appeals of three steel companies for price boosts ranging from $5.50 to $6 a ton—Weirton, Armco and Pittsburgh Steel, which are operating under new contracts.

Steelman spent Saturday talking prices with officials of United States Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry, and was reported to have given assurance of an increase in steel prices. The industry pinned its hope for price relief on a promise of an increase averaging $5.65 a ton.

Industry's last offer at the week-end sessions was not disclosed. However, it is believed to call for what one industrial spokesman termed "a watered-down" version of the modified union shop which was made part of a separate agreement the union signed with Pittsburgh Steel.

A union shop requires all employees to join the union. The Pittsburgh Steel version stipulates that all new employees must join but can drop out between the 20th and 30th days of work.

Offer 24.6

The wage proposal made by the companies calls for a 24.6-cent-hourly pay package.

The Wage Stabilization Board, when it was trying to avert the strike, recommended a 26½-cent package and a union shop as terms for a new contract.

2 Men, 1 Woman Held for Robbery

MONTREAL (CP)—Police today held two men and a woman in connection with an alleged attack and robbery in downtown Montreal last night.

The arrests followed a complaint by Felix H Clarke, 57, that he had been robbed of $110. Clarke said he met a 27-year-old woman in a night club and, after having a meal, went to her room, where two men hiding behind the door attacked him.

Arrested were Henri Beaudry, 25, Lucien Ladouceur, 24, and his wife. The Ladouceurs, police said, came to Montreal from Ontario a week ago.

BOB HOPE HONORED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comedian Bob Hope has been awarded the Veterans of Foreign Wars' first Al Jolson award and citation for the laughs he has given service men.

Increased Costs Of Wages, Supplies Affect Earnings

Added Revenue Would Amount to $80,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways today applied for a new series of freight-rate increases that would amount to more than $80,000,000 a year.

Two proposed general increases totalling about 16 per cent would bring to 97 per cent the accumulation of post-war rate boosts on the types of traffic to which they apply. These make up about half the railways' $900,000,000-a-year freight movement.

In a three-way move before the Board of Transport Commissioners, they asked:

1. An immediate general increase of seven per cent.

2 A further—but not necessarily immediate—hoist of nine per cent.

3. An increase in rates on grain and grain products moving in the west for domestic consumption, bringing them up to Ontario-Quebec levels. This would not affect the statutory "Crow's Nest Pass" rates on export grain traffic in the west.

Coal, Coke Increases

Under the two general-increase proposals, coal and coke would be exempted from the percentage boost but under each of the two sections of the application would be subject to increases of between 10 and 20 cents a ton.

Along with the application, the Railway Association of Canada served notice that the carriers will seek further increases if current wage demands of their unions result in higher operating expenses.

The unions representing 125,000 non-operating employees —those who do not operate the trains—are asking a general wage increase of 45 cents an hour and other concessions. The companies have estimated these would cost $150,000,000 a year up.

Without taking into account the prospect of higher wage costs in that direction, the railways based the seven-per-cent application on other increased operating costs including those of materials and of wage increases obtained this year by other groups of employees.

They noted specifically that prices of ties and steel had gone up. The application suggested, too, that certain changes in the character of freight traffic might affect earnings this year.

Drop in Net

The effect of the new conditions, the application said, was that the Canadian Pacific Railway—used by the board as the "yardstick" in rate making — would suffer a drop in its net earnings below the level assigned it under a formula worked out by the board.

Under this formula rates were set on a basis calculated to allow the C.P.R. a surplus of $46,600,000 a year after fixed charges, dividends and taxes were met. The companies said today that, under current conditions, the Canadian Pacific would fall short of the allowable earnings by $6,144,000 this year.

DUKE SCORES WINNER

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, recently stricken with jaundice, made a surprise appearance in a polo match yesterday and scored the single goal which pushed his team to a 1-0 victory in the second game.

He also scored one of the winning points in his team's 2-1 victory in the first game.

Red Prisoners in Friendly Mood When Canuck Guards Left Koje Is.

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP) — A Canadia company commander today said Communist prisoners on Koje Island jeered and shouted insults at his men when they arrived—but cheered and waved to them when they left the island.

Maj. E. L. Cohen of Pembroke, Ont, commanding B Company of the First Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, brought his 105 men back to headquarters Monday after 42 days of guarding Red internees on Koje. They had pulled out of the front lines May 23 and rushed to the turbulent island off southeast Korea by train and boat.

The guard was originally posted around troublesome Compound 66. The Canadians later were teamed with a company of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry and placed in charge of enclosure three.

The enclosure contained a total of 2,030 Chinese ad North Korean prisoners.

Red prisoners are not the only people on Koje who will remember Cohen's men.

Miss Ada Sandall, a Canadian-born missionary from Magog, Que., who has spent 25 years in Korea, will remember them too, but for different reasons.

Before the company pulled out all ranks contributed food and other supplies to the growing pile of foodstuffs to be distributed to families and orphanages by Miss Sandall.

Says Prisoners Can Get Liquor If They Have Cash

WINNIPEG. (CP)—The Winnipeg Tribune in a newspaper story says prisoners in Manitoba's Stony Mountain penitentiary can get all the liquor they want—if they have the cash.

Police reporter Bob Metcalfe reports that homebrew is made in the prison from potatoes, with rubbing alcohol and brand liquors "imported" from the outside, usually by a guard who makes a handsome profit on the deal.

Reporting on a talk given at the prison by the Winnipeg branch of Alcoholics Anonymous, Metcalfe says he was told by two prisoners that they knew of one guard who "cleaned up" peddling liquor.

One prisoner, an A.A. member, slipped up, went on a drunk and had to be helped back on his feet by other A.A. prisoners, Metcalfe writes.

Canadians Win Gallantry Awards In Korea

OTTAWA. (CP)—A Montreal lieutenant and a Milltown, N.B., corporal of the 1st battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, have won gallantry awards for action during a patrol sortie in Korea, the army announced last night.

Lieut. Allan Peterson, 30, of Montreal and Petawawa, won the Military Cross.

Cpl. Arthur Irvine Stinson, 21, second-in-command on the patrol last May 31, won the Military Medal. He was wounded in the action.

The assault was on a hill in front of the area occupied by "A" company of the R.C.R., and was carried out by Lieut. Peterson and 22 other ranks. Two patrols previously had failed to do the job.

Lieut. Peterson was cited for "outstanding leadership, courage and utter disregard for personal safety". Cpl. Stinson's citation mentioned his "leadership, courage, initiative and dash."

For service in Korea, members of the 25th Canadian infantry brigade have received 105 awards. One has been awarded the C.B., one the C.B.E., three the D.S.O., six the O.B.E., one the M.B.E., seven the M.C., six the D.C.M., 22 the M.M., four the B.E.M. and 54 Mention-in-Dispatches.

PROTEST BRIDGE DELAY

FORT ERIE (CP)—Fort Erie Council last night decided to protest to External Affairs Minister Pearson over traffic bottlenecks at the American end of the Peace Bridge. Many motorists complained during the week-end that it took them as long as 1½ hours to cross the bridge.

BERRY PRICES REMAIN FIRM

Blue raspberries at from 40c to 45c per box, and the red variety at a nickel more, featured the early week farmers' market today. The offering of berries was not large.

Huckleberries were down to $2.50 per basket; Montmorency cherries sold at $1.25 per basket and at 25c per quart box. Gooseberries were 20c. Red currants were 25c.

Potatoes again dropped off in price to $1 per basket. String beans were 20c per box. Eggs sold at 64c for firsts and 62c for mediums.

COLLISION CAUSES EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Extensive property damage resulted to two vehicles Monday evening when they collided on Dufferin Avenue as the driver of one attempted to make a left hand turn.

Abram Newman, 325 Dufferin Avenue was southbound when as he attempted to make a left hand turn into a driveway he collided with a northbound car driven by William Anderson, 10 Forin Street. Over $300 damage resulted to the Anderson auto, principally about the front end. There were no injuries.

COOLER WEATHER EXPECTED SOON

Today is expected to be the final day of the current hot spell which has covered most of Ontario for the past few days. The meteorological section at RCAF station Trenton reports cooler air west of here and south of Lake Huron.

It is expected this cooler wave of air will reach the Bay of Quinte area some time this evening, likely preceded by showers and probably some thunder showers. The high at 10:00 a.m. this morning at Trenton was 79 degrees, at Windsor it was 78.

YOUNGSTERS "BORROW" PICKETS FOR SHACK

Kids will be kids it seems, and it is difficult to keep even with them.

Yesterday there was a complaint from the Parkwood Heights district that the pickets were disappearing from a playground fence. A neighbor in the area told police the youngsters were building a shack in the nearby vicinity and being short of lumber were using the pickets from the playground fence as sheathing.

POLICE PROBE THEFT

Final Plans Completed for Visit Of RCMP 'Musical Ride' at Fair

Final plans were completed yesterday for the two performances here August 11 of the famed Royal Canadian Mounted Police "Musical Ride" which will feature the opening day attraction at the four-day Belleville Exhibition.

Making a special trip from Ottawa, Supt. C. N. K. Kirk, officer in charge of RCMP training at Rockcliffe, inspected the local layout on the infield of the exhibition ground's baseball diamond. He described the site as ideal and already the exhibition committee is seeking portable bleachers to erect around the area to accommodate the thousands of visitors who are expected to attend the opening day's grandstand attraction.

Accompanying Superintendent Kirk on his mission here was Staff Sergeant C. W. Anderson, whose job as riding master at the Rockcliffe barracks includes blueprinting the Ride and the training of men and mounts for their roles in the performance.

At the suggestion of the local committee, Superintendent Kirk agreed to extend the time of the Ride from 17 minutes to 25 minutes for the benefit of the local gallery.

Music for the ride will be played by the Belleville Municipal Band and yesterday Superintendent Kirk agreed to send music director of the RCMP here one week before the performance is staged to rehearse the band.

Housed in a special railway car attached to a passenger train 31 horses will leave Rockcliffe Saturday evening, arriving here Sunday morning. They will be met by a municipal police escort and led to the exhibition enclosure.

A rehearsal is scheduled for Sunday afternoon but those who expect a free view of the ride are in for a disappointment.

"The rehearsals are nothing like the real thing," the RCMP superintendent explained. "The uniformed men are half the attraction, but they will not be in uniform for rehearsals."

With the exception of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, the visit here will be the only showing of the Ride in Canada this year. Following the CNE, the ride will tour the United States, visiting Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco and finally Chicago where they will be a feature attraction at the International Livestock Exposition.

Exhibition officials who attended yesterday's meeting included: Harry Rollins, president; Ben Bleecker, treasurer; Thomas Walker, secretary; Fred Wilson, 2nd vice-president, and directors Frank Follwell, MP, E. Sandercock, MLA, W. D. Reid, G. "Doc" Daugharty, Fred Chamberlain and Erie Denyes.

Worker in Frozen Food Refrigerator Not Bothered by Heat Waves

Heat, heat, heat and more heat. It looks like a summer of heat waves. Just get over one and another begins. Carl Haynes is probably the only man in town who doesn't worry about high temperatures. As a matter of fact, when he goes to work, he puts on an overcoat, even in this weather.

Mr. Haynes is an employee of Glen Roy creamery. He works in the lockers where the temperature averages zero degrees all the time. Throughout the day he carries frozen meat and vegetables around, transporting them from one place to another. He has worked at this job over a year now and the cold doesn't bother him. Mr. Haynes can stay in the lockers for two hours at a time, and he never bothers with a hat or gloves.

"This is the kind of a job to have in the summer," the keeper of the locker said, as he brushed an icicle from one of the pipes. "Cool in the summer and in the winter it doesn't matter anyway." "When I first came to work here," he continued, rolling a snowball with snow he collected from one of the pipes, "the cold bothered me a little bit, but I got used to it."

As for the question of catching cold, the locker worker can recall having only one cold since he has been on the job, "and that cold," he said, "I caught during the winter and I don't think I got it anywhere around here."

Mr. Haynes attributes his lack of illness, even though exposed to sudden drop in temperatures, to the fact the cold in the locker is a dry cold. Also when he is in the ice house he is exposed to ammonia fumes which may be a factor in his immunity.

To Mr. Haynes, it's just a job; however, there are, without doubt many people in the city who would gladly change places with him for a couple of hours a day, at least just now.

Lack of Moisture Affects Berry And Honey Yields

Unless drenching rains are received soon raspberries will be a short crop according to growers attending the local farmers' market.

One vendor on the market today said she was marketing the first picking from her patch, amounting to but five boxes. Normally she would get about 50 boxes in the first picking.

Another vendor said that two or three pickings would finish her berries unless rain was received within the next day or so.

The honey crop will also be affected by the lack of rain, according to apiarists. The first crop of clover is now all over and with the fields drying up there has been no second crop to blossom.

"We couldn't extract four tons of honey at the present time," said Mr. W. P. Marvin, Wellington apiarist. "Normally there would be a much heavier crop of honey at this time of year."

Native of Stirling Dies at Gravenhurst

GRAVENHURST — (CP) Funeral services were held here yesterday for Thomas Baker, 97, believed to have been Ontario's oldest Mason.

Mr. Baker was a member of Percy Lodge, No. 161, A. F. and A. M. for 75 years. He was born in Stirling.

In the early 1880s he set out for British Columbia with his friends, Major A. B. Rogers and William Fernie. Rogers discovered the Rogers Pass through the Selkirk in B. C. while Fernie founded the town of Fernie, B.C.

Mr. Baker set up a trading post at Kootenay Ferry, B. C. Returning to Warkworth, Ont., he opened a general store, and in 1912 moved to Toronto, where he was a manufacturer's agent until his retirement in 1927.

AVERAGE CROP

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick's farmers harvested an average strawberry crop of about 1,000,000 quarts. J. K. King, deputy Minister of Agriculture, described the quality as good.

Ottawa's Mayor Greatly Impressed Visiting Student

"She's quite a girl!" Bob Langlois, B.C.I. student, chosen by the Rotary club to represent this city's club at Ottawa said of Dr. Charlotte Whitton, mayor of Canada's capital, at the weekly meeting.

Commenting on his "adventure in citizenship", Bob paid particular tribute to Dr. Whitton. He was chosen by this city's club to represent his school and the Rotary Club for one week at the capital for his all-round school ability.

Visitors Well Treated

Bob called it a national convention. He said there were 155 students in attendance. They came from coast to coast. "We went there," he said, "as guests of the Rotary Club of Ottawa and we were treated royally I was a little confused when I started out as to why I was going to Ottawa. I had an idea," the youth continued, "that I went to obtain a greater appreciation of the Canadian government in action and I did just that."

While there, the student met the four party leaders, the Honorable Brooke Claxton and other dignitaries. "They all stressed thinking and acting upon a national level, not as individual provinces," Bob told Rotarians.

Time Too Short

He was extremely impressed by the city itself and the buildings he visited. He spoke with admiration of the R.C.M.P. Training Depot, Government House, the National Art Gallery, the Royal Canadian Mint, Archives and the National Museum. "I wish," he said, "we had had five times as much time to spend at the places we visited as we did."

Guests at the meeting yesterday were, Lorne Douglas, of Sudbury; Rev. Ralph Middleton, of Bayside; Thomas Kostoff, of Picton; Harry Murphy, of Sault Ste. Marie; A. O. Dalrymple, Stirling; Alex Nathan, Oshawa; Larry Langlois and J. G. Demeza, of Belleville. They were welcomed by Harry Ackerman.

Newton Thompson introduced the speaker and Walter Pearce offered thanks.

New Brunswick was discovered by Jacques Cartier in 1534.

The funeral of Phillip Burgess Hamilton, took place on Saturday afternoon from the late residence on the third concession of Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County. The Rev. H. H. Hillis officiated at the service held in the home, and at the graveside.

Bearers were: Adam Brummell, Elmer Tufts, Seymour Ashley, Alfred Post, John Hamilton and Otho Herrington.

Interment was made in Mountain View.

DR. T. HUME BISSONNETTE
(Hartford, Conn.,-Stirling)

Rev. W. H. V. Walker, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, officiated for the burial service on Wednesday afternoon, in Stirling Cemetery, of a former resident, Dr. T. Hume Bissonnette, of Hartford, Conn., who died on November 29, 1951.

Members of Stirling Lodge, No. 69, A.F. & A.M., attended in a body and conferred the last rites of the Order, with Wor. Bro. G. Gordon Bailey, W.M.; V. Wor. Bro. T. W. Solmes, director of ceremonies, and Wor. Bro. H. R. Tompkins, chaplain, assisting with the service.

The late Professor Bissonnette was a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. Bissonnette, of Stirling. He attended King George High School at Stirling, and in 1925 became J. Pierpont Morgan professor of Biology at Trinity College, Hartford, where he ranked among the most notable of American scientists.

He served in World War I and World War II and spent his summer vacations at Oak Lake. He was an honorary member of Stirling Lodge No. 69, A.F. & A.M.

A large number of relatives and school friends attended the burial service. These included his widow and son, Donald, of Hartford, Conn., his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, of St. Thomas, Ontario; a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bissonnette, Stratford, Ontario, and Mrs. Donald Bissonnette, of Toronto.

JAMES E. LEGROW
(Stirling)

The funeral of the late James Edward Legrow was held on Thursday morning at St. James the Minor Church, Stirling, where requiem mass was chanted by Rev. William McGee of Kingston, son of the late Mr. Legrow's partner in business in Stirling for many years.

The pall bearers were Messrs. J. B. Belshaw, J. B. Hough, John McFaul, Oliver Stapley, J. E. Salisbury and John Donohoe. The honorary bearers were Messrs. Oneseme Forrestell, J. E. O'Donnell, J. C. McGee and John McDonnell.

Interment was in St. James the Minor cemetery.

Deceased was fire chief of the Stirling brigade for many years previous to his retirement. Of late, he had been residing part of each year at Buffalo, New York, and was also a member of Blessed Trinity Church in that city.

PETER HARVEY WOOD
(Stirling - Bonarlaw)

The funeral of Peter Harvey Wood, of Stirling and Bonarlaw, was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, with Rev. J. M. Brownlie, Marmora, Church of England, officiating.

The bearers were all members of Queensboro Lodge No. 437, and were Messrs Robert Fleming, Fred Henry, Jake Canniff, George Glover, Frank O'Rourke and George Gordon.

The interment was made in Marmora Cemetery.

LATE WILLIAM EDGAR BAIRD

The funeral of the late William Edgar Baird took place Monday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home where service in the chapel was conducted by Rev. Ray A. Rowley of Tabernacle United Church. Mr. Rowley also took the committal at Wellington cemetery.

The bearers were Al. McLeod, Doug McCoy, Jack Sprague, Ross Boyce, Victor Marinoff and Ben Ellis.

DAVID KEITH

A resident of Belleville for all of his 79 years, David Keith, 79, of 21 Alexander Street, died in the Belleville General Hospital Monday afternoon following one week's illness.

Born in Belleville, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Keith, Mr. Keith was a machinist at the Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing Company until his retirement a few years ago. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Funeral announcement is found elsewhere in this edition.

TRUMAN ILL

Washington — (AP) — President Truman remained away from his desk at the White House again today. He is suffering from a mild virus infection. Truman became indisposed Sunday and cancelled his list of appointments yesterday.

PERFECT RECORD

Employees Enjoy Company Picnic

Employees of the J. and J. Cash (Canada) Limited held the annual company picnic in Cedardale over the weekend.

Races, tug-of-war and the mixed ball game featured in the sports events. Tom Hood and Max Shorey's teams battled to a 7-7 tie as the game was called because of darkness. The married folks had "pull" as they won over the singles in both tug-of-war events.

The race results were as follows:—

Tiny Tots — Bill Shorey, Anita Hood;

Girls under 12 — Sharon Bourette, Wilfred Hood, Mary Lee;

Single girls — Diane Lee, Joanne Jenkins, Gale Lloyd;

Single men — Bill Scrymgeour, Frank Lee, Dale Short;

Married ladies — Joan Gudgeon, Gladys Lloyd, Margaret Royle;

Married men — Doug Galpin, Mac Shorey, Tommy Taylor;

Ladies' 3-legged race — Hazel Turner and Joanne Jenkins, Joan Gudgeon and Maureen Philbin;

Men's 3-legged race — Doug. Galpin and Tommy Taylor, Frank Lee and Peter Lloyd;

Door prizes were won by Doris Woods and Gale Westfall. A basket lunch climaxed the outing

Reid's Peewees Defeat Walkers 3-1

Bryson Reid's peewee baseballers defeated the Walker Hardware team 3-1 in a scheduled league game at Pine Street school last night.

The game was close throughout with Jimmy Ellis, on the mound for the Reid's holding the Walker batters to two hits. Frank Howard and Ron Archer hurled for the losers dividing four hits. Howard hit a triple for Walker's.

Reid's scored one run in the first and two in the fifth. Walker's got their lone marker in the fifth inning.

CHEMICAL TERMITES

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hull of Vancouver's one-year-old fire boat is quickly disappearing. It was discovered the $300,000 vessel's steel plates had been eaten one-third through by electrolysis, the chemical decomposition of metals by galvanic, or electric, action.

WHAT WE FOUND!

HALIFAX (CP) — The oddest things turn up in newspaper offices. Three early-morning travellers brought a three-foot racoon into the Halifax Mail-Star after finding it dead on the highway.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO — (CP) — Golds climbed slowly today in early afternoon stock market dealings but other sections made little headway.

Profit-taking checked yesterday's industrial upswing within the first hour. Leading issues rallied again in noon trading but slipped later. Base metals and western oils drifted.

Activitiy slowed from a dull opening. Industrial trading remained within a narrow range of selected issues and few golds, metals or oils attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,030,000 shares.

Steels posted a scattered list of fractional advances to form industrials' strongest section. Constructions, liquors and retail stores also drew firm support but papers, agricultures and manufacturing companies slipped.

Western oils were mixed. Calvan Consolidated, Dome Explorations, Royalite, Sapphire and Trans Empire strengthened while Calgary and Edmonton, Canada Southern, Central - Leduc and Peace River weakened.

Base metals showed strength as Mackeno, Mindamar, New Calumet, Osisko, Quebec Manitou, Sherrit-Gordon and United Keno Hill turned upward.

Senior golds showed little trend. A scattered list of leading junior producers and prospects posted moderate advances. Holding companies dipped.

EDEN RECOVERING

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, taken ill with jaundice two weeks ago, has made good progress and hopes to start work again after another week's rest, it was announced today.

Stabbed 11 Times, Body in Ditch

The body of William Calhoun, stabbed 11 times through the heart, 30-year-old Toronto man, was found in a ditch in Kingston, Ont. Police, who believe robbery was the motive, believe he was killed elsewhere and dumped into the ditch from a car. They believe he had been dead two or three days. — Central Press Canadian.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO. (CP)—Cattle trade was dull today at the Ontario Stockyards with prices about steady at Monday's decline Receipts: cattle 460; calves 160; hogs 350; sheep and lambs 60. The leftover from Monday was 1,750 cattle.

Choice steers sold at $27-$27.50 with one load bringing $28 and good steers selling at $26-$27. Good heifers were at $25.50-$26. Medium to good cows sold at $19-$21 while good bulls were $18-$19 with common downward to $15. Good to choice fed yearlings brought $26-$27.50.

Calves were steady at $24-$26 for good to choice vealers with common to medium from $15-$22.

Hogs were $26 for Grade A with sows $16 dressed.

Lambs held steady at $34.50 for good ewes and wethers with bucks $33.50. Common to medium sheep sold from $6-$13.

GOING DOWN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Building Superintendent Robert Cody wishes he hadn't been so conscientious.

Passing his building yesterday, he spotted what appeared to be an unlighted elevator standing vacant at the street floor. He stepped through the elevator door, but no elevator.

Cody received a broken arm and possible spine injuries in his 30-foot fall to the basement.

Three Youths Form Team To Save Boy From Drowning

TRENTON (Special) —Ronald Richardson, 13, is alive today because Bob Campney, 20, had been taught artificial respiration at high school. He worked an hour over the youth on the Trent River bank last night before a doctor arrived with a heart stimulant.

"I figured he was dead when I pulled him off the bottom of the river," related rescuer Harold Stinson, 21, who jumped into the swirling water below No. 1 dam to save the drowning boy. Apparently the youth was wading along the shore and ventured out here the swift current dragged him under.

Stinson first saw a head bobbing up and down in the choppy water below the spillways. He leaped to give aid when he saw the object slip beneath the surface. Lloyd Burk, 21, helped Stinson fight the current with the boy's limp body in his arms.

By the time the doctor reached the river bank spectators could see that Campney had succeeded in resuscitation. Austin Scott was counting and keeping Campney in rhythm as he pumped air back in the young body.

Firemen arrived with a tank of oxygen soon after the stimulant started to take effect.

The boy is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Richardson of 80 1-2 John Street. The mother could not be reached because she was out working. A neighbor woman was caring for the youngest son Ray, seven.

Residents are asking for an award for Bob Campney. Last month he saved a youth who went over the dam on his bicycle. He graduated from high school this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Campney of Marmora Street.

AMBASSADOR ILL

ATHENS (AP)—George L. Magann of Toronto, Canada's ambassador to Greece became ill several days ago and is in critical condition, embassy sources said today. The nature of his illness was not disclosed. However, it is understood Magann is paralyzed on one side of the body.

Trenton Hotel Purchased By Toronto Man

TRENTON —(Special) — The Quinte Hotel has changed hands and is now being operated by Roy LaRose of Weston. The former owners Mike Babey and Peter Stefanyh have gone to their summer cottage in Northern Ontario and following holidays expect to take up residence in Toronto. The hotel was operated by the Orrill family for 43 years until 1948.

The new proprietor plans to redecorate parts of the 28 roomed building commencing immediately.

Mr. LaRose, the former owner of the Lawrence Hotel in Toronto, is a dog fancier with prize winners from his Rosecourt Doberman Pinscher kennels known in both Canada and the United States.

While he has only been in Trenton a week Mr. LaRose already expressed a hope that he may settle here for many years. "I appreciate the warm welcome Trenton people have so freely extended to me."

Youth Suffers

Eleven-year-old Norman Johnstone is in the Belleville General Hospital recovering from injuries sustained in a bicycle-car crash here on Sunday.

The youth suffered a fractured left thigh and a smashed knee cap. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnstone of Trenton.

The car was driven by Dr. O. B. Dickinson, 285 Dundas Street West.

Agriculture is the largest single industry in Northern Ireland.

Your savings do not need a vacation

If you are to obtain the maximum benefit from your savings they must be working constantly for you . . . they do not need a vacation . . . for idle dollars, like idle fingers, are unproductive.

So, when you are vacationing . . . whether it be fishing, golfing, travelling or just loafing, be sure your savings are not loafing with you, but are hard at work at the job you have given them to do. Be sure your interest coupons and dividend cheques are cashed promptly and the proceeds re-invested or applied towards a specific purpose . . . that the proceeds from matured or redeemed securities are immediately re-employed . . . that your securities are checked regularly with an experienced adviser so you will know they are doing the job you want them to do.

An important part of our service to clients is to be sure their savings are continually working for them . . . not only when they are on vacation but throughout the year.

Some time during the summer months, most of us at Ames try to take a vacation . . . however, our vacations are spread out so that at all times there are experienced people available to look after our clients' requirements . . . whether it be for investment planning, for consultation, or for the purchase or sale of securities. You will be welcome in any of our offices, or if it is more convenient to you, we will be happy to discuss your personal investment problems by mail.

County Crops Need Rain Badly

TORONTO (CP) — Crops in most parts of the province are about 10 days ahead of last year and generally making good progress, the Ontario Department of Agriculture said today in its weekly crop report.

Scattered rains during the last week have helped enormously in some areas, but in others, such as Durham and Hastings counties, rain still is badly needed.

Wheat cutting has begun in almost all counties. Halton county says the crop is about 80 per cent normal. Other counties report a normal crop.

Growth of corn is generally rapid and many areas report prospects for this crop extremely good.

Middlesex county reports pastures in average condition. Shipments of finished beef cattle are going to market.

BOATNER PROMOTED

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—Brig.-Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, who broke the mutiny of Communist prisoners on Koje Island last month, today was named commander of all United Nations prisoner-of-war camps in Korea.

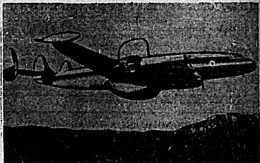
4,000 WORKERS IDLE

WINDSOR — (CP) — Some 4,000 Ford of Canada production workers were idle today as a result of the steel shortage caused by the United States steel strike but company officials said the men will return to work tomorrow.

Production is being scheduled on a day-to-day basis.

The U. S. steel strike began June 2.

Air Sentinel of a Continent



A Lockheed WV-2 presents a strange outline against a backprop of the Rockies during a test flight check. The U.S. new radar-plane features a shark-like fin atop the plane and an expanded "balloon" below. Exact mission of the WV-2 is secret but official reports describe it as principally a high-flying radar sentinel for domestic defence. — Central Press Canadian.

ANA IN DISFAVOR

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists accused Ana Pauker of siding with wealthy estate owners in Romania and sabotaging the collective farm system.

The charge was leveled by Premier Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej in an article in the Cominform journal.

The article amounted to an indictment. Pauker, the amazon of Communist politics, has been deprived of all her high jobs, including the role of Foreign Minister, and probably faces trial.

TAX RATE STEADY

CORNWALL — (CP) — City council last night set a general tax rate for 1952 at 46 mills, the same as last year. The rate for public school supporters increased 1.2 mills from 13.3 while the separate school rate remained unchanged at 25 mills.

LONESOME ON ARRIVAL

Many Belleville fighting men who have returned ome after months of service in Korea have openly delared that Canadian soldiers now engaged in war have a eeling that they are forgotten men. Unlike World War II, he conflict in Korea, they say, lacks the support of those who are left at home and the conviction persists among he Korean veterans that they are alone.

Nor must they go to Korea to be abandoned by their ountrymen.

On Saturday evening a train steamed into Belleville arrying Korean veterans who were bound for their homes nd families and sweethearts here. Yes, they were met at the station by their next-of-kin, but no official word was received by municipal officials here advising of their rrival. So no welcome was arranged.

His Worship Mayor Haig commented that it was the uty of the city to extend its welcome to these returning oldiers. But how, he questioned, could meetings be rranged if no notice of their arrival was received.

The situation may be easily explained. The veterans rom this area return as a group as far as Toronto. Then hey go their separate ways, some deciding to continue heir journey immediately, while others decide to delay heir arrival here. This situation makes it impossible for ny formal welcome to be arranged but it is possible that ome scheme which advises of their approximate arrival could be devised by the army staff.

STRIKE OUT THE STINGERS

The old city of Belleville might possibly look for leadership to the young town of Timmins in Northern Ontario for one phase of progress. Timmins knows how to treat mosquitoes.

Faced with a mounting mosquito population and unable to cover costs in its budget, Timmins decided to stage an annual tag day for the benefit of mosquitoes. With this money, insecticides are purchased and sprayed in the swamp areas which are the natural breeding ground for these itch promoters. This kills the mosquitoes when they should be killed — in the egg stage — and Timmins residents, unlike Belleville's population, are spared the ravages of nightly blitzes by mosquitoes.

NON-WHITES RESIST

South Africa, by observers within that dominion, faces grave troubles in the not too distant future, because of the race and color discrimination in the rigid laws passed by the Malan government and elected on the Apartheid policy. A vanguard has already gone into action in a passive resistance movement; it is expected to spread and if carried out faithfully, there won't be enough jails in South Africa to contain the offenders.

The objective of the Malan policy, and it is hard to believe in this day and age in Canada, is to have the racial groups — white, negro, Indian and colored persons of mixed white and negro blood — live in entirely separate areas, some in country regions and some in segregated sections of the cities. Attempts have been started to apply Apartheid in some localities, but many legal and economic obstacles still remain.

Conflict with the law is already reported. At Port Elizabeth 30 negroes in a cold pouring rain used a railway footbridge reserved for whites. At Johannesburg 50 broke curfew regulations, while another 50 attempted to enter the location where negroes must live without the required permits. All submitted eagerly to arrest by the large police force held in readiness by the Malan government. They are charged with conspiring to commit public violence under a law that carries heavy penalties, and are now facing trial.

Heading the passive movement is Dr. J. S. Moroka, head of the African National Congress. He is quoted: "This won't be just a one-day campaign. Nothing will stop the fight except withdrawal of the discriminatory laws which are the cause of the present action."

In the present stage of its development Dr. Moroka's movement is a head without a body. Roughly 3,000,000 negroes live in reservations set apart by law for them, 3,000,000 live and work on white farms and another 3,000,000 in cities. But for the time being, Dr. Moroka cannot expect support from the first two groups, who are mostly primitive people uninterested in political action.

Only a limited number of the Union's 360,000 East Indians are participating in the campaign, but significantly they have succeeded in building a non-white front. — (St. Catharines Standard.)

JUST FOLKS

LAUGHTER

When as friends we laugh together
Little matters wind or weather
Or some trivial hate inside us
Which so bitterly divides us.
None will think what's coming after
When we share a moment's laughter.

Laughter has a tonic in it;
Soothes all heartaches for the minute.
One great truth about it this is:
All that's evil it dismisses,
Petty prejudice it smothers;
While we're laughing we are brothers.

Enter laughter, quarrels vanish.
Laughter might all warfare banish.
Nations might stop army staffing
Could they meet and start in laughing;
Might be friends forever after
With the common bond of laughter.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At lunch yesterday, a very homely girl was sitting at a table with one of the handsomest young men I ever saw. When I say she was homely, I mean that she hadn't an attractive aspect. She had a small-featured, hard face. Her expression was that of a sulky girl and a scold. Her clothes were in the latest summer vogue, and entirely unbecoming to her in style, color, everything. You could not look at her in company with the strikingly handsome man without wondering what on earth he saw in her o be so attentive, charming and evidently bewitched by her. His attentions served only to accentuate her unattractiveness. She pouted. She shrugged and exercised all the airy graces of a beauty. But, boy, she didn't mesh.

When you come to think of it, most men and girls more or less balance each other as far as looks are concerned. Good looking girls get good looking men. Homely girls get homely men, although we have all seen ravishing beauties snaffled off by some pretty frowsy males. And vice versa. In which case, there may be wealth involved.

But in this case at lunch yesterday, neither was the money type. The young fellow had a splendid head, striking features, fine shoulders. He carried himself with a natural and easy dignity. His hands were good. His clothes were chosen with a fine, tweedy sense of his manliness. But not one of these features of him meshed with his obvious infatuation with the hard-boiled little spitfire with the movie star airs, sitting across from him.

It was just about the time that I had arrived at the recollection of the truth that love is blind when they finished their lunch and stood up.

The handsome young man had long spindley legs, and walked with an effeminate swish. Standing up, he was no more handsome than my foot. And when the little spitfire stood up, she was lithe, willowy, extraordinarily graceful in every line and movement. No wonder the spindlelegged dope was in love with her!

Heart Massaged Through Abdomen Beats Again--No Ill Effects

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—While heart massage operations have become quite common, the Hollywood Presbyterian hospital reports an unusual one in which a physician reached a patient's heart by thrusting his hand through the abdominal cavity.

Paul C. Elliott, the hospital's administrator, said the incident happened on an operating table last Wednesday. Elliott explained that in most instances where massage is used to restore heartbeat the doctor opens the chest to reach the vital organ.

But in the operation Wednesday on a 45-year-old man his abdomen had been opened for an ulcer operation. Elliott said he had been on the table more than an hour when his breathing stopped. One of the surgeons promptly slid his hand into the abdominal cavity and up to the membrane that separates this cavity from the chest cavity. Working through the membrane he gently massaged the heart. Elliott said that after about 2½ minutes there was a feeble heartbeat that gradually gained strength. Then pulse and respiration became restored.

The hospital official said the patient is now resting comfortably and apparently is suffering no ill effects from the heart stoppage.

WHERE DOES YOUR RELIGION START?

There is a difference between theology and religion. Theology operates from the eyebrows up; religion from the eyebrows down. The way we look upon life, the things we say, the tasks to which we set ourselves. the errands upon which our feet carry us—these are of the essence of religion.

Theology is what man thinks about God. It is that part of religion which occupies the human anatomy north of the eyebrows. To say this is not to belittle theology. First because our thoughts about God are important, and secondly because we hold our religious convictions as the result of divine revelation given us through the Word of God. Theology—or men's thought about God—is important.

But the most important factor in religion is our daily conduct. Christianity is primarily a way of life. Jesus Christ referred to Himself as "the way, and the truth, and the life." A sound theology and a daily way of life marked by unkindness, self-indulgence, and moral compromise do not add up to true religion. It was of such people that Jesus said, "Not everyone that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of Heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in Heaven."

Christianity operates both above the eyebrows and below—but its most important are is below.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP WANTING TO KNOW!

Every time we learn of something new, through reading, observation, or from the lips of someone else, it is as though another light had been turned on in our mind. All of our ideas, expressions or comments reflect our background of knowledge.

Knowledge should be the most welcomed commodity in the world. None of us can learn too much or have too much knowledge stored away for instant use. Nothing so stimulates the mind as to keep wanting to know about things — new things, different things. It is inspiring to walk into the reading room of a great library, with scores of people absorbing in silence the knowledge of the centuries.

There is no power so far reaching and so essential to one's happiness and wellbeing as that of knowledge. All knowledge is a matter of search and desire to make it our own. We must want that knowledge, however, before we go in search of it.

Never has knowledge been so easy to acquire. A few pennies can purchase a selection from scores of classics, and our free libraries are a boon to the many. Our newspapers never offered so much knowledge in addition to their efficient covering of the news. The well informed keep wanting to know more.

Ignorance these days is inexcusable. Anyone wanting to know, wanting to learn, can do so. More people get out of doors and travel more than ever before. It is impossible to estimate the knowledge thus attained. We learn more about ourselves as we learn about others. We are also stimulated through the knowledge of others to want to know what they know.

There is no passport to the worthwhile things of this life to compare with that one of knowledge. It is the secret key that unlocks the doors to an endless array of opportunities. But before anything in this life can be gained there must be the desire within us. We must want to know, want to achieve the object of our desire.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Lest some racketeer tell his gullible customers that my teachings in reference to calcium metabolism or utilization in the body and calcium "deposits" or calcification in the tissues or organs are "unscientific," it may be well to quote here from two or three recognized authorities, whose views, I submit, corroborate what I have repeatedly stated, namely, that calcification or deposit of calcium or calcareous material in the arteries, in the joints or in other tissues or organs is the consequence and not the cause of disease, injury, strain or degeneration.

Speaking of atrophic arthritis, otherwise called rheumatoid athritis, Margolis (Arthritis and Allied Disorders, Hoeber, N.Y.) says:

"In its later stages the pathological process is characterized by calcification . . ."

Speaking of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) Best and Taylor (Physiological Basis of Medical Practice, Wood, Baltimore) say:

"The most pronounced changes occur in intima" (lining membrane of arteries), "though degeneration of the elastic tissue, fibrosis and calcification of the media" (muscle coat of arteries) "are also seen . . . The pronounced tendency for calcification to occur in areas undergoing fatty change" (that is, fatty degeneration).

Speaking of diseases of the arteries Osler (Practice of Medicine, Appleton, N.Y.) said:

"Calcification of the arterial wall follows fatty degeneration and sclerosis . . ."

Do not misunderstand the significance of degeneration. The medical sense of the word is given in Webster, but Stedman's medical dictionary defines it as "a retrogressive pathological change in cells or tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost" (or more precisely, gradually declines) "and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass."

If at 35 you can still run a mile, jump over a 4-foot hedge, roll somersaults, hold your breath 40 seconds or have a baby without trouble, you're oke. If at 45 you can no longer do such things you have passed your peak and started down the other side; gradual decline of functional power; degeneration.

I'm sorry, but I've been trying to teach you how to keep young ever since you began wearing long pants or short skirts, as the case may be, and you have paid no heed because you considered such stuff of interest only to old crocks. But the routine or living habits I recommend to preserve youth and stave off premature decline are fun—described in detail in the booklet The 7 Keys to Vite, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Hi, Mother!

My mother started reading your articles when you and Kaltenborn were on the Brooklyn Eagle . . . Your article on anemia certainly fixed me up. Wish there were more like you . . . (Mrs. C. E.)

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet The Gray Sickness (Nutritional Deficiency Anemia). First time I met Mr. Kaltenborn, we were about to leave the Eagle building to go to lunch, and he picked up an editorial shears and neatly trimmed the ragged edges of his cuffs. A trifle, but it gained my admiration and respect for the man who wore the cuffs.

Coffee is a Health Beverage

Is it true that coffee interferes in some way with the assimilation of vitamins . . . I drink two cups of black coffee daily and take vitamin capsules . . . (Mrs. M. S.)

Answer—No. Coffee in such moderation is a health beverage for adults in general, though not for children under sixteen.

Supply of Cars Dwindles, Steel Shortage Blamed

DETROIT (AP)—Stocks of new automobiles continue to dwindle as the car industry begins to feel the full impact of the steel shortage.

More than a few dealers are predicting there will be few, if any, new cars in dealer showrooms by Aug. 1; in manufacturing sources it is being said July production will be the lowest month's output in four years.

Yet, there still is a chance for the production of more than 2,000,000 cars in the year's finaal half—if steel again starts to flow in full volume from mill to auto factory.

The trade paper Automotive news in its current issue reports that new cars in dealers' hands and en route from the factory July 1, numbered only 276,725 compared with 302,036 a month earlier, and 448,306 july 1, 1951.

New car inventories now would be even lower, dealers reported, but for the fact June sales were made in accordance with some of the strictest trading policies in recent months. This means there have been o price discounts and no high trade-in allowancese.

Dealers handling popular low-priced line, Automotive News said, reported they were "turning down deals that did not involve a full profit on the new car and a reasonable profit on the trade-in."

Deputy Minister Named Mediator In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA (CP)—Arthur MacNamara Deputy Minister of Labor, has been named federal conciliator in the wage dispute between Canada's railways and the non-operating unions.

M. M. Maclean, director of industrial relations for the Labor Department, and other Labor officers will assist Mr. MacNamara.

The announcement was made in a telegram signed by Labor Minister Gregg and issued here by the Labor Department.

Request for appointment of a federal conciliator to aid in the wage talks was made by the railways and 17 unions of the "non-operating" trades. They reported Friday that they had failed to reach agreement in their newly-opened negotiations for a new contract.

The request for conciliation came a week after the railways received wage demands for an estimated $150,000,000 a year or more for the 125,000 non-operating employees.

First Jet Liner For C.P. Airlines In Two Months

LONDON (Reuters)—The first of two Comet jet liners ordered by Canadian Pacific Airlines will be in the air in two months, it was learned today.

The plane is nearing completion at the Hatfield works of de Havilland's, the Comet manufacturers. She is expected to undergo preliminary tests in September, and after development trials will be delivered probably toward the end of the year. The second plane should be ready soon afterwards.

Canada will be the first country outside Britain to operate the record-breaking Comets, of which 10 now are flying. Canadian Pacific will use them on the Sydney-Honolulu section of its Australia-Canada service.

Orange Service Held At Springbrook United Church

RAWDON — The Springbrook United Church was filled with members of Springbrook L. O. L. and visiting brethren for their special annual divine service in honor of their centennial year.

Rev. H. Beare, pastor of the church, and Wor. Master of Springbrook L. O. L. No. 442 presided and officially welcomed the number of worshippers.

The choir rendered two selections during the service.

Flags Presented

Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Grand Master, Ontario East, and a member of Springbrook Lodge, presented the church on behalf of No. 442 with a silk Union Jack and on behalf of Rev. H. Beare, a solid brass spear head was attached to the flag. This was Rev. Beare's special gift.

Just recently a similar Orange service was held at St. Mark's Church of England at Bonarlaw when a large delegation of visiting brethren were in attendance. Brother Bateman had the honor of presenting this church with an identical Union Jack.

The annual Orange service is held alternately year by year in each of the two churches but this being centennial year two services were held. Orangemen were in attendance from Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Tanners, Sentinel and other points.

Rylestone Bagpipe Band supplied music for the Springbrook service. The members are Messrs Harold and Bob Spencer, Clarence Barnum, Ernest and Claire Irwin.

More than four of 10 Canadians have voluntary health protection: 5.1 million are insured against hospital expenses; 3.4 millino against surgical expenses; 2.4 million against general medical expenses; 870,000 against temporary disability.

WEDDINGS

WILSON—JOHNSTONE

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel was beautifully decorated on Saturday, July 12th, at 9:00 a.m., for the marriage of Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnstone, of Belleville, to George A. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs George E. Wilson, also of Belleville. The Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated.

Miss Mary Flurey, church organist, rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Carolyn Forhan, who sang "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a ballerina-length bridal gown of white net featuring two lace panels over slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice of shadow lace with long sleeves ending in V points at the wrists. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and adiantum fern.

Mrs. M. G. Wilkie, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, wearing lovely deep turquoise blue net over taffeta, and carrying a nosegay of coral shaded Sweetheart roses, sweetpeas and daisies, surrounded with a white tulle background. She wore a matching headdress.

Mr. Robert Wilson, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. Robert Temple, barrister, of Belleville, and Mr. John Wilson, of Toronto, were ushers.

The reception was held at the New Queens Hotel, Belleville, where the bride's mother, attired in a dusty rose ensemble with corsage of Talisman roses, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a gown of beige tissue faille with yellow accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's table was charmingly appointed, and centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by billows of pink tulle with tiny sprays of pink Sweetheart roses and sweetpeas.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Quebec and the Eastern States, the bride travelling in a white shantung suit with navy accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Trenton and Toronto.

BAKER—BENNETT

A very pretty summer wedding took place on Saturday, June 28, at 2 p.m., at St. Michael's rectory, Belleville, when Margaret Elizabeth Bennett, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett, became the bride of Grant Everett Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Baker, of Tweed. Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated.

The bride was most attractive in her gown of nylon net over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice featuring a high rounded neckline of French lace and lily-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt with insert of French lace. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held with a lace halo encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a shower cascade of Starlite roses, stephanotis and adiantum fern tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Mildred Burkholder was matron of honor, gowned in pale blue nylon sheer with bertha collar and bouffant skirt. She wore a matching flowered headdress, and blue lace mitts and carried a basket of pink carnations and adiantum fern tied with pink lacelon ribbon.

Mr. Richard Bennett, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a gown of navy printed silk sheer with navy accessories and corsage of white gardenias. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a gown of gold shantung, with brown accessories and corsage of white gardenias.

The young couple left for Washington, D.C., the bride travelling in a grey taffeta dress with pink and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Upon their return they will reside at 7 1-2 Harvey Street.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Bennett, also one given by Mrs. Merv. Burkholder.

CAMPNEY—McMULLEN

A quiet but pretty double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, July 12, at 2:00 p.m. in Holloway Street United Church vestry, when Gertrude Matilda McMullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMullen, of Harold, Ontario, became the bride of Bazil James Campney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Campney, of Trenton, Ontario. The Rev. Raymond A. Rowley officiated.

The bride was charmingly attired in baby blue nylon net over taffeta in ballerina-length, wearing a white hat and veil, and carrying a crescent bouquet of red Bettertime roses tied with white lacelon bows.

Mrs. Frank Rodgers, of Belleville, attended her sister, gowned in pink nylon net over taffeta in ballerina-length, and carrying a crescent-shaped bouquet of Gloria roses with yellow lacelon ties.

Mr. Frank Rodgers, of Belleville, brother-in-law of the bride, was groomsman.

For travelling to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and points west, the bride chose a lilac gabardine ensemble with white accessories. Upon their return, they will reside in Belleville.

The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was china cups and saucers; the bridegroom's gifts: to his bride, a flash camera, and to the best man, cuff links and matching tie-bar.

NOLAN—BAVERSTOCK

The rectory of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 10:30 a.m., on Saturday, July 12th, when the Rev. J. J. Buckley united in marriage Dorothy Mary Baverstock, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Baverstock, of Foxboro Road, to Raymond Frederick Nolan, of Foxboro Road, son of Mrs. E. J. Nolan and the late Mr. Nolan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her blue nylon over taffeta gown, in ballerina-length, with blue orange blossom headdress and shoulder-length veil; matching gloves and white shoes. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a nosegay of pink roses with stephanotis.

Miss Betty Ann Clare, of Foxboro Road, attended the bride, wearing yellow nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress, white gloves and shoes, and carrying a nosegay of yellow roses and blue cornflowers.

Mr. Leon Gauthier, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom.

A buffet luncheon was held on the lawn for the guests, where the Wedding March was played from recording also various other suitable selections by Mendelssohn. The bride's table was lovely in its pink and white decorations and tall wedding cake.

The bride's mother received wearing a lilac street-length dress with white accessories and carnation corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a rosewood street-length dress with navy accessories, and yellow rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Georgian Bay and Montreal, the bride wore a navy blue dress with white trim, and white accessories, with red rose corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Verdun, Ville La Salle, and Quebec.

FOIL ESCAPE PLOT

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Keepers foiled a well-planned escape plot yesterday—at the zoo. Six polar bears, supposed happy residents of the Highland Park zoo, had started tunnelling a passage toward the sidewalk from the inside of their cave. An attendant said the bruins tipped their play by huddling excitedly around the cave's entrance. He added they acted "like a bunch of convicts."

French Fashion House Designs Clothes for Britain's Working Girl

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The first Rembrandt-Balmain collection to be seen in London brings French haute couture one step closer to Britain's working girl.

For the next 20 years, clothes designed by Pierre Balmain exclusively for the middle-income British market will be found in home stores priced between 9½ and 19½ guineas.

Tired of the numerous bad adaptations of French designs seen in Britain, the wholesale company named Rembrandt decided to go straight to the master. Now Balmain designs that have not been shown in Paris will be made in the Rembrandt workrooms for sale on the home market, along with their own collections.

This means that middle-class women can buy unmistakable couture designs at a time when they are still the "dernir cri," instead of factory reproductions that are already out-of-date by the time they reach the retail market.

Balmain's designs-for-Britain will give the simplicity of tailoring essential to British markets, with a trick here and there—tabs, folds and fastenings that are the Balmain trade mark.

A whispiering of falling leaves rustling down the French boulevards might have been evoked by the swishing skirt of a black, mauve and white plaid Saxony dress with checks smartly styled in deep V's on the button-front top. The X-and-O checking on the skirt gave chic contrast.

Variety of Outfits

Made up in worsted flannels, worsted crepe, grosgrain and a new flannel-like material called vigoreux, the 14 Balmain models shown included day dresses, apres-midi (afternoon) outfits and short evening dresses.

Slim lines were eased by side draping and knife pleats that flicked outwards on each calf like the crease to a smart pair of pants. A street dress in grey vigoreux had gently-flared skirt with front inverted-fold pleat and long slim sleeves, button-tight at the wrists with cuff winging outwards. With long, split lapels ending above a double-button panel stretching from bra to hips, it would be suited to town or country.

An emerald green "apres-midi" dress in "peau de peche" (peachskin) had star-gathered corsage at the foot of a deep-V neckline. The loose, folded skirt was caught through a specially-designed belt to show the sheath-tight underskirt.

One of the smartest dresses in the show was a dark grey worsted flannel dress designed by Rembrandt. Highlight of the slim, classic design was the fine arrowhead pleating fanning from waist to rounded yoke at back. It was a notable factor that Rembrandt's own designs got equal, or even more, praise than the French designs. "Too fussy," said one of the audience referring to the Balmain models.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.A.

The monthly meeting of the W.A. of Shannonville United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Earle Thompson on Thursday afternoon with 18 women in attendance. The president, Mrs. K. R. Vivian, graciously welcomed the visitors and members, and gave an appropriate reading on the subject of "Security".

Mrs. Arthur Houston, group leader, gave the Scripture reading from Galatians 6, and Matthew 26, the theme being, "Using Opportunities". Mrs. William Houston read the lesson thoughts, Mrs. Ross Shetler gave a reading, entitled, "Making Up Your Mind", and Mrs. McFarlane read a poem, Wishing". This was followed by Mrs. Arthur Houston who read, "Welcoming the Stranger".

Mrs. Saul McFarlane expressed appreciation for the card she had received. A letter of thanks from Audrey Scott, for the card of good wishes sent to her when she graduated from Toronto University, was read by Mrs. Raymond Clarke, as well as a letter from Mary Isabel Vivian, and a card from Mrs. J. McFarlane, all expressing thanks for remembrance when ill. Mrs. Raymond Clarke thanked the women for cards that she and Lyle had received when they were sick.

Mrs. A. Goodfellow sent a donation of $1.35 and Mrs. B. Hinchey sent $5, both of which were thankfully received.

A committee was appointed to arrange for catering at Scott's Livestock sale on October 14th. Mrs. Stanley MacDonald kindly offered her home for quilting.

Thanks were tendered Mrs. Thompson for opening her home for the meeting.

Later, refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Sam Elliott's home, on October 9th.

ROSLIN W.A.

The July meeting of the Roslin Woman's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. Slingerland with 13 members present.

Plans were made to entertain other branches in the hall later this month, when Miss Gladys Aylesworth, Reg.N., of Madoc, will show pictures of her work in an outpost hospital in the West.

Mrs. C. Sills, leader for the evening, read an articles on an "Outpost Hospital in Alonsa, Manitoba." A poem "My Friend", was given by Mrs. A. Bates.

An advertisement contest was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time enjoyed.

BETHANY W.M.S.-W.A.

The ladies of the Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. met recently at the home of Mrs. William Clark, 3rd line with a large attendance. Mrs. John Ritz presided and opened the meeting.

A reading on "Giving," was enjoyed. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Harold Pound.

A three act play "Dearth on the Earth" was given by Mrs. Horace Casey, Mrs. Clare Sills, Mrs. Russell Ritz, Rev. W. R. Merrick, Mrs. J. Ritz and Mrs. Harold Pound.

Mrs. Bert Martin took charge of the program which consisted of a reading "My Words Shall Never Pass Away" was given by Mrs. Douglas Tummon. Mrs. Martin read a scripture passage from Isaiah followed by a reading "Carry Your Share" by Mrs. Harold Pound after which the Rev. W. R. Merrick gave an interesting talk on "Stewardship." This was followed by a reading "Shine in Use," contributed by Mrs. George Sills. Mrs. Jim Sills closed the program.

Mrs. J. Ritz took charge of the business period. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Harry Walker, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. George Sills. It was decided that the WMS and WA both donate money to the leadership training school fund. Mrs. William Doxtator invited the ladies to her home for the August meeting which is to be held in the evening.

Mrs. S. Cooley read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Gerald Eggleton for a plant and cards which she received.

It was also decided to order 25 scripture text calendars for next year.

Mrs. Clark and her third line assistants served refreshments and all enjoyed a social time.

Shower Honors Brides-To-Be

A double shower of local interest was held on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Manchester, Queensboro, for Miss Dorothy Leslie, and Miss Kathleen Roushorn, who are July brides-elect.

The guests were divided into groups and given magazines, paper, scissors and mucilage and asked to compile a "bride's book" for each of the girls. After this was suitably completed and perused the honor guests were presented with corsages and escorted to the reserved chairs where they were kept busy opening their many and varied gifts. Both girls thanked their friends and extended invitations to all to visit them at their respective new homes in Peterborough and Oshawa.

Refreshments were served bringing to a close a delightful afternoon.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

His Father's Behaviour Has Preyed on His Mind

"The life I live has affected my oldest son until it has become alarming," writes a mother who is talking about her marital life.

She then goes on to say:

"He has been dating one girl for over two years, and has said he is sure of his love for her. There is no doubt of her love for him. He is 21 years old, has a fine trade at which he makes good wages, has no bad habits, and is considered a very smart boy. I know he would make his girl a swell husband, except for one thing.

"What both he and I are worrying about is his attitude toward marriage, or perhaps I should say, his apprehensions which arise out of what he has observed of my own marriage. He knows his father has always been unfaithful to me, regarding me only as someone to keep his home going and care for his children, and he is afraid that he might have inherited his father's faults. He says he is afraid that if he should betray his wife after a few years of mariage, it would grow on him like it did on his father, and that he would never want his wife to live the lonely life his mother has had to live.

"How can I convince him that there are men with different ideas and ways of behaving than those his father has?"

It seems to me a little surprising that this young man should be worrying lest he might be unfaithful to his wife as his father has been to his mother. One would think that having observed his father's behaviour through the years, nothing would be so repulsive to him.

Behaviour Controlled

It is easier to understand how a young man or woman might be fearful about the outcropping of some latent inherited physical, nervous or mental disease, for over such things they have far less control. In a case where a specific kind of behaviour is concerned, I cannot see any reason why a father's pattern should be repeated in a son unless it had developed some sort of fascination for the boy. In the absence of actual mental illness, behaviour is completely under the individual's own control. It is up to this boy himself to decide whether, in view of his own observations and experiences, faithfulness or unfaithfulness is the more attractive. If he decides he wants no part of the latter, there is no reason in all the world why he should ever commit it. If he has sound mental equipment, and normal emotional development, nothing can possibly force him into any kind of action against his own will.

If his father's behaviour during his adolescent years has had such a profound emotional effect on this young man as to prevent him from normal thinking on this subject, then I think the most helpful plan for him to follow would be to talk the whole matter over with some older man in whose ideas and standards he has confidence. Such a man might be the family doctor, or the minister of the church the family attends, or just some man in his own town whom he admires and trusts.

He might, of course, consult a psychiatrist, but unless his thinking has become actually distorted on the point in question, he should be open to reassurance from someone with normal standards and sound moral principles.

I advise this mother to suggest that her son talk his problem over with some one of the three I have mentioned, and see if his mind cannot be eased in this simple fashion. If she will do this, and her son will follow her suggestions, his doubts of himself should be removed. If they persist, however, and he continues to be unable to take a normal attitude toward the whole matter, then it may be wise for him to consult someone trained in unravelling emotional tangles. If this seems to be the course to follow, and the son is willing to discuss his problem with an expert, then the mother might get the name of one in their vicinity by writing to the American Psychiatric Association, 1270 Sixth Avenue, New York City, New York.

Food for Thought

Remember That Cheese Is a Good Protein Too

All the time I am meat conscious—serving meat to my meat-hungry family even if I have to wear last year's summer sandals split at the sides. (That's a little bit dishonest—it's because I haven't time to go downtown to buy a new pair—even at $1.98.) And I know you too are meat buyers and servers . . . but the topic of today's gossip is cheese. Cheese is a rich protein—as good a meat in many cases— and a sight less expensive.

We should for health's sake and variety's sake eat cheese at least once per week as a main ingredient for a meal. I'm giving you some recipes today that are so enticing and so satisfying that your hungry family will compliment you on your cleverness when you serve them.

Corn enters into this little act too, in a souffle that is basically cheese. I do not think that souffles are insipid but some of your husbands will, but this Cheese and Corn Souffle is a real masculine number.

CHEESE AND CORN SOUFFLE

Make a thick white sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, stirring in 4 tablespoons flour, then 1 cup milk, until thick. Add 1 cup drained whole kernel corn and 1-2 lb. chopped or shredded sharp-flavored but soft cheese (or cheddar—it doesn't matter) and 1-2 cup soft breadcrumbs. Beat 3 egg yolks and add them. Beat until stiff the 3 egg whites with 1-8 teaspoon salt. Fold the cheese mixture into them. Pour into buttered large casserole. (This puffs up easily double its original size.) Stand in pan of warm water to depth of 1 inch. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 to 60 minutes. You must be ready to serve this at once. I have the family at the table when I bring this in for it soon subsides, and I like them to see it while it's puffy. If you must have meat place strips of bacon over top just 10 or 15 minutes before serving time.

JULY VEGETABLE FRITTERS WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Mix together 1-2 cup cubed cooked carrots, 3-4 cup each undercooked green peas, and well cooked green beans. Sift together 1 2-3 cups sifted flour, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder. Beat 2 eggs well and add 1-3 cup milk to them. Add half of the dry ingredients to the egg-milk mix, then all of the vegetables. Sift over remaining flour mixture and fold in. Drop from tablespoon into hot deep fat and fry about 4 1-2 minutes, turning once. Serve as soon as possible after all are done. Keep warm the fritters that are done first on paper towelling in warming oven. Serve with

CHEESE SAUCE

In top of double boiler melt 1 1-2-lb package spready cheese with 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1-4 teaspoon mustard. Stir until smooth. More milk may be added if you want to stretch the sauce—but remember this can comprise the total protein ingredient of your meal if you use enough cheese.

EMEM'S MACARONI AND CHEESE

Boil 1-2 lb. macaroni in 1 quart salted water 25 minutes, drain and rinse in cold water. Pour into buttered casserole. Make a sauce by melting 1-4 cup butter or margarine and stirring in 1-4 cup sifted flour, then 1 1-2 cups milk, until thick. Add 1-3 lb. grated cheddar cheese and 1 teaspoon salt. Pour 2-3 of this sauce over the macaroni and stir it down into the macaroni. Pour remainder of sauce over top; sprinkle top generously with more grated cheese. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes or until top is flecked with brown and whole dish is bubbling. Serve this with a bright green vegetable and a salad. It is excellent to make early in the morning of a hot day—bake at the last minute, after you come home from anywhere, and serve out on the porch.

Remember girls, to keep cheese in front of your minds when shopping.

Fashion Flashes

BEAUTIFUL AS IT IS, white becomes tiring when taken in huge doses. So, at a recent party, the stand-out dress was one of silk organza in a glowing fuchsia color. The dress, with cuffed, strapless top and very full skirt, was worn with a full-length matching coat that had a tiny collar and ruffled; elbow sleeves.

IMPORTED from all over the world are handsome straw bags done with style, taste and imagination. From Hong Kong, for instance, comes an Oriental basket shape in natural wicker, woven with red, green or blue plastic. Another, from Italy, is a circular sewing box shape with multicolored rosettes appliqued all around it, the rosettes with natural color Milan borders.

THE BIG WHEEL of a hat, favoverd with prints for Summer, is not straw this year. The most popular cartwheels seem to be of black velvet, quite plain except for a narrow crown band and bow of black grosgrain ribbon. Lately we've seen one or two big hats of bright, lipstick red velvet. Very smart!

One Canadian food chain store in 1951 paid $824 income tax per employee; on $100 million of food sales, net earnings were $1.8 million, income taxes were $2 million.

GOOD MANNERS

They Want to Follow Charming Canadian Custom of Having Trousseau Tea

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Both my fiance and I were born and reared in Canada, but now my family and I live in the States, not very far from the border. Our wedding is to be the Saturday before Labor Day, and my mother would like to follow the friendly Canadian custom we were used to, of having a Trousseau Tea a few days before the wedding. Mother thinks we should make a special point of asking my fiance's mother to arrive a day earlier than she had planned to arrive for the wedding, so that she can receive with us at the Trousseau Tea. (1) Is this proper? (2) Should we all wear corsages? If so, who supplies these?

— Margaret.

(1) If at all possible — and I judge it is possible — you should follow the charming and gracious and hospitable custom of inviting your prospective bridegroom's mother to come to receive with you and your mother at your Trousseau Tea. As a matter of fact, I imagine she will be rather expecting this invitation, that is, if she knows there is to be a Trousseau Tea. Your mother, as hostess, should write the invitation, and you, as her son's bride-to-be, should also write your "I do so hope that you can come."

(2) Corsages are not necessary, but are quite customary, because of the delightfully festive touch they give. Sometimes the bride's father gives these corsages, in courtly gesture — sometimes the fiance sends them — in courtly gesture. Sometimes the hostess supplies them.

Plans for Wedding Reception in Hall

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. The wedding reception is to be held in a hall which is rented for such occasions. Would it be appropriate to have a table set up in the hall to display the wedding presents?

2. In this community there are some people who bring their wedding gifts with them to the reception. When should the bride open these presents — after the (sit-down) supper?

3. Should the guests arriving at the reception be received by both mothers standing near the entrance? And do the bride and groom and their attendants stand near the entrance also to receive the guest?

—R.

1. This would depend on the convenience of those making the arrangements. I should think it would be "quite a production" to have the gifts safely brought to the hall, displayed there, and then having to make careful plans for their return.

2. This again must depend on convenience. In these circumstances, brides very often decide not to open these late presents at the reception, because it holds up the proceedings too much. That's why it's wise and practical for all concerned that wedding presents be sent to the bride-to-be well ahead of the wedding date.

3. Very often — and this is a correct procedure — the bride's mother, the hostess of the wedding stands near the entrance to the room in which the reception is to be, to receive the guests, and she usually invites the bridegroom's mother to stand with her. But customarily then there is a receiving line opposite the entrance; the bride and bridegroom stand together, the bride on the bridegroom's right; then at the bride's right, her honor attendant; and, last, the bridesmaids. (Best man and ushers do not stand in the receiving line.)

Roll Top Handbag

By TRACY ADRIAN

WE all know that a woman's "office" is in her bag, so this designer has borrowed the idea of the old-fashioned roll top desk as an inspiration for a new and compact carry-all.

The tops are corrugated and roll back out of sight to leave the contents in full view. However, the bag is made so that prying eyes cannot see what is carried in this little mobile office.

This one is made of real leather and has a handy single strap and a rounded box shape. It also comes in fabrics as well as leather and in many colors and sizes.

BEAUTY

Foundations for Fashion

Twice a year fashion designers lay down the law for the ladies. They may change the length of the skirt, make new offerings that are exciting, but always it is the same old cry: Waistlines must be neat. Certainly! Of course! Naturally! It is the neat waistline that makes the figure.

There is something else. You should have a fine, graceful sideline. By that the style dictators mean the line descending from the lower ribs to the waist, from waist to hip, from him to thigh. Some of the loveliest modes of the season are designed to bring out and accent these gentle curves an inward slants. The frock fits snugly there, though it may be draped or bouffant elsewhere.

For the figure that does not come up to the ideal, there is help to be found in a perfectly-fitted foundation garment. It restrains those funny bulges that may come along with the birthdays — and a horrid present they are! Of course they would not have developed if the plumptitudinous woman had taken those extra pounds recorded by the bathroom scales a little more seriously. Five pounds this year, ten the next, and the youthful silhouette evaporates.

No woman should be casual selecting a foundation. Corsetry has become a highly-specialized industry, and only an expert fitter can select the right garment. Besides helping a customer to cut a fine figure, the foundation serves the functional purpose of supporting and controlling muscles and tissues to a natural, healthful degree. When the abdomen sags, there it has a plorable effect upon the inner gans.

There should be no pres
at the waistline to interfere full breathing, as there wa the days of the eighteen-

the condition of the flesh, whe

Women should seat themsel

aris Celebrates astille Day

ARIS (AP)—Parisians danc- and sang yesterday around great metal column which is that remains of the grim old stille prison whose capture 163 rs ago touched off the French olution.

Bastille Day—France's nation- holiday—was celebrated both e and in French possessions rseas.

hrough the brilliantly-lit cap- there were fireworks, danc- in the streets and gay par-

he country put much of its litary might on display in a ade of 13,250 soldiers, 220 ks and military vehicles which ured down the wide Champs sees, from the Arc de Tri- phe to the Place de la Con- de.

The procession was reviewed President Vincent Auriol.

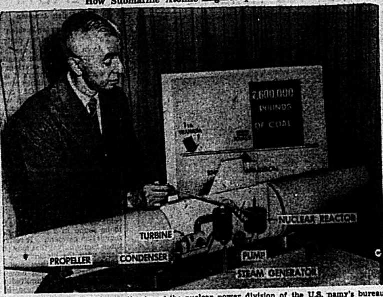
How Submarine Atomic Engine Operates



Captain Hyman G. Rickover, director of the nuclear power division of the U.S. namy's bureau of ships, explains the operation of the engine on a model of the first atomic-powered submarine. Briefly: Heat is created in the nuclear reactor by the fission of uranium. This heat is transferred to a steam generator which provides the steam to drive a turbine, from which, in turn, the power is transmitted to drive the propellers. The reactor is so shielded that there is no danger of radiation affecting the crew. — Central Press Canadian.

Bites the Dust

The distance from the hurricane deck of a bucking bronc to the cold, hard ground can be spanned in a remarkably short time if the bronc puts his back into it as does this wild-eyed creature at the Calgary Stampede. Headed for a mouthful of dirt is Marcel Staff of Vancouver. — (CP Photo.)

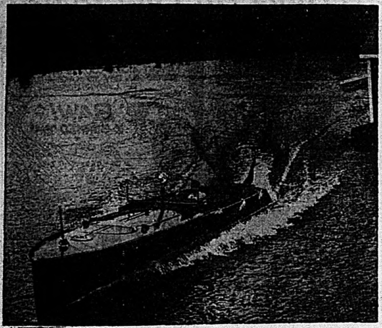
Legendary Millionaire Cancels Muskoka Vacations



One of Peck's Many La nches on Muskoka Lake

Up for sale is the fleet of power launches owned by Cameron Peck, Chicago millionaire, who has become a legend on the waters of Muskoka Lakes, Ontario. Since 1913 he and his family have spent the summers there collecting and building boats, some modelled after famous ships of the past and complete in detail down to the size and type of the screws that held the ships together. The craft in his collection numbers 35, from birch bark canoes to 70-foot steamers. Ill-health has forced him to cancel future vacations in Muskoka. — Central Press Canadian.

Blast Kills Six

Faces grimy with coal soot, six draegermen who risked their lives in rescue operations after an underground explosion at Dominion Mine No. 20, Glace Bay, N.S., welcome a cup of coffee. Six miners were killed by the searing blast which ripped along through the 1,200-foot level of the big coal mine. One survivor, Herb Desmond, was severely injured. It was the second major mine disaster in Nova Scotia in six months. Five and a half months ago 19 miners died in the McGregor Mine at Stellarton following an explosion. — (CP Photo.)

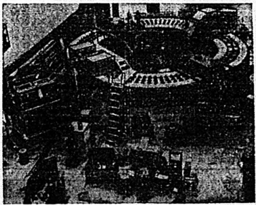
Holidayers Rescue Girl, 13

Two girls drowned at Maynooth, Ont., but the presence of mind of the three shown here saved the life of Marjorie Moxam, 13. Donna Jean McRae, 10, and her sisters, Yvonne, 16, and Mary, 13, residents of Mount Dennis, Ont., were rowing on Horseshoe Lake, near Maynooth, when they saw three girls struggling in the water. They pulled Marjorie into the boat by her hair, but Beatrice, 14, and Donna, 11, disappeared beneath the surface of the lake. — Central Press Canadian.

Newest Tool in Atom Research



Newest tool of atomic research, the Synchrotron is pictured at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, Calif., where it was built under contract with the Atomic Energy commission. The machine has attained record electron energies of 450 million volts at particle velocities. This is but one-tenth of a mile per second less than the speed of light (186,000 miles a second.) Temporary control panels are shown in foreground. At left (centre) is the electron gun which injects electrons into the Synchrotron. Travelling clockwise around the "track," the electrons get a two-hundred-and-fifty-volt energy boost every time they pass the radio frequency cavity which is pictured at upper right. This is part of the vast process of manufacture of the atom bomb and other atomic civil and military equipment. — Central Press Canadian.

Large Bass Landed

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A seven-pound, two-ounce small-mouth bass was landed by Jack McEwen of Peterborough at Pine Lake near here. It measured 23 inches and was 17 inches in girth. McEwen used live crawfish as bait.

The biggest small-mouth bass on record in Canada—nine pounds, two ounces—was caught Sept. 16, 1951, at McAuley Lake, near Madawaska, about 180 miles northeast of Toronto.

Kids Build Hot-Rods

TORONTO (CP) — Police here thought they had seen everything in the way of hot-rods until they halted vehicles built and operated by Derek Lund, 14, and Bill Carter, 15. They consisted of single-cylinder engines, salvaged from pumps, wheels from express wagons, several wooden two-by-fours and a few slats of wood.

The miniature blitz buggies had no brakes. The drivers dragged their feet to stop.

Lowly 2nd Division A.L. Teams Turn On Leaders; Hand All Four Defeats

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

CLOSE ONE

The Redmen with a skeleton crew battled the Petes in a nifty spot of baseballing up in Peterborough last night but bowed to Bill Stewart's crew by a 5-3 count. The win puts the Petes on an even footing with the Kingston Monarchs. Johnny Mowat went the route and was tabbed for eight hits one a triple by Arn Dugan, while Billy Strahan and Mowat got two for four. The Petes led 2-0 up to the seventh when the Reds took the lead by the odd run, but the Petes roared back to rack up three in their half of the chukker and that was that. Good piece of baseball with young Clancy going well for seven but calling on Lefty Bill Dadson for help from there in. Kingston Monarchs are guests of the Petes tomorrow night while they play here on Thursday evening.

LOOK WHO'S HERE

Lord Athol Layton who, according to last week's demonstration by the faithful is the bloke most likely to lead the permanent hate parade here, is back again next Friday night. But the Herr? Nein. Ja, he kissed the canvas last week while an unreasonable facsimile of a referee, and the Laytonian master-mind one Lou Petrocia did a Charge of the Uhlans, ran the gauntlet, swung into a lion-tamer's role with chair-swinging act, and escaped unscathed.

Nein, die Herr verboten!

So, wha-hoppen? Back comes the Whip and the Clip in resumption of a feud that threatens to continue until they draw that forty bucks a month. Yup, Whip Watson and "Clip" Layton will be back Friday night while two gentlemen in white will cavort in, out and about the ring in an effort to prevent the brawl from approaching anything that resembles a penitentiary riot, Coxey's Army on the move, Custer's Last Stand or the retreat from Moscow. There's been many a flip twixt the Clip and the Whip, but this one bids fair to outstrip them all.

Warren Bockwinkle is back in the semi-final with the ole brawler Dangerous Dan O'Connor while Billy Slack takes on one Roberto Pico, Mexican, Si?

MOVIES FOR KIDS

According to Recreation Director "Red" Doran, the recreation commission now includes movies for the youngsters in its itinerary. Starting this week films will be shown at the East and West Hill playgrounds and will consist of comedies and cartoons. This in co-operation with the National Film Board. The movies will be shown at the East Hill playground on Wednesday night and the West Hill on Thursday night.

The Recreation Commission, Doran adds, also has in effect a swimming program in connection with the Kinsmen Club pool. The commission transports children, via Rawson bus line, from the playgrounds to the pool. They are returned under playground supervision. The schedule calls for the Brock Street and West Hill playgrounds on Monday; Charles Street, East Hill, Tuesday; King George, Firemens' Park Wednesday; CNR Park, Churchill Heights, Thursday and Bayview and Foster Ward, Friday.

COULD HAPPEN TO YOU-

Scared of lightning while fishing in a boat? Remember you are just as liable to stop a bolt out there as you are under your favorite tree. But if you do get caught in a boat during a violent electrical storm, here's what to do, and it is the result of experiments of a professor in a Texas University.

Attach a metal fishing rod to the side of the boat so that the handle is in constant contact with he water and the tip projected vertically in the air above the heads of the boat's occupants. However, whether the makeshift lightning arrester is in place or not, it is best to lie down in the craft so that the body is below the gunwales.

Lightning, the professor states, is discharged from cloud to ground or to the closest object between the cloud and the ground. A fisherman, fishing from a boat on a river where the banks extend above the boat, may be comparatively safe, but anglers caught out where shore lines are distant would be in danger.

"LITTLE GIANTS" WIN

Schwab's Little Giants won the right to represent the city in the Ontario Baseball Association peewee playdowns at Exhibition Grounds last night when they defeated Paul's Motel 12-6 to sweep the best of three series in two straight games. Timely clouting plus Motel errors paved the way for the Giants win in a series that produced a fine brand of baseball. Rivalry was keen between the squads and judging from the heckling in the stands last night, it extends to the supporters of both squads. The Giants played good baseball throughout behind the fine hurling of young Johnny Elliott and on their play of the series are fitting representatives of the city.

Spahn Receives Threat Letter

CHICAGO — (AP) — A letter threatening pitcher Warren Spahn of Boston Braves prompted police yesterday to assign a detail to guard the star hurler during his three-game stay in Chicago.

Police said the letter apparently was inspired by the June 8 injury of Frank Baumholtz, Cub outfielder. Baumholtz suffered a broken right hand when hit by one of Spahn's pitches.

The letter sent to Spahn in Pittsburgh, contained a newspaper clipping of the Baumholtz injury and was unsigned, police said.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Yanks Go Down Before Tigers, Washington Scalps Tribe 15-4, Browns, Phils Trim Pair-o-Sox

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland and New York, the titans of the American League, clash at Yankee Stadium tonight in the first game of a vital five-game series with first place at stake.

The Indians can wrest the top rung from the Yankees if they win all five games. They trail by 3½ games.

At the same time, Chicago's third-place White Sox and Boston's fourth-place Red Sox meet in the first game of a three-game series at Fenway Park.

All four contenders suffered surprising defeats by second-division clubs yesterday.

Yanks Lose 8-2

The Yankees bowed to Detroit's tail-end Tigers 8-2; Washington whipped the Indians 15-4; St. Louis and Philadelphia Athletics edged the White Sox 2-1.

In curtailed National League activity, Brooklyn maintained its 5½-game advantage over New York with a 6-0 triumph in St. Louis after the giants had vanquished the Reds 6-2 in Cincinnati. Rain postponed the scheduled Phillies-Cubs game in Chicago. Boston and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Cleveland has won three of four in New York this season. All three triumphs came in the opening series here last Maay. The Yankees have captured four of six in Cleveland.

The Indians will be bolstered by the return of Luke Easter. The big Negro first baseman was recalled from Indianapolis yesterday and ordered to join the Indians in time for tonight's game. Luke was sent down June 30 "to regain his confidence and batting eye." He was hitting .208 at the time and had been guilty of numerous fielding miscues.

Batting Improves

In his first five games with the American Association club, Easter batted .385, hit four home runs and drove in seven runs.

Dave Madison hurled eight scoreless innings for the Browns yesterday but was batted out of the box in a hectic ninth when Boston got its five runs. Dick Gernert hit a three-run homer.

The Yankees gave one of their poorest exhibitions of the season against Detroit, committing two errors, handing out six walks and leaving 15 runners stranded.

Carl Erskine turned back the fast-moving Cardinals with three hits as he recorded his third shutout and his ninth win for Brooklyn.

Bobby Thomson and Whitey Lockman cracked four hits apiece to help the Giants down the Reds as Jim Hearn picked up his 10th victory.

Hamilton Downs St. Kitts 12-8

HAMILTON. (CP)—Hamilton Tigers last night downed St. Catharines Athletics 12-8 in a scheduled Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A fixture.

Jack Dorney was top man for the Tigers, banging in five goals in a game that was marked by hectic moments. Both St. Catharines coach Joe Cheevers and Hamilton trainer Bud Minet were expelled from the park for arguing midway through the game.

Olympic Soccer Preliminaries Start Today

By BEN PHLEGAR

HELSINKI (AP) — Soviet Russia enters Olympic competition tonight for the first time.

On the soccer field at Kotka, a bare 32 miles from the Russian border, the husky All-Star team from Moscow will meet their friendly neighbors from Bulgaria. The match is one of nine preliminaries to the genuine Olympic soccer competition, which begins Saturday.

The game probably will be a good one even though the Soviets make a habit of mopping up on their eastern European allies in sports. The Russians are a prime favorite to win the Olympic soccer event. Bulgaria, however, played this same team to a 1-1 draw in a recent practice game in Moscow.

Russians Take Spotlight

The Russian show will steal the Olympic spotlight away from Helsinki even though full-scale Olympic competition opens in field hockey in this clean, modern city this evening. Switzerland plays Austria and Finland meets Belgium. Field hockey will complete all its matches up to the semi-finals before the official opening of the games Saturday.

In the other soccer games tonight Yugoslavia will meet India, Hungary will play Romania, Poland will tackle France and Denmark will face Greece.

The preliminary basketball competition, designed to chop an original entry of 23 down to 16 by the time the Games open, runs into its second day of double elimination.

Canada won her match 68-57 over Italy yesterday, smothering a second-half rally by her opponents. Edmonton's Bob Pickell racked up 13 points, with Woody Campbell and Bob Phibbs of Tillsonburg, Ont., getting 11 each. Canada meets Romania, which got through the first round on a bye.

Sheer Weight of Numbers Favors American to Cop Canadian Open

by FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Can a Canadian win the 1952 Canadian Open?

Even Canada's own golfers say they haven't a hope of overcoming tournament-hardened Americans in the $15,000 72-hole classic opening tomorrow at the Winnipeg St. Charles Club.

Sheer weight of numbers favors the invaders. The official draw, issued last night, shows 148 golfers in the field—71 from Canada and 76 from the United States plus one competitor from South America, Robert Divicenzo of Buenos Aires.

The U.S. pros are sharpened by their year-round tournament competition. Canadian pros say they have to concentrate on teaching and other club duties and haven't the time to develop the concentration and skill needed for tournament play.

Canuck Won In '14

Last Canadian to win the event was Karl Keffer of Ottawa in 1914. Only break in the steady round of U.S. victories came in 1946 when Bobby Locke of South Africa captured the title with a record score of 268 at Toronto.

Lock's record seems in little danger this year over the deceptive par-72 St. Charles course where the competitive record is 67, shot two years ago by Wally Ulrich of St. Paul, Minn., one of the entries in this week's event.

Concensus is that a score of 274 to 276 will be enough to take home the $3,000 first-place prize.

Defending champion Jim Ferrier of San Francisco headed a list of top-flight Americans who checked in yesterday.

Tommy Bolt of Durham, N.C., shot a six-under-par 66 for the best practice round of the day, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, one of Canada's main hopes, went around in 68.

Accuracy Essential

If Ferrier can get his putter to work he may be the first man to win the Canadian Open three times in succession. The course is made to order for the transplanted Australian who plays every shot with studied deliberation. Not long—it will play at 6,377 yards—it calls for accuracy rather than length off the tee, backed up by good putting. But on the U.S. tournament circuit this year, Ferrieer's putter has not been working in its accustomed style.

Two other former champions are listed in the draw—Dutch Harrison, 1949 winner, and Lawson Little, 1936 champion.

The field is cut to low 100 and tied for the third 18-hole round Friday and to low 60 and ties for the final Saturday.

Canada's primary textile industry, the country's largest manufacturing employer, consists of 791 mills located in 269 cities and towns scattered through all 10 provinces.

Canadians Trim Italians 68-57 In Basketball

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

HELSINKI — (CP) — Canada defeated Italy 68-57 today in the preliminary Olympic basketball tournament but the Canadians were given a big scare.

Leading 35-25 in the first half, the Canadians almost threw this one away by erratic shooting. This was pointed up by 17 missed foul shots — eight in the first half and nine in the second.

Canada led 45-32 early in the second half before the Italians took command. Less than seven minutes of the game remained when Italy had chopped the lead down to 51-49 and the Canadians looked disorganized.

Bob Phipps, Bill Pataky and Bob Pickell recovered their shooting eyes and within two minutes sent Canada into a 10-point lead.

The Canadians froze the ball near the end to assure victory. They meet Romania Tuesday morning.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The most compelling figure in Olympic Games trials anywhere — perhaps in the games themselves — will be a blind man.

There's something heart-catching about the blind, their struggle against the unkind and tragic blows of Fate that have robbed them of the opportunity to see the physical beauties and the color of a very wonderful world. And there's something even more poignantly gripping and profoundly impressive in the struggle of those in the dark to maintain some parallel with the life they cannot see.

So we believe that an almost blind athlete, who has completely lost the sight of one eye, and the other seriously affected, offers a most heroic figure among the great athletes of this continent who will compete for places on the United States Olympic team.

The gallant athlete in question is Bill Bangert. He finished fourth in the shotput feature of the National Indoor track championships held at Madison Square Garden recently. He put the 16-pound weight 52 feet 10¼ inches, which was one-quarter of an inch better than his title-winning toss in 1945. Jim Fuchs, world champion, won with 56 feet, 3⅛ inches.

The remarkable part of Bangter's feat was that the almost sightless athlete had to be led to the putting ring where, of course, he was on his own.

Amazingly, this blind young giant's recent effort was better than any Olmypic record prior to that of the London games, when W. M. Thompson won with 56 feet 2 inches. In that event the great American athlete, Fuchs was third with a put almost exactly the same as Bangert's 53 feet, 10½ inches.

The mighty Ralph Rose, four times U.S. national champion and twice Olympic winner, could not do as well as this sightless boy has done. Rose's best was an even 51 feet.

Bangert's determination and tremendous courage in the face of a disheartening physical condition, are typical of his entire life — in business, sports. Before his eye-sight failed, he was a varsity football player as well as shot and discus star at Missouri University, and later at Purdue. He reached the national amateur heavyweight boxing final. He made a success as a road-builder. He even did a good job as a singer, but it took too much time from business.

The world will wish this gallant soul well in his battle for Olympic fame. Indeed the world admires all athletes who, despite physical handicaps, make their way well along the athletic trail. But those who live in the twilight of vision far below the normal are the most compelling of all, and it is amazing how, in several varieties of sport, they have risen above a deficiency which might be thought insurmountable.

Athletes whose eyesight is below normal dot the baseball picture. There are a dozen be-spectacled stars in baseball, in the major leagues, several in the minors. They are by no means blind, of course, but their eye-sight is not good. Yet they have overcome that handicap. Several players in major hockey have worn glasses. Hal Laycoe of Boston Bruins is one. When Canadiens won the Stanley Cup in 1946, one of their stars was the whirlwind "Dutch" Hiller, a little bit of a be-spectacled player who could really fly, but whose defective vision forced him to wear heavy glasses.

Joe Becker Fired As Leaf Coach Burleigh Grimes Named Successor

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Becker was fired early today as manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League and Burleigh Grimes was appointed as his successor.

Owner Jack Kent Cooke announced the change a few hours after the fourth-place Leafs dropped a 10-inning 8-4 decision to Ottawa Athletics.

Grimes, one of the last of the spitball pitchers for Brooklyn Dodgers in the 20s and 30s, managed Toronto for two seasons and part of a third, leading the Leafs to their last pennant in 1943.

Cooke said Grimes has left his post as a scout for New York Yankees and will fly to Ottawa to take charge of the Leafs for tonight's doubleheader against the Athletics.

The Leaf owner said Becker's salary will be paid for the remainder of the season and that he will offer the deposed manager a front-office job.

Frank Colman of London, Ont., will be retained as playing coach.

Becker had been manager of the club since the start of the 1951 season.

Reynolds Holds Slight Edge Over Shantz, Garcia

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Reynolds of New York Yankees is the American League's most effective pitcher today although he holds only a slight edge over Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz and Mike Garcia, Cleveland's hard-working righthander.

Earned-run averages through games of last Sunday disclose that Reynolds has allowed only 22 earned runs in 136 innings for a 1.46 average. Allie has an 11-4 record.

Shantz is close behind the Yankee ace with 1.65 followed by Garcia at 1.67. Bobby, a 15-game winner, has permitted 29 earned runs in 158 innings while Garcia, with 13 victories and six setbacks, has given up 30 earned tallies in 162 frames.

In the National League, lefthander Curt Simmons of Philadelphia Phillies, making a strong comeback after nearly two years n the army, boasts the lowest earned-run average, 2.03. Robn Roberts, another of Steve o'Neil's hurlers, is next in line with 2.24. Simmons has allowed 21 earned runs in 93 innings and Roberts 42 in 169.

Olympic Notes

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—An air of expectancy gripped the Canadian Olympic camp today as the oarsmen awaited arrival of new sweep-oared shells from Canada.

Two shells arrived by ship from Stockholm yesterday.

The Canadian shells are being rushed by air from Toronto to replace those battered to pieces aboard ship during an Atlantic storm. Their lack has handicapped the training of Canadian oarsmen for the Olympic rowing scheduled to start July 20.

The oarsmen and scullers wasted most of yesterday due to the late arrival of the two sweep-oared shells by ship from Stockholm late in the day. However, the Leander and Argonaut crews managed a two-hour workout.

A front-page spread in the Helsinki papers showed the twisted mass of sculls and sweep-oars on the Helsinki wharves—the debris of the Caadian shells wrecked in the Atlantic storm.

The Canadians are receiving sympathy from all competing countries over their misfortune. Tom Stone, Canadian Minister in Stockholm, has written a letter of thanks to newspapers in that city for the efforts of the Swedish Rowing Association and various rowing clubs to help out the oarsmen..

The feminine track competitors have been going great guns in training with the exception of Shirley Echel of Toronto, one of the brightest hopes in the 80-metre hurdles. She missed training yesterday for the third straight day because of knotted leg muscles which are causing some anxiety.

She's expected to resume training today, however. The tiny sprinter, the most photogenic on the Canadian team, has had her picture appearing almost daily in the Helsinki newspapers.

Alice Whitty of Vancouver, who placed first in the Hamilton Olympic trials with a high jump of five feet, yesterday made the best practice showing of her career, leaping just over five feet, one inch. Officials figure she'll wind up in the first six.

Canadian boxers did two hours' roadwork and the swimmers tried out the Olympic outdoor pool and found it "wonderful."

Prime Minister Urho Kekkonen of Finland predicts that the stars of the 1952 Olympic Games will be Bob Mathias and Mal Whitfield of the United States and Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia.

It could only happen in Finland—a Prime Minister so well posted he can deliver authoritative opinions on sports. It is no accident. Dr. Kekkonen in 1924 was Finnish high jump champion at 1.85 metres.

"I think every Olympic track record, with four exceptions, probably will be bettered here," he said in an interview in Helsinki yesterday. "Finland will be lucky to win two championships, the javelin and marathon."

Mathias, from Tulare, Calif., is the defending Olympic champion in the decathlon and the world record holder. This is a 10-cent test of all-round skill and stamina.

Whitfield is an Ohio State Negro who won the 800-metre event in 1948 at London and is out to retain his championship and add the 400-metre title to it. Zatopek, the world's best distance runner, may try to win the 5,000 and 10,000 metres and marathon. He won the 10,000 at London in 1948.

The four Olympic records that Dr. Kekkonen thinks will stand up are: 100-metres, :10.3, Eddie Tolan, U.S., 1932, and Harrison Dillard, U.S., 1948; 110-metre hurdles, :13.9, W. F. Porter, U.S., 1948; broad jump, 8.06 metres — 26 feet, 5 5-16 inches—Jesse Owens, U.S., 1936; and hop, step and jump, 16.00 metres, Naota Tajima, Japan, 1936.

Jersey Joe Walcott, 38-year-old heavyweight champion, and Julie Boros, United States open golf champion, tied for the June award in the Hickok "pro athlete of the month" competition. It was announced in New York yesterday that Walcott received 31 firsts to Boros' 25 but they were all even with 162 points on a 3-2-1 point basis.

George C. Wagner, 92, St. Louis Browns shortstop in 1883-84, died at Okawville, Ill., Sunday of infirmities. His 1883 contract, which will go to the baseball Hall of Fame museum at Cooperstown, N.Y., called for a salary of $175 a month.

Hopeful East Germa athletes and officials have arrived in Helsinki, awaiting an International Olympic Committee decision on whether they will be allowed to compete in the Olympic Games. The East Germans, mostly yachtsmen, are staying in the Iron Curtain countries camp. The officially-recognized West German team is quartered at the main Olympic village.

A total of 1,850 press and radio reporters and photographers will cover the Olympic Games.

Trevor Allen, 34-year-old traffic cop, yesterday won the 54-mile Durban to Maritzburg marathon. Allen's time for the race, described as the world's toughest marathon since the 33 runners had to climb 5,000 feet, was seven hours and two seconds.

Detroit Tigers yesterday recalled second baseman Al Federoff from their Buffalo farm club in an effort to bolster an infield weakened when the regular Tiger second baseman, Jerry Priddy, broke his leg July 6. Federoff currently sports a .291 average.

Sports Roundup

By JIM KENSIL

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been a baseball maxim for years to say American Leaguers go for the big inning while the National boys are content to play for the one run.

But now with the display of power hitting by the senior circuit players in the last few All-Star games and with the current home-run and runs-batted-in totals showing the American League leaders trailing the National, one begins to wonder.

Marion's View

Marty Marion, 1951 St. Louis Cardinal skipper and for the last five weeks manager of St. Louis Browns, views it this way:

"Leagues don't mean anything. The ball players are what count. If in the past the American Leaguers consistently went for the big inning, it was because they had the material.

"Take us, for instance. We're an American League club, but we haven't the power to go for the big inning. We have to play for the one run."

Marty says he's too busy right now trying to find out what's wrong with the Browns to be bothered about the National League. But he agrees that the N.L. dominance in homer and runs-batted-in leaders shows the loop holds a significant edge in power.

However, the slim shortstop doesn't think any team in the National can compare with New York Yankees.

"Not even Brooklyn. The Yanks may not have the sluggers they used to have or may not have as many long-ball hitters as the Dodgers, but they have the balance. They're more balanced than any other club."

London Climbs Over Terriers; Panthers Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors last night were blasted into fourth place in the senior Intercounty Baseball League on a home run by first baseman Bobby Bloxam. The run gave them a 3-1 win over Galt Teriers and dropped that club into fifth spot.

The last-place St. Thomas Elgins blanked the second-place Kitchener Panthers 2-0 on a one-hitter by righthander Bob Griffith.

Bloxam's sixth-inning homer into deep right field broke up a 1-1 tie. Both clubs picked up a single run in the second.,

The Majors were handed their third counter in the ninth, when Bob McDonald, Galt's third pitcher of the evening, issued two walks to force in the run.

Hal Rockburn was tagged with the loss.

Jim Gifton started for London and was relieved by Bill Arnold in the ninth.

Gives One Hit

The only hit off the Elgin's Bob Griffith was a triple by Kitchener second baseman George Boniface in the sixth. Griffith fanned four and walked three. No runners reached first base in six innings.

Rightfielder Don Butler was top hitter for St. Thomas with three for four including a double.

Guelph goes to Waterloo in tonight's single scheduled game.

Schwab's Giants Win Peewee Series In Two Straight

Schwab's "Little Giants" won the right to represent the city in the Ontario Baseball Association playdowns at Exhibition Park last night defeating the Paul's Motel team 12-6 for their second win of the best-of-three series.

Johnny Elliott won his second game of the series scattering ten hits three each coming in the 3rd and seventh. He struck out four and walked three.

Gordie Vaughan started for the Motels and lasted until the fourth when the Giants exploded for six hits and seven runs to sew up the game. Ryan went in and was tabbed for two hits, one a three-run homer by O'Neill before retiring the side. Ryan whiffed one and walked four while Vaughan struck out three and issued one pass.

Giants came up with three runs in the second off Walker's triple and Schwab's single plus a Motel error. They erupted for seven in the fourth and tabbed two insurance markers in the seventh.

Motels scored singles 3, 4, 5 and 6th innings and a pair in the seventh off three hits. Foster blasted a home run in the fifth with nobody on bases.

Motels committed four miscues some of which were costly while Giants kicked the ball around twice. Coach Foster of the Motels was tossed out of the game by plate umpire Don Thomas.

The score:—

Paul's Motel	001 111 2—	6	10	4
Giants	030 702 x—	12	12	2

Vaughan, (4) Ryan and Foster; Elliott and Coe.

Diesels Tie For 1st Place, Beat Glens 4-3

CNR Diesels moved into a first place tie with Glen Roy Juniors in the Belleville and District Softball League last evening by handing the Juniors a 4-3 licking at the Alemite Field.

The win was the Diesels' 15th in 17 starts and left them tied with the Juniors with an identical 15-2 record. The defeat, the second sustained by the Glens this season, was the second one-run loss to the Diesels, the only team in the league to hold a decision over them. In their previous meeting the Diesels took a 7-6 decision in 10 innings.

John Batchelor put the Glens out in front in the bottom of the first inning when he smashed a line drive home run to right centrefield with Barclay aboard on a walk.

Vern and Leo Goyer evened the count for the Diesels in the second inning. Vern singled to right field and took second as the fielder bobbled the ball. Leo singled to right to score Vern and then moved down to second on the relay to the plate. He moved to 3rd on a passed ball and scored on Culkin's fly to right.

Wannamaker scored the third tally for the Juniors in the second inning. He was safe on a fielder's choice that erased O'Brien, took third on Carr's single to right. Hunter beat out an infield hit to load the bases. Barclay struck out and then DeGray dumped a slow roller to third that was bobbled to let Wannamaker in. Hull grounded to short to force DeGray for the third out.

Goyer Homers

Vern Goyer tied the game for Diesels by knocking the first pitch in the seventh inning for a tremendous home run down the right field line and out of the park.

In the ninth Vern led off with a single to left and came round to third on pass balls. Leo Goyer was safe at first on an infield roller that was played to nail brother Vern at third but failed. Alf Rowbotham banged a single into left field to score Vern with the winning run.

The Juniors pulled off two double plays in the game; one in the first inning when Barclay doubled Ronsky off first on Glen Young's hoist to left field. Ronsky was run down and tagged after the relay.

The second twin killing occurred in the ninth when Batchelor dug Corbett's grounder out of the dirt in time to force Rowbotham at second before firing to first to beat Corbett.

Don Boyle did the flinging for the Diesels and over the route walked one, struck out ten, and gave up seven hits for three runs. Bob Hunter, on the firing line for the Glens, walked two, struck out seven, and gave up eight hits over the course.

Best at the plate for the winners was Vern Goyer with two singles and a home run in four tries. He scored three of his team's four runs. Batchelor had a home run and a single for the losers in four tries, while Claude Carr had two singles in four tries.

Lineups:

CNR: Hunter lf; Ronsky 3b; G. Young rf; V. Goyer ss; L. Goyer 2b; Rowbotham c; Culkin cf; Corbett 1b; Boyle p.

Glen Roy: Barclay lf; DeGray 1b; Hull ss; Batchelor 2b; Goyer 3b; O'Brien rf; Wannamaker cf; Carr c Hunter p. Green batted for Wannamaker in the 9th.

Royals Push Lead, Grand Slam Beats Leafs in Tenth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals today are enjoying their biggest lead of the International League season. But they have five more games coming up with second-place Rochester and they'll have to keep winning as they did last night to stay that far in front.

The first contest of the lengthy series saw the Royals come up with a five-run ninth to break a 4-4 tie and win 9-4.

In other games, third-place Syracuse, only one-half game behind Rochester, whipped Baltimore 13-2; Ottawa topped Toronto 8-4, and Buffalo beat Springfield 10-3.

Mauro Homers

Carmen Mauro led off the Montreal ninth with a solo homer and an error, a wild pitch and four safeties followed as the roof fell in on Wings starter Jack Faszholz, the loser, and reliefer Jackie Collum.

Art Fabro, who hurled two scoreless relief innings, got the win. In addition to Mauro, Walt Moryn connected for Royals and Steve Bilko and Lou Ortiz for the losers.

Syracuse got a five-hit pitching job from Jack Griffore as they picked up 15 themselves off three Baltimore hurlers. League-leader Roy Weatherly blasted his 16th homer for the Orioles. Loren Babe, Hank Workman and Fenton Mole had round-trippers for the Chiefs.

Ottawa also went on a homer splurge to rout Toronto ace Johnny Hetki, although reliever Jess Dobernic was the loser. A grand-slam by Johnny Metkovich broke a 4-4 stalemate in the last of the ninth. Earlier Lou Limmer and Kirk had four-baggers for the winners. Joe Murray, in relief, won his sixth against three losses.

Bobby Mavis singled with the bases loaded in both the first and second innings as Buffalo scored four times in each frame over Springfield.

Golf Champion

Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon is the aCnadian Professional Golfers' Association Champion. In the annual tournament at Winnipeg, Fletcher, 36, a native of Victoria, won his first major Canadian golf title with a medal score of 210 — one stroke under Jules Huot of Montreal Laval Sur-La-Lac. — (CP Photo.)

Point Anne Wins By Default Over AA's

The game scheduled to be played last night at Point Anne between the C. N. R. AA's and Canada Cement was defaulted to Canada Cement.

An exhibition game was played however, resulting in the Point Anne team defeating the AA's, 14-3.

Petes Turn Back Redmen 5-3 With 3-Run Splurge in Seventh, Tie Kingston for 2nd Place

Peterborough — Beating Belleille Redmen 5-3 here last night, e Petes climbed into a secondlace COBL tie with Kingston lonarchs. Strategy paid off in e seventh inning when they ame from behind with a threeun drive on bunts and a few imely clouts to capture their 3rd traight victory. Lefty Bill Dadon replaced Phil Clancy on the ome mound to open the eighth nning, while Johnny Mowat vent the route for the Quinte rew.

Dadson led the Petes at bat vith one for one, while Joe Lowey got two in four tries, and Arn Dugan smashed out a triple. Mowt and Bill Strahan topped the isitors at the plate with two for our each, Ralph McCabe clouting double.

A running catch by Lowrey nd pickups by Freddy Garvey nd Bill Edger were defensive eatures in a keen contest.

Three in Seventh

Clancy was in fine slab form till he seventh inning when the Reds anged in three runs, one of them nearned. He had allowed but 3 hits till then and no walks, while anning six. Dadson hit for him in the seventh and finished trong on the mound. Mowat hrew good ball, too, but was eaten by the four cagy clouts in he seventh. His support was perect, while the Petes had two minor bobbles afield.

The homesters scored one in he third inning when Lowrey ingled and stole second, racing n on a blow to centre by Edger. They made it 2-0 in the sixth when Garvey hit to left, moved up on an out, and tore in on Young's single to right. Dugan's riple to left with none out in he fifth was wasted when he died on third.

Belleville evened the count and went a run up in the first of the eventh. With one away, McCabe doubled to left. Reeves was safe on an infield error, McCabe holding second. Semark grounded in front of the plate and Menzies threw McCabe out at third, Reeves' hit put Semark on second. Mowat singled to send in Semark, and Gilmore's blow scored Strahan.

Pagett singled in the last of the second to start the Petes off. Dadson beat out a bunt and Lowrey did likewise to load the sacks. Edger squeezed a run in with a perfect sacrifice. Garvey was safe on a fielder's choice as Lowrey was thrown out, but Dadson scored, and Menzies hit to centre sent in Garvey to make it 5-3.

Appointed Coach Oshawa Generals

OSHAWA (CP)—Gerry Brown veteran performer of the American Hockey League Hershey Bears, yesterday was appointed coach of Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit.

Brown will replace Larry Aurie, the former Detroit Red Wing star. His appointment is in line with Boston Bruin policies. The National Hockey League club has taken over sponsorship of the Generals.

LEGAL WOLF

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—If another man telephones your sweetheart, control yourself, brother, he's within the law. Magistrate W. R. Philp slapped a $15 fine on Allan McGlennon, who hit Ralph Dick for telephoning his girl friend. Dick was within his rights in seeking conversation with the lady, the court said.

Shell Delay Hits Hard At Olympic Oarsmen

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI (CP)—Word from Tom Alison in Toronto that Canada's Olympic sweep-oared shells have been delayed in Toronto has struck hard at the Olympic team oarsmen.

(Alison, equipment manager for the Olympic rowing team, said in Toronto last night the flight of the Royal Dutch Airlines plane carrying the shells from Montreal to Helsinki has been postponed 48 hours. He added the airline now wants $5,000 to fly the shells over, instead of the $3,564 quoted last week.

(It had been expected the shells would reach Helsinki tomorrow. Now it will probably be Friday before they arrive and are cleared through customs.)

The setback is the latest in a series Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Leanders have experienced since they learned last week that their boats sent to Europe for their use had been wrecked aboard ship in a North Atlantic storm.

Team manager Fred Carter has cabled Alison that if the replacement boats are not here by Friday, it will be too late and the crews will finally be convinced they will have to use Swedish boats when the Olympic rowing starts July 20.

Motor Car In League Basement Wooler Wins 12-4

Belleville Motor Car wound up their season in the league basement as they absorbed their 16th defeat in 18 games last evening as Wooler defeated them 12-4 in a Bellevilel and District League game at Wooler.

The Motors took a one-run lead in the first inning that Wooler overcame with a two-run rally in the fourth. From that point the Wooler squad was never headed.

They went on to add four more in the fifth, three in the seventh and three in the eighth.

Motor Car scored single runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Big Barney McColl did the firing for Wooler setting the Motormen down with just two hits over the route. He walked seven and struck out four.

Jack Reid did the pitching for Motor Car walking two, striking out six, and giving up 11 hits.

Wooler finish out their regular schedule Tuesday evening against Crawford Metals at the Alemite Field.

Basketball Starts In Helsinki

HELSINKI (AP)—Pre-olympic competition started yesterday in basketball as 13 teams began a round robin to determine the six that will enter Games competition next week. The results: Hungary 75, Greece 38; Cuba 59, Belgium 57; Canada 68, Italy 57; Philippines 57, Israel 47; Bulgaria 69, Switzerland 58; Egypt 64, Turkey 45.

The United States, as defending Olympic champion, and Russia, the European champion, were automatically qualified with eight other teams.

Issues Restraint On Yank Player

NEWARK, N.J., (AP)—A court order restraining Elmer H. Costa of Haledon from playing football with Montreal Alouettes was issued yesterday, but Costa was already on his way to Canada.

Judge Haydn Proctor issued the restraining order on the application of Green Bay Packers of the professional National Football League, who said Costa had a contract to play with them. The court ordered Costa to show cause July 22 why a permanent injunction should not be issued barring him from playing with anybody except the Packers.

MAUREEN LIKES ALY

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland (AP)—Tennis champion Maureen Connolly left for New York yesterday after winning the Wimbledon and Irish crowns but more excited about meeting Aly Khan. "He is wonderful," said the 17-year-old star. "I can see why he is so popular with the ladies."

Razor Blade Used as Weapon In Robbery

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A razor blade was the weapon used in the robbery of William A. Sullivan in his home at midnight last night, police were told.

A 30-year old suspect was arrested a short time later.

Sullivan said he met the man in Victoria Park and invited him to his house for a drink. There the man went to the bathroom and returned with a razor blade.

He forced Sullivan to his knees, robbed him of $50, then forced him to accompany him—at razor edge—while he ransacked the house.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Faith in what partner does is half the battle in bridge. When partner fails to respond at once to your opening, he says he lacks some quality for it. But it does not deny ability to bid later.

Come again to this deal:

NORTH
♠K 10 6
♥Q J 8 6 5 3
♦A J 7 5
♣None

WEST
♠J 9 8 5
♥None
♦4 2
♣J 10 9 8 7 4 3

EAST
♠A Q 7 4 3 2
♥A 9 4 2
♦Q 6
♣A

SOUTH
♠None
♥K 10 7
♦K 10 9 8 3
♣K Q 6 5 2

The bidding progressed this far:

East	South	West	North
1 S	1 NT	Pass	3 H
3 S	4 H

West now backs in with a bid of four spades. He has the tricks for it. His earlier pass simply denied some quality for an immediate response. Probably a lack of high cards, which it was.

North has already told they had a game. He is willing to let his partner help decide whether they should go beyond. So, north passes. East is happy to stop at game in spades and he passes also.

South has more than he has told. His bid was five diamonds. It was a good chance to show his diamond suit. If partner would rather be in hearts, north can still change it at the same level.

Say west should now bid five spades and you will have company. But five spades may go down, west thought. And east may be able to double. If not, go to five spades. So, west passed.

North liked five diamonds and passed. The back-in assist by west made east fear his spade ace would be ruffed. So, instead of doubling, east bid five spades. Which south and west passed.

Fearing five spades might make, north bid six diamonds. At the time he expected a defeat of one trick. So what? Even if doubled, down one is better than losing game to opponents.

The player who prides himself on never being set is playing a losing game. He lets opponents make too many contracts.

GREAT RESOURCES

WINNIPEG (CP)—W. G. Coventry, United Kingdom trade commissioner here, says Canada one day may assume the role of world leadership now held by the United States. At a luncheon meeting, Mr. Coventry said Canada has resources possibly greater than any other country.

Blast Wrecks Building Owned By Gang Leader

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A violent explosion in a building owned by the notorious Big Earl Shelton early today wrecked the structure and damaged several other buildings.

Most of the city's 6,000 residents were awakened by the blast.

Police were without clues in a hunt for persons who set off the blast, apparently another in a series of reprisals against the fading Shelton clan.

No one was injured. The building was the last piece of property owned in Fairfield by the one-time southern Illinois gang leader. southern Illinois in the prohibition era.

Big Earl, 58, left Fairfield more than 18 months ago. On May 24, 1949, he was seriously wounded as he played poker in the building bombed today.

Three of Big Earl's brothers, were slain in gang style. A cafe-roadhouse of Shelton's sister, Lulu Bell, was bombed near Fairfield June 19, 1949.

Govt. Rejects Ford's Bid For More Materials

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today rejected Ford Motor Company's bid for a bigger share of materials parcelled out to the auto industry.

The decision by the National Production Authority represents a victory for the Chrysler corporation, which would have lost its no. 2 rank had Ford won out.

In its appeal filed last March, General Motors is first

In its appeal filed last March, Ford claimed it lost about $250,000,000 under N.P.A.'s system of dividing up materials.

U.S. Clergy Protest to Queen About Red Dean

LONDON (AP)—A group of United States Protestant clergymen arriving in Britain today said they had written the Queen urging that something be done about the "red" Dean of Canterbury.

Dr. Carl McIntire of New York, president of the International Council of Christian Churches, said he sent a telegram to the Queen telling her that the "pro-Communist propaganda of Dr. Hewlett Johnson is hurting the cause of Christianity and freedom.

The 78-year-old Dean returned from China last week with claims the Americans are using germ warfare in the Far East.

The U.S. clergymen are en route to the conference of the I.C. of C.C. in Edinburgh next week.

Attorney-General Sir Lionel Heald told the House of Commons yesterday that he could find no evidence to support a member of parliament's suggestion that Johnson be tried for treason.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—May be less time than you'd like or need to do some things as you wish, but grumbling or being excited never does help. Best to pitch in with material at hand.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—You may be especially annoyed at a seemingly "little" things now. But they may be very important eventually. Chin up!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—We miss good things when they are gone, and we often appreciate too late good people who were with us and now aren't. Let that thought guide your conduct.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Anger, irritating thoughts, and doubting are tempters strictly to avoid. We have so much here for which to be grateful. Display your good self!

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Rushing matters through when you could better finish them later is wrong, but putting off also is an error too many of us make. Aim at the truer happy medium. Be tactful.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Knowing how to appreciate what you have is an art with this birth sector. Remember this now when you may be antagonistic, ruffled. Your better judgment should call for poise.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Manufacturing, invention, research, travel, art, music, outdoor activity under stimulating rays now.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Feel a bit wilted? Well, don't fume or be excited. Be sensibly careful. Calm control is the order of the day.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Unyielding, opinions are unwise. So is the opposite attitude of laxness, indecision. That efficient middle road, please.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Hindering, opposing, and inertness are alternate tempters to watch out for particularly. Keep your temper; exercise reason.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Drive a little, stay a little; work some, play a little. Make your day healthy by more than one activity, and, even if work is most pressing, get in some recreation.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Some rebellious tendencies and impracticable leanings this period. And mind, too, how you accept things and react in general. Even tempo urged.

YOU BORN TODAY are lovers of nature, children, adventure, and good conversation with happy companions. Develop your talents and personality. Don't let them lay dormant. And curb supersensitiveness and fear of failure. Birthdate of: Sir Joshua Reynolds, noted painter.

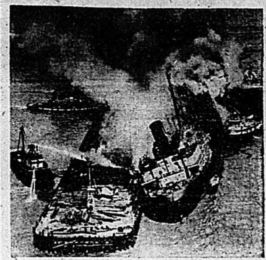
Oil Tanker Provides Fire Spectacle



Fireboats are shown battling the flames aboard the tanker Victor H. Kelly after fire and explosions aboard the Kelly and another tanker, The Lompoc, sent smoke pouring into the sky at Martinez, Cal. The Lompoc left the pier under its own power and the fire was brought under control in midstream. One man died of a heart attack, another man is missing and 30 were injured.—Central Press Canadian.

Korean Veteran Hitchhikes Across Atlantic Ocean

LONDON (CP)—Probably few Korean veterans think of hitchhiking across the Atlantic while on 30-day leave in Canada, but that's what happened to Gnr. Charles Bailey of the 2nd Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

After serving 13 months in Korea, Bailey went home late in May. Arriving in Vancouver entitled to a travel warrant good for any destination in Canada, he went to St. John's, Nfld., hoping to hitch a ride from there to the Rhondda Valley in Wales, home of his mother, father, brothers and sisters.

The services proved co-operative and a few days later Bailey boarded an R.C.A.F plane at Dorval airport, headed for London airport along with a group of trainees on a routine operational training flight. Now he's in Ferndale, Wales, with his family.

A native of Wales, Bailey joined the R.A.F in the Second World War but was discharged when found to be only 15 years old. the merchant navy, settled in Saint John, N.B., and worked for a time in Montreal and Toronto.

In Korea, Bailey served as a Signals assistant to forward observation posts. He saw action in the Han River crossing and in the battle of the Imjin River.

Sentenced as Spy

Still pleading innocence on the charge of passing confidential information to a Russian agent, William Marshal, 24-year-old British radio clerk, was sentenced to five years in jail by a London judge. Marshal admitted he was sympathetic to the Russian way of life but denied that notes found in his wallet had been made by him. — Central Press Canadian.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was riding downtown with ma in the car, and the traffic cop blew his whissle, ma saying, Oh dear, he means me, the red lite came on too quickly and delibritly trapped me into going through it. Oh dear, here he comes now, and he's that terrible red faced officer that nobody likes. Oh well, he cant legally give me more than one tickit, so I mite as well give hi ma bitter dose of his own medecine, she said.

Which just then the traffic cop came up, and he started to say, Listen, lady, and ma quick said, I'd like you to kindly do a little listening yourself if you dont mind. The driver directly in frunt of me drove through the lite before I did, she said.

Then she is just as gilty as you, the cop said, and ma said, Oh no, she isn't anything of the kind, because she happened to be a he, in other werds it wa a man driver.

Whatever she wasn or whatever he did, you are the gilty party that I cawt in the act, the cop said, and ma said, Of course, I am, and I'm glad to hear you say so. In other werds you admit you ignore the men drivers and just pick on the women. Well let me tell you that women are just as important in this werld as men. Where would you be today if it wasn't for your mother? You ought to be ashmed of yourself, taking advantage of your brawney mussels to shew favortism agenst women. And then you brazenly stand there and admit it, she said.

Lady, I'm going to hand myself over to the judge, and I hope for the sake of my own conscience he gives me a life sentence, the cop said. Now get going, he said.

Meening without a tickit, and proving ladies are wonderful.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

Satisfied that no one was near, the barefooted man laid his rifle beneath a clump of willow brush and covered it carefully with dried leaves. Again he looked carefully about while I gazed fearfully from a crack beneath the granite. Seeing, nothing, he waded down the bank of the pool, walking over the crushed fern, clambered over the low rocks, held his nose and slid down into the black depths of the water.

I waited for him to come up, my heart beating like a drum. He remained out of sight.

Horrified, I watched that calm water. The ripples that he caused by entering it subsided. Its calm surface remained still.

Shakily I crept into my tent. Then to my complete surprise, I heard voices of the two men, still patiently waiting for me. They had not missed me and, as I emerged, Dr. David Roberts said: "You did pretty well to make yourself so charming in 15 minutes." Those minutes had seemed like a lifetime.

So positive was I that I alone could solve this dreadful situation that I did not doubt my ability or capacity to do so. As I walked toward the lodge with the two men I was outwardly politely listening to their talk and inwardly scheming to go back, unseen, to the stream.

My plans were interrupted for a moment. A police officer stepped out from behind a clump of aspen and saluted Sergeant Duncan.

"On duty, Sergeant, and at your service. My name is Wallace. Captain Martin and the coroner, Bob Gould, are here from Blue Valley. Came in by Dead Ox Flat. A posse is scattered over the district searching for the killer."

Then quite suddenly it came to me that this was the motorcycle trooper who stopped me at Carquinez Bridge and asked me to have my brakes checked. It was he who asked if I were Elsie Martinson. I remembered his insolent, gray eyes.

Impulsively, I turned to Dr. Roberts and in tones little better than a whisper I told him of the coincidence.

If Wallace recognized me, he certainly did not show it.

Once more I recounted the whole story, since the rifle bullet hit my car at Horseshoe Springs. Both police and Roberts jotted down notes in small books.

Duncan interrupted his scribbling to say, "There's a woman in this some place! She stood in the road by your tree and she hit Professor Ordell over the head, stole a tray of food and Professor Ordell's notes of the tragedy and then vanished."

We sat on the log at the curve of the trail where the building of the lodge was visible above the meadow and through the trees.

From the direction of the kitchen came the sound of a shot, a shout, and screams. With no thought of me, Duncan and the Doctor started running toward the lodge. Officer Wallace drew his gun.

My knowledge of the happening would have to wait! Now was my chance to go back to the pool. Now or never! I would not be missed for a time. I turned in the trail and sped back to my tent.

As I ran I unbuckled my belt, and jerked off my jacket and sweater as I reached the tent. It was but a minute's work to scramble out of my clothes and into my swim.

Again, I slipped out of the back of the tent and unsnapped Sue's leash.

As I knew she would, the good dog ran instantly to the willow brush beneath which the rifle lay hidden. She scratched at the leaves. I reached her side and scooped away more leaves. The rifle was gone!

It was easy to see why! The murderer had come from his hiding place beneath the waters, recovered his rifle, and used it to fire the shot we heard.

I went into the water by clambering down the bank as far as possible. Then I caught a long breath, pinched my nose tightly and slithered down into the dark icy depths. It was probably 15 feet deep.

Frantically, I looked about. Green moss lay on dim stones imbedded in the bank. Water plants waved with the motion of the water caused by my swimming. I could detect no cave, outlet, or passage.

The current dragged me slightly to the right. I pushed with my hands on the stones and felt a spot where the pool branched off and down to, apparently, an underground stream.

My breath was gone. I bobbed up to the surface beside my dog to breathe. Catching a mighty breath I grabbed poor Susie tightly and pulled her under. We went down together. She struggled violently and it took every ounce of my strength to hold her. I reached for bottom letting myself drift with the current and we were carried into the hole or cavern where the stream led.

I found that I could stand upright with my head and shoulders out of the water. I supported Sue's paws in my arms and her head was above the surface.

It was dark as the grave. There was probably an arched ceiling above and beyond us. The air I breathed was damp and fetid.

Then as we rounded a slight bend, I saw a faint light. It was dim and pale but it was soft yellow, blessed light of day, a deliverance for Sue and me.

I waded toward it and the heretofore black water and rock walls became a dull but comforting gray.

The stream apparently branched and the large fork went to the right. To the left at a sharp angle I saw a cave. It was large, lighted faintly by sunshine that filtered through small cracks in the rocky ceiling and a by a softly-glowing fire. I smelled the odor of wood smoke.

Shaking from head to foot but as silently as possible, I climbed up the rocky bank and out of that awful water.

Sue scrambled up beside me.

The sight that met my eyes will be with me always.

The cave was really arranged as a crude but rather comfortable room. A wooden cupboard was against the wall. It was without doors and held a miscellaneous assortment of dishes, smoke-stained pots and pans and simple supplies for housekeeping.

The smouldering fire lay on a flat granite slab at the far end of the cave and over the improvised hearth was a crude iron crane for holding pots. At the moment, it held a large and sooty granite kettle that steamed slightly.

Above the hearth, a cleft in the rock ceiling admitted light and probably served as a sort of chimney.

There was a rough bunk against the wall and above it hung a crucifix. In the bunk lay a figure.

It was the body of Mrs. Ordell!

Sue saw it too. Then her bristling attitude of attack relaxed, her tail wagging inquisitively, she looked into the bunk and shook her big body to throw the water from her coat. The fine spray of ice water showered the figure. It stirred.

Prison Riots Spur Govt. to Amend Criminal Code

Guelph Uprising Initiates Move to Deal With Rioters

TORONTO (CP) — A new offence—"prison insurrection" — may go into the Canadian Criminal code as a result of the July 5-6 riot at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph.

Reform Institution Minister Foote announced yesterday the Ontario government will ask the federal government to amend the Criminal Code to provide a charge to deal with prison rioters.

Meantime, his deputy, Col. Hedley Basher, said 121 prisoners have been singled out for possible punishment in connection with the riot. He said an investigation into the uprising is continuing and that upon its completion a variety of charges will be heard in Guelph magistrate's court.

Many Charges

Col. Basher said the charges will include malicious damage, assaulting a police officer, attempting jailbreaking, unlawful assembly, possessing offensive weapons, refusing to obey orders, arson and breaking the rules of the institution.

Starting July 21, prisoners will again be allowed to see visitors on the same basis as before the riot.

Mr. Foote in his report to the government on the riot recommended that Ontario set up separate institutions for incorrigible prisoners not deemed worthy of reform institutional care. Under this system, first offenders and others who desire rehabilitation and prove worthy of it would not be exposed to hardened criminals.

The separate institutions, "maximum security" jails, would house the estimated 10 percent who cannot be rehabilitated.

Mr. Foote said Ontario reformatories are being loaded with prisoners who receive concurrent sentences for disturbances in the federal penitentiaries. He said that when these prisoners complete their terms in the federal institutions, they are frequently returned to Ontario reformatories to serve periods of two years less a day for infractions of federal laws.

These men, hardened criminals, are a bad influence on those who sincerely seek reformation, the minister said.

96 Led Riot

Of the reformatory riot, he said only 96 men of the prison's population of 931 prisoners were "the hard core of troublemakers."

He said press reports exaggerated the amount of damage, reported as high as $200,000. The largest items were $10,000 damage in broken plumbing and a similar amount in broken glass, he said.

"In addition, there was a certain amount of damage done to bedding and food.

"The damage would have been considerably greater but for the fact that the staff and police were able to get the riot under control within relatively few hours.

"This trend of viciousness is something that was not apparent in the early days of the institution and it now appears to have been greatly accelerated during the last few years."

Frost Agrees

Premier Frost said he agreed with Mr. Foote that a separate institution is needed for hardened offenders. It probably would not be at Guelph.

He said there was no specific or just cause for the Guelph riot.

"There was no rough treatment and the food was of the best. The young incorrigibles just don't understand reform methods and don't want to. They caused the riot."

BATS ABOUT CANDIDATE

MONTREAL (CP) — Twelve men were arrested in suburban Verdun today on charges of carrying offensive weapons—baseball bats—shortly after the polls opened for the Quebec general election. They were arrested in taxis in front of polls.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Today will be cool and sunny in most sections of Ontario but cloudiness will increase over the White River and James Bay regions and scattered showers with a few thunderstorms are forecast for those regions tonight and Thursday.

B.C. Electorate Polled Record Vote in Election

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia polled a record vote in the June 12 provincial election which defeated the Liberal administration and gave Social Credit more seats than any other party.

Final first-count returns under the alternative voting system show the vote was 744,300. The previous record was 698,066 in 1949.

The CCF which elected 18 members, got the largest share of the vote, 30 percent, compared with 35.1 in 1949. Social Credit, which elected 19 members and is expected to be called upon to form the new government, got 26.6 percent of first choice ballots. It had only 1.6 percent in 1949 and, until the June election, never had elected a member in B.C.

The Liberals took 24.2 percent and Progressive Conservatives 17.4 percent. In 1949 the two old parties, as a coalition, took a total of 61.4 percent.

Police Continue Death Probe

KINGSTON —(CP) — Police said last night they are continuing an investigation into the death of William Calhoun, 30, of Toronto, despite an announcement by Dr. M. J. Morison, Frontenac county coroner, that Calhoun died of self-inflicted wounds.

Calhoun's body was found in a ditch here Monday with several horizontal slashes across his chest.

Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney denied earlier reports that he was satisfied Calhoun killed himself.

"I have formed no opinion of this very odd case," he said, "and I won't do so until I have received all the reports from those investigating the case."

Dr. Morison's decision was based on a report from Dr. W. D. Hay, pathologist, who examined the body.

Dr. Morison said there were 11 wounds in Calhoun's body, all within a circumscribed area four inches by three inches on the left side of the chest. Only one, he said, penetrated the heart.

Thunderjets Make Long-Distance Flight

TOKYO (AP) — Fifty-eight United States Thunderjets darted down onto Yokota air force base near Tokyo today, completing the biggest mass jet overwater flight in history—10,895 miles across the U.S. and the Pacific Ocean from Turner air force base, Albany, Ga.

Fifty-nine were due but one exploded yesterday over Iwo Jima, south of Japan, killing the pilot.

U.N. Officials Expect Break Either Good or Bad in Cold War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) —There is an air of hopeful expectancy at United Nations headquarters. For good or bad something seems about to break in the cold war. The break may be in the form of a move by world Communism dictated by Moscow.

Some highly-placed persons here express the feeling that a peace in Korea—however nervous it may be—will come to pass, perhaps in August. If it does, it will fit into place a section of the whole jigsaw puzzle of Soviet world policy.

Many eyes are turned toward the chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, Jacob A. Malik, at a time when his vacation in the Soviet Union from his duties here is overdue and he has created the impression of a man awaiting important orders.

Some sources here tie up their expectations concerning Korea with the United States political scene. They put it this way:

Wit hthe nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by the Republicans for President, the U.S.S.R. faces the prospect of a dogged determination to keep South Korea out of Communist hands and to continue the western resistance to Communism elsewhere in the world, regardless of which party wins the U.S. election. The Korean adventure, costly to both Red China and the Soviet Union, may be considered no longer worth the trouble.

BENNETT NAMED SOCIAL CREDIT PREMIER OF BC

Expects to Name New Cabinet End of Month

VANCOUVER (CP) — W. A. C. Bennett who bolted the Progressive Conservative party last year, will become Social Credit Premier of British Columbia in a few weeks.

He was chosen Social Credit leader last night by his 18 fellow members-elect. He told reporters soon after selection that a Social Credit cabinet will be formed as soon as he is called upon by the Lieutenant-Governor to form a government.

This is expected to be at the end of the month. Outgoing Liberal Premier Byron Johnson said last week he will recommend that the party with the largest number of members in the 48-seat Legislature form the next government.

Final Return July 31

In the June 12 election, Social Credit elected 19 members, the CCF 18, Liberals six, Progressive Conservatives four and Labor one. Counting under the alternative voting system was completed only Saturday and re-counts are to be held in several ridings, delaying the final official tabulation probably until July 31.

Mr. Bennett, 51, was first elected to the Legislature as a Progressive Conservative in 1941. He failed twice in efforts to wrest the Conservative leadership from Herbert Anscomb.

He followed his party into the Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition and was re-elected in 1945. In 1948 he made an unsuccessful attempt to take the Yale federal seat but was again re-elected in the 1949 provincial contest.

Artillery Units Leave Picton For 'Exercise'

OAKVILLE, Ont., July 15 — The 127 and 128 Composite Anti-Aircraft Batteries, RCA, Picton, left today for the Montreal area, to take part in Exercise "Sign Post."

Exercise "Sign Post" is a continent-wide air defence exercise, which is being carried out jointly by the United States and Canada between the dates July 19 and July 27.

The batteries along with Canadian reserve force units from the Montreal area will be deployed in the anti-aircraft defence of Canada's largest city.

Besides the anti-aircraft batteries from Picton several officers from the RCSA (AA), Picton will take part including Major H. W. Winter, who will act as chief anti-aircraft umpire for the exercise.

IT WAS HOT, TOO

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Marjorie Steel, 30, and Wilfred Grignon, 34, were given suspended sentences when they appeared in court yesterday charged with throwing a 65-pound coal stove at their landlady in their suburban New-Toronto home. Police said the stove was filled with red hot coals.

Jasper Park Lodge Destroyed Hotel Official Badly Burned

JASPER, Alta. (CP) — Jasper Park Lodge, reputed to be the largest log building in the world, was destroyed last night by a fire which broke out as guests danced in the ballroom of the Rocky Mountain luxury resort.

One hotel official was badly burned. The fire did not spread to the surrounding bungalows where most of the 500 guests of the Canadian National Railways resort were housed.

The fire broke out in a checkroom shortly before 10 p.m. As some one opened the door of the checkroom, flames belched out and quickly spread through the log building. Some 200 guests in the lodge, dancing and playing cards, made an orderly exit.

25 Years Old

The lodge, built some 25 years ago as the centre of a 4,200-square-mile mountain playground, was largely given over to dining and recreational facilities. It contained some guest rooms.

A special train left Edmonton, 225 miles east of Jasper, early today to evacuate the hotel guests.

Al Peters, of Ottawa, secretary to the lodge manager, was severely burned and was brought to Jasper hospital. Jasper town is 4 1-2 miles from the lodge. Two or three other persons suffered superficial injuries.

The lodge staff and employees of the Jasper National Park manned pumps and hoses to assist the Jasper fire brigade in preventing the fire from spreading to the luxuriously-appointed bungalows which fan out from the lodge, some located only 30 feet from the building which burned.

Water was sprayed on the bungalow roofs. A light wind blew the flames toward Lac Beauvert, on the shores of which the lodge stood, and away from the guest cabins. Many of the guests were American tourists.

Cause Unknown

It was not known what caused the fire to start.

The fire came at the height of the tourist season at the mountain resort, open annually from the middle of June to the second week in September. was not known. He was caught was no tknown. He was caught by the flames while checking whether any one had been in the building. He also attempted to save the office records.

The fire was brought under control shortly after midnight. Many of the hotel guests made the 4 1-2 mile trip to Jasper town seeking accommodation but most of them later returned to their bungalows at the lodge.

A member of the hotel orchestra said the band was playing dance music when a guest in evening dress ran in shouting there was a fire. Seconds later flames flared through the main ballroom.

In a matter of minutes the whole interior of the building was in flames.

Canadians Fool Enemy Troops With Bugles, Cowbells, Bullets

By BILL BOSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—The job in Korea is the same. But new faces are getting it done.

The order of battle still reads "25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group." But, apart from the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, which arrived last October and November, it's a different outfit from the one that was here three months ago.

Difference in officers and men —but the same in assignment and performance.

Since last Nov 27, the job here has been a nerve-wearing constant watch against enemy incursion, and the patrolling of no-man's land.

Periodically it also means sitting and taking artillery and mortar pastings the like of which were unheard of a year ago.

Staff Changes

During the last three months Brig. M. P. Bogert has relieved Brig. J. M. Rockingham as commander while the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd Regiment and the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery have moved in their first-line teams.

Lord Strathcona's Horse has replaced "C" Squadron with "A" Squadron and there has been similar rotation among the service units completing the brigade group.

The R.C.R. has introduced a new note.

Lt. Col. Peter Bingham, commanding officer, decided to use a wrinkle he learned in Burma during the Second World War. He sent his men out on "jitter" patrols.

"They take bugles, bells, whistles and their fire-arms," he says, "and they creep up close to the enemy position."

"Up there they start a little firing, make the odd noise, gradually build the clatter up to a crescendo. Then the leader shouts'charge', but instead the men retire a little and watch.

Reveal Positions

"The object is to give the enemy the jitters. Then the unnerved Communists fire their weapons, thus revealing their positions.

"On these we call down artillery and mortar. Jitter patrols have been very successful and usually we have two out every night."

Bingham personally runs all patrols from his command post.

Every R.C.R. officer has had at least three patrols, and most men have done five. Current classic is one led by Lieut. A. S. Peterson of Montreal.

15-DAY SLEEP ENDS

LONDON, Ont.—(CP) — Hospital authorities reported yesterday that Mrs. Gertrude Wallis, 36, unconscious since July 1, awoke at noon. Mrs. Wallis, seven months pregnant, had been unconscious since she collapsed at her farm home near Granton after a blood vessel burst in her head. Her condition was reported "slightly improved."

Tanker Carrying Iran Oil Stalled By Court Order

ADEN (Reuters) — The tanker Rose Mary, first ship to try to reach the outside world with Iranian oil since Iran took over the British-owned industry, must remain here for another 28 days, a Supreme Court judge ruled today.

Judge Ralph A. Campbell extended until Aug. 14 an injunction detaining the 632-ton vessel in this port, where she sought shelter in a storm.

During that time the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, ousted from its massive holdings in Iran last year, will prepare an answer to arguments filed today by the ship's master, owners and charterers, who are defendants in the case.

The International Court at The Hague has ordered that no oil is to be shipped until it decides on the rights of Iran's nationalization move.

Truman Enters Army Hospital For Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman entered the army's Walter Reed hospital today for a check-up.

The President was stricken with a mild virus infection on Sunday. It had been described by his aides as not serious, but all his appointments had been cancelled this week.

Press secretary Joseph Short told reporters the President may remain at the hospital for "two or three days."

The virus infection, Short said, has been pretty much cleared up. He said Truman's fever "has about gone."

White House reporters could not recall that Truman ever entered a hospital for as long as two or three days since he became President more than seven years ago.

The decision, coming five days before the start of the Democratic national convention, could have some influence on the results of the convention. Many Democrats believe that an announcement by Truman as to whom he favors for the party's nomination for President would decide the issue.

Truman has said repeatedly he would not accept the nomination. At one time he noted that he will soon be 69 years old and that the presidency is a "man-killing job."

4 MEN MISSING AFTER EXPLOSION SINKS SPEEDBOAT

Accident Occurs On Detroit River

DETROIT, (CP)—Four, or possibly five, men were missing today after their 24-foot speedboat exploded and burned at the police harbormaster's dock on Belle Isle in the Detroit River.

The occupants of the boat are believed to have been stealing gasoline for their boat from the police pump when the explosion tore their boat apart.

Wanted to Buy Gas

Closest witnesses were three police officers and two fishermen who left the dock a moment before to look for a drowning victim. They said the speedboat came to the dock as they were leaving and a man asked to buy gasoline. He was told the dock had none for sale and the boat moved away. A fisherman said "there were four or maybe five men sitting in the boat".

Deck Hurled 100 Feet

The explosion which occurred a few minutes later ripped the deck off the boat, hurling it 100 feet across the water.

Police said they believed the speedboat returned to the dock after the fishermen and officers left. The nozzle of the dock gas pump was found dangling in the water and the gas meter showed 22 gallons had been pumped.

Failed to Heed Danger Warning

HALIFAX (CP)—The body of LS. George D. Manly of Georgetown, British Guiana, who died Saturday from cyanide poisoning, was sent yesterday to his parents in Toronto for burial.

The naval rating entered his rooming house for his bathing suit, ignoring exterminators' warnings that cyanide gas was being pumped into the building and collapsed a few feet inside the doorway.

Purse Returned --With Interest

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP) Five days ago Mrs. Lydia Perry reported her purse containing $121 was stolen. Monday night, she says, there was a knock on her back door. No one was there, but the purse lay nearby. In it was $131—$10 extra for interest, she believes.

4,000 Masons At Convention

TORONTO (CP)—More than 4,000 delegates are expected to attend the 97th annual communication of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons Grand Lodge of Canada which opens here today. The meeting, attended by representatives of 582 lodges, will be presided over by Grand Master Nelson C. Hart, of London, Ont.

N.B. ELECTION SET FOR SEPT. 22

FREDERICTON (CP)—Premier John B. McNair announced today that the New Brunswick provincial general election will be held Monday, Sept. 22.

The election will be Canada's fifth provincial contest this year, making it the busiest year for voters since 1949, when five were also held.

Uncover Charred Relics of Village Believed Site of Martyrs' Capture

PENETANGUISHENE (CP) — Charred remains of timber from eight longhouses and part of a palisade have been recovered at a near-by site believed to have been the village of St. Louis, where the Jesuit martyr priests Brebeuf and Lalemant were captured by Iroquois.

The discoveries were made by students of the University of Western Ontario's summer school of Indian archaeology, directed by Wilfrid Jury.

Unusual Finds

Other interesting finds include several iron knives, awls and copper scraps and prayer beads. Most unusual are a carved copper lynx and a turtle made of lead, probably melted down from a bullet.

The site of the longhouses and palisade is about two miles from Georgian Bay on a winding river.

Evidence indicates this was the St. Louis the Iroquois attacked at dawn March 16, 1649, after demolishing a neighboring village named St. Ignace. Brebeuf and Lalemant, captured at St. Louis, were dragged to St. Ignace and killed.

Later the same day, Hurons from Orzossannee village retook St. Louis. The Iroquois finally captured it for good, destroying it by fire and murdering the inhabitants.

Police on Trail Of Counterfeit Ring in Toronto

Tip by Ottawa Lawyer Speeds Hunt for Two Men

OTTAWA, (CP)—A tip by an Ottawa lawyer today started police on a fresh trail in their hunt for two men believed to be the leaders of a counterfeit ring, now believed in the Toronto area.

The lawyer, Gordon McMichael, said today he was approached last night by two men who sought to engage his services in connection with the arrest of two girls being held here on charges of being in possession of fake $10 bills.

Girls Remanded

The girls, Rita Bourdeau, 18, and Rita Gatt, 27, both of Jackson's Point, a Lake Simcoe summer resort, appeared in magistrate's court today and were remanded for one week without plea and without bail.

Mr. McMichael said he was approached by the men at nearby Rivermead Golf Club after he had finished a round of golf. They introduced themselves as "Watson" and "Martin."

Meanwhile, police were throwing a net around the area.

Assistant Inspector of Detectives Borden Hobbs said yesterday he is convinced the arrest of the girls upset one of the largest counterfeit plans in the province's history.

Police believe the two men slipped through the cordon and now are in the Toronto area, possibly near Jackson's Point.

Police said one of the men sought now is on bail from Don jail. He and another Toronto man are said to have fled from a tourist camp just before police raided it.

Flying Saucers Clearly Seen By Airline Pilots

MIAMI, Fla., (CP) — Two airline pilots reported seeing flying saucers moving at an estimated 1,000 miles an hour over Chesapeake Bay Monday night

They said eight of the saucers, 100 feet in diameter and about 15 feet thick, glowing like red coals, passed directly beneath their Pan American Airlines plane, wheeled sharply and zoomed out of sight.

and First Officer W. H. Forten-
First Officer W. B. Nash, 35, berry "watched the manoeuvre" for about 10 seconds.

Definite Outlines

Nash said they "had definite outlines—there was nothing fuzzy about them . . . they were brilliant, far more intense than ground lights."

He said the plane was flying at 8,000 feet and the objects passed beneath them at an estimated 2,000 feet, approaching from the southeast over Newport News.

Nash said he had no doubt in his mind they were missiles of some kind operating under intelligent control.

Search Launched For Stabber

CHATHAM, (CP)— Police today issued a warrant for the arrest of Allan Hurst, 40, charging him with attempted murder in connection with the stabbing last night of Mrs. Laura Gregory outside an east-end hotel.

Hospital officials said the woman, suffering knife wounds in her chest and abdomen, is in serious condition.

A province-wide search was launched for Hurst after city police failed to capture him after the attack. It was believed he may have fled to Hamilton or Windsor where he is known to have lived.

He and the woman have lived together here for the last year, police said.

Witnesses said Mrs. Gregory came out of the hotel beverage room shortly after midnight and met a man on the opposite side of the street.

Following a conversation the man attacked her and then fled down a dark street. The woman underwent surgery early today.

Mutual Agreement Of Union Officials Could End Strike

NEW YORK (AF)—A settlement of the steel strike could come this week if top officials of the United Steelworkers Union could agree among themselves, the Iron Age, national metal working weekly, said today.

The basis for settlement, it said, would be an industry compromise offer of union security.

The Iron Age said Philip Murray, president of the big C.I.O. union personally rejected the compromise offer last weekend. But, it declared, other union officials favored acceptance of the plan, which goes a long way toward meeting their demands for union security.

Two Pugnacious Nighthawks Attack Woman in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Victor Caswell, of Toronto, has twice been attacked by two nighthawks and she now carries a stick to fend them off.

The first attack came Saturday when she took her dog out and one of the birds hit her head with its wing. She went out again Monday with her stick, but "they came tearing at me." She managed to hit one of them.

The hawks, with 20-inch wing spans, last night screeched and whirled about a school yard within inches of onlookers. A zoo official said he thought they might have a nest nearby with one or more young.

A bird expert commented, "any damage caused by nighthawks would be insignificant because they have very weak bills."

GRASS FIRE BRINGS TRENTON REELS NO DAMAGE DONE

A grass fire in the vicinity of Mountain View sent the fire reels from Trenton air station on a quick run Tuesday afternoon. At first it was thought the grass blaze might endanger buildings on the airport property, but a spokesman from the RCAF said the fire had been extinguished before any material damage resulted.

Blames Free Spending For Fewer Marriages

The cost of high living has been blamed by a city official for the drop in marriage licence sales during June.

Last month, the time famous for the June bride, saw slightly more than half the number of couples taking their vows than in the corresponding month one year ago. In June 1951, 44 marriage licences were purchased at the city hall. June 1952, 24 couples made application.

IN DEMAND

LONDON (CP)—British Overseas Airways Corporation reports its air hostesses are marrying at the rate of one a week. The state-owned airline received 150 applications weekly from would-be hostesses but only a small number qualify.

Big Response To Swimming Lesson Classes

Belleville kids are taking to swimming like a duck takes to water, according to Elmer "Buster" LaBarr, chairman of the Memorial Swimming Pool who reports that there are now 225 children taking morning swimming instruction at the pool.

In fact the response to free swimming lessons offered to children between 5 and 16 has been so great it has been necessary to segregate the age groups in order that all be given a fair show.

Starting this week the 5 to 7 age group will be given free swimming instruction from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and ages 8 to 9 from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on the same days.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays will be reserved for swimming instruction for the older age groups. Ages 10 to 12 will receive instruction from 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. and ages 12 to 16 from 10 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

There will be free swimming at the pool for swimmers Monday to Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Hillier Girl Hit by Tractor, Seriously Hurt

PICTON, (Special.) —Six-year-old Carol Closson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Closson, Hillier, is progressing favorably in Kingston hospital after being seriously hurt by a farm tractor being backed by her older brother.

Fortunately the tractor wheel did not run over the girl's body but grazed along the side of her head and body. She suffered a broken shoulder, dislocated jaw, side and facial injuries.

The brother, Eldon, age 10, failed to see his little sister when he was backing the farm tractor.

Obituary

LATE ERATUS WALTON BROWN

The funeral of the late Eratus Walton Brown took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon to Bethany United Church where service was conducted by Rev. W. R. Merrick who also took the committal at Elmwood cemetery.

Monday evening a service was conducted in the chapel under the auspices of The Belleville Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 123.

The bearers were Harry Harrison, William Casey, Will Doxtator, William Clarke, Roscoe Robson and Wesley Bradshaw.

MOWAT DENIKE (Toronto)

Rawdon — The funeral of Mowat Denike, Toronto, was held in Bethel-Rawdon United Church on Sunday afternoon July 13th and was largely attended by old friends from Rawdon and Stirling.

The Denike family resided at the old homestead, Bethel, for many years and moved to Toronto in 1919.

Rev. R. R. Bonsteel officiated at the service and Mrs. Walter Warren sang "Going Home."

The bearers were Messrs. Gordon Green, John Farrell, Leslie Thompson, Walter Warren, Harry Morrow and Carleton Potts.

Interment was made in Bethel cemetery.

Mr. Denike is survived by his widow and one son Jack Denike, Toronto; one daughter, Miss L. Denike, Toronto, and four grandchildren.

MRS. MARY BRONSON (Stirling)

Mrs. Mary Bronson, Stirling, died in Belleville General Hospital Tuesday evening, July 15th, after an illness of three weeks' duration. She was in her 79th year.

The deceased was born in Tudor township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peacock. She lived in Springbrook prior to moving to Stirling 10 years ago where she made her home at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Morley Phillips.

Surviving are her husband, Randall Bronson, seven daughters, four sons: Mrs. Morley Phillips (Edna), Stirling; Mrs. E. A. Strebe (Victoria), Trenton; Mrs. Joseph Darrah (Mary), Marmora; Mrs. Thomas McConnell (Martha), Stirling; Mrs. George Cotton (Lottie), Trenton; Mrs. Wm Wright (Norma), Brampton; Mrs. Oliver Willis (Josephine), Campbellford; Walter Bronson, Crookston; Thomas Bronson, Tweed; Robert Bronson, Tweed and Delbert Bronson, Trenton.

Also surviving her are 41 grandchildren, 24 great grandchildren, and two brothers, Thos. Peacock, Corbyville and Robert Peacock, Cannifton.

She was a member of the Brethren Church.

The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Reception Planned For Buses Personnel

Three double decker English buses such as are seen everyday on the streets of Old London will be on display in Belleville on the evening of July 30th and until noon the following day.

The English buses with their drivers have been on a tour of the United States and Canada and are now enroute to the east coast on their return trip. During the tour the buses have negotiated desert crossings and mountain passes.

City Hall officials here said a reception is planned for the English personnel travelling with the buses and that they would receive an official welcome from the Mayor. The buses will be open for inspection on the market square during the evening of July 30th until mid-day the following day.

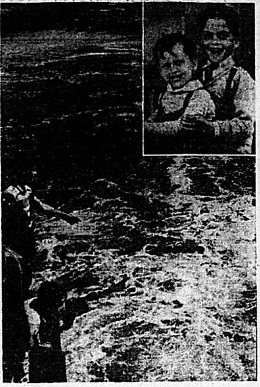
Persistent Efforts Save Life



When Harold Stinson saw a head bobbing in the Trent River current, shown here, at Trenton, Ont., he jumped in and pulled out Ronald Richardson, right in inset. Ronnie, 13, appeared dead, but two youths, Bob Campney and Austin Scott, gave him artificial respiration for over an hour and are credited with saving his life. Ronnie recovered when a doctor arrived to administer a heart stimulant. Lloyd Burk also assisted Stinson in the rescue. — Central Press Canadian.

Triple Collision Causes Plenty Of Commotion, Injures Two Men

Three cars were badly damaged and two persons suffered injury at midnight Tuesday night as result of a delayed-action collision on No. 2 highway four miles west of the city.

Injured and in hospital are Gordon Welsh, 31, of Picton, with laceration of the jaw and lip and possible fracture of the jaw, and an American tourist, A. G. Wentworth of Seymour, Connecticut, a passenger in the second car.

Police stated that the accident occurred near Jones'Creek when the American car driven by Paul Kluttig of Cheshire, Connecticut, attempted to turn around on the highway and was struck by a westbound car driven by Welsh.

The two badly damaged cars ended up in the centre of the road effectively blocking traffic until they were hauled away.

Some minutes after the first crash a third car proceeding east and driven by William Lancaster, Gordon Street, smashed into the wreckage in the centre of the highway. The Lancaster car was considerably damaged but the driver was not injured.

The Picton man and Lancaster were alone in their cars, while in the American car were the driver and one passenger. Kluttig, the driver, suffered shock and a wrenched back.

Five provincial police officers teamed up in the investigation and direction of traffic until the damaged cars were hauled away. Investigating officers were Constables Smith, McBride, Conley and Toll with Constable Rackham as photographer.

Amateur Miners Stop Gold Hunt To Harvest Hay

CALEDON (CP) — Five amateur gold miners who believe they are within a few feet of their treasure have suspended operations until they have harvested their hay crop.

The four farmers and a quarry operator have gone down 54 feet and are confident they will strike gold at a depth of 60 feet.

Gold speculation in the area, 35 miles northwest of Toronto, has been going on for the last 130 years when a visiting Indian is said to have found a number of gold nuggets.

The shaft is being sunk on property bought 45 years ago by Hugh Jackson and now owned by his sons, Hugh and John.

Also working on the venture are Mrs. Hugh MacDonald, Charley Campbell, a Victoria farmer, and Harry Logan of Glen Williams.

Lighter Fruit Crop

ST. CATHARINES — (CP) — Peach and pear crops in the Niagara district will be lighter than last year's due to lack of rain, growers said today.

Rain would improve the size and quality of the crop but now is too late to bring the yield up to last season's.

The grape crop, thriving in the hot, dry weather, is expected to be heavier than last season.

Kiwanis Club Raised $11,109 During Year

Ken Atwell, treasurer for the Kiwanis Club, released the financial report at yesterday's meeting.

The report shows total revenue as being $11,109.20 and the total expenses to the end of June as $10,317.57. A cash balance of $33.31 was carried over from January and added to the total revenue to make it $11,142.51. The profit shown by the club to the end of June is therefore $825.14. The tag day netted the club the sum of $555.18 and $490.92 was spent on boys and girls work.

The biggest money making project the club produced was the "Pack Up Your Troubles" production. Total revenue from this venture was $4,985.66. Expenses came to $2,818.72 leaving a profit of $2,206.24.

There were two guests from the United States at the meeting Albert C. Lorman from Detroit and George Christman of Ohio.

The Inter-Service Golf Tournament is scheduled for the 23rd of this month.

Bill Stovin thanked Mr. Atwell for his report.

Council Approves Parking By-Law

Stirling—The regular monthly meeting of Stirling council was held on Monday night with Reeve R. K. West presiding and councillors J. V. Holt, Don Rodgers, E. G. Bailey and F. Jeffrey were in attendance.

Final approval of a by-law to control parking in this village has been given by the Ontario Department of Highways according to a communication tabled at the meeting.

Letter Re $200 Tabled

A letter was tabled from R. D. Patterson secretary of the newly formed Chamber of Commerce requesting that the grant of $200, which council had made the local planning board at a recent meeting, be transferred to the Chamber of Commerce to be earmarked for the use of the Industrial Committee of the said Chamber.

Members of the council favored the request and the necessary motion was passed unanimously.

A communication was tabled from the select committee of the legislature investigating leaseholders and rentals asking council as to whether or not it wished rental regulations to continue to apply to this village. No action was taken by council.

The matter of the purchase of two lots on the west side of Emma Street from Harry Jones was discussed and on motion of councillors Bailey and Rodgers, council authorized this purchase at a price of $100.

On motion of Messrs. Rodgers and Jeffrey, council also authorized the purchase of a number of traffic signs.

C.A.S. Grant

Clerk treasurer, F. R. Mallory, reported the receipt of $170.69 from the Ontario Department of Welfare as a grant towards Stirling's share of the cost of the Children's Aid Society and $298.84 towards the cost of the Home for the Aged. He also reported receipt of $589.93 from the Ontario Department of Education for the Municipal Recreation Council, and $266.17 from Sidney township for the school requisition.

A report from the treasurer also showed that a sum of $3,036 had been spent on Stirling streets in the first six months of the current year.

Several accounts were passed for payment.

British School Made Composite Map of Tour

British schoolchildren introduced a new "wrinkle" for decorations for exhibitions honoring Empire Day this year.

Students of the Wrotham Primary School, Sevenoaks, Kent, produced a huge composite map made up of pictures of the Canadian tour of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The pictures were secured through the medium of individual students writing Canadian daily newspaper editors requesting editions carrying photographs of the tour.

The Ontario Intelligencer with a number of other dailies, cooperated with the British students.

This newspaper recently received a copy of the school's program from a student representative, Evon Bish, who wrote saying a photograph of the huge pictorial exhibit was following.

The students of Wrotham school also produced a Canadian Indian village in life-size for the exhibition. A picture of the village evidences a fine conception of such a village by children who have never seen one.

Wholesale Food Prices Up in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices in the United States thos week posted one of the sharpest week-to-week increases of the year, according to the Dun and Bradstreet food index—and were at the highest average since January.

Increases in the price of eggs, beef and hams accounted for much of the index increase this week, along with higher wholesale costs of flour, corn, sugar, cocoa, peanuts, prunes, steers, hogs and lambs.

Lower were wheat, rye, oats, lard, butter, cottonseed oil and tea.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Philip Burgess Hamilton wish to thank relatives, friends and neighbors, also Dr. Morgan, for kind expressions of sympathy, floral tributes received during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband and father. J16

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown me recently in the death of my husband. I especially thank the dear friends of Bethel Gospel Hall, Crusaders Church, Toronto, Mr. Bram Humphreys, the Soroptimist Club and the Gideon Camp of Belleville, for all their expressions of sympathy. My sincere gratitude to Mr. Lattimer and to the entire staff of Lattimer's for their beautiful floral offerings and cards of sympathy. To the many friends who placed over fifty Gideon Memorial Bibles (by request) and to all the Gideons who were pallbearers, goes my deep appreciation, and to Rev. Fred Gould of Smiths Falls and Mr. W. A. Watson, Belleville, for their inspired words of truth and comfort at the funeral service, to Mrs. Les. Payne, Toronto, for her appropriate solo, and to the Pinkston Funeral Home for their kind and efficient management. Mrs. Roderick MacKay. J16

JET PILOT KILLED

LONDON (AP)—An RAF jet fighter crashed today, killing its pilot. It was the 12th such mishap to RAF jets since June 1.

Today's casualty was a Meteor jet flying in a training formation over Yorkshire. The plane touched another in the formation and plunged into a wheat field.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials and base metals pushed slowly higher today in early afternoon dealings but other stock market sections made little headway.

Trading slowed from a steady opening. Volume for the first three hours was 787,000 shares.

Papers, refining oils and banks led industrials' advance with a scattered list of moderate gains. Steels and miscellaneous issues also drew firm support but utilities, foods and manufacturing companies slipped.

Western oils dipped as Anglo-Canadian, Canadian Atlantic, Gas Explorations, Pacific Petroleum and Sapphire turned downward. Canada Southern and Husky added fractions.

Base metal leaders were firm but lower-priced issues tended lower. Cassiar, East Sullivan, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Labrador and Silver Standard traded higher.

Senior golds showed little trend in sluggish trading. A few junior producers and prospects added pennies but most issues drifted.

Sisal Juice New Source Of Cortisone

LONDON. (Reuters)— A cheap and plentiful source of cortisone, rare and expensive hormone "wonder drug" used in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, has been found in the sisal plant which grows prolifically in parts of Africa, the 1951 report of the British Medical Research Council stated today.

Investigations in Kenya showed that one of the most promising natural compounds for the manufacture of cortisone-hecogenin occurred in sisal waste and in still higher concentration in the juice of the sisal plant. It could be easily and cheaply extracted.

The raw material for cortisone has so far been obtained from animal, mainly ox bile, which is scarce and costly.

Now, says the report, material becomes potentially available in a large amount and at a low cost.

Cheaper Plane for Tank Busting

Making its first public appearance at Inyokern, Calif., is the controversial new U.S. "Baby Bomber," known as the FD-25. It's a 30-foot all magnesium flying "tank buster," designed to eliminate enemy ground installations at a fraction of the cost of modern jet fighters. The test pictured here was made during national convention of the Aviation Writers' Association. — Central Press Canadian.

PLANNING TO BUILD OR REMODEL?

YOU CAN AFFORD THE Thor "500" DE LUXE AUTOMAGIC SINK

FACTS AND FIGURES REGARDING BUILDERS' SAVINGS

THE AVERAGE COST OF PLUMBING TO BUILDERS IN NEW HOMES TODAY IS BETWEEN $700.00 AND $800.00.

When a Thor Automagic Sink is installed in new homes, the builder will save up to $200.00 in plumbing and other costs as listed below. These figures were compiled after extensive canvassing of many plumbers and builders. They are meant to guide you as you list your own particular costs in comparing the many advantages to the builder and home purchaser.

KITCHEN
Kitchen Sink	$ 25.70
Kitchen Taps	15.97
	$ 41.67

BASEMENT
Laundry Tubs (concrete)	$ 20.10
Laundry Tubs (swing)	8.00
4" Sewer drain and labor	15.00
Trap (S type)	4.87
Vent Pipe 1½"	8.00
Pipe Fittings	8.00
Overall Labor	15.00
	$ 78.97

CARPENTRY WORK, ETC.
Cabinet around Sink, (approx.)	$ 70.00
Stainless Steel Strip for cabinet top 7 sink trim and labor (approx.)	10.00
Linoleum for cabinet top around sink and labor (approx.)	12.00
	$ 92.00

TOTAL SAVINGS (Approx.)
Kitchen Sink, etc.	$ 41.67
Laundry Tubs, etc.	78.97
Carpentry, Labor, etc.	92.00
	$212.64

NOTE:—

(1) Arrangements can invariably be made with the Mortgage Company to obtain an extra amount, often as high as $200.00 when the Thor Sink is installed, because it is a permanent fixture in the house.

(2) The builder has added space, eliminating the necessity of having a utility room.

(3) Where Septic Tanks are used in new building projects, we have found that many builders have saved the cost of purchasing and installing a special pump to be used for laundry tub drain water. The Thor Automagic Sink of course, eliminates this extra material and labor as it combines washing-machine and kitchen sink in one streamlined cabinet.

(4) The Builder offers the prospective buyer of his house the most up-to-date method of home laundry which adds 'glamor' to the kitchen.

HORSES AND POLICEMEN

With the famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police now nploying fast automobiles and boats and even airplanes to get their man, many are apt to wonder why the ounties continue to retain their horses which are selom, if ever, used in detachment work.

Next month at the opening of the Belleville Exhibion, 34 Mounties dressed in their scarlet tunics will prent their Musical Ride, an exhibition of riding skill which as won the admiration of thousands both in Canada and broad. But those who believe that these horses are kept erely for show are dead wrong.

While in the city to complete arrangements for the erformance, Superintendent C. N. Kirk, who commands e R.C.M.P. training school at Rockcliffe, explained that orses continue to be an integral part of the police officer's aining, even though he may never mount a horse after s period of training is completed. At R.C.M.P. training hools at Regina and Rockcliffe horses are stabled to ach the police cadets horsemanship.

The R.C.M.P. reasons this way: If you want horse nse you must go to the horse. And straight, old-fashion-l horse sense is the kind of sense it takes to be a good oliceman — or a good anything else! Riding a horse— nd possibly being thrown — brings out the character and ourage of a man if he has it. Police need plenty of charcter and courage. Love of animals is a characteristic at goes with decent people. During their training, the ainees live close to their horses, riding them as often as ve hours a day and grooming them at least three times, arting at six o'clock in the morning.

"If a man learns how to treat a horse, he has develped the qualities that go to make a good policeman," the uperintendent declared." "As long as there is a Royal anadian Mounted Police force, the horses will stay. They re important in bringing out the man in a man."

And so it is, when the Musical Ride visits Belleville, hose who see the performance may reflect that although he horses may have been trained by their riders, the orses have done their part in contributing to the training —and horse sense — of their masters.

RAIN IS NEEDED

Farmers in the Bay of Quinte district have reason to eel sad these days as they look skyward in futile attempts o spot rain clouds which will end the existing drought.

Already the moisture lack has cost the farmers considerable. The pea growing season is fast tapering off and ome growers have abandoned harvesting plans because f the few peas on the vines. Now the season for raspberries is coming into its own and prospects for a normal rop are dismal.

Those who are now enjoying their annual vacation re fortunate in having warm, cloudless days to take full dvantage of their holidays. But no right-thinking vacationer would deny that the farmers are in dire need of rain. They would willingly contribute one day's outdoor pleasure if rain would come to rescue the parched fields which are becoming lifeless because of the continued dry spell.

Rain is needed and it must come soon.

NO SPIES WANTED

In an attempt to correct traffic abuses, the city of Sudbury has established a "T-Men" organization composed of 30 civilians who will note traffic violations and pass the word along to police on stamped and addressed cards. Identity of the "T-Men" will be known only to one man in the city.

Although different in degree but identical in principle, this idea smacks of Hitler whose rise to infamy stemmed partly from his secret organizations which often pitted members of the same family against each other. No conversation, even within a family group, was sacred to Hitler's eavesdroppers.

No, we cannot go along with the Sudbury plan. The lesser evil would be to permit the occasional traffic violation rather than follow the pattern of Hitler and the Ku Klux Klan with their system of spies.

A few more traffic policemen on the beat would ease Sudbury's traffic problem. Meanwhile, let men be men and correct alleged abuses and still retain their identity.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

I never like to see it, for I'm saddened when I pass
That solemn sign of warning with the world: "Keep off the grass."
For a young lawn in the making it is proper I'll admit,
But an old lawn looks so lonely with no child to romp on it.

Grass must be meant to walk on.
It's a carpet for the ground,
It makes walking very pleasant, as the most of us have found.
Pavements hard are made for traffic, and the sidewalks for the crowd,
But a lawn is soft to romp on and it ought to be allowed.
My lawn is far from perfect for I've never had a sign Prohibiting the children from that patch of grass of mine.
It may be bare in places, but [illegible] lawn I'm proud to own.
For [illegible] and girl to play on is the reason it was grown.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IMPOSSIBLE — BUT IT HAS HAPPENED

People talk glibly about the Christian gospel. The word "gospel" really means good news. Most people associate good news with a worldly conception of progress. Instead of being good news, the gospel is more widely regarded as good views—sound evaluation of persons and principles.

The gospel of Jesus Christ is this, but it is vastly more. It is the good news that God has forgiven our sins. We may feel, upon hearing that statement, as a dead beat would feel who heard that he had been forgiven a debt which he never had any intention of paying. The truth is that people pink and white candy striped They measure themselves by their neighbors and conclude that, on the whole, they are not too bad. The oppressive weight of sin, the displeasure of God which our willful choosing of evil has called forth—this bothers us but little.

But it bothered God a great deal, if we use such a word in connection with deity. God was so concerned over the human sin problem that He made the ultimate in sacrifice, namely, the giving of His own Son that sins might be forgiven through the immensity of that love and sacrifice.

The gospel is good news—the best news the human race has ever heard proclaimed. We sinners are forgiven. Impossible—but it has actually taken place.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DON'T MISJUDGE!

We always feel better after saying something fine about another person. To say something mean or untrue, however, is all too often the practice. And this is mostly performed by someone unknown to the one criticized.

Rumors, false statements, and derogatory remarks all have fast running legs. You might say they travel like the wind- That line in the Bible where it says: "Judge not, that ye be not judged," is one that we should forever bear in mind. None of us ever reach that point of perfection where it is our privilege or duty to judge another.

I don't know of any occupation that pays so well as making it a habit to say nice things about everybody! You always gain by it, and you never lose. We are all prone to errors, blunders, and unwise actions. If we are generous and tolerant with others, others will be the same with us. Nothing is so undignified and unintelligent as name calling in a political contest. The main things that count at such a time are ability, integrity, background and overall character. They always win!

One of the famous statements made by Will Rogers was that he never met a man he didn't like. Well, I doubt that anyone ever met Will Rogers who didn't like him. He gave to other people, and so other people gave to him. That is the way it always works.

Before judging another we had better take care as to whether we are worthy to judge that one. If we are not, then the judgment goes for nothing, as it ought. Praise is a different matter. That can go for anyone at any time! Praise is like a vitamin. It is food, and that's what builds people and keeps them in the game.

Several years ago, in a New York gentlemen's club, on a certain evening members gathered for an evening of talk and good fellowship. Noted persaons were asked to give a brief talk. A well-known name of yesterday was called upon. The gentleman got up and read from a paper that apparently had no interest for anyone and so was laughed down. Whereupon Bob ("Believe-It-or-Not") Ripley arose and said — "Gentlemen, you have just been listening to one of the greatest athletes of all time-"

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The railroads have it all over other transportation systems when it comes to looking after the interests of the ordinary little people like you and me. The highway transport companies have grown so big that they are losing interest in chicken feed. Have you lately tried to get a couple of old chairs and a bureau taken up to your summer cottage? A few years ago, this was a very simple matter. You just telephoned one of the transport companies that served the area where your cottage is located. And such was the hot competition between trucking companies that they eagerly accepted the business, called at your house and often delivered the goods right to your cottage door. Those were the days when we all foresaw the new day dawning, when motor transport would revolutionize our lives.

When you call a transport company today, the clerk informs you that they do not pick up. You can deliver the freight to their warehouse, if you like. And they will deliver it to the nearest off-loading point on their route, if you can make arrangements for somebody to pick ia up there . . . When you protest this arrangement, the clerk assures you that the law does not allow them to pick up. That is a job for express-men and local cartage people. Thus the great motor era turns out to be just another complicated business arranged for everybody's convenience but the little man. There is red hot competition between highway trucking companies still, but it is for the big accounts they compete, apparently. People with a couple of chairs and an old bureau can as easily lash them on the roof of the family car as peddle them around for convenience of the trucking industry.

While nursing such grievous thoughts as this, you suddenly remember the good old railroad. The same one that served your great grand-pappy. You call them. They send their expressman for the goods. They will crate it, package it. And at the far end, they have arrangements to deliver it to your door.

And the best of it is, they seem delighted to get your business.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

LUCKY BABIES GET VITAMIN B-COMPLEX

General medical and popular notions about the early symptoms and signs of scurvy are based mainly on the observations of authorities of the days when sailors sailed.

So are medical and popular notions about the early symptoms and signs of vitamin B deficiency.

In fact some popular handbooks on infant care and feeding and some medical textbooks on these subjects completely ignore or mention only vaguely the baby's requirement of vitamin B.

Full-fledged beriberi, the disease due to insufficient vitamin B intake, is as rare in North America as full-fledged scurvy, the disease due to insufficient vitamin C intake. Yet symptoms and signs of vitamin C deficiency of moderate intensity, from prolonged or habitual restriction of the diet, occur commonly in infancy and childhood and are usually not recognized as early as mild scurvy. These sympatoms and signs uniformly disappear if or when the child's intake of vitamin C is kept at the optimal level.

Now in all probability what I say here about vitamin B-complex for babies will not stick in many readers' minds because it isn't according to Hoyle and anyway who am I to make like an authority? Doc Brady? That's a laugh.

But listen, knu—my friends, the B-complex I recommend to supplement the baby's and growing child's diet at least can do no harm, so, if your baby has the symptoms or signs of B-deficiency, why not...?

Now in view of the policy of this health service in reference to symptoms I find I have painted myself into a corner whence there is no escape. But I hope you will keep in mind that the signs or symptoms I am going to mention here indicate only one thing—that the baby or child needs a suitable daily ration of vitamin B-complex.

Among the conditions which competent authors have ascribed to vitamin B deficiency (when I say vitamin B I mean all the vitamins of the natural group which grow in combination, and not just B1, now called thiamin) are the following:

Pyloric stenosis (B deficiency in mother's intake throughout pregnancy), costiveness, indigestion, colic, gas, stationary or slow gain in weight and growth.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

How Much Whiskey and When

Have several of your booklets but do not find anything which tells how much whiskey or when to take it as you advise... (R.H.)

Answer — In my judgment there is no good reason why any one should take whiskey under any circumstance.

Tired Michigan Girl

I am 44 and do not seem to have enough energy to carry on my ordinary household tasks, everlastingly tired, like the tired college girl you wrote about... (Mrs. ———).

Answer — Maybe you have what the college girl had—at any rate you live in the right place for it. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

Controlling Skin Peeling

Please send information on controlled skin peeling for pits or scare left by chickenpox or acne pustules... (N. L.)

Answer—The treatment is safely applied only by a physician. It is described in the chapter on Controlled Exfoliation in the booklet Cosmetic Blemishes, for which send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope.

Inco Workers Get Wage Boost

SUDBURY (CP) —Wage increases ranging from 7 1-2 to 10 1-2 cents an hour for 16,000 employees of the International Nickel Company here and in Port Colborne were granted yesterday in an agreement between the company and the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, an independent union.

The settlement was reached after conciliation board hearings and ratification by union membership meetings.

The terms include a general 7 1-2 boost, plus an additional three-cent hike for 1,500 first-class tradesmen. A second group of tradesmen will receive 1 1-2 cents an hour over the basic boost.

Wheat Crop Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's wheat-crop condition at June 30 indicated a yield 24 per cent better than the long-term average and 15 per cent better than last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

The all-Canada percentage figure for wheat, based on weather factors and expressed in terms of the long-term provincial wheat yields, was put at 124 compared with an average of 100 and last year's figures of 109.

Denmark Beats Bovine T.B. All Milk, Cheese, Bacteria-Free

By GUY BETTANY

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—As a result of a 50-year fight against tuberculosis in its dairy herds, Denmark now can guarantee that every drop of milk and every ounce of cheese it sells are from cows completely free from bovine T.B

This record, which Danish authorities believe is unequalled by any other country, has been achieved through painstaking and persistent effort by the Danish farming industry with the advice of bacteriologists and veterinary experts.

Bovine tuberculosis first appeared in Denmark about a century ago, brought in by imported cattle, and gradually spread over the whole country.

Combine in Campaign

It was not until the close of the last century that a sustained effort was made to fight the disease, which had also infected many humans.

At first the fight was local, but soon the whole farming industry, backed by scientific authorities and legislation, combined in a large scale campaign to eradicate the disease.

Professor Bernhard Bang, of the Royal Danish Veterinary College in Copenhagen, laid down the basic principles on which the campaign was planned:

They made use of the tuberculin tests to discover the infected animals; isolation of healthy cattle to protect them from infection; and weeding out sick animals.

When the drive was launched, 80 per cent of all Danish herds were regarded as tubercular.

Before 1932, the number of tuberculin-tested herds was less than 1,000. During that year it went up to nearly 2,500, but there were about 200,000 herds in the country.

Then, a register of attested herds was opened by the Federation of Danish Dairy Associations and the Ministry of Agriculture ruled that as soon as 90 per cent of the herds in any area were free from tuberculosis, the remaining herds must be subjected to compulsory tuberculin testing and all infected cows destroyed. From November 1934 to May 1951, 318,000 infected cows were slaughtered under this provision.

During the war, between 1940, when Denmark was occupied by the Germans, and 1945, the percentage of herds completely free from tuberculosis increased from 25.4 to 84.7.

After April 1943 the owners of unattested herds were paid lower prices for their milk.

In May, 1952, the Ministry of Agriculture issued an order effective June 1, that dairies using the national trade mark for butter and cheese must receive their milk only from herds completely free from tuberculosis.

Oil Chief Retires

Nathan E. Tanner has announced his impending retirement as Alberta's Minister of Mines and Minerals, the cabinet post in which he has guided the development of the province's oil and natural gas resources. Mr. Tanner said he will not seek re-election in the Aug. 5 provincial elections but take an important job in private industry. Born in Salt Lake City, Utah, May 9, 1898, he was a school principal at Cardston in southern Alberta when William Aberhart's 1935 Social Credit sweep put him in the Legislature. He was Speaker the next year and entered the cabinet in 1937. He is a bishop of the Mormon church. — (CP Photo.)

WOMEN START FIRES

VANCOUVER— (CP) — Two Doukhobor women, recently returned from Kingston penitentiary where they had been sentenced for nudism, started two fires at Essondale mental hospital near here, police reported yesterday.

Only minor damage was caused and no one was injured.

Union Recognition Forces Election In New Brunswick

FREDERICTON (CP) — The date for the New Brunswick general election — possibly the first in Canada with union recognition as the main issue—may be announced today.

Premier J. B. McNair said Monday night that at a cabinet meeting today he will recommend immediate dissolution of the legislature and issuance of writs for an early election.

Unionism the Issue

Mr. McNair, declaring that his government will not recognize an international union as bargaining agent for public servants of the province, named this as the issue.

The announcement resulted from a decision last month by most maintenance employees of the publicly-owned New Brunswick Electric Power Commission to quit work starting this Thursday unless the government recognizes their union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers T. L. C.-A. F. L.

A two-month interval before polling day was hinted by the premier, who said: "No interest will be permanently prejudiced by a further delay of two months in settlement of the union recognition demand."

He said a shutdown of power commission operations would be disastrous for the province, and the government intended the service to continue.

If any Commission employees stop work Thursday "they will, in our view, have separated themselves from their jobs and voluntarily discharged themselves from the service."

To Maintain Service

In that event, the Commission would take the "necessary steps to man the plants and keep the system operating."

The province has been governed by Liberal administrations for the last 17 years. In the last election, June 28, 1948, Liberals were returned to power with 47 seats. The other five went to Progressive Conservatives.

Present standing in the 41st legislature: Liberals 46, Progressive Conservatives 5, vacant 1.

Mr. McNair, 62, has been premier since 1940 and has served longer in that office than any other New Brunswick premier except Hon. A. G. Blair, 1883 to 1896.

BENNETT NAMED

At the 1951 session, he crossed the floor of the House with Mrs. Tilly Rolston and both sat as Independents. They quit the coalition and the Progressive Conservative party in a row over the province's compulsory hospital insurance scheme.

Early this year Mr. Bennett announced he had joined the Social Credit movement and during the spring session of the Legislature fired the opening salvos for the party in B.C. He continued to sit as an Independent.

Secret Ballot Used

Mr. Bennett was chosen by secret ballot, the first time in B.C. history a party leader had been so selected. The party declined to say whether there were other candidates for the leadership and said Mr. Bennett's selection was unanimous.

"As far as we are concerned, nobody else ran," said Eric Martin, Social Credit member for Vancouver-Burrard.

"Social Credit does not regard itself as a minority government" Mr. Bennett told a press conference. "We look on ourselves as the duly elected government with full power to conduct the affairs of the province. It will be the policy of Social Credit government to bring confidence and stable government to the province."

He said the first problem to be tackled by his government will be the strikes by 32,000 lumber workers and 3,000 carpenters — if they are not settled by the time he takes office.

He said his government will go ahead with its campaign policy of putting hospital insurance on a voluntary basis. Under present B.C. law, families must pay $42 and single persons $30 a year for hospital care. He also promised immediate action on the province's labor, liquor and workmen's compensation laws.

Three cabinet posts will probably go to Mrs. Rolston, Lyle Sommers, elected in Rossland-Wicks, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, and R. E. Trail. Mr. Bennett and Mrs. Rolston are the only two of the 19 Social Credit members who have had legislative experience.

To See Capital

R. O. Newton, Social Credit member-elect for Columbia, has never seen the provincial capital, Victoria.

Refrigerator Car Features New Cooling System

TORONTO — A new electric refrigerator on wheels, the first of its kind on the continent, came off the assembly line at the Canadian National Railways car shops at Montreal Tuesday and underwent a standing test on its icing equipment. On its running tests, scheduled to begin this week, officials expect the temperature of the car to dip to 10 degrees below zero. This is 15 degrees lower than the average temperature obtained in iced reefers.

A .C. Melanson, C.N.R. chief of motor power and car equipment, said that it is the first time that a mechanical reefer car has been built with its refrigeration equipment suspended beneath it. Standard practice has been to locate it inside the car.

Equipment slung under the car includes a four-cylinder Diesel engine, an electric generator, an air compressor, fuel tanks and thermostatic controls. A feature of the suspension gear is a device which permits the diesel and generator to be swung out from under the car for convenient servicing.

The car's first running test will begin next Friday when it leaves Toronto for Halifax carrying a load of fresh beef. On its return run to Montreal, it will carry a shipment of frozen fish.

William Andrew Cecil Bennett was born at Hastings, N.B., Sept. 6, 1900. He served in the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War and started his business career in Saint John, N.B., as an apprentice in the hardware business. He moved to Alberta and 22 years ago to Kelowna, B.C.

WEDDINGS

WARDHAUGH—MATTHEWS

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday, July 14, at 10 a.m., in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, when Marion June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Garfield Matthews, 104 Stanley Street, became the bride of Mr. Harry Gordon Wardhaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Wardhaugh, 83 Pinnacle Street. The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father J. J. Buckley and the wedding music was played by Mr. Dean Whalen.

The bride was charmingly attired in an ivory suit and a small cap of ivory rose petals. She wore navy linen accessories and carried a hand bouquet of Rubrum lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Don Adams, Belleville, wore an orchid suit with white accessories and carried a hand bouquet of Pinnochio Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Don Adams, Belleville, was groomsman.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Matthews received the guests in a rose and orchid printed silk gown and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Wardhaugh, who wore a navy sheer gown and a corsage of cream roses.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y., the bride wore her wedding ensemble and a corsage of Rubrum lilies.

The bride and groom will reside at 186 Moira Street West, Belleville.

Prior to the wedding, the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower by the girls of the Y.M.C.A. at the home of Mrs. J. M. McLean; at a presentation at the home of Mrs. Cleo Colling; at a miscellanepus shower given by Mrs. C. Culkin; and the presentation of an electric kettle by the staff of the Belleville Utilities Commission.

WILSON—COTTEN

Tall white standards of white and colored gladioli and stephanotis, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely background in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, on Saturday, June 28, at 4:00 p.m., for a marriage of wide interest, when Dorothy Jean Cotten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cotten, Trenton, R.R. 2, became the bride of Gary Edward Wilson, of Hamilton. The Rev. L. K. Daniel, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. William Connor, church organist, furnished the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist Mrs. Doris Burgoyne who sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer", and during the signing of the register, "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice with high pointed Queen Antoinette collar and long lily-pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt fell in graceful folds into a slight train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a coronet headdress of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink Briarcliffe roses.

Mrs. G. E. Cotten, of Trenton, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were, Misses Jean Dudley, Belleville, R.R. 3, Della Meyers, of Foxboro, and Patricia Gingras, of Trenton. All wore identical gowns of nylon marquisette over taffeta in pastel shades of green, yellow, mauve and blue, respectively, with matching elbow-length mitts and floral headdresses, and carried similar nosegays of pastel shades of sweetpeas and baby's breath.

Mr. Leon Wilson, of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Bruce Stretton, Robert Chatterson and Elburne Cotten, acted as ushers.

The reception was held at Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road, where Mrs. Cotten, the bride's mother, received, wearing navy nylon marquisette over taffeta with navy and white accessories and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. Wilson, the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in grey and pink with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Pennsylvania, U.S., the bride chose a light blue gabardine suit with pink snakeskin shoes and bag, and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Hamilton.

Out-of-town guests were present from, Stirling, Marmora, Tweed, Campbellford, Foxboro, Wellington, Arnprior, Toronto and Hamilton.

FARDELLA—BLACK

On Tuesday, July 1st, at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, the marriage was solemnized of Mary Catherine Joyce, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murray Black, Belleville, and Mr. Vincent John, son of Mrs. Leonard Fardella, and the late Leonard Fardella, of Kingston. Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

Mrs. Harold Gaffney rendered solos accompanied by Mr. Dean Whalen, at the organ, during the arrival of the guests and during the ceremony.

The altar and sanctuary were beautifully decorated with white carnations and white shasta palms and the guest pews were designated by white satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her gown of gardenia white shadow lace and net over taffeta. The fitted lace basque was fashioned with brief cap sleeves and a high round neckline outlined with tiny Peter Pan collar. The bouffant net skirt was gathered to the corded waistline, featuring a deep lace pocket, while a band of lace circled the skirt above the hemline. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a halo embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a heirloom pearl covered prayerbook from which white orchids and satin streamers with stephanotis cascaded.

Her three youthful attendants were cousins, Miss Margaret Black, of Belleville, as maid of honor, was gowned in teale blue taffeta, which featured a fitted basque, Peter Pan collar, puff sleeves and bouffant skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and cornflowers.

The junior bridesmaids were, Miss Margaret Ann Bedore, of Kingston, and Miss Monica Coyle, of Toronto. Their gowns were pale blue taffeta styled similarly to that worn by the maid of honor. They carried nosegays of pink and white sweetpeas. All wore braided blue velvet ribbon halos.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Gerald Fardella, of Kingston, and the ushers were, Mr. William Coyle, Jr., of Toronto, and Mr. Anthony Fardella, of Kingston.

A wedding breakfast was served at Golden Acre Inn and later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Black received in a gown of navy nylon sheer with yellow accessories and corsage of yellow baby 'mums. The bridegroom's mother was attired in navy crepe with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

For travelling, the bride chose a pale yellow gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Fardella will reside at 270 Johnson Street, Kingston.

400 Delegates Discuss Problems Working Girls

VANCOUVER. (CP) — The problem of "equality" for women hasn't ended.

It is one of the most-talked-about subjects at the 13th biennial convention of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in session here.

Four hundred delegates from Newfoundland to Victoria are here to discuss their problems during the four-day convention.

Margaret Hyndman, Q.C., Toronto, selected as the Federation's "woman of the year", said yesterday that women in the working work are willing to stand or fall on their merits.

"We think women on the whole do as good work as men," Miss Hyndman said in an interview.

She would like to see equal opportunity and promotion for all business women.

Two Cloistered Nuns Feted On Their Golden Jubilee

OTTAWA. (CP)—Two cloistered nuns, one of whom has spent 50 years inside the grey-walled Convent of the Precious Blood, here, were feted recently in a unique celebration of their golden jubilee in religious orders.

Sister Agnes of Mary Agnes Transeau, of Brooklyn, N.Y., took her vows 50 years ago this July and never has been outside the convent since. Sister Mary Gertrude Corrinne Dubuc of Rhode Island, N.Y., also took her vows in 1902.

Archbishop Alexandre Vachon of Ottawa, relaxed the strict rule against outsiders entering the convent to allow friends and relatives of the two nuns to visit them for special services. Such visits have been made only once previously—during the Marian Congress here in 1947.

Archbishop Vachon celebrated mass during which the two nuns repeated the vows they took 50 years ago.

The Sisters of the Precious Blood live in almost complete seclusion. A selected few are allowed outside the convent to carry on necessary business. They wear black robes instead of the white and red worn by the others. Two other sisters answer the telephone and attend to other calls.

The Sisters' day begins at 5 a.m., and ends at 8:30 p.m. Their time is spent in prayer, sewing religious garments, making prayer beads or painting religious pictures. They speak only during short recreation periods two or three times a day.

Parcels are delivered to the convent through a rotating wicket. The person delivering the parcel does not see the Sister who receives it.

Novices are allowed one visit every three months from a relative. Those who have taken their vows may be seen for an

'Go Back to School' Mother's Advice to Bored Housewives

Winnipeg. (CP)—A Winnipeg housewife has a remedy that she says provides an escape from wifely chores.

If you're tired of dishes, diapers, making the grocery dollar stretch, want a new lease on life and admit that even the bridge club is no longer fun, here's what Mrs. Clara Fainstein says to do:

"Go back to school."

That's exactly what the 36-year old mother and housewife did last year. She was one of more than 400 St. John's Tech students who graduated recently with their grade XII matriculation.

Graduation was "one of the happiest days of my life," she says. "It was a terrifically interesting year and I could do it all over again."

It was also an unusual year for St. John's. The school's first adult pupil made herself at home with the 'teen-agers'.

She added a touch to the home economics course when she took her five-year-old son, Ronnie to school.

The youngster found mother's school a great place to spend a couple of hours. He was a hit with the class. A housekeeper looked after Ronnie when he decided to stay home.

Mrs. Fainstein went back to school because "I needed something." She also wanted to complete her education, interrupted in Saskatchewon. Her courses were home economics, art, algebra and chemistry.

HEARTLESS HUBBY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her husband more than once came home drunk, lifted her out of bed and locked her outside their apartment, Jacquelyn Ann Austin told the judge yesterday. The 27-year-old model said, what's more, he sleeps unclad. The judge gave her $200 monthly alimony from Robert M. Austin, 40.

Diligenti Quints Have No Party On 9th Birthday

BUENOS AIRES, (Reuters)—Argentina's Diligenti quintuplets had their ninth birthday yesterday but there was no party for them.

Their millionaire father, Vallota Diligenti, worked as usual. Their mother is away for a few days.

The quintuplets, two boys and three girls, seldom meet and have been sent to separate schools to avoid fuss and to ensure their development as individuals.

But yesterday four of them were together staying with friends.

Father Diligenti kept the birth of the quintuplets—his wife had previously had triplets—from the world for eight months and has since protected them from publicity.

Girl Guide Camp Opened by P.M.

SOUTH MARCH. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent yesterday officially opened the 12-day national Girl Guide camp.

Some 1,200 guides between the ages of 13 and 16 marched with precision behind their provincial standards past the reviewing stand where the Prime Minister took the salute.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke briefly in French and English on the theme of the camp, "Our Canadian Heritage."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

He Makes Life Unbearable—But She Can't Leave Him

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When I was 17, I married a man who has made life almost unbearable for me, but I cannot leave him for reasons I cannot explain, except to say that he doesn't live on the right side of the law, and it's me that's put in the bite.

My problem is that I am in love with his brother, who has a good wife and family, and I know I could never hope to be part of his life. I have kept this secret for over two years, but lately things have happened that make me wonder if it really is secret or not. For example, a few times my husband's brother has made remarks about me liking him, but I don't know whether he said it just in fun or whether he knows how I feel. When he comes to see us, I cannot think of anything else, and I do everything wrong. If he even looks at me, it turns my heart right upside down.

How can I make him think that I just like him as a brother instead of the way I really do? I don't want to hurt anyone as I have been hurt, and if I could only make up for some of the wrongs I have done, it might help to keep me contented. — A. E. U.

Dear A. E. U.: Perhaps if you had explained what you mean when you say your husband doesn't live on the right side of the law, and when you speak of making up for the wrongs you have done, it would make me able to help you a little better. As it is, I feel very much in the dark as to what your problem is really all about, or what would be the best suggestions to make to you.

Two Alternatives

Lacking such information, I can only say that, as I see it, you have just two alternatives in the way of solving the problem which concerns your brother-in-law. The first would be to move away from where you live, so that you would not see him any more. The second, obviously, is to do just what you say, that is, act so that he will not suspect your feeling for him is anything special.

Of course you do not want to cause any trouble either in your own family or in your brother-in-law's happy family life. So if you cannot move away, but must stay where you see him often, then it simply becomes a matter of avoiding him as much as possible and, when you cannot avoid seeing him, using all the will power you have to maintain an impersonal attitude toward him. I realize this is quite likely to be difficult for you, but under all the circumstances, I cannot see anything else for you to do.

If you would like to write me again, giving me more details about your situation and, also, giving me your name and address, I will be glad to write you a personal letter. If, for any reason, you do not wish to have a letter come to your home, you could give me a post office box number, or merely ask to have the letter sent in care of General Delivery and then call at the post office for my answer.

A Woman Who Should Mind Her Own Business

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Why is it some wives get insanely jealous of their husbands if they flirt with other girls?

I have become very well acquainted with a married man whom I like as a big brother, and I know he likes me. I have looked after his year-old baby quite often. I have gone driving with him when there was nothing else to do. His wife, however, is very jeolous, as she knows he likes me and he has called me sweet names in her presence.

Should I stop this mild case of flirtation? I can see no harm in it, but I would not like to have his wife despise me. And should I continue to baby-sit for him?

: B.

Dear B.: I take it you have no husband of your own. If you had, you probably would not be asking such a question as the one that opens your letter. Nor, if you had a husband of your own, would you be likely to say that you see no harm in another woman having a "mild flirtation" with him.

At best, you are indulging in a mean and cheap form of amusement, and at worst you are running the risk of damaging your own reputation and perhaps making trouble in what I assume has been a happy home. I think it would be an excellent idea if you were to stop baby-sitting in this family and mind your own business.

Reply Cards Aren't Correct . . . and in this Case they Weren't Even Practical

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

With our invitations to our wedding and wedding-dinner, we included the little "reply cards" which were to be mailed back to us with the number coming, so we would know the exact number to expect. One of my girl friends included her boy-friend's name on the reply card (they aren't engaged). Was she right in doing this?

M. A.

The answer to your question depends on how your "reply cards" were worded. If they gave the persons receiving the invitation as much leeway as your question seems to indicate . . . "to be mailed back with the number coming" . . . I can understand that your girl friend might take for granted that she could bring her special boy-friend. I suspect that your invitation, or the indefinitely - worded reply card, was at fault . . . you should have made it clear whom you were inviting to the dinner. To give a guest 'carte blanche' to bring other guests to a wedding - dinner is a dangerous procedure — as you found out. On the wedding invitation envelope, or at least on the inside envelope, you should have written only the names of those whom you were inviting.

Her Cousin Enjoys Giving Her Presents of Letter-paper Items

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

First I owe you a long-overdue bow of thanks, Mrs. Beeckman. Why? Because, through your column, my cousin and I became interested in the various letter-paper items of which you wrote — and she gave me several you suggested from time to time as particularly useful. When you wrote several years ago about the many uses of Informals, she gave me, as a Christmas present, a fine and most generous supply of Informals. (Thank you!). Then, some handsome monogrammed letter - paper, with matching note-paper, as you suggested.

Then, when you wrote about the daily usefulness of single - sheet letter-paper and envelopes printed with the name and address, she gave me, as a birthday present last year, a supply of this type of paper. (Thank you, again.) Now as a birthday present this year, she has just sent me a supply of 'private mailing-cards' (you mentioned these some time ago as one of your suggestions as a paper - shower present). But these postal cards are printed with my address only: that is, in one line across the top, my street-address, city, zone number, state. Not with my name. Now I'm wondering if her printer made a mistake in omitting the name. Do you think so?

Ellen S. A.

Thank you for your thank-you words . . . I'm glad and proud that you've profited so handsomely from the letter-paper suggestions! Nice going . . . nice coming, too! About your latest present: I'm fairly sure that your kind and thoughtful cousin ordered the cards printed this way . . . apparently feeling, as many people do, that although these private mailing-cards are enormously convenient, it is desirable, wise to keep them a little more "private" by not having the name printed on them. And, as a matter of fact, generally the address is all that is needed to make them achieve their convenience.

Food for Thought

First There Was One— Then There Were Six

By Mary Moore

A quiet, cool supper on a tray under the peach tree—that was my plan for I was alone. But just as I was ready to sit down Pete strolled up the driveway with Kaye, his buddy. That was okay—I could provide for two more without much trouble. But when five minutes later Marianne drove up with Art in tow, and Art in turn had Jim in tow, and Jim is his artist friend from Philadelphia—well, I had to start from the beginning. Nothing was ready that would feed four trenchermen and Marianne and me.

You may be sure I gave everyone of them a job when they offered to help. My mind clicked at the double-quick to assemble this menu:

Tomato-Chicken Soup
(see note)
Barbecued Wieners in Blankets
(see notes)
Salad Platter (see notes)
Rye Bread
Ice Cream Chocolate Sauce
Nuts
Milk Iced Coffee

I knew everybody's talents so I delegated the jobs like this: Pete the chocolate sauce; Kaye the barbecue sauce; Art the soup, milk and coffee; Marianne and Jim set the table in the garden and bought the ice cream. (Art is the official boy friend but such a good guy he looked on this pairing off—pro tem—with a twinkle in his eye.)

What did I do? The wieners and salad things. Two of the boys don't like mayonnaise so I arranged everything in groups on the salad platter without dressing and put dressing on the tray separately.

The soup was 1 tin canned condensed tomato and 1 tin condensed chicken mixed together and diluted and heated in top of double boiler (Art's job). As you have guessed I didn't have 2 tins of one kind and the combination turned out to be popular with everybody.

The wieners were 2 lbs, which had been bought for a rainy day and which were frozen at the back of the freezing unit—it did not rain but it did pour. These I unwrapped and plopped into boiling water to thaw. Then I drained and split them and spread them with Kaye's sauce (see below) and wrapped them 2-3 way round with slices of crustless white bread. (Remember I had to improvise fast for this hungry crowd.) I broiled them from choice and because there was no room for the likes of me at the top of the stove. It was already occupied by 3 boys with a pot each.

BARBECUE SAUCE (for wieners)

In top of double boiler beat 1 egg until frothy then add 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons dry mustard, and 1-2 cup vinegar. Stir over boiling water until the mixture is as thick as cream. Remove from heat and stir in 1 tablespoon salad oil or butter. Keep warm over warm water until wieners are heated in water and split, then spread this sauce in the split, wrap your slices of crustless bread around, leaving split top open and fasten with toothpicks and toast under hot broiler.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE (for ice cream)

Stir in a saucepan over low direct heat 1-4 cup butter (4 tablespoons) with 1 1-2 squares unsweetened chocolate shaved or chopped. When melted add mixed together, 1-4 cup cocoa, 3-4 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt and 1-4 cup cream. Bring the whole thing slowly just to boiling point. Do not stir after it is once mixed. As soon as it boils, remove from heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Serve warm on ice cream, sprinkled with nuts—peanuts will do if they are all you have on hand—which was the case that day with us.

The success of this meal was in the participation of all concerned—and the fact that they were very hungry, but they always are.

Fashion Flashes

THEY DO SAY that the strapless bodice is on its way out, but we can't say that we have noticed this. One of the newest and prettiest of the summer evening dresses has a very low, strapless bodice coupled with a very full, short skirt. The fabric is white silk faille, and the boned bodice is completely covered with gold mesh and embroidered in gold and pearls.

THE FORECAST for Fall coats is that fabrics will be textured and colors vivid. Plenty of red is noted in every collection so far, with raspberry shades favored by some houses. Loopy-and lacy-textured fabrics, and some with a very long-haired pile, as well as spongy tweeds are represented.

EXQUISITE leather gloves will be here for fall. In an import collection we saw beautiful glace gloves that looked like white, but were faintly tinted with color giving pale pearl gray and mauve-pink tones that were new and striking. Tiny self bows, shaped contrast bindings, and corded cuff tops give extra interest to these feminine beauties.

DOWN TO THE SEA—or, anyway, quite near it—in burlap and sequins! A new beach outfit is made up of yellow burlap shorts trimmed with sequin bettles in bright red and green, and a red cotton shirt blouse with a black cummerbund. Colorful, if not very practical!

Boxing Boss 'Shakes Up' Maxim, Gavilan

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission which governs boxing here, yesterday took to task world boxing champions Joey Maxim and Kid Gavilan.

Christenberry charged that both Maxim, world light heavyweight ruler, and Gavilan, world welterweight titleholder, have repeatedly bucked the No. 1 contenders in their respective divisions.

"It perturbed me no end when I learned that Jack Solomons, British promoter, tried to line up a London title bout between Joey Maxim and Randy Turpin," Christenberry said.

"Archie Moore of St. Louis has been by-passed too long by Maxim. He is the legitimate light heavyweight contender and not Turpin.

"I feel more perturbed about Gavilan not giving Billy Graham a return bout. Gavilan recently stopped Gil Turner, a legitimate defence by the way, but he again by-passed Graham, the No. 1 contender."

Diesels on Top Win 16th Game Beat Pt. Anne 8-7

By JACK BRETT

By beating Canada Cement 8-7 at the Recreation field last night, the C.N.R. Diesels moved out of a tie for first place with Glen Roy in the Belleville and District Softball League.

The win was the Diesel's 16th in 18 starts. Point Anne now takes over fourth place.

Vern Goyer put the Diesels out in front in the first inning with a home run to centrefield to bring in Fitzpatrick on first with a single.

Point Anne exploded for six runs in the second frame. Logue and Buchanan singled. Green and Bradshaw walked forcing in Logue and moving Buchanan to third. Strahan doubled to score Buchanan and Green and Mallory doubled to score Strahan and Bradshaw. Mallory took third on an error and scored on a pass ball.

Diesels went ahead in their half of the second frame. The first two men strolled, stole around the diamond, and came home on passed balls. Leo Goyer and Fitzpatrick were safe on errors and Glen Young scored them with a home run to right field.

Glen Young strengthened the Diesel's lead with a home run in the sixth to make the score 8-6.

Mallory hit a home run in the seventh for Point Anne to add the final tally of the game.

Al Adams hurled for C.N.R. to walk four, strike out five and give nine hits for seven runs.

Maracle went the route for Point Anne to walk four, strike out seven and give six hits for eight runs.

Lineups:

Canada Cement: Bradshaw cf; Horwood 3b; Strahan ss; Mallory c; Maracle p; Whalen 2b; Logue 1b; Buchanan rf; Green lf.

C.N.R. Diesels: Rowbotham lf; Ronsky 3b; Fitzpatrick ss; V. Goyer 1b; L. Goyer 2b; G. Young c; Culkin rf; D. Adams cf; A. Adams p.

Score by innings:

Canada C.	060 000 100—7	9 2
C.N.R. D.	205 001 00x—8	6 2

Red 'Peace' Dove Angers Diver

HELSINKI (AP)—The Russians tricked Maj. Sammy Lee into wearing Pablo Picasso's Communist peace dove for a while yesterday and the little Olympic diving champion is sizzling about it.

"If they show a picture of me wearing that dizzy peace dove it's a mistake, brother, and I mean a mistake," the American-born Korean said.

Lee, strongly anti-Communist, got pulled into the "peace dove" manoeuvre while practising diving at the Olympic pool.

The Russian swimmers and divers talked with Lee, a native of Fresno, Calif., through an interpreter, and soon a Russian newspaper man joined the group.

Then a Russian swimmer pinned a white ivory "peace dove" on Sammy's swimming jacket. The dumpy dove has become almost as much a Communist symbol as the hammer and sickle.

"I didn't really notice what it was, because most team members have pins of one kind or another," Lee said. "I thought it was just a friendly gesture. I stood between two monstrous Russians and this Russian newspaper man took our pictures."

Wins Yacht Race

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—Paul Smiley's 65-foot cutter Orient won over-all fleet honors as well as victory in her own cruising-A class in the 28th annual Port Huron-to-Mackinac yacht race.

Smiley Monday skippered the Orient through the slowest weather conditions since 1941 in finishing the 235 miles on Lake Huron in 45 hours, 23 minutes, 52 seconds.

The Orient was acclaimed overall winner late yesterday on the basis of corrected times. Orient's elapsed time as scratch boat and pre-race favorite was five hours, 34 minutes, nine seconds better than the nearest challenger on corrected time—Nick Geib's 39-foot ketch yawl, Fleetwood.

The two-boat racing class competition was taken by John Blunt's eight-metre yacht, Rangoon, from Sarnia, in 54 hours, 59 minutes, 15 seconds.

Little Brothers Throw Scare Into Red Soccer Team

HELSINKI (AP)—A desperate overtime rally by the Red soccer team saved Soviet Russia from defeat last night in its first appearance in Olympic Games competition.

The Russians eliminated an Iron Curtain neighbor, Bulgaria, 2-1 in an overtime contest at Kotka, 32 miles from the Russian border.

Neither team had scored by the end of the regulation 90 minutes of play. Bulgaria went ahead 1-0 after four minutes of the 30-minute overtime period, but the Red Army team came back strongly to save the prestige of the Soviets, chiefly on the star work of Vsevolod Bobrov, the Russian captain.

Because of the huge entry list in the games of the 15th Olympiad, which opens here Saturday, eliminations were necessary in soccer, field hockey and basketball.

In other soccer games, Yugoslavia, one of the favorites, crushed a partially bare-footed Indian team 10-1, Hungary nosed out Romania, Poland ousted France and Denmark beat Greece, all by 2-1 scores.

All defeated teams were eliminated from further Olympic competition.

In the field hockey tournament, Austria beat Switzerland 2-1 and Belgium downed Finland, 6-0.

Robbs, Drive-Ins Play Tonight

Robb Roys and Drive-Ins clash at 7 o'clock tonight at the Fair Grounds with the bantam baseball league lead at stake.

Both teams have won two and lost two games with a point separating the squads.

It is predicted these squads will play off for the right to represent the city in the OBA playdowns.

Indians Cut Yankees Lead With 7-3 Defeat; Giants Gain On Brooklyn

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"HOT TIME . . ."

With the Kingston Monarchs here tomorrow night as the guests of the Redmen, Michael J. Rodden, probably basing his predictions on the goings-on that occurred during the last clash between the teams down hisaway, predicts everything from a Donnybrook to a Tokyo riot on May Day when the teams hook up here.

According to El Miguel everything in the riot book was allowed sway last Friday gloaming in the sparsely-populated Megaffin Stadium. Says he, quote—

"That joust in Belleville should and probably will attract the largest crowd of the league season. Relations between these old rivals reached the breaking point during Friday's eleven innings duel in Megaffin Memorial Stadium and at one stage the situation threatened to get out of hand. It was so serious, in fact, that nobody would have been surprised if a pitched battle had occurred during a wild uprising in the eighth inning.

George H. Carver, league secretary, was unable to attend but it is quite likely that he has received an official report by the umpires who experienced no easy task in keeping the adversaries under control. Arbiter Herb Pointer, a Belleville 'appointee', was assailed by Earl Bush of the Reds when the latter resented a strike-out call and the rebellion against authority that ensued was reminiscent of those hilarious nights when Ben Lady was on the rampage in Border League entanglements.

Despite the heat and the milling players Umpire Bill Reason maintained a severe but stoical attitude, the while he moved in from the base line to order Bush out of the combat. Manager Ralph McCabe debated all issues vehemently but was 'over ruled' by Reason and Coach Levandoski, McCabe's swift sprint to first base in pursuit of Reason was a highlight de duxe.

Scientifically the game was away below part but as a producer of incidents, thrills and the unexpected it was a seasonal gem. More of the same would turn that red ink black. Even the fans participated to a certain extent in the badgering and on one occasion it appeared that only the screen deterred big Vernon Goyer from coming to grips with a heckler in the grandstand." End quote.

This is the second time an all-out rhubarb has occurred in Megaffin Stadium this season. And noting that the first, which we are informed, Michael, was much more of the free-for-all type than the Redmen-Monarchs scuffle, involved the Monarchs and Cardinal Redbirds of the St. Lawrence Baseball League, just what inference can be drawn?

Mebbe a lot of those flying saucers alleged to have been seen cluttering the air above Kingston have been displaced halos of the Monarchs team, and since the "rhubarb" seemed centred about the plate umpire and a Redman player, just how did M'sieu Levandoski and company get into the battle?

However, Miguel, don't worry too much. We've a crack anti-tank regiment in this village which knocked off the best Eastern Canada can produce a few weeks ago, and these together with a platoon or two of Angus Duffy's Hasty Pees should be sufficient to stop any Koje's which might arise.

In the meantime the Petes and Monarchs will stage a "saw-off" battle for second place tonight in Peterborough. The Petes have won their last three starts and seem headed for places. The Monarchs are a trifle cocky too, since knocking off the Redmen so tonight's joust should be a real battle.

FOR THE TITLE

Lord Athol Layton, fresh from his victory over Hans Hermann, demanded a match with his arch-rival, Whipper Billy Watson and got it. And it may serve him right. They will meet in the main wrestling bout at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. This bitterly - opposed pair always produce mat fireworks and at this particular time, two referees seemed essential. Accordingly, two referees it will be, a rarity in a two-man match. Layton claimed Watson could not ignore his claims for a British Empire title match now that Athol has disposed of the haughty German.

Warren Bockwinkle, the spectacular St. Louis star, will meet Dangerous Dan O'Connor, Toledo tornado in the semi-finals.

Roberto Pico, tall, 250-pound Mexican, will wrestle Bill Stack, of Oshawa, in the first match.

WRONG NUMBER

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up in the back room the other night and the talk got around to illegal fishing. One said a game warden had arrested a man for fishing by telephone.

"Wait a minute," came the chorus, "we've heard some tall ones, but . . ."

"It's true", said the serious-faced one. "This fellow had an old-fashioned country telephone — the kind with a handle you have to turn — and he had two long electrodes leading off from it. He'd drop the electrodes in the water, hold the telephone box in his lap and crank 'em up. Any fish swimming between the electrodes received the shock of their lives; they'd rise to the surface and the fisherman hauled them in his boat."

"What did the fisherman use," finally quipped one, "Two shorts and a long?"

Vermonter Hooks 22 Pound Trout Second Largest on Continent

NEW YORK. (CP) — The big brown trout which Alfred O. Palmer, Readsboro, Vt., angler, caught near the Canadian border last month has turned out to be the largest of its kind hooked in the eastern half of the continent.

The brown trout which the bespectacled Vermanter caught in Sherman Pond, near Whitingham, Vt., a few miles from the Quebec border, scaled 22 1-2 pounds. The only bigger brown trout caught in North America was taken in California.

Records of Field and Stream Magazine show that Palmer's fish was the second biggest taken on the continent. Seven years ago, Dave Hanny took a 24-pound brown trout out of California's Regulator Lake using a heddon rod and salmon eggs for bait.

Next in line, and placing behind Palmer's fish is a 22-pound trout taken in Oven River gorge in California in 1950 by Bill Shunkwiler.

Palmer caught his fish on a fly rod from which he had been casting a worm.

But all of the brown trout caught on this continent are small compared with the world's record. That was a 39 1-2-pounder taken out of Loch Awe in Scotland in 1866.

Red Sox Take Over Third Spot With 7-5 Defeat of Chicago; Dropo Ties Rare League Mark

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Walt Dropo, the amiable "moose" from Mosseup, Conn., once again is striking fear into the hearts of American League pitchers.

Dropo, who has experienced many ups and downs in his bid for stardom, has been the hottest batter in the league this month.

The husky first baseman of Detroit Tigers shunted the pennant races to the sidelines last night by tying a rare major league record —12 consecutive hits. Pinky Higgins set the record in 1938 with Boston Red Sox.

Fouled Out in Seventh

Dropo missed a chance to break the record when he fouled out in the seventh inning of the second game of a doubleheader against Senators in Washington. The 28-year-old slugger then singled home two runs in the ninth.

Despite Dropo's lusty hitting the tail-end Tigers dropped both ends of the twin bill to Washington, 8-2 and 9-8.

Dropo began his streak Monday with five straight hits against New York Yankees. He collected four straight singles against Walt Masterson in the twilight portion of last night's doubleheader, tripled with the bases loaded in the first inning of the second game, singled in the third and tied the mark with a double in the fifth.

Since games of July 4, Dropo has been banging away at a .523 clip and raised his average from .259 to .296.

Meanwhile Cleveland Indians cut the Yanks' lead to 2½ games by downing the Bombers 7-3 at Yankee Stadium. The Red Sox took over third place from Chicago by beating the White Sox 7-5 and Philadelphia Athletics swept a twin bill from St. Louis, 7-6 and 11-3.

Giants Move Up

In the National League, the second-place New York Giants climbed to within five games of Brooklyn's pace-setting Dodgers by turning back St. Louis Cardinals 6-3. The Dodgers' game with Cincinnati was rained out. In other games, Philadelphia Phillies trounced Pittsburgh 10-3 and Boston Braves walloped Chicago Cubs 10-3.

Early Wynn, backed by a nine-hit attack that included home runs by Harry Simpson and Luke Easter, coasted to his 10th victory in the opener of the important five-game series at Yankee Stadium. Home runs by Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle accounted for all of the Yanks' runs but by the time the New Yorkers found the range the Indians were enjoying a 7-0 lead. The crucial series resumes today with a double-header.

Rookie first baseman Dick Gernert clouted two home runs and George Kell one, to account for all Boston's runs in its victory over the White Sox.

The A's pulled the opener out of the fire from the Browns with a six-run ninth-inning rally that was climaxed by a grand slam homer by Eddie Joost at the expense of Satchel Paige. Venerable Bobo Newsom went the distance in the second game and scattered 10 hits.

Lefty Dave Koslo, although relieved in the sixth by relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm, gained credit for his 12th straight victory over the Cardinals since mid-season of 1950.

Curt Simmons breezed to his ninth victory in beating the Pirates. Rookie Mel Clark's grand-slam homer in the third, his first of the season, staked Simmons to a 4-0 lead.

The Braves scored seven unearned runs to beat the Cubs. Shortstop Roy Smalley was the guilty party, committing three boots.

Sport in Brief

(By The Canadian Press)

Paul Haynes, chairman of the Canadian Davis Cup committee, announced in Montreal yesterday that Dr. Georges Leclerc of Montreal has been appointed non-playing captain of the Canadian team. The team, whose members are expected to be announced in a day or two, meets Mexico Aug. 1-3.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, announced in New York yesterday there will be no radio broadcast, home television or theatre television of the July 28 heavyweight fight between Rocky Marciano and Harry Matthews. "The only way fans can see the fight will be to come to Yankee Stadium," said Norris. He also ruled out all foreign radio broadcasts.

Monte Irvin thinks he will be able to pinch hit for New York Giants by Aug. 1. Working out daily with the club, Irvin now is able to put pressure on the ankle he broke at Denver April 2. "I have had regular hitting practice on this trip," he said in St. Louis yesterday.

Johnny Vander Meer, who 14 years ago pitched successive no-hitters for Cincinnati, hurled another no-hit masterpiece at Beaumont, Texas, last night as Tulsa walloped Beaumont 12-0 in the Texas League. The 37-year-old left-hander walked three and hit one batsman. A fifth Beaumont batter reached first on an error.

As practice for a try at the English Channel next month, Gene Texeira yesterday finished a 140-mile swim down the Hudson River from Albany to New York. Swimming by day and resting by night, the 18-year-old Westport, Mass., boy spent a total of 55½ hours in the water. He began his trip July 3.

Twenty swimmers are training at Folkestone and more are expected before the end of the month to prepare for the annual English Channel swim to France. The first Canadian to swim the channel, Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuszler, 25, who came in seventh in last year's race, is training in Toronto and hopes to go over for another try.

Wings Take Two From Royals; Leafs, A's Split

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The eyes of the International League are focussed on Rochester today.

Just when it looked as though the Red Wings were ready to fold before the league-leading Montreal Royals, they hauled off and whipped the boys from north of the border 5-1 and 5-3 last night.

When the fourth game of a five-game series coming up tonight, George Condrick goes for Rochester against Royals' Hamp Coleman. It will be up to Condrick to keep Montreal from improving on its three-game margin.

Leafs, A's Split

.. In other games last night, Syracuse blanked Baltimore 2-0; Buffalo walloped Springfield 14-3 and Toronto and Ottawa split a pair, Ottawa taking the opener 3-2 and the Leafs the windup 4-3.

Willard Schmidt, recently optioned from St. Louis Cardinals, beat the Royals' brilliant rookie Ed Roebuck in the opener at Rochester with a four-hitter. Roebuck had his run of 31 scoreless innings snapped and also a six-game win streak.

In the nightcap, Pete Riggan and Don Richmond, first two men to face Montreal's Bob Alexander, tagged homers.

With their new manager Burleigh Grimes coaching at first base, Toronto rallied for three runs in the ninth to capture the nightcap after Ottawa had won the opener with a big sixth frame. Mike Goliat homered for the Leafs in the second game.

Grimes, who managed the Leafs the last time they won the pennant in 1943, took over from Joe Becker, who was fired Monday night.

No Outstanding Favorite in Field As Canadian Open Gets Under Way

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WINNIPEG. (CP)—As wide-open as a field as the Canadian Open Golf championship has ever seen sets out today in the hunt for Canada's top golf classic and $15,000 in prize money.

With 147 entries in the opening 18-hole round of the 72-hole four-day tournament, there wasn't an outstanding favorite in the lot although one of their number was big Jim Ferrier, transplanted Australian who plays out of San Francisco, winner of the title in the last two years.

A number of younger pros from the United States, including Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas, Texas; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.; Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N.Y.; and Al Besselink, Escondido, Calif., were rated a good chance to take first money of $3,000.

Ferrier a Threat

But there were formidable veterans in the field. Despite a sour putter which has hampered his play on the U.S. tournament circuit, Ferrier is a real threat. By winning he could become the first man to win the Canadian Open three times in succession.

The comparatively short fairways of Winnipeg's St. Charles course, lined with trees to plague the inaccurate hitters, favor the big fellow who concentrates on hitting straight off the tee and sinking long putts.

Two other former Canadian champions are in the field—Lawson Little, 1936 winner, and Dutch Harrison, who finished first in 1949.

Many liked the chances of Robert de Vicenzo of Buenos Aires, lone entry from outside Canada and the U.S. He holds the Open titles of his native Argentine, Mexico, Belgium and Italy. The handsome de Vicenzo shot a three under par 69 in a practice round yesterday.

Other veterans in the field include Dick Metz of Maple City, Kan., runner-up in 1946 and 1948; Jim Turnesa, N.S. Professional Golfers' Association champion; Ed Oliver of Lamont, Ill., who tied for second place with Hawkins a year ago, and Ellesworth Vines of Los Angeles.

Big Crowds Expected

Canadian hopes rest with Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Canadian P.G.A. champion; Stan Leonard of Vancouver, top Canadian last year, and Bob Gray of Toronto, runner-up in 1941.

Golf fever gripped Winnipeg for the first Canadian Open ever to be played on the prairies. Yesterday, galleries for practice rounds ran into the thousands. Officials reported a heavy advance sale of weekly tickets—about 2,000—and prepared for thousands more each day.

Guelph Leafs Falling Down, Lose 3rd Straight

(By The Canadian Press)

The "Leafs" have been falling in the senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Guelph Maple Leafs, for most of the season a fixture at the top of the league, last night dropped their third straight game. Waterloo Tigers clawed the wilting Leafs 8-4.

Phil Marchildon gave up only four hits for the winners until relieved by Gord Ariss in the ninth.

Waterloo led 6-1 by the end of the fifth and added two more in the eighth. Guelph bounded back with three in the ninth but were still left four short

Bob Fauth, the loser, started for the Leafs but was knocked off the mound in the fifth when the Tigers exploded with four runs. He was replaced by John Adie who gave up five hits for two runs.

Shortstop Bob Schnurr and Marchildon paced Waterloo with two hits apiece.

Tonight Guelph goes to Kitchener; Waterloo to St. Thomas and Galt to Brantford.

Sports Roundup

By ED CORRI

NEW YORK (AP)—Since Bill Talbert has been appointed captain of the United States Davis Cup team for the first-round matches against Japan in Cincinnati starting July 25, we'd like to see him stay as leader of the squad.

The results of this match won't—or at least shouldn't—have anything to do with Talbert's tenure. If the U.S. team loses it, they ought to burn all their rackets.

Just why Talbert was chosen strikes us as somewhat of a mystery in view of the fact that one of the most powerful men in the United States tennis picture told us last winter that he was pretty annoyed at Longpants Bill.

Longtime Gripe

This gentleman naturally will remain nameless in the interests of harmony, but his gripe against Bill stemmed back to last summer and even the summer before.

It seems that the top brass of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, with surprising foresight come to think of it, took due note that young Tony Trabert showed signs of becoming one of the best doubles players in the country, but needed some coaching.

Talbert was the logical candidate because he was an old-timer in the tennis wars and he was—and still is—one of the best doubles players in the world. So he was told to get busy with Trabert and show the youngster the ropes.

"He spent most of his nights at parties and was not in the proper shape to take Trabert under his wing. It caused us considerable distress. We were very annoyed at Billy."

Perhaps Talbert was chosen because he's an easy-going bloke who doesn't take himself too seriously. This is a switch from last year when Frank Shields installed an "austerity" program something like Eddie Sawyer, deposed manager of the Phillies. Now they're both gone.

Not Fully In

The U.S.L.T.A. probably figured that if Shields' system didn't win, Talbert's might. But Bill still isn't completely in. Walter Pate and Alrick Man, a couple of ex-captains, probably would like to get back in harness and take a try at beating the Australians.

It really doesn't make much difference who captains the team, it seems, although brother Gayle Talbot, who usually fills this space, thinks that Pate will get the call.

What the United States needs more than a captain is someone who can lure Australian ace Frank Sedgman into the professional ranks. So long as he has Sedgman around, Australian captain Harry Hopman can go fishing.

Canadian Oarsmen, Basketballers In For Biggest Battle of Careers

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

HELSINKI (CP). — Canada's oarsmen and basketballers realize they are in for the biggest battles of their athletic careers.

The sweep-oared crews are resigned to the fact that they'll represent Canada in the Olympic Games in borrowed boats and the Canadian champions of the court game, with two victories under their belts in the preliminary rounds, must win the next one to keep the Maple Leaf flying when the Games officially start this weekend. Both are on the short end of betting odds if such an expression may be used in connection with the world's extravaganza of amateur sports.

Have Little Chance

Whichever way you look at it Canada has not much chance against the cream of the world's amateur athletes. In practically every sport the country has entered — from fencing to wrestling — Canada is behind the eight-ball when experts gather to discuss probabilities.

The oarsmen are particularly hard hit. Since their boats were bashed in during a North Atlantic storm a week ago, they have been training more or less on borrowed time. They've used boats unfamiliar to them. They've juggled crews around so much that the pattern existing during the three years they have set their sights on these Games is almost lost.

They have boats from Sweden that needed numerous rig and structural changes before they could be put in the water. They received word yesterday that there is no chance of replacements arriving from Canada in time and they will have to go out July 20 and make the best of it with what they have.

The oarsmen were dejected when word was received from Toronto that the plane scheduled to take off with the boats would not be coming, but soon shed their woes and now are determined to give their best when they meet the starting gun.

"We're here to represent Canada to the best of our ability," said Art Griffiths of Hamilton, "and if we have to do it in a borrowed boat we'll be in there digging just as hard as if we were in our own boat."

The doubles were out yesterday despite choppy waters and are gradually becoming accustomed to the scull lent by Sweden.

Egypt Tough Team

The basketball team came up with a second straight victory in the preliminary tournament, defeating Romania 72-51. One more win will shoot the Canadians into the 16-country Olympic championship but they are still in for a hard time.

The Canadians meet Egypt tomorrow and it's touch and go whether they can make it. The Egyptians have a classy club and are favored over the Canadians.

All other members of Canada's 111-man Olympic team were out for practice. Best news of the day was that Shirley Eckel of Toronto was back in training after a long lay-off due to a pulled leg muscle and looked good over the hurdles.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Batting: Walt Dropo, Tigers — tied major league record of 12 consecutive hits established in 1938 by Pinky Higgins of Boston by hitting safely in first seven trips to plate in two-night double header won by Washington, 8-2, and 9-8. Dropo began streak Monday with five straight hits against New York.

Pitching: Bobo Newsom, Athletics—turned back St. Louis 11-3, in his first start for Philadelphia after limited relief appearances.

Toronto Yorks Edge Timbermen

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Yorks climbed into second place in the senior Ontario Lacrosse League last night by edging Peterborough Timbermen 9-8.

St. Catharines Athletics tightened their hold on fifth place, defeating Hamilton Tigers 12-9.

Playing coach Don McPhail notched Toronto's winning marker in the final three minutes of play. It was his third goal of the evening.

St. Catharines raged through the last quarter scoring four goals, Rookie Johnny Dewart rammed home three for the winners while Hamilton's Blain McDonald duplicated this performance.

Royal Copeland Will Play Footba With Toronto Argos This Season

(By The Canadian Press)

Royal Copeland will play the 1952 football season for Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four.

Copeland returns to his native city after two seasons playing man-to-motion back and pass receiver in the T-system of Calgary Stampeders. Argo President Bob Moran said the star of Argo championship teams of 1945-47 will begin practice tomorrow.

The Stampeders plan to trade Copeland for fullback Bob Westlake of the Toronto team, who is on his way to Calgary. But the Argos' right to trade Westlake is being challenged by Hamilton Tiger-Cats under the Big Four waiver rule.

Coach Carl Voyles of the Cats says he will try to get Westlake this season and has the right to him under the waiver rule. According to the rule, Westlake must play for whatever Big Four team wants him after his release from Toronto and only after he's freed from the Big Four can he go to Calgary.

Voyles said the former Tige Cat player told him he want to play for Hamilton.

But Moran said Westlake a plied for his release from Toro to because he wanted to mo outside of football and go to Ca gary to accept a job. But We lake also wanted to be free "play football out there if could," Moran said.

Meanwhile Copeland will pl the season for Argos while Wes lake's position remains uncertai

In Hamilton, Voyles said would consider a deal with Arg nauts that would bring Joe Kr to Hamilton.

When the north player reached ix diamonds, east could not resist doubling. His three aces eemed adequate for defeating it. And his double had a significant urpose.

There is an expert convention hat says: If you double a slam it sks partner to lead the dummy id suit. But north did not have heart. So, he led a spade; the uit his own partner had bid.

Which spade? The five; his ourth best. When dummy played he six, east knew it was safe to over with the seven: knew it y rule of eleven or the card ount. Not that it matters here.

South ruffed trick one and ulled two trump rounds. A heart was lost to the east ace. Three south clubs were sluffed n the long dummy hearts. The emaining losers were cross-ruffed.

If west had had one heart and ed it, east ace would have won. f east then returned a heart, west would have ruffed. That would have meant curtains for declarer. Lucky stiff.

Said Bingham: "The plan Peterson worked out was carried through to the minute. They advanced 900 yards in 13 minutes. Twenty minutes after starting out they were engaging the enemy at the top. A known four Chinese were killed including one by Peterson. They took one prisoner, who tried to escape and was killed, but they brought back his credentials.

"They came back in just a shade over the allotted hour. That man Peterson must have ice in his veins." Peterson now is second-in-command of "D" Company.

Historic Liaison

More than usually close cooperation exists between the RCR and the RCHA.

"A" Battery of the RCHA has supported the RCR in every operation it has fought since 1885. Currently commanded by Capt. Bob Davidson of West Kildonan, Man., the battery last month was presented with the RCR's crest, with permission to wear it on its vehicles. The privilege is restricted to Davidson's battery.

The Vandoos and the Patricias have patrolled just as actively.

But the Patricias have chalked up another record.

By June 30 the battalion had been 283 days in the line— believed a record in the history of Commonwealth armies.

The battalion relieved the 2nd Patricia Nov. 5. Certain elements had been committed with the 2nd Battalion previously. Since then although the brigade was technically in reserve between Jan. 19 and March 10, the Patricias have had an operational commitment without letup. During the reserve period they were in a blocking role, and the companies shared responsibility by taking turns in the trenches.

Early in May Lt.-Col. John Cameron of Ottawa became C.O., relieving Lt.-Col. Norman Wilson-Smith of Winnipeg, who became senior staff officer at Commonwealth Division headquarters.

A recent change at Brigade headquarters has been the appointment of Maj. Jack Leach of Kingston, Ont., as brigade major, relieving Maj. Jim Allen of Calgary, returning to Canada for a surgical operation.

Expected shortly is Col. W. J. Moogk of Ottawa, the brigade's newly - appointed colonel in charge of administration. Like Bogert, he is a former RCR.

Shower Player With 'Fine' Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mickey Grasso, the Senators' fiery catcher, let it be known yesterday that he wants Washington fans to quit sending him money.

After Mickey was fined $100 for getting into rhubarb with New York Yankees July 4, his supporters began showering him with money. Grasso said he appreciated it, but insisted on paying his own fine and returning the contributions.

Among the letters that accompanied contributions was this note from a little girl named Sally Nelson:

"I think they were very mean to fine Mickey Grasso all that money. I want to help him because he is my favorite because once when I was at the ball park I waved to him and he smiled at me and waved back so I think he is very nice so I am sending you this week's allowance to give him 10 cents."

Trudeau Midgets Win

Wooler Walk Out Crawfords Win Short Game 5-0

Crawford Metals picked up their fifth victory of the Belleville and District Softball League campaign last night when they captured an abbreviated contest from Wooler by a score of 5-0.

The game was interrupted in the fifth inning as plate umpire Don Dolan tossed one of the Wooler players out of the game for excessive heckling. Wooler protested the decision so much that they refused to continue. The Wooler boys walked off the field and when they failed to return in the allotted time, umpire Dolan called the game and Crawfords took it by default.

Up to this point the Metals had been rolling along with a 5-0 lead erected in the early innings, while Crawford hurler, Jack McBride was fashioning a one-hitter.

Crawfords scored in the first inning when leadoff man Upper, singled to centrefield, took second as Duesberry beat out a bunt and came to third on a passed ball. He scored when Watson hoisted a long fly to right field.

Four Run Rally

Crawfords scored four runs in the third inning on an interference play by the catcher that put Upper on at first, followed by singles by Duesberry, Galbraith, Watson, Jeffrey and Speigel.

Joe Scott, who smashed a long ball to deep centrefield in the second inning but pulled up lame with a sore leg muscle was the only Wooler man to get on base until Flynn walked to lead off the fifth. With McKee at the plate Dolan elected to eject a Wooler heckler and the ball game was over.

The Metals collected seven hits off Rosenplott in the first four innings. He walked one and struck out two. McBride walked one, struck out one, and gave up one hit, doing the firing for Crawfords.

Lineup:

Wooler: Levitt 3b, Richards ss, May cf, Scott 1b, Flynn 2b, McKee rf, Adams c, McMasters lf, Rosenplott p.

Crawfords: Upper c, Duesberry rf, Galbraith 2b, McBride p, Watson lf, Jeffrey 3b, Speigel 1b, Massey 2b, Taylor cf.

AT THE CAPITOL — Edward Arnold, who appears in 20th. Century-Fox's Technicolor comedy, "Belles on Their Toes," at the Capitol Theatre, and opens tonight for its first city showing.

CAPITOL THEATRE

'BELLES ON THEIR TOES' (20th-FOX), WINS BLUE RIBBON AWARD FOR JUNE

(By Dorothy F. Martin)

"Belles on Their Toes," 20th Century - Fox's Technicolor sequel to "Cheaper by the Dozen," has won the Boxoffice Blue Ribbon Award for June. Members of the National Screen Council, voting in overwhelming majority, approved the further adventures of the Gilbreth family. Based on the novel by the same authors, Frank and Ernestine Gilbreth, the film recounts the growing-up problems of the numerous clan. Producer Samuel G. Engel and Director Henry Levin have added several musical numbers to the story, skillfully tied into the action, to seem natural and even spontaneous. The picture's stellar aggregation includes Jeanne Crain, Myrna Loy, Debra Paget, Jeffrey Hunter and Edward Arnold.

Of the National Screen roster, members of the press had these comments to offer on "Belles on Their Toes":

The happy story of a brave and wonderful American family, excellently presented. — Lowell Lehman, News-Free Press, Chattanooga, Tenn. . . . Good show, worthy successor to "Cheaper by the Dozen" but I miss Clifton Webb.—Tom Peck, News and Courier, Charleston, S.C. . . . What better family entertainment than this cheerful family story? Let's have more like it.— A. S. Kany, Journal Herald, Dayton, Ohio.

Radio commentators on the National Screen Council, had this to say:

For the whole family it just has to be "Belles on Their Toes." —Dorothy R. Shank, Radio Station WEBR, Buffalo, N.Y. . . . A three-ring circus; a main event for all.—Art Preston, Radio Station WIDE, Biddeford, Me.

"Belles on Their Toes," in color by Technicolor, opens at the Capitol Theatre tonight for a four-day run.

AT THE McCARTHY — Dale Robertson and Anne Francis disguise themselves as Haitian natives in a scene from "Lydia Bailey," a Twentieth Century-Fox production of Kenneth Roberts' best seller. In color by Technicolor, the new film opens today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Miss Francis is co-starred opposite Robertson in the title role. Playing top featured roles are William Marshall and Charles Korvin.

Rotary Peewees Defeat Kinsmen

Behind the outstanding performance of Freddie Howard, the Rotary peewee softball team defeated the Kinsmen 16-5 at the Firemen's Park last night.

Howard not only pitched a seven-hitter, striking out eight and walking five but slammed out a triple and a homer to boot.

Harry Green helped his cause by bashing out two doubles and a home run.

R. Pointer was on the mound for the Kinsmen giving up 22 hits striking out three and walking two. Blaind for Rotary and Haley were the catchers.

DRIVE-IN THEATRE

"JIGGS AND MAGGIE OUT WEST"

Jiggs (Joe Yule) and Maggie (Renie Riano), accompanied by their daughter Nora (June Harrison) travel to Gower Gulch, a ghost town, to acquire mining property to which Maggie has proven she is the heir. Also on hand to press a claim for the property are Jim Bannon and Riley Hill, leaders of an ornery clan. Bannon spends his time trailing Maggie in an effort to locate the mine, but Hill is smitten with Nora. Jiggs, getting lonesome, sends for his pal Dinty Moore (Tim Ryan), informing him Maggie has struck gold. Dinty brings his whole gang and the ghost town booms. Throughout, there is frequent reference to an unseen power who rules the Bannon-Hill gang, but it is not until the last that he is revealed.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1952

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Adroitness and keen observation can make this a banner day in general matters. Forethought can turn creditable day's gains your way quicker.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—With temperate pace and alertness to situations you can produce extremely fine returns. However, don't take on more than you can handle rightly.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—No time for useless risks or hurried tries. Avoid the glib talkers, easy-come-easy-go companions, they only bring trouble.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Stars offer fine vibrations, many opportunities today. Set schedule and keep it, the reward will be well worth it. P.M. indicates pleasant possibilities.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—You can ring up a good score now if you are alert in dealings and cooperate with those with whom you should. Less haste, more thought.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Outlook offers generous, some very prosperous, results for worthy efforts. Be moderate in demands, sane about pleasures. You will have no regrets.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Business activities have new opportunities. You will have to be up to par in endeavor, know what you are about for gains. Heart interests rate.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Few uncertainties; on whole a prosperous day. Bring things out of apathy by injecting new ideas, sturdier efforts.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—May have to take extra time to study things before going into day's activities. Don't pass up the hard ones, they might better be done first.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Rather unusual outlook for up-to-date matters. Be ready with systematic endeavor to reap rewards. Spending, real estate bear watching.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—A change for the better in the offing. Family and personal affairs mostly on pleasant side. Be careful dealing with strangers, unfamiliar matters.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Employment, investments need attention. May find obstacles in business that could cause annoyances. Sidestep where you can; be diplomatic but never sacrifice principles.

YOU BORN TODAY: Have the fortitude to hang on to what you have, and to gain more. Usually amendable but dislike being pushed and resent unjust interference. Cancerites often get the urge to move, change abode or means of living. Check this; be rational for best of all concerned. Birthdate of: John Jacob Astor, great merchant; Elbridge Gerry, statesman.

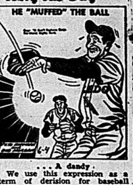
Why We Say--



. . . A dandy.

We use this expression as a term of derision for baseball players who miss catching a ball during a game. It alludes to the time when men dressed up by wearing muffs to keep their hands warm. However, when someone started a fight, they were nearly helpless to defend themselves.

Healing Waters Of 'Miracle Well' Said Polluted

BAWBURGH, England (Reuters) — For 900 years the ailing and the bed-ridden have sent for water from a "miracle well" near the parish church in this village.

But today officials warned that the well, called St. Walstan's is dangerous because "the water is unfit for human consumption."

Rev. Herbert Davies said the warning has put him in a difficult position.

"I do not want to destroy people's faith. The fact that the water is of inferior quality from an analytical point of view has nothing to do with its miraculous portent."

Dr. Irene Green, local public health officer, said that if the well became too popular she would put up a notice to warn that it was unfit for drinking.

Pastor Spurs Investigation Of County Home

WELLAND (CP) — A citizens' committee investigating the Welland county Home for the Aged yesterday recommended either construction of a new building or alterations and additions to the present structure.

The investigation resulted from a sermon by Rev. G. H. Knighton of Port Colborne May 4, in which he termed conditions at the home "disgraceful."

The committee suggested that the provincial Welfare Department be asked to serve in an advisory capacity in a review of administrative procedures or in renovation or new construction.

'United States' Breaks Second Ocean Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The new liner United States settled into a queen's throne yesterday and defied the maritime world to unseat her.

The fastest passenger liner afloat, she docked to a triumphant New York harbor welcome after wresting trans-Atlantic speed laurels from the bigger British liner Queen Mary.

Asked about the Mary's chances of regaining the title, the United States' skipper, Commodore Harry Manning, told reporters:

"I wish her luck but I doubt very much that she could do it."

The Queen Mary had held both east and west trans-Atlantic speed records since 1938. The United States broke them both within two weeks.

The United States' owners, the U.S. Lines, said the new speed queen now will settle down to a regular schedule of five-day Atlantic crossings.

The United States docked at pier 86 in the Hudson River, four blocks from where the world's largest liner, the Queen Elizabeth broke out welcoming bunting.

Bands played. The skyscraper bluffs of lower Manhattan were draped in bunting. Fireboats banked the United States with plumes of spray. Ships piped her home with a throaty symphony of whistles.

Steel Shortage Slows Hydro Work

TORONTO (CP)—The current shortage of steel caused by the steelworkers strike in the United States has slowed down the expansion program of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Chairman Robert Saunders is reported to be seeking steel orders during his present tour of Europe.

Work was held up last week on installation of a power line at the new Sir Adam Beck-Niagara No. 2 station by a shortage of steel towers.

Consider Taxing American Guides

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is considering taxing United States fishing guides who bring boatloads of Americans and their equipment into Canada to fish in waters common to both countries.

Revenue Department officials said yesterday a decision is expected before the summer ends.

It is understood the argument in favor of such a tax is that Canadian guides are left idle by fishing parties which enter Canadian waters from the United States with a guide hired there.

Jet Inventor Quits Top Job

LONDON (REUTERS) — Sir Frank Whittle, inventor of the jet engine, announced last night he is giving up a top advisory job with Britain's major state-run airline.

He denied reports that he intends to emigrate to the United States following clashes of opinion on jet-development technique with British officials.

The 45-year-old engineer airman gave no reason for his decision to quit his honorary post as jet adviser to the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE

DUBLIN (Reuters)—The Republic of Ireland had an adverse trade balance of 49,831,000 pounds for the first six months of 1952, compared with 73,604,000 pounds for the same period last year.

Death In The Sierras

By Doris Hudson Moss

I crept backward silently but Susie advanced to the bunk and licked the pale hand. Then a faint voice said, "Why Doggie! How did you get here?"

She recognized me and her delight was moving and sincere.

"My dear, my dear, how brave of you to come here. But Elsie, you must go. Go at once. Did you come by the stream?"

I took her pale hand into my wet ones and nodded mutely.

"Then go out by the passage, there. I've seen him come in that way, but I don't exactly know how. Just follow the light. Why is it so constantly dark?" and she began to cry softly. I could see that she was terribly weak and unnerved and that her poor mind was not quite free from fear nor able to reason too strongly.

"Listen carefully, dear Mrs. Ordell!" I said, as calmly as possible. "I am not Elsie Martinson. I have heard that I look like her but I am really Rosemary Curtis. I came here to look for you or to find the man who attempted to kill you. We are in a cave below the surface of the earth quite near my tent. You are apparently safe and cared for and I will go out as quickly as I can. I'll bring your husband."

"Don't tell my husband," sobbed Mrs. Ordell. "Tell Bob!"

"I can't go back by the water yet I'm afraid I'll meet someone if I go the other way. But who stabbed you and brought you here?"

"I don't know exactly," she answered faintly. "The man here is very kind but he says little. He must have brought me to this strange place. He comes in through those rocks there, or else through water because he often appears to be drenched to the skin, as you are."

I was afraid to leave her with the murderer in this living grave yet—she had been cared for; no doubt of that. My mind was in turmoil.

Again she asked me to promise to tell no one but Bob, whom I did not know, so believing her somewhat delirious from her weakness and dreadful experience, I promised, and hurried as fast as my tender, unshod feet would permit across the gravel-strewn floor of the cave toward the cleft in the rocks where light penetrated. Susie trotted close beside me.

And then on the wall just above my head, as I crouched near the floor, I saw a crude drawing that had been scratched and nicked into the rock.

The light was dim but I plainly discerned the story told by the drawing. It was a crude map of a hill with three pine trees and the word: Gold.

The treasure of Gold Lake was buried between three trees. I could not understand the circle or the lines and at the moment I was too perturbed and exhausted to think clearly.

Then I remembered the vastness and enormity of the mountains. Truly, the treasure was well hidden even though the map indicated three trees by which to find it. Undoubtedly the hermit desired no competition in his treasure-hunting! Also, I did not doubt but that he was the psychopathic case Miss Hansen believed to be responsible for killing the woman near Horseshoe Springs, who, Sergeant Duncan said, was Elsie Martinson, stabbing Mrs. Ordell and then bringing her back to life. I was bewildered by all this unbelievable evidence.

I stared at the map, impressing every detail of the crudely carved design on my mind. Then I crept toward the opening of the passageway, hoping that I would not meet the hermit.

The floor of the passage ascended gradually until we were almost to ground level and the ceiling but two or three feet above the floor. Through a small though adequate opening, we came out into the wholesome sunshiny air at last, beneath a protective clump of scrub willow.

Ahead of me I saw the familiar uniform of Officer Wallace, standing with his back to me and gazing intently toward Thunder Mountain. As I was about to slip away to my tent, I saw Susie sniffing and pawing at a heap of leaves and pine needles beside a small boulder.

Chancing discovery by Wallace, I went to the rock, turned it over. The dog dug out a pair of sharp shears, shining, yet stained a strange dark brown at the pointed ends.

Here might be the weapon that had stabbed Mrs. Ordell. The brown stain might be blood. I took some leaves from an overhanging bow of wild maple, and with these I picked up the scissors, taking care to preserve any precious fingerprints that might be on them.

As I reached my tent, with Sue close on my heels, Dr. David Roberts came along the trail toward me.

"What have you been up to?"

I started to tell him but he stopped me. "We have searched everywhere for you. Now, my dear, please stay near me hereafter because I know a lot more about all this than you may think. Don't Rosemary, don't take another chance."

"I have something to tell you," I answered as I tried to hide my confusion. "It's about Mrs. Ordell. I've found her alive in a cave under the stream. I saw the murderer and I do believe that these scissors were used to stab her."

As fast as my tongue could fly I told him the story of my adventure, of the evil man who had sunk from sight in the water of the grave-like cave and of the living body of Mrs. Ordell whom Dr. Roberts himself had pronounced dead. While I talked, David took my topcoat from a peg and slipped it around my shoulders. He caught my hands and held them in his two warm brown ones. It was then that I was honestly sorry that I had tracked the murderer without telling him or Duncan.

"Never mind about Duncan, but I should have thought that you'd have told me, for protection—if nothing more."

I felt my color rise again but continued my story as well as I could. I told him that Mrs. Ordell asked me to tell Bob instead of her husband.

"Yes, that's understandable," the doctor replied. "She would protect the Professor with all her strength, even to the last. She would keep him from that cave if it were humanely possible."

Finally, I told him about the map and with my finger drew an invisible copy of it on my suitcase.

He stood staring at me and then without comment as to my story he said. "Now that Susie found those scissors, we have the all-damaging evidence of fingerprints.' More than that, dear girl, you may have solved the whole case, you and good old Susie. And before I leave I've just got to tell you something though the moment is far from auspicious. To me, time is something that is purely personal. A day may be as long as a year and some years seem no more important than some days. It seems impossible to believe that you and I met for the first time only night before last. These past 36 hours have seemed to me to be the length of months. I've never met a woman like you, Rosemary. You are brave, capable, gifted with conscience, smart and self-confident though you keep all this carefully hidden beneath your prettiness. I'm in love with you, my dear and even though you may not care for me, I'll always love you just as instinctively as I love these beautiful mountains."

We told Duncan of my adventure. He listened, apparently amazed and made constant jottings in his little book while we talked. Together, the men agreed to tell no one of the new developments.

"But surely you'll tell Sheriff Torrington," I prompted the Sergeant.

"That old tobacco-juicer? Forget it."

"True," affirmed the Doctor. "In this instance there is danger in numbers. If we play our cards properly and wait as though we know nothing, I will gamble that the guilty person falls into the trap of our silence. Just one slip is all we need to show us the killer. Killer he is because even though Mrs. Ordell is still alive, Elsie Martinson is not. And the same person is guilty of both crimes, that seems certain."

Duncan took a fresh hand towel from the peg on the end tent pole and carefully wrapped the scissors in it.

Then he procured a small flask of brandy and poured a bit into the little lidcup. "You're a swell Doc, you are," he laughed at Dr. Roberts. "Why don't you do something to stop this kid from chilling herself to death?"

David turned an embarrassed red while the Sergeant grinned at him in delight.

"Here, drink this girlie, and you'll begin to feel warmer. Now get into your riding duds and we'll take a ride, that is, if you're able to stick on a horse."

"Oh, I am," I answered. "And don't you dare to leave me."

"No, we won't." The Sergeant laughed.

I thought hard and fast as I got into my riding breeches and boots and when I emerged from the tent to face the two men who were seated again on the big log, I said, "Sergeant Duncan, I've told you all that I know about this affair. Now I think that you might repay me with a few facts that you possess. Please tell me which person do you think is behind all this? I want to know whom I should be on guard against."

He looked at me sharply and chuckled. "I don't know." And he laughed aloud so hard that he frightened a chipmunk who scuttled up the tall pine nearby in terror.

But his hilarity didn't fool me. He knew something and I meant to find out what.

As the three of us walked back to the lodge I asked, "When we were last on this trail we heard a shot. Was anyone hurt?"

They told me that Officer Marguard fired the shot. He saw a man in blue jeans running along the hill behind the kitchen. He called to him to halt but the man ran faster than ever so he fired and then gave chase. But whoever the stranger was, he disappeared.

I knew who the man in jeans was. He was the man I had seen disappear into the lake—no doubt the murderer himself!

WHAT, NO DESSERT?

HELSINKI (AP) — Five thousand hungry athletes eat an awful lot of food during the Olympic Games. The giant tent restaurant of the main Kapyla village expects to use 37 tons of meat, 60 tons of potatoes, 19,815 gallons of milk and 350,000 eggs.

Mrs. Suoma Palo and 50 girls who have graduated from cooking school run the show in five sections.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking the ferst half of his 2nd cigar, and ma said, Oh dear, William, I'm afraid it's our tern to invite the Plumlys over.

Yee gods, pop said, and ma said, Yes, I realize Mrs. Plumly is the biggest bore that ever said 3 werds where one would of been more sufficient.

Not at all, her husband is twice as big a bore, and beleeve me that's deeling in big figures, pop said. He interrupts every good joke to tell a bad one, and he springs the werst puns I ever heard and then laffs at the top of his irritating voice, pop said, and ma said, No, Mrs. Plumly is still werse. She insists on finishing every sentence, no matter who starts it or what the subject is, and even when she's not talking, she's scratching the back of her neck in the most perpetual manner.

She's a model of good company compared to Plumly, pop said. He never in his life said anything werth heering, and when he looks as though an intelligent thawt has accidently struck him, it's only a sine that he's going to yawn in your face, he said, and ma said, But Mrs. Plumly talks about canasta the whole time we're playing bridge, and speeking of bridge, they are equally atrocious. Mrs. Plumly never knows what's trumps, and Mr. Plumly invaribly starts to deal out of tern and then has to be reminded when the deal actually comes around to him, she said.

By gollies I've got the solution, pop said. Why not rub them out of our social life and never see them again? We've got everything to gain and nuthing to lose, he said, and ma said, William, I think that's absolutely brilliant. That absolves me from all responsibility, I was never so relieved in my life, she said.

Being the happy end of the subject.

Wage Negotiations Between Railways, Unions Open Tues.

MacNamara Heads Govt. Group in Conciliation Move

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal officials will begin meetings with the railways and unions at Montreal Tuesday in an effort to help their stalled negotiations.

Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor and M.M. Maclean, head of the department's industrial relations branch, will head the government officials in the conciliation attempt.

Mr. MacNamara was named by Labor Minister Gregg Monday as conciliation officer in the dispute after the railways and unins advised the government they could not agree on new contract terms.

The unions representing 125,000 non-operating employees are asking a general wage increase of 45 cents an hour plus a cost-of-living bonus. Current contracts expire Sept. 1.

Labor Department officials said today it was not known how long the conciliation efforts might take, but it was expected Mr. MacNamara might report back to the minister in about 10 days after the start. The Montreal meetings will be private.

Record Vote Cast In Que. Election

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec electors probably cast a record vote in yesterday's general elections. With 10 per cent of the polls still to report, the total was only 64,000 short of the record of 1,509,971 set in 1948.

In taking power for the third consecutive time, the Union Nationale party polled 50.2 per cent of the popular vote compared to 51 in 1948. Liberal candidates increased their percentage to 45.8 from 36.5 in 1948 when 9.5 per cent of the total went to Union des Electeurs candidates, not represented in this election.

Party Vote

With 1,446,771 votes counted, the party vote percentages were as follows, compared to the last two elections:

	1952	1948	1944
UN	50.2	51	38.2
Lib.	45.8	36.5	40
UE	——	9.5	1.2
CCF	1.1	.5	2.8
Others	2.9	2.5	17.8

Here is The Canadian Press compilation, with all 92 seats decided, compared with the votes in the 1948 election (members elected in brackets):

	1952		1948
UN	726,860	(68)	773,746	(82)
Lib.	662,703	(23)	552,359	(8)
UE	——	(—)	140,050	(—)
CCF	15,1[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	(—)
Others	42,031	(1)	34,630	(2)
Totals	1,446,771		1,509,971	(92)

The above 1952 tabulation is incomplete with 9,508 of 10,627 polls.

RETAIL TRADE UP

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's retail trade reached an estimated total of $1,053,488,000 in May, a 13-percent jump over the May, 1951, figure of $931,116,000.

Unclad Women Shock Sheriff

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Arthur Willis stopped a car for speeding early yesterday and found it contained four women—naked from the waist up.

As they donned clothing, the driver said to the embarrassed Willis:

"Well, men drive bare-chested, don't they?"

On a report to the sheriff, Willis added this note:

"By the way, I forgot to ticket them for speeding."

Air Veteran Admits Slaying Young Girl Because of Anger Over Rejection of Theories

NEW YORK (CP)—A 30-year-old R.C.A.F. and U.S.A.F. veteran of Boston confessed today he killed a Columbia university employee Monday because he was angry over rejection of his scientific theories.

Bayard Peakes was arrested by police in Boston and is being brought to New York for questioning in connection with last Monday's slaying of pretty 18-year-old Eileen Fahey.

Boston police said Peakes, who had been given a mental discharge from the U.S. air force, told them he just "wanted to kill someone" because he was enraged at the refusal of the American Physical Society to accept a thesis he had submitted on physics and electronics.

He described it as a "formula to preserve mankind."

Miss Fahey, a bookkeeper, was shot to death at her desk in the American Physical Society office on the campus as she read a letter from her fiance, Pte. Ronald Leo in Korea.

Leo, granted a 30-day leave, is flying here to attend Miss Fahey's funeral Saturday.

Boston Police Captain Francis Wilson said Peakes told of purchasing a .22 calibre pistol last June "with the intent of shooting someone."

Peakes, a Boston packinghouse worker, was arrested early today in Boston.

Miss Fahey "just happened to be the first person I met in the office," Peakes was quoted as saying.

Peakes told them he bought the pistol as he brooded over failure of the society to answer his letters on his theories of electronics.

Investigators said Peakes only actual contact with electronics was when he was enrolled briefly in a physics course at Northeastern University, Boston, in 1946. They said he left by request because of eccentricities.

Peakes told police he joined the R.C.A.F. in 1942 and served in the European invasion. He said he was wounded in Belgium and invalided to a hospital in England. Upon discharge he joined the U.S. forces, serving until 1945

From May to September, 1945, he was a patient at Cushing army hospital, Framingham. He told police he was given a discharge for psychosis, with a diagnosis of dementia praecox.

Much of his money, Peakes said, went for volumes on electronics.

Police said he had attended meetings of the Physical Society and had spent $600 for publication of a book on electronics effects on human life. Physicists said his theories had no merit.

Peakes said he had submitted his thesis on prolongation of life to a Harvard group but was told his deductions were "unimportant."

Capt. Wilson quoted him as saying he also contemplated shooting "someone" at Harvard to retaliate for slighting his studies.

Sheriff Harold E. True of Piscataquis county, Maine, said Peakes returned from the war in a "cracked-up condition" and that his mother, Mrs. Benjamin Peakes had been appointed his legal guardian.

True said Peakes had not been considered dangerous and had no police record.

Japanese Claims to Have Found Captain Kidd's Fabulous Treasure

TOKYO (Reuters)—The whereabouts of Captain Kidd's fabulous treasure is still a mystery today. So is the whereabouts of the man who claimed a couple of weeks ago to have found the pirate's $250,000,000 loot on a desert isle.

Treasure Hunter Masahiro Nagashima has gone underground—most people think Captain Kidd's treasure is also still underground—to dodge reporters.

The newspaper Mainichi, which first reported Nagashima's treasure story, said it has run its leads to ground and cannot investigate further. It said it still believes the yarn, though.

The story broke when Nagashima said his brother had led an expedition to the uninhabited islet of Yokoate, in the Ryukyus 200 miles south of the Japanese mainland. He had come back with silver bars and gold coins, said Nagashima.

He thought the treasure belonged to Captain Kidd. He had found it in steel chests in a cave.

No. 1 doubter of the story is George Shephered of Britain, an authority on Captain Kidd, who is planning his own treasure hunt.

There is no record of Captain Kidd ever having been in Japanese waters, says Shephered, who has photostatic copies of Kidd's own charts.

8 PROVINCES LIKELY TO RENEW TAX AGREEMENTS

Ontario and Quebec Opposed to Policy

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Department officials expect to complete by early August renewal of taxation agreements with eight of the 10 provinces.

All provinces except Ontario and Quebec have said they will sign new agreements to replace those which expired March 31, 1952. However, no province has yet signed.

Finance Minister Abbott said recently in an interview that many details must be ironed out before the agreements will be in shape for signing.

Under the agreements, inaugurated during the Second World War, the provinces give the federal goverment almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields. In return the provinces receive payments based on population and the value of gross national production.

Five-Year Pacts

The post-war agreements ran from April 1, 1947, to March 31 last. The new agreements will cover the five-year period ending March 31, 1957.

All provinces signed agreements during the Second World War. When the war ended Ontario and Quebec declined to renew theirs.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec has criticized the federal government for "stealing" the taxation rights of the provinces. Premier Frost of Ontario has said that his province, so far, has been better off without an agreement.

This is what it is estimated the eight agreeing provinces will receive in the first year of the new agreements, with an estimate of the final payment under the old agreements in brackets:

Newfoundland $12,291,593 ($9,651,000); Prince Edward Island $3,915,671 ($3,057,000); Nova Scotia $20,150,413 ($16,503,000); New Brunswick $16,624,628 ($13,490,000); Manitoba $24,760,084 ($20,035,000); Saskatchewan $25,570,643 ($20,747,000); Alberta $29,363,527 ($21,578,000); British Columbia $41,376,383 ($32,155,000).

If Ontario and Quebec signed the new agreements they would receive $137,173,274 and $115,003,725, respectively, in the first year. In the final year of the old agreements Ontario would have received $105,850,000 and Quebec $89,761,000.

Truman Fine, Back to Work By Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman spent a "very good night" at Walter Reed hospital, aides said today. They reported that Truman expects to get back to the White House by Saturday.

He entered the hospital yesterday for a series of tests as a result of a mild virus infection.

Mrs. Truman was on her way to Washington. She is expected to visit her husband at the hospital's presidential suite after her arrival.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said Truman was improving steadily, and that a slight temperature he ran yesterday afternoon had been anticipated.

CRUSHED IN MACHINE

BRANTFORD (CP)—Steve Zladics, 54, was killed yesterday when crushed in a gravel-loading machine at a gravel pit near here. He is believed to have tried to jump across a conveyer belt and slipped. He was2 carried 50 feet through the loader.

George Medal Winner in Montreal Hospital

Cpl. S. L. Sinnott, of Saint John, N.B., who has just been awarded the George Medal for courageous action beyond the call of duty in Korea, is recovering from his injuries in Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital in Montreal. Late last week Sinnott was helped to his feet for the first time since receiving severe spinal injuries in Korea and commented "It's sure good to stand on your own two feet," to Nurse M. Fregeau, seen in attendance. — (National Defence Photo.)

N.B. Soldier First Canadian To Win George Medal in Korea

OTTAWA (CP) —A 27-year-old New Brunswick soldier is the first Canadian to win the George Medal in Korea.

The army announced today that L. Cpl. Sterling Lloyd Sinnott of Saint John has been awarded the G.M.—which recognizes acts "of outstanding bravery under non-operational circumstances" —for saving two companions from a fire when he could easily have escaped himself.

In going back to see that two companions got out of the third floor of a burning building, he himself was forced to jump from that height after suffering second degree burns. In the fall, he fractured his spine and now is in Montreal military hospital with paraplegia, an ailment which makes the legs useless.

Only 12 Canadians have won the G.M. since it was created by the late King George VI. This is the first award of the medal to a Canadian since 1948.

L. Cpl. Sinnott was with the Medical Corps' No. 25 field dressing station. While getting up the morning of March 16, he heard an explosion on the floor below—the second floor— of a building in Seoul. He ran down and saw that a space heater had exploded and flames were raging out of control.

He ran back to the third storey, told five men to get out, went back down to the second floor and then realized two other men were still on the floor above.

Although it was obvious he might be trapped, he ran back to the third floor, ordered one man out, awakened the other and ordered him to jump out the window since by that time there was no other way out. Then he jumped himself.

Troops Assist Que. Police In Quelling Violence Outbreak

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec's rough-and-tumble political scene last night blossomed into violence at the climax of voting in a hotly-contested though one-sided general election.

Montreal and Levis, Que., where the Liberals gained five seats from the victorious Union Nationale, were the trouble centres. Shots were fired and clubs and bottles swung in Montreal committee rooms.

Troops Called Out

Troops were called out to disperse a mob of 500 in Levis where Reynold Belanger gained a seat for the Liberals from the Union Nationale. Police turned fire hoses on the mob, demonstrating against the Liberal victory, but failed to disperse it.

Police called in the troops when they were unable to cope with the situation. The mob was armed with sticks, baseball bats and bottles.

At least 12 automobiles were overturned by the angry crowd, gathered in a vacant lot near the home of Mr. Belanger.

Shots punctuated the march of a group of men being conducted out of Three Rivers by police. No one was hurt. Supporters of Premier Duplessis staged a different kind of march with horns, rattles and toy flutes at news of Mr. Duplessis' personal victory over Mayor J. A. Mongrain, Liberal standard-bearer.

Two were sent to hospital in a wild melee in the Liberal committee rooms of Montreal Maisonneuve. Alcide Montpetit gained the seat for the Liberals from J. F. A. Gatien of the Union Nationale.

Three Shots Fired

A. St. Michael, 60, suffered serious facial cuts and a deep shoulder gash which police said was caused either by a broken bottle or one of three shots fired. Mrs. Leo Plante was struck by a swinging fire escape which was forced to the ground by people trying to escape from the Montpetit committee rooms.

The Montreal ridings of St. Ann and St. Louis, generally the most turbulent at election time, were the scenes of fist, chair, bottle and blackjack fights.

Windows were smashed, telephones ripped off walls and committee members threatened in St. Louis riding, which Liberal Dave Rochon retained. Mr. Rochon said he had to rescue his daughter when she was seized by an invading gang.

Another gang stole a ballot box from a St. Louis polling station. They poured ink over election documents and police closed the poll.

In St. Ann, the story was similar. About 15 were slightly hurt in a gang raid on the committee rooms of Frank Hanley, victorious Independent, and George O'Reilly, Liberal. Police held four men who were armed with lead pipes and bottles.

A near-riot developed at a poll in Montreal Jeanne Mance which Liberal G. P. Noel won from the Union Nationale. About 120 persons demanded that police force a returning officer to register their vote although their names did not appear on the voters' list.

The returning officer said two sheets had been ripped from the list by a gang when the poll opened. He read them the Election Act which said they were not etitled to vote unless listed.

Planes Crashes House, 4 Killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A light plane, taking off in a soupy fog, crashed into a house today. The sheriff's office said four bodies were taken from the plane.

The house was unoccupied. It was set afire, and a neighboring home was damaged by flying debris.

It was the second instance in as many days of a plane hitting a house in this area. A navy pilot was killed late yesterday when his disabled jet hit a Santa Ana home whose occupants were out shopping.

Today's crash took place as the craft left Northrop airport.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Skies over southern Ontario will be mainly sunny and temperatures will continue to climb today and Friday as hot humid air moves in from the Mississippi valley.

REDS MOVE PRIZE CAPTIVE DEAN TO ANOTHER CAMP

Enemy Delays Word On Missing U.N. Soldiers

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The Communists today said they have moved their prize captive, Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean, from a prisoner-of-war camp at the bomb-shattered capital of Pyongyang to another camp in North Korea. They did not give his new location.

The disclosure came in an exchange of letters by liaison officers of the United States Command and Communist truce teams.

Prisoner Transfer

The Red letter told of a large-scale prisoner transfer, involving Dean, former commander of the United States 24th infantry division, and numerous Korean captives.

The Allied communication demanded an accounting of 1,881 missing U.N. soldiers believed in Communist stockades. The U.N. Command said it has been making the request since December with "totally unsatisfactory" results.

The Allies at the same time answered a similar request from the Communists for an accounting of 1,014 Allied-held prisoners with information on all but four captives.

Captured in 1950

Dean was captured in August, 1950. The Reds announced his transfer in notifying the U.N. that they have abolished three prisoner camps and set up six new ones. Four of the new ones at or near Pyongyang, target of a destructive Allied air raid last week.

The disclosure came during the fourth day of a Communist-called recess in secret armistice negotiations at Panmunjom over the dead-locked issue of prisoner exchange. The five man truce delegations are scheduled to reconvene tomorrow.

Mossadegh Quits As Premier

TERHAN (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, arch-priest of Iranian nationalism, resigned today and Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi asked the lower house of parliament to choose a new government head.

The 72-year-old premiers' resignation was believed due to parliament's failure to vote him powers to govern absolutely by decree for six months. He had said this was necessary to solve Iran's acute economic crisis.

Mossadegh's resignation was reported unofficially earlier today and later confirmed by an official of the (lower house) Majlis, who said it was announced at a closed session of parliament today by court minister Hussein Ala.

Flying at 1,238 MPH No Different Than Lower Speed Says Test Pilot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The hottest plane in the free world, the D-558-2 Skyrocket, holds a speed record of 1,238 miles an hour, the United States Navy has announced.

And the hottest test pilot, Bill Bridgeman, says zooming at that speed is "no different than flying 750 miles per hour."

The real kick comes, Bridgeman said in an exclusive interview last night, when the rocket-propelled Hummingbird runs out of power at a record altitude of 79,494 feet and swoops down 15 miles for a dead-stick landing on the desert.

Both the speed and altitude marks were confirmed by Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball. Bridgeman flew the Douglas-built rocket ship to unprecedented heights last Aug. 7 and set the speed record Aug. 15.

The navy previously admitted only that the research plane had "climbed at 1,000 miles an hour."

Bridgeman said, the 40-foot ship rammed smoothly through the sonic barrier—which is reached at about 660 miles an hour at 35,000 feet and above. In pressurized suit and cockpit, Bridgeman says he was "not especially conscious of speed."

"You notice the high speed only when you make a mistake," the ex-navy bomber pilot said. "Then she really jumps and gets hard to control."

The record speed was made in level flight after the Skyrocket had reached the apex of her climb

The moment that sends "your guts into your shoes," Bridgeman said, comes when the last of the four rockets used by the plane loses its thrust.

Bridgeman lands without power at 160 miles per hour. (The average jet plane lands at 110 m.ph) The entire flight, from the moment of release from the bottom of the B-29 to the landing, takes only 11 to 16 minutes.

The official xx para 4 prev.

The speed record was hung up in another flight by Bridgeman Aug. 15, in the same area.

The official world speed record of 670.981 miles an hour, set in 1948 by a North American F-86.

This is the first official announcement of a speed record beyond the sonic barrier.

Duplessis Govt. Returned for 3rd Consecutive Term

Majority of 44 Is Drop Of 28 from 1948 Election

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis today launched his Union Nationale government into its third consecutive term of office after a provincial election almost tripled meagre Liberal strength.

The Premier, a colorful figure in Quebec politics for the last quarter-century, led his party back to the 92-seat Legislature with a majority of 44, a drop of 28 from his record-breaking majority of 72 in 1948.

The result of yesterday's election—Quebec's 24th since Confederation—compared with that of 1948:

	1952	1948
U.N.	68	82
Lib.	23	8
Ind.	1	1
Nat.	0	1
Total	92	92

Voting Turbulent

Mr. Duplessis' victory came after a turbulent campaign climaxed by election-day violence. Revolver shots were fired in Montreal during one of a series of clashes. Twety-seven men were arrested in Verdun for carrying sawed-off baseball bats. Trouble was reported in other parts of the province.

In the voting, Liberal leader Georges Lapalme was defeated in his first bid for a seat in the Legislature. The 45-year-old lawyer, chosen two years ago to lead the Liberals, was defeated in Joliette by Hon. Antonio Barrette, Labor Minister in the last government.

George Marler, House leader for the Liberals for the last four years, was re-elected in Westmount-St. Georges.

While the votes still were being counted, another successful Liberal died, apparently of a heart attack. Henri Groulx, re-elected in Montreal-Outremont, collapsed and died while receiving congratulations on his victory. He was a former Quebec Health Minister.

Communists Trounced

Mrs. Therese Casgrain, leader of the C.C.F. party, and her 22 supporters were defeated Gui Caron, leader of the Communist Labor-Progressive party, and three candidates he had in the field were soundly beaten.

All but three of Mr. Duplessis' 20 Cabinet Ministers were re-elected. Defeated were three Ministers without portfolio—Hon. Marc Trudel in St. Maurice, Hon. Patrice Tardif in Frontenac and Hon. J. H. Delisle in Montreal St. Henry.

Commenting on his party's success, Premier Duplessis said re-election meant the majority of the voters in Quebec approved the achievements of his government.

Farmers, he said, had manifested their "confidence in a regime that applies the principle that agriculture is the basis of enduring progress."

Blames 'Machine'

Mr. Lapalme, who resigned a seat in the Commons to lead the Quebec Liberals, congratulated his successful supporters.

Rush-Hour Train Hits Subway Local 75 in Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) —A rush-hour subway rolled backwards down a grade into a train behind it yesterday, knocking hundreds of screaming and panicky passengers to the floor.

At least 75 persons, by police count, were taken to hospitals.

Disaster squads hurried to the Fulton Street station in downtown Manhattan to aid the passengers, tossed into a human tangle below ground in sweltering 90 degree temperatures.

Lights Stayed On

Lights on the trains stayed on.

An express train pulled out of the station at Fulton Street.

A local was moving up to its place at the station to load its own passengers!

For some unexplained reason, the express lost power as it moved up a grade outside the station and rolled backward into the local.

Police Find Knife Near Site Of Fatal Stabbing

KINGSTON (CP) —Kingston police yesterday found a boy scout-type knife near the spot where William Calhoun's stabbed body was found Monday.

Dr. R. J. Morison, Frontenac county coroner, said the knife was hidden in grass alongside the highway and lay open.

It was taken to laboratories at Queen's University where an attempt will be made to determine whether it was the weapon used in the mystery death of Calhoun.

Threat of Polio Not So Grave As Other Years

(By The Canadian Press)

This may be a light year for poliomyelitis.

A Canadian Press survey today showed that, except in British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, there have been comparatively few cases. In those three provinces, the situation is not considered alarming.

In Toronto, Health Minister MacKinnon Phillips of Ontario said polio strikes in alternate years. In Ontario last year it was heavy and this seems to be the off year.

To date, 21 cases have been reported in Ontario this year, compared with about 105 at the same time in 1951. There has been one death this year.

CRASHES CAR TO AVOID CHILD

Swerving his car to avoid striking a small child who had darted across the street in front of him, Robert Cleugh of Campbellford yesterday crashed his car into a parked vehicle causing about $150 damage to both cars.

Cleugh was southbound on North Front Street when the child darted out from the curb directly into the path of his car. He swerved to avoid striking the child and in doing so his car caught a car standing at the curb, owned by John T. Jones, 61 North Front Street.

PROWLERS REPORTED

Prowlers were active during the night according to the several complaints received at the police station. However, when police checked on the areas they were unable to find anyone about.

A householder at 206 Pine St. reported the theft of a car robe from her auto which had been left unlocked in front of the house.

BERRY PRICES SLIGHTLY EASIER

Raspberries were slightly easier in price on the local market today as vendors asked from 40 to 45 cents per box for the red variety. General price for blue raspberries was 40 cents although case lots were available at about 30 cents per box.

Huckleberries dropped to 40 cents per qt. with basket lots at $2.50. Black cherries were $1.40 per basket with Montmorencies quoted down to $1. Gooseberries were 20 cents and currants 25 cents per box.

New potatoes sold at $1 per basket.

City's Debenture Issue Brings Good Price

Purchase of a city of Belleville debenture issue of $137,551.84 by a syndicate of investment dealers headed by A. E. Ames and Company, Ltd., and including the Royal Bank, was announced this week by Mayor A. M. Haig. The purchase price for the 4 1-4 and 4 1-2 percent debentures was $100.45, the cost basis to the city being 4.22 percent.

City officials were enthusiastic over the price which the debentures brought considering the present day money market. "Excellent," was the term used by Alderman Chas. Hyde, chairman of finance.

The purpose of the bond issue was to provide funds for sidewalks, sewers, public works equipment and for financing services for the Bayview Wartime Housing Ltd., project.

Twenty Boys Enjoy Canadian S. S. M. Camp At Rednersville Beach

A Canadian Sunday School Mission Camp began last Monday at Rednersville Gospel beach under the direction of the Rev. Fred F. Kreick, Ontario superintendent, and the Rev. H. Aikenhead, Dominion superintendent, with Miss Muriel Craig, as assistant director.

This camp will continue until next Tuesday, and already has an attendance of 20 boys, from the city and neighboring districts of Kingston, Trenton, Consecon, Picton; Wellington, Bloomfield, and Napanee, as well as Camden East, and Yarker, ranging in age from eight to 14 years.

The morning periods comprise Bible Study, and the afternoon, handicraft and swimming, while the evenings are given over to the Camp Fire worship service. The handicraft and sports are under the supervision of Mr. James McGregor, and a trained nurse, Mrs. A. Strickland, is also in attendance.

The meals are under the capable management of Mrs. Arthur Bartlett, and are greatly enjoyed by the boys with their exceedingly healthy appetites.

Following the end of the boys' camp, a similar camp for girls will be instituted.

In 1951 there were 74,190 milking machines on Canadian farms. Of these, 38,740 were in Ontario and 18,238 in Quebec.

The sun rose in a clear sky over sun burnt grass and crops this morning, dashing farmers' hopes of rain. Yesterday's cloudy skies gave them the first hope for precipitation in six weeks, but it didn't rain and today there are no clouds and little hope.

With his beans burning up on the vines, his early potato crop lost and his oats practically ruined, J. F. Helyer, of R.R. 6, Trenton, glanced at the clear sky and sadly shook his head. "Times are tough," he commented. "Out where I am located, we haven't seen rain in six weeks and if it doesn't come soon, well. . . .you know what will happen. Old timers call it a drought sky," he said glancing at the sky again.

"If we don't have rain within the next few days there won't be any sense in coming to market at all," Mike Harvey, of Crofton, said. "Why I haven't made enough to pay for the gas for the machinery." Tomatoes, huckleberries, raspberries and corn are all failing on the Harvey farm. "The corn is beginning to droop usually it stands right up this time of year and at least catches the early morning dew," Mr. Harvey continued. All the farmers agree it will take at least a very heavy rain to benefit crops to any extent.

On an average compiled over the past 44 years, the month of June has an average precipitation of 2.66 inches. This year, June did not even produce one inch, to be exact, .92 inch. In contrast, June 1951 had a total of 2.91 inches.

July of last year produced some 4.85 inches of rain. So far, and over half way through the month, .80 inch has fallen in the city.

The weatherman can give no promise of rain. The Duty Forecaster at the Trenton meteorological section reports only slight chance of rain in the next few days and that would be extremely light. To add to the discomfort, another heat wave is on its way. Forecast for tomorrow is for temperatures ranging up to 90 degrees.

Trent Rd. Residents Without Water For Day When Truck Hits Hydrant

Everyone will admit that the weather has been dry for the past six weeks, but the drought really struck home this morning for residents in the Trent Road district just outside the city.

The weather actually had nothing to do with it, but a heavy transport suddenly cut off the water supply in kitchen taps when it swung off the highway and smashed a water hydrant. Public Utilities officials said residents in the area would be without water for most of the day.

Shortly after six o'clock this morning a Reliable Transport from Kitchener was slowing for a stop opposite Albert College. As the driver applied his brakes the right front wheel grabbed and pulled the vehicle over. The bumper struck the hydrant and broke it off at the ground. With water from the broken hydrant pouring over the ground, utility workmen said it would take most of the day to repair the damage.

Church Bodies Approve Sale Of Parsonage

Approval of the official board of Bridge Street United Church, and also of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church for sale of the Bridge Street parsonage to the Ontario Department of Public Works, has been given, it was learned today.

The Ontario department has offered to purchase the property for use as a provincial police headquarters and approval of the church trustees was previously given. Some days ago the official board gave its sanction for the sale of the property, while yesterday the Belleville Presbytery added its approval.

"Now it's up to the Ontario Department of Public Works," commented a church official.

JUICE AVERTS CRASH

LONDON (Reuters)—The pilot of an airliner carrying 29 passengers averted possible disaster last night by using four bottles of apple juice and a bottle of water. He found a leak in the hydraulic system and used the apple juice and water to keep up the pressure so that he could work the plane's undercarriage for an emergency landing.

Obituary

JAMES DUNN

Tweed—Following an illness which extended over the past six months, James Dunn, 74, passed away at his home in the village on Tuesday, July 8, 1952.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. Dunn he was born in Ireland and came to Canada when he was very young. He was married to the former Ellen Courneyea who predeceased him in 1948.

Surviving are two sons, Albert and Joseph Dunn of Tweed. He is the last remaining one of his family. A member of St. Carthagh's Roman Catholic Church, he had been retired for the past several years.

The funeral took place from his late home on Thursday morning to St. Carthagh's Church for requiem mass, with interment in St. Carthagh's cemetery.

The bearers were Joseph Rashotte, Simon Meraw, Charles Courneyea, Joseph Fobert, Henry Bennett and Raymond O'Coin.

LATE ALLAN C. LESLIE

The funeral of the late Allan Campbell Leslie, formerly of Oshawa and husband of the late Emma Mills, took place Wednesday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home where service in the chapel was conducted by Rev. W. R. Merrick. Mr. Merrick also took the committal at Gilead cemetery.

The bearers were Bryson Leslie, Donald Leslie, Harold Campbell, Allan Anderson, Kenneth Macklin and George Chambers.

DAVID KEITH

The funeral of the late David Keith was held in the Chapel of the Pinkston Funeral Home yesterday. Rev. J. G. Hornsby of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church officiated.

Interment was in Belleville cemetery.

Bearers were: Cleo Colling, James Dowsett, Gordon Shaw, Vernon Weir, Stanley Lennox and William Clew.

Mammoth Diesel Trucks Pass Through City

Downtown shoppers gaped in some surprise about five o'clock last evening when five mammoth diesel operated Euclid dump trucks said to be destined for use in the new Labrador iron mines passed through the city. One of the mammoth trucks with a heaped capacity of over 20 cubic yards was driven by a woman.

Police who directed the trucks through the city reported drivers as saying the big trucks were being driven to Montreal and would go the balance of the way by boat and railway.

The big trucks of the same size and type used by Bethlehem Mines at Marmora have tandem dual rear wheels almost as high as a man. The dump box holds 16 cubic yards level full.

BABY DROWNED IN TUB

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Adrien Poirier ran from her house yesterday to whisk one of her youngsters from the middle of the street, in the path of approaching traffic. When she returned she found five-month-old Michel, whom she had been bathing, had drowned.

All-Girl Pipe Band Tours Europe

When the All-Girl Bagpipe Band from Iowa offered to render their interpretation of Scottish airs on Aberdeen streets, the city council rejected their offer and one of the council remarked the band probably consisted of a few "half-nude" girls playing "jazz or be-bop." The band has sailed from Montreal for Southampton and, whether Aberdeen likes it or not, they'll play — by invitation — at British, French, Holland and Swiss cities and towns. Drummer Wilma Waller shows the kilts which the girls will wear — and they hope that they have opportunity to appear in Aberdeen. — Central Press Canadian.

Jasper Park Fire $1,000,000 Loss C.N.R. Estimates

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian National Railways yesterday estimated at $1,000,000 the loss caused through destruction by fire of the main building of the company's Japers Park lodge. The building was insured.

A spokesman at C.N.R. general offices in Montreal said the main building was used for dining and recreational facilities and contained only eight bed rooms. Other bedroom accommodation was unharmed.

The spokesman said the company hoped it would be possible to continue operation of the lodge through provision of temporary kitchen and dining room facilities. Definite decision on this point was expected to be reached some time today.

Meanwhile, said the spokesman, dining- and cafe-car equipment has reached Jasper and, with the staff dining room, was providing dining facilities for the time being.

The beginnings of Oxford University cannot be traced back further than the early 12th century but legend says it was founded by Alfred in 872.

HOUSING NO. 12
"DESIGN"
By design I mean simply — What looks pleasing to the eye and in the best manner meets your needs. You might build a mansion very pleasing to the eye but if it is beyond your pocket book it is not well designed.
When you are young every dollar must be conserved even if you have plenty and it is folly to rent or buy more housing accommodation than you need. When the time comes that you need more spacious quarters you will have the money saved to purchase same. Outside of farm homes most people move several times in their lifetime so do not overburden yourself at the start. A small well designed good home can always be readily sold.
If you require a relatively large house do not be satisfied with just space. Be sure it is pleasing in all respects. A great many people are not talented to play musical instruments or to paint pictures or to design clothes or houses although they can appreciate these things to the full. So if you are not talented in design consult an architect or someone who has experience and can aid you to arrive at what is best.
Beware of copying. It seldom pays.
In recent motor trips around our own district I have noticed some very attractive little homes of just two rooms. They looked nice and the people in them appeared to be very happy. They are living within their means. I have also seen some large homes but poorly planned in which the housework must be an endless drudge.
One of the most attractive small homes I was invited to not far from Belleville consisted of one room only and it looked good and being appropriately furnished it had a very cosy and homey appeal.
Regretable a N.H. Act loan cannot be arranged for a small home, but if suitably located and of good design a mortgage — private funds — would not be too difficult to arrange and the carrying charge would be very small.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Golds showed strength today in early afternoon stock market dealings but other sections made little headway.

Trading slowed from a dull opening. Volume for the first three hours was 936,000 shares.

Banks, liquors and refining oils led industrials upward with a majority of moderate gains. Textiles also strengthened but manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues slipped.

Senior golds climbed slowly in sluggish trading. Leading junior producers and prospects, however, drew firm support. Holding companies were mixed.

Western oil leaders turned downward but lower - priced issues showed little trend. Britalta, Central-Leduc, Federated Petroleum and Gridoil traded lower.

Base metals declined slowly. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel and Quemont lost fractions.

Denounced by Parliament Red Dean Renews Charges U.S. Waging Germ Warfare

LONDON (AP) — The "Red" Dean of Canterbury last night defiantly renewed his pro-Communist charges that United States airmen waged germ warfare in Korea.

Dr. Hewlett Johnson told more than 1,000 cheering admirers in a speech that he saw the evidence with his own eyes. He said "the Swiss Red Cross is not to be trusted" to investigate the germ charges.

The Swiss Red Cross, he added, "investigated Nazi concentration camps and said they were all right. In South Korea the Red Cross wear American uniforms."

The Dean addressed a meeting of the Britain-China-Friendship Association in a hall packed to the rafters with people shouting "long live the Dean." Many gave the Communist clenched-fist salute.

Outside the hall, other hundreds who couldn't get in chanted "we want the Dean." They half carried the 78-year-old clergyman to his car after he finished.

The Dean spoke only one day after he had been denounced in both Houses of Parliament as a Communist stooge and a threat to world peace.

His own superior, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, told fellow members of the House of Lords that the Dean is a "public nuisance" and a "thorn in our side."

Several members of Parliament demanded Johnson's ouster, but Prime Minister Churchill and the Archbishop agreed that the Dean was protected by the right of free speech.

Several M.P.s questioned the Dean's sanity.

The Dean praised China as a "great surging land It doesn't fear the future. It knows it can overcome germ warfare, devilish thing that it is."

New Traffic Light Latest Heat Victim

The city's newest electric traffic control installation at the Bridge Street-Front Street intersection is a victim of the heat.

Those who have wondered why traffic policemen have been stationed on point duty at the intersection while the newness has not dimmed on the electric traffic control system, had their questions answered today when repair crews determined that the heat caused the system to go out of kilter. It was explained that one of the insulators atop a pole near the control box became heat swollen through heat and caused a hitch in the control's operation. Three days were spent searching out the trouble.

Today, workmen said, repairs would be completed and the traffic operated normally.

Injured Priest Rescued After Plane Crash

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—An 11-man search party Wednesday night rescued an injured Roman Catholic priest from a lonely mountain perch where he had lain helpless for 54 hours without food or water.

Rev. J. Lavoie of Detroit, suffered a broken leg Monday when his light plane crashed on the steep mountain slope 10 minutes after taking off from here for a 160-mile flight to Vancouver.

His companion, Rev. Vincent Myrich, also of Detroit, was not seriously hurt. He walked out of the mountain wilderness 10 miles from this Okanagan Valley city yesterday to summon aid for Father Lavoie.

The search party found Father Lavoie standing beside his wrecked plane. He had fashioned a rude pair of crutches from pine boughs.

In Good Spirits

He was in good spirits and at first insisted that he could hobble down the mountainside, on his rough crutches. He was finally persuaded to get on a stretcher and was carried to hospital.

The two priests were on aerial holiday when the accident occurred.

DON'T WRECK THE VEHICLE

Has Canadian political procedure anything to learn from the American method of selecting a national leader? This question has been asked by a leading Canadian weekly financial paper and the question was directed to many members of the Canadian House of Commons.

In his reply, one member of parliament from this district questioned whether the American pattern of leadership selection could not reasonably result in serious damage to the party. That the Republican party was damaged during the pre-nomination campaign between two forceful aspirants and the two tenacious factions supporting them has been clearly demonstrated because of the efforts now being made to promote party harmony.

But many wounds opened during the nomination campaign will not heal readily. The Republican party, as a party, had not reached accord on policy matters at the convention — or during the convention. On foreign policy alone, the impression has been left that Eisenhower and Taft were walking on different streets and in different directions. As opposed to Eisenhower's policy of continued European aid to stem the tide of Communism, Taft has taken a more moderate view and placed limitations of U.S. commitments abroad. Who expressed the Republican view, Eisenhower or Taft?

It is suggested that the Canadian method of first reaching accord on party policies should precede the selection of a leader who would be charged with implementing the policies of the group. Rightly, there may be divergent views on party policy, but the fighting, name calling and general upheaval that accompany political conventions when policy is determined, should not be permitted to highlight the selection of a leader.

The Americans are masters at assembly-line production methods and are world leaders in a lot of know how. But when it comes to wrecking the vehicle while a driver is being selected, the American system could do just that.

Canada has nothing to learn from the goings-on in Chicago when American presidential nominations are being held.

JUST A SHOW, ANYWAY

The lament of "Miss Italy" who claims that the "Miss Universe" beauty contest was rigged in favor of "Miss Finland" because the Olympic Games are being held in her country this year, has a faintly familiar ring. No. "Miss Italy" confessed, she did not have an outside chance to win the title, but she believes other beauty contest entrants had more shape and lure than "Miss Finland." Straight politics guided the judges, she declared.

This brings to mind a "beef" in a recent Canadian beauty contest when the runner-up dropped a bomb into proceedings by charging that the winner was trussed in a girdle which put the curves where they belong. The dejected loser complained that a girdle has no place under a bathing suit in a beauty contest.

But so long as there are beauty contests, there will be similar charges, but we do not believe anyone, except the losers, will be much concerned. After all there is quite a difference between beauty contests and athletic competitions.

A REAL LESSON IN LIFE SAVING

Safety on the highways and in the water is a favorite summer subject for editorial writers who are often faced with lots of space and no subject to write about. In these musings the proper treatment for accident and drowning victims is also emphasized, these subjects, too, being good space-fillers.

But it is a pleasure to congratulate a 12-year-old Huntsville girl who saved the life of her seven-year-old nephew after he was hauled unconscious from the Lake of Bays. By applying knowledge of life saving learned at a camp last year, this young "auntie" was able to apply artificial respiration and restore life to the boy. The fact that she labored for 35 minutes before first signs of life were discernible speaks well for the girl and for her training.

If all editorials and instructions on life saving were laid end to end, they could not match the lessons taught by this young girl. All girls and boys—and adults, too—should learn how to give aid to drownings.

And in this, the seven-year-old nephew will agree!

A SOUL THAT WILL BE MISSED

He wasn't much to look at and he hadn't much to say.
To all who wished to pass him by he gave the right of way.
To all who asked assistance
he would give a helping hand,
Since every sort of trouble
he appeared to understand.

He didn't get his wisdom from deep books upon a shelf.
He'd learned the ache of sorrow for he'd suffered it himself.
He knew the disappointment of a fond hope that's denied,
And he knew a man is heartened when a friend is at his side.

Life had taught him many lessons and not one had he forgot.
From his own mistakes and failures down the years he'd learned a lot.
Now were I to write his epitaph I'd make it simply this:
"Here lies the earthly body of a soul that many miss."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The numerous foreigners who are becoming new Canadians at such a wholesale rate these recent months are having plenty of little difficulties besides the big ones that easily come to mind. For example, a neighbor of mine has an Esthonian man and his wife employed as housekeepers, cook and handiman around a fairly big home. They are having a lot of trouble with the language, the food, the self-serve chain stores and other novelties of Canada.

Last weekend, the two Esthonians were left alone in charge of the house while the family went away on a holiday. Among other treasures in the home for which the sturdy Esthonians felt a desperate responsibility was a love bird or budgie bird of a pretty blue color, the darling of the mistress's heart. Among the numerous last minute instructions given the housekeepers were detailed particulars for the feeding and safeguarding of the budgie bird.

Everything was going swimmingly for the Esthonians, on this their first day entirely on their own in Canada, when the man glanced out the kitchen window and saw a bluejay flutter across his vision. The budgie was in an upstairs sunroom. The bluejay dropped precisely from the direction of the sunroom window and vanished into the garden bushes.

With a wild cry, the Esthonian rushed out of doors, calling the dire news to his wife. The budgie has escaped. The two of them raced panic-stricken about the garden, searching the bushes. One of them caught a glimpse of the bluejay some distance away, high in a tree. They tore out onto the street, giving chase in the direction it was last seen. Neighbors were roused by their cries and lamentations. People on the street joined in the chase without knowing what was lost. What little English the two had was entirely forgotten in the fever of their excitement and grief. A policeman came along. To explain what had happened, the Esthonian returned to the house with the cop to exhibit the empty cage.

And there in her cage was the budgie, serene and silly as ever, and safely locked in.

Truman Wants No Betrayal Of His 'Fair Deal' Program

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—President Truman's declaration against any convention "betrayal" of his political creed paced a new trend among Democratic Presidential aspirants today.

Without any apparent advance knowledge of Truman's blunt demand for endorsement of his "Fair Deal" program, at least two candidates moved to put themselves in a position—if they get the nomination—to lead a fight against what they called "Republican reaction."

Denounces Labor Law

Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, plagued by his designation as the anti-Truman candidate of the south, bid for northern labor and "Fair Deal" support with a denunciation of the Taft-Hartley law he helped enact. The law containd measures to control strikes.

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee called for a fight on what he labelled "Republican isolationism and reaction."

Their declarations seemed to indicate thinking among the Presidential hopefuls that the Republicans' choice of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will force the Democrats to pick a nominee who can call himself a progressive.

Kefauver leads in the Associated Press delegate tabulation with 256 votes to 120½ for Russell, based on pledges of support and known first-ballot preferences. Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman, an all-out supporter of Truman policies, is running third with 112 votes. It takes 616 to win.

Truman said in his message to delegates yesterday that no other political party has "done so much, so well, for so many people." He declared:

"There must be no turning back or faltering on the great course our party has pioneered. There must be no betrayal of the New Deal and Fair Deal."

Truman's message, apparently written well before he went to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington for a check-up after his tussle with a virus infection, exploded a new bomb under efforts of National Chairman Frank McKinney and others to compromise a civil-rights plank in the party platform.

No Compromise Seen

Truman's call was interpreted here as reaffirming his stand that the party must not compromise on civil rights.

Platform drafters tackle the question today with organized labor and Negro leaders demanding a plank "at least as strong" as that in the 1948 statement of party aims. That declaration endorsed Truman's call on Congress to create a Fair Employment Practices Commission with legal power to prevent job discrimination.

With Canadians in Korea

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, (CP)—It is so important over here to keep men from coughing that a school has been started to study the problem, among other things.

Coughing, talking, the clatter of a weapon and other noises during an armed man's progress across no man's land may tell the enemy he is coming.

One company commander recently described his men's performance as that of a "herd of buffalo."

Patrolling is the essence of the present stage of the Korea "police action." The patrol is the ultimate in military operations, involving every lesson learned by the infantry man, calls on his every skill, resourcefulness and determination, and is more demanding on nerves and discipline than a set-piece attack.

Review Patrol Teaching

Lt.-Col. J.R. Stone of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry used to say when in Korea:

"I expect two or three really good patrols from a subaltern. Then I find some other job for him." That was in a moving campaign.

The brigade's school will review the Canadian Army's teaching about patrolling, look into ways of applying it more effectively to the devise better means of getting its results across to the private soldier.

Several theories are to be examined. One is that the Canadian soldier is too humanitarian. Another is that he is not yet single-minded enough about his job.

When his comrade becomes a casualty he tends to forget the object of the patrol and thinks first about tending the wounded man and getting him out.

Every man who does that reduces the operation's chances of success. Patrols can fail when fighting men become a casualty evacuation squad. Besides failure of accomplishment, there is increased risk of more casualties.

Critical Moment

The critical moment on a patrol, it is thought, is when the group closes in for the final mission—whether that be the collection of information, the capture of a prisoner or the infliction of casualties in a hit-and-run raid.

On a good patrol the approach is seldom a problem. But at the moment of the close-in, ruthless single-mindedness is called for from leader and men to carry through—regardless of developments—with the plan laid down beforehand.

Usually a good plan followed through accomplishes its mission. But if apprehension causes the leader to change the plan, or casualties come first in the minds of the men, the germ of disorganization sets in.

The school will teach that the momentum of a patrol must never be lost. The thinking is that the way to ensure success of a mission is to guarantee that each man is so imbued with the primary object of the patrol that the group presses on regardless of casualties, including the loss of leadership.

The school's primary task will be to find the most effective way of getting that message across to the soldier.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON ACCEPTANCE

This is not an ideal world in which we live, but it is the best that we know anything about. Therefore we have to accept it as it is, and make the most of it. But since it is the best world about which we know and we are here in it, we shouldn't miss a chance to try and make it "the best of all possible worlds" and to contribute as much happiness as possible among those with whom we come in daily contact.

We are constantly being challenged. We are put on the defensive. Often we have to compromise and accept our failures with our victories. Whatever our turn of fortune, we must, in good heart, accept it. The world cheers the winner! It often happens that way.

Complainers and fault finders will always be with us, but thank God we also have with us those who forever show a brave front and who keep their chin up, accepting whatever is their daily lot or problem. Such people do not advertise their griefs, pains or misfortunes. They exemplify courage and accept, and are an inspiration to all those about them.

None of us welcome disappointments, but when they come and we accept them in good grace we are often the better for them. Many a one has proved a blessing in disguise.

We ought to accept more things as only temporary. Millions of men and women have risen in the world from humble origin. They have done so because they did not wish to accept poverty or obscurity all their lives. On the other hand, many a boy has accepted a humble job that he might know every step up the ladder to the very top!

People in the free world accept only those ideas that their conscience suggests to them. They are not forced to accept something in which they do not believe. How proud we should be to live under these free conditions. All the more reason for accepting the events and conditions of each day and proving ourselves the master of them!

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words Long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not to Disease, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

TWO THINGS ANY FOOL KNOWS

Have you noticed it, I wonder? The conductor of this so-called personal health service is getting mellower. Days, nay, weeks pass, why, as a matter of fact, in a recent dreary interval of 35 successive days he didn't call the most exasperating reader wiseacre, stupid or geek. I call attention to this because I'm afraid most readers will otherwise miss it.

I do hope I can fix firmly in your mind two things that some doctors (though not I) say any fool knows—and some doctors even qualify the fool with a picturesque adjective. These things are—

(1) How to get all the vitamins and minerals you need from a well balanced diet, and

(2) How to tell in the early stage of cri whether the indisposition or illness is, say, meningitis, measles, diphtheria, infantile paralysis or just a "cold."

If the word cri throws you, I beg your pardon. You must be a new reader. It is pronounced kree, it is coined from the initial letters of the cumbersome title "Common Respiratory Infection," which designation or classification includes the diseases just mentioned as well as a dozen other specific respiratory infections which are most communicable in the stage of onset when your quack opines you have just a "cold."

I'm sorry I had to call the doctor a quack, but space is precious and I can't squander it dodging around Robinhood's barn when a five-letter word will convey the idea.

Just ask the doctor who parrots the dictum that you can get all the vitamins and minerals you need from a well balanced diet to give you in writing such a diet. Tell the doctor you want to submit it to a certain international quack named Brady who asseverates it is practically impossible to get all the minerals and vitamins required for good nutrition from a diet adequate for everyday life, period. If you succeed in getting a written answer from any reputable physician I'll undertake to publish the diet here, with my comments, and I promise not to reveal the doctor's identity if the doctor will approve or censor the copy I submit before publication. To date the most enlightening answer the query has elicited is that any fool knows what a well balanced diet is. Maybe so, but still I, Brady, don't.

For a good many years I have tried earnestly and at painful cost to myself to teach you poor—ah, ah, watch your language, fellow!!!!!—misguided souls the simple truth about the cri. This teaching has contributed to the health and happiness of readers I caught young, I am satisfied. And knowing it is hard for an old dog to learn new tricks I am not frustrated by the indignant rejection of my teachings by readers who discovered this column after they had passed forty.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Call it C-R-I

Please write an acute rhinitis and treatment of it. I have a lot of dizziness, aches over the eyes, smarting and burning of eyes, excessive discharge in throat, pain and stiffness in back of neck . . . (J. S.)

Answer—The description suggests sinusitis rather than simple rhinitis (coryza). If it is acute, best relief I can suggest is hot mustard foot bath in bed. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet Call it C-R-I. It tells how to give H. M. F. B. and why, and deals with sinus trouble, asthma, chronic bronchitis (winter cough), fool proof home made cough medicine etc.

Before Hospital and After Hospital

Suffered from leg cramps at night for several years, tried many kinds of treatment without results, and spent three weeks in hospital and got worse instead of better. Finally wrote for your pamphlet, began supplementing my diet with Ca and D and within ten days got relief . . . now after a year I haven't had more than very slight cramps . . . (Mrs. S. W.)

Answer—Thank you Any reader who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope may have the pamphlet Adult Tetany and Growing Pains.

Bow Legs

Is there a cure for bow legs without an operation? Some people claim certain exercises help. (K. F.)

Answer—After the age of five years operation on the bones is the only way to straighten bow legs.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

Recently a student sat before the dean of an eastern college. It was not his first time there; it was his last. The dean rehearsed the young man's sins during the short time that he had been in college: poor grades, over-cutting, drinking, gambling, wanton destruction of property. That was the end. The boy was being expelled.

Why had he gotten into so much trouble? He had come to college with a promising record, good habits, fine recommendations. The dean could not understand the change, but the boy himself put his own finger on the cause of his downfall: "I guess I got in with the wrong kind of friends . . ."

How do we choose our friends? For money? For social position? For influence? These are poor reasons, all of them. Or do we look for friends whose character, moral code, and religious beliefs measure up to the highest standards we know?

Birds of a feather flock together, says the old proverb. And not only that—we tend to grow more and more like the birds with whom we flock. It pays to be careful of our company.

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

MINTO

Miss Colleen Colden Honored by Shower

MINTO. — Mrs. Everett Sine and daughters, opened their home on Wednesday evening for a shower given by a number of friends in honor of Miss Colleen Colden, bride-elect of the month.

Miss Edna Tanner called the gathering to order and asked the bride-to-be to take a prettily decorated chair over which hung an umbrella covering many colored balloons containing confetti. Miss Tanner, on behalf of all present extended congratulations to Colleen on her approaching marriage and wished her the best of everything in life.

Community singing followed and readings were given by Mrs. Tom Clements and Mrs. Albert Tweedie. Musical selections were rendered by Misses Alice Vardy, Carol and Jean Sine, Ruth Mumby and the Broadworth sisters.

Address Read

Miss Gwen Ray then read the address and Colleen was presented with a set of dishes, service of six, a silver cream and sugar on tray and a silver cake plate.

The bride-to-be replied, thanking everyone for the lovely gifts, also those who helped with the shower and a special thanks to the hostess for opening her home.

"For She's a Jolly Good Fellow", was sung and the balloons showered Colleen with confetti.

Two books were then passed around and each person wrote a favorite recipe in one and a bit of advice to Colleen in the other, after which bountiful refreshments were served.

Stan Huntingdon has his pet monkey, Jerry, in custody again after a fling at liberty in the trees at Scarboro, Ont. The monkey eluded Huntingdon and dozens of others, including most of Scarboro's dogs, but fell for the feminine wiles of Deep Six, a lady monkey who was put on his trail. When Jerry gallantly stopped to chatter, he was apprehended by Petty Officer W. R. Franklin, owner of Deep Six. —Central Press Canadian.

DUPLESSIS

It is difficult, said Mr. Lapalme, for the Liberals to "compete against the millions of the Union Nationale and their party machine."

He declined to discuss his plans for the immediate future.

Preliminary figures indicated a record vote was cast for the 236 candidates—92 Liberals, 91 Union Nationale, 23 C.C.F., four Labor-Progressives and 26 running under assorted banners. The list of eligible voters—largest in the province's history—totalled 2,248,546 compared with 2,036,576 in 1948.

With 8,506 of 10,627 polls counted, the Union Nationale had 49.4 per cent of the popular vote compared with 51 per cent of the total vote in 1948. The party vote totalled 654,394 compared with 773,746 in 1948.

Liberal Vote Up

The Liberals had 45.0 per cent of the votes compared with 36.5 of the total vote in 1948 They polled 607,487 compared with 552,359.

Votes for the C.C.F. increased to 14,318 from 9,126, or to 1.1 per cent from 0.5.

Part of the Liberal increase was attributed to the fact that l'Union des Electeurs, which contested all 92 ridings in 1948, did not enter any candidates this year?

Centre of interest in the campaign was Three Rivers constituency where Mr. Duplessis—holder of the seat for 25 years—was opposed by the city's fiery 43-year-old mayor J.A. Mongrain.

Mayor Soundly Beaten

The 62-year-old premier polled 15,140 votes against 9,822 for Mr. Mongrain.

There also was particular interest in Richelieu where Gerard Cournoyer, who resigned his Liberal seat in the Commons to run provincially, defeated the Union Nationale representative for the constituency.

Sports fans watched Montreal Verdun where H. W. O'Connor, centre for New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, ran as a Union Nationale candidate. He placed second to Lionel Ross, Liberal member of the last Legislature.

WEDDINGS

HAYES—GRANT

The double ring wedding ceremony in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, of Mary Aileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grant, of Belleville, to John Vernon Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Hayes, of Peterborough, was performed by Very Rev. L. B. Garvin, of Belleville, and the Nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Raymond J. Garvey, of Peterborough.

Altar of the church was banked with pink gladioli and delphinium for the ceremony and in the sanctuary were baskets of hydrangea and burgement. The music was played by organist, Mr. Dean Whalen, and the soloist was the bride's sister, Mrs. Harold Gaffney. She sang "O Sacred Heart All Burning", Schubert's "Ave Maria", "Mother Beloved" and the wedding hymn "On This Our Wedding Day".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white nylon net with nylon lace insert in the skirt and the bodice of lace. Her headdress was of matching lace with silk illusion veil and she carried a crescent bouquet of Madonna lilies, feathered carnations, stephanotis and tartan leaves.

Attendants were Miss Catherine Grant, of Belleville, maid of honor, Miss Kathryn Barrett, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, and Miss Patricia (Peggy) Grant, Belleville, bridesmaids, and little Joanne Boyce, Belleville, was flower girl. The former were in frocks of nylon sheer over hooped underskirts, the maid of honor's of mauve, and the bridesmaids' of green, and the flower girl wore a pink organdy dress. Each wore a headdress of the material of her dress and the attendants carried nosegays of mixed flowers and the flower girl a basket of pink and mauve sweetpeas.

Mr. William C. Hayes was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Kenneth Ferren, Peterborough, and Patrick Barrett, Belleville.

Wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Quinte and a reception held afterward at the bride's home. Her mother was gowned in powder blue sheer nylon and wore navy accessories and corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother wore a gown of rose lace, navy accessories with corsage of white carnations.

The bride and groom are spending two weeks at a summer cottage and then will take up residence at 281 Park Street North, Peterborough. The bride's going-away ensemble was a two-piece navy dress and white accessories.

SHORT—BOURGEOIS

A quiet but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, July 5th., at 7 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Toronto, by Rev. Father Mulvihill, when Rose Bourgeois of Moncton, N.B., became the bride of George Short, of Toronto.

The bride was becomingly attired in pale blue with pink accessories.

Their only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Short, of Belleville.

After the wedding ceremony, they motored to Belleville where a supper was served at Maple Haven to the members of the family.

Alliance Tabernacle Holds Social Evening For Departing Pastor

Last evening in the Y.M.C.A., the members adherents and friends of the Alliance Tabernacle met for one last social time with their pastor and his family, the Reverend G. Robert Gray and Mrs. Gray, who will be leaving shortly to assume his pastorate at Centremount Alliance Tabernacle, Hamilton.

The first portion of the evening, under the direction of the chairman, Mr. Kenneth Dixon, was devoted to the singing of gospel choruses led by Mr. Paul Delaney with Miss Marion Sills at the piano.

Following the sing-song, Mr. Dixon spoke briefly, commending Mr. Gray for his fine leadership, and his one-ness with his people. After which the recording-secretary, Mrs. A. Henderson, read the farewell address, and Mr. Harold Vanderwater, church treasurer, made the presentation of folding money, for which Mr. Gray, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Gray, expressed his appreciation and his regret at leaving the Tabernacle, stating he wished he were just coming rather than leaving.

The remainder of the evening consisted of a humorous skit, put on by the young men of the church, depicting the crystal gazer "Dummerwitt" an oriental, who forced to leave Florida because of the cold there, came to Belleville, where the temperature was more suitable to one of his Indian nature. Mr. Paul Delaney took the part of "Dummerwitt" and Mr. Russel Perkins, that of his interpreter, while the unknown, who played the go-between under the table behind folds of a heavy cloth, illicited the sympathy of the silent listeners, who at the same time were intrigued by the gleam of a surreptitious flashlight, as they sought frantically to find the page, the column and the name of the party sought by one of the audience. "Dummerwitt" was most spectacular in his impersonation of the oriental wiseman.

Bounteous refreshments of sandwiches, orangeade, cake and individual cup-sundaes brought a special gathering to a close.

Women's Activities

RIVER VALLEY W.M.A.

Mrs. Stanley Irvin was hostess to the River Valley Women's Missionary Auxiliary on Tuesday. There were 13 members and six visitors in attendance.

The president opened the meeting.

There were four home calls, eight hospital calls, reported and six cards sent.

Mrs. John Kane, the program convener, conducted a worship service.

The Scripture lesson, 145th Psalm, was read by Mrs. Jack Bush. A paper on "The Lord's Prayer", was prepared by Miss Adeline Bush and given by Mrs. Alex Bush. Mrs. Jack Sager gave a reading "There is a God".

Miss Grace Heasman gave a piano selection from memory, "Allegro Vivace", by Kaulan. An interesting reading "Count Your Blessings", was given by Mrs. W. H. Hanna. A solo was sung by Miss Joanne Heasman "Children of Jerusalem" and a reading "The World of Peace and Power", by Mrs. Roy Bush. A poem "God Gives So Many Lovely Things', by Miss Grace Heasman closed the program.

Mrs. Ross Holland tendered a vote of thanks to the hostess, the program convener and lunch committee. A social half hour was enjoyed.

Food for Thought

Dessert Work by Refrigerator

By Mary Moore

Three of my most cooking-wise friends agree on desserts. My sister Peady, and my friends Gerny and Eleanor agree that desserts are an important and indispensable part of a meal—but—they agree too that it must be prepared first. I'm a fruit woman myself, but I have to give desserts plenty of attention for there is always that dessert-hungry Pete peering over my shoulder and into the ice-box.

Refrigerator desserts are ideal for July and August for nobody knows who is going to drive up to their door, and a dessert ready-made in the refrigerator will soothe their shattered nerves.

Do you agree with this dessert dictum? If so, try

RASPBERRY CHIFFON PIE

Make and bake a large pastry shell with high sides. In a saucepan mix together 6 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3 large egg yolks, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 cup crushed raspberries. Cook these, stirring, over low heat until they boil. Remove from heat and stir into them 2 tablespoons hot raspberry juice or puree and 4 tablespoons raspberry flavored gelatin powder. Cool. When this begins to set, beat it hard with a rotary beater to make it foamy then fold in 1-2 cup heavy cream which has been whipped. Make a meringue of the leftover egg whites by beating them with 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar until softly whipped then gradually add 6 tablespoons sugar while beating until stiff. Carefully fold the raspberry mixture into the meringue and pile into cool baked pie shell. Garnish top generously in circles or wagon-wheel spokes with perfect large raspberries and chill at least 2 hours or overnight.

ANGEL PIE

This is a repeat but so many of you told me you liked it that I thought it was worth a second printing.

One and one-half cups granulated sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 4 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon finely grated lemon rind, 1 pint whipping cream. Sift together 1 cup of the sugar and the cream of tartar. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not too dry. Gradually add the sugar mixture to the whites and beat until sugar is dissolved and whites are very stiff. Use this meringue to line the bottom and sides of a deep large well-greased pie plate, preferably glass. Hollow out the centre somewhat but do not make rim thin. Bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour—this is a slow oven. Cool this meringue shell. Beat the egg yolks a little and stir into them the remaining 1-2 cup sugar, the lemon juice and rind. Cook this in top of double boiler, stirring constantly, until very thick. It takes about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. Whip the cream until just stiff. Combine half of the whipped cream with all of the lemon-egg mixture and use this to fill the cooled meringue shell. Cover with the remaining whipped cream. Chill 24 hours. Heavenly!

FLAPPER PIE

(A Marianne Special.)

Mix together and line a pie plate with 12 graham crackers rolled until as fine as possible, 1-2 cup melted butter or margarine, 3 1-2 tablespoons brown sugar. Bake this 10 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Mix together in top of double boiler 3-4 cup brown sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 6 or 8 cut-up marshmallows. Stir in 2 cups whole or rich milk. Stir this over boiling water until it thickens. Cool a little then pour into baked crumb shell. Make a meringue of the 2 remaining egg whites and 4 tablespoons sugar by whipping them together until stiff. Spread over filling. Sprinkle a few graham cracker crumbs over top and bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. until meringue is tinged with gold. Chill at least 4 hours but 24 hours chilling is recommended.

Women's Institute

WOOLER W.I.

On Wednesday afternoon the July meeting of the Wooler Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Read with a large attendance. The 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. G. Austin, presided.

During the business period arrangements were made for the picnic to be held in the park in August and for serving meals at the community livestock sale at Scott's the latter part of this month. Mrs. Lyle Leavitt was appointed to buy the supplies. The flat silverware purchased for use in the Town Hall was on display and a motion made to pay the committee the $42.

Two truck loads of earth have been drawn to the park at a cost of $15. The caretaker says another is needed. It was decided to have a shower of canned fruit for the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Henry McColl was convener of the following program: piano solo by Doreen Dorland and a vocal duet by Leila and Donna McColl.

Mrs. Ervon Scott gave a talk on the Homemakers' Club work, especially on the project "Summer Clothes for Girls". Some of the girls who had their dresses finished displayed them. Colleen Nichols told of the proper method of shrinking materials. June Putnam explained the slip stitch for hems, also the blind stitch. Donna McColl explained the different seams used and Joyce Brown the way to make continuous bias binding. In the slip stitch contest, Leila McColl won first prize, and Joyce Brown second.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. A. Dorland, Mrs. Karl Austin, Mrs. E. McMasters and the hostess.

BAY OF QUINTE W.I.

The July meeting of the Bay of Quinte Institute met at the home of Mrs. W. Jones on the Front of Sidney, last Wednesday evening with a small attendance.

It was Agriculture and Canadian Industries night. The convener was Mrs. Cecil Jeffery. This was put aside for the time being as the Institute was anxious to hear about the conference held at Guelph on May 1-2 of which Mrs. John Reid gave a wonderful talk on her two days at the agriculture college.

There were over 1,100 Women Institute presidents and secretaries in attendance. The theme of the conference was "Programs with a Broader Vision". Mrs. Reid said they had a busy time at Guelph. They received so much information that it practically kept them writing all the time, and with Mrs. Reid's humorous way of telling things, her talk was most interesting.

A basket of fruit as a remembrance was sent to Mr. Rowe Hunt, who is a patient in the Kingston Hospital.

The Bay of Quinte Institute is to give meals at the Belleville Fair Grounds on the last day of the fair, and a trip to Kingston via bus is being arranged for some time in August to visit the nylon plant and Fort Henry.

There were two short readings by Mrs. Cecil Jeffery and Mrs Arnold Ketcheson.

After the meeting closed a contest was held and the winner was Mrs. John Reid.

Refreshments were served and a good time was had by all.

ELDORADO-BANNOCKBURN W.I.

The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held its July meeting at the home of Mrs. John Pack with 14 members and five visitors present. Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, president, opened the meeting.

Business and communications were then dealt with.

Mrs. Russel Empey, convener for Health, took charge. The motto was "Happy people make health". reading, "It's Not the Biggest Thing that Counts", also a paper on "Sing While You Drive"; a reading by Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, entitled, "Do You Just Belong or Are You an Active Member?". This was followed by a paper by Mrs. Russel Empey, "Should Mother Join Clubs?" The answer was given by Mrs. Beryl Carman, "I'm Not So Sure".

Mrs. Russel Empey also gave several readings taken from the booklet entitled "All of. Us". On life's journey, healthy ones grow old gradually—a key for long life.

A reading by Mrs. Cecil Blackburn, "Who is Driving You Crazy?". "The Bridegroom-to-be" by Mrs. Harold Chambers. "The Doctor Looks Into You For Fainting", by Mrs. Empey.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, and an enjoyable half hour was enjoyed by all.

STIRLING

Past Noble Grands Club Presents Gift To Departing Member

STIRLING.—The regular meeting of the Past Noble Grands Club met at the home of Sister Mary Vandervoort with Sister Mildred Morrow as co-hostess. There were 15 members and several visitors present.

The president, Sister Gena Spry called the meeting to order and opened the meeting with Sister Utman at the piano.

Several members paid birthday fees and membership dues.

Sister Marion Heath spoke briefly to Sister Gladys Elliott, on behalf of the club, and Sister Gena Spry presented her with a small gift before her departure for the east. Sister Gladys Elliott expressed her appreciation to the club.

Program

The following program was presented, recitation by Mrs. Ashby, "The Maiden Martyr", with Sister Annie Warren taking the solo part; a reading, Sister Effie Bailey "Buckwheat with Bounce"; solo, Sister Annie Warren, "Such a Little Way Together", with Sister Mildred Morrow as accompanist; reading, Mrs. Ashby, "The Farmers"; reading Sister Edith Utman.

Mrs. Dickie presented a demonstration on "Costume Jewelry", which everyone enjoyed.

The hostess served a most delicious supper to which everyone did justice.

Sister Effie Bailey moved a hearty vote of thanks to which all responded.

RAWDON

RAWDON.—Mrs. Albert Dunkley returned home from Belleville Hospital on Saturday. During last week Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunkley, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon entertained several of Mrs. Dunkley's family which included, Mrs. Mabel Thatcher, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mrs. Ray Seamans, Phyllis and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seward, Rochester, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor and children, of Toronto.

History will record that July 12th, 1952, was a dry hot day. Moisture is badly needed all over this part of Rawdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren entertained on Sunday, Mrs. Mowat Denike, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Denike and family, and Miss Leo Denike, Toronto. The funeral of the late Mowat Denike was held on Sunday afternoon in Bethel United Church.

Rev. A. E. Baker, pastor of St. Paul's-Carmel, received word of the death of his father in Toronto, at the age of 96. He was born in Stirling and has often visited his birthplace.

Mrs. Fred Jeffs, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Eagleson, Burnbrae, had the misfortune to fall last week and fracture her arm between the shoulder and the elbow.

A large number of ladies from Rawdon and Stirling attended the afternoon tea and sale of home-cooking sponsored by the ladies of St. Paul's at the spacious home of Mrs. Walter Elliott. The funds were gratifying despite the fact that the weatherman turned on the heat in full force.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with baskets of summer blooms and the dining-table was centred with roses.

A bevy of ladies carried out the various official duties during the afternoon and all together the affair was successful.

Guests Entertained

The guests were entertained on their arrival in the living-room and then they visited the den and made their purchases of home-cooking and garden produce. They were then invited to the spacious dining-room to enjoy refreshments.

Mrs. J. E. Munroe, president of St. Paul's Missionary Auxiliary, supervised the afternoon.

The proceeds were in aid of "The United Church Training School Fund" and Mrs. George Carlisle, who is treasurer for this department, looked after the finances. Several members who were unable to attend the affair, gave a donation of money.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spencer, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Spencer entertained on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Spencer, Murray.

Mrs. Charles Ross, Oak Hills, spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. John A. McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Palmer and children, Frankford, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sine.

Mrs. Alvin Pollock, Campbellford, spent a couple of days last week with her sister, Mrs. Stanley Irven, River Valley.

Mrs. Norman McConnell is a patient in Belleville Hospital, undergoing treatments for a heart condition.

The ladies of Mount Pleasant are invited to St. Stephen's United Church, on Wednesday evening, July 23rd.

Rev. R. R. Bonsteel spent last week at Oak Lake camp. On Sunday evening he was in charge of the church service on the Ivanhoe circuit in exchange with Rev. Boyd Beckel, who came to Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Betty were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Montgomery, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw and Wayne, Ivanhoe, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher and attended the W.M.S. party at the church hall, where Mrs. Shaw was the guest speaker.

Mrs. James Linn attended a reunion dinner of brothers and sisters on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patterson, in honor of Mr. W. G. Cummings, of Edmonton.

Mrs. Walter Warren and Douglas and Mrs. Edgar McKeown, Bethel, attended the W.M.S. party at Mount Pleasant. Douglas was guest soloist.

Mrs. Carleton Phillips, Stirling, spent Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Stanley Williams and attended the W.M.S. meeting at the church hall.

Miss Phyllis David, Stirling, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ira David and attended the Mission Band and Baby Band party.

Several Rawdon folks attended the funeral of the late Mr. Mowat Denike, at Bethel United Church on Sunday afternoon.

Hundreds of Rawdon Orangemen, their families and friends, attended the "Glorious Twelfth" commemoration at Springbrook on Saturday on the occasion of the Centennial celebration of Springbrook Lodge No. 442.

U.S. Engineer Deplores Failure Of His Country to Co-operate With Canada in Seaway Plan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — When it comes to the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, the United States is acting like anything but the good business man it claims to be.

That is the opinion of the engineering professor at the University of Michigan, Ferdinand Menefee, long-time advocate of the 1,200 mile shipping and power project.

Paid for By Tolls

Consider these facts presented by Menefee, an authority who has fought for the project for a quarter of a century:

1. If American refusal to co-operate in the building of the $818,000,000 project is final, Canada, bristling with enthusiasm and strength born of growing national pride and the discovery of huge deposits of oil, uranium and high grade iron ore, will build it alone.

Funds From U.S.

2. The project—self-liquidating through tolls—will be built with a good share of funds from American investors.

3. Over the years, the United States will pay in tolls much more than its share would have been under the proposal tabled recently by the U.S. Senate. The most recent estimate of the cost for the seaway was made by the U.S. Corps of Engineers in 1951—434,000,000. That is less than one percent of the U.S. military budget for 1953.

In effect, Prof. Menefee said, the U.S. is turning down a vital partnership in favor of being a customer, without rights of control over the operation or use of the proposed seaway.

Apart from that, he added, consider the American steel industry, vital to U.S. economy.

Depreciation in the iron content of the ore taken from the great open pit mines of the Mesabi range in northern Minnesota has forced the industry to look for other sources.

Ore From Venezuela

Some companies are bringing ore from Venezuela in South America over the long ocean trip to the east coast where U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel have expanded from the midwest's so-called Great Lakes basin.

But the biggest lode, estimated to include at least 400,000,000 tons of good grade ore, has been located in Labrador, 300 miles north of the St. Lawrence River mouth.
